The new organization will be known as the South Plainfield Good Government Club. It is said to be probable that the organization will come out flat-footed for the Colby movement. The men in the movement charge that the turning down of their bill to have the village incorporated as a borough was due to the bosses and they are thirsting for revenge.

Long before the Legislature convened, the citizens of the place got together and appointed a committee to attend to the incorporation of the community. A bill was drawn and placed with the Middlesex delegation. Hearings were held at Trenton, residents of other sections of Piscataway Township protesting against the bill. The South Plainfielders claim that they represent one-third of the inhabitants and pay one-third of all the taxes in the township. On the other hand, they allege that they get nothing in return.

A New York dramatic critic writes: "Here is a suggestion to the young women in 'The Social Whirl' at the Casino. Western chorus girls have been selling kisses at $1 each for the benefit of the earthquake victims." May we be permitted to suspect that this gentleman probably was speaking one word for San Francisco sufferers and two for himself.

The Iroquois Theatre Company, which controlled the Iroquois theatre at Chicago, has been adjudged a bankrupt at Jersey City, with the result that about $2,000,000 in damage suits resulting from the great disaster, are uncollectable. Almost all of the merchandise creditors of the company have been paid out of the money secured from the sale of the theatre to the Metropolitan Theatre Co. The creditors who will suffer are those suing for injury in the fire and executors of the estates of victims of the catastrophe.

An extraordinary interruption is reported from Rome as having occurred at an Italian city during the rendition of "Annie," conducted by Signor Mascagni. The audience wished the baritone to repeat a certain air, but Mascagni, who disapproves of encores, proceeded with the performance. The audience persisted. Mascagni refused, and was bombarded with cushions which people threw from the stalls. He was finally obliged to leave the orchestra. Half an hour later the manager announced that Signor Mascagni would allow the encore. The composer's return to the chair was greeted with a storm of applause.

MAY MUSLINWEAR SALE!
In the Face of still Advancing Prices.

OUR MUSLIN SALES HAVE ALWAYS BEEN TRIUMPHS—on the side of quality and economy—and have earned a high place in the estimation of New Jersey women. A mere announcement would bring throngs, but read on and learn wherein this event oversteps every muslinwear sale we have had, and come prepared to boy more largely and to save more emphatically than ever before.

HIGHER COST AND SCARCITY are the great handicaps this year—muslins, cambrics, nansooks, laces, embroideries, and labor costs more than three months ago—when we placed our orders—and will cost more in the immediate future.

Reliable materials are scarce—mills are way behind in their orders; new patterns in laces and embroideries are hard to get. Yet in this sale materials are as good as ever, every inch of trimming is new and the workmanship is up to our high standard. But notwithstanding the advances WE SELL WITH ALL THE ADVANTAGES OF EARLY BUYING.

EVERY GARMENT IMMACULATE—clean, crisp, new,—garments as low as 12½c and up to $5.90 in this great sale.

MANUFACTURERS' SAMPLES—A GREAT SALE FEATURE!

AMONG THE GREAT BARGAINS are several thousand SAMPLE NIGHT GOWNS, CORSET COVERS; DRAWERS, SKIRTS AND CHEMISE from the show-rooms of the finest manufacturing house in line—you will find them a part of every group from 44c up to $5.90 and at the prices marked are ABOUT HALF PRICE.

CLEAR THE WAY FOR THE FIREMEN

On October 11 the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association of Elizabeth is going to give that city the biggest thing in the way of a demonstration of respect for the memory of the days gone by that has ever been witnessed here. It has been planned in celebration of nothing in particular, and because of this very absence of cause the eect of all the plannings and preparations of the "vets" for months past is to be the more surprising.

The committee of arrangements has extended its efforts to all parts of this and neighboring States, and already fifty-two companies from various parts of this State, Pennsylvania and Delaware have signified their intention of taking part in the general jollification for the sake of old times and the perpetuation of the memory of days and night of fire-fighting when it meant hard work without pay on double-deckers and many a battle for a fire plug. Fourteen other companies are expected from Connecticut and Massachusetts.

The vets are already glorying in the bright promise of success and the glory of achievement that will be theirs when the whole affair is over. Half a dozen such celebrations as the one here last summer, sham battles and all, rolled into one, could not compare with the coming spectacles, they say. Some of the companies are to bring 300 men with them, and A. W. Schwartz, of the committee on up ways and means to feed the throng. Each company will bring its own music.

Following is a list of the companies that have signified their intention to take part:

DISTRICT COURT FOR PLAINFIELD.

That Plainfield is to have a District Court will be hailed with sincere delight by members of the bar and the great majority of litigants. Such a tribunal has been sorely needed for a long time and the only obstacle in the way is an improbable interpretation of the law that it is not incumbent upon Governor Stokes to take the necessary action. Attorney General McCarter is expected to file his opinion in a few days and should he hold that the language of the act is mandatory, it is quite certain that Senator Ackerman will urge that an appointment be made at once. William Newcorn, who is slated for the place, is a happy choice. He is admirably qualified for the position and would undoubtedly give the utmost satisfaction in the discharge of his duties.

HEAD CUT AND BONES IN HAND AND FOOT BROKEN.

Thomas Hand, 60 years old, of Seventh street and Terrell road, a contractor, was brought home yesterday from the Somerset Hospital, Somerville, where he had been since Friday, suffering from severe injuries received in a trucking accident in that town.

Mr. Hand was superintending the unloading of a lot of logs, when one of them struck against the truck in such a way as to fling the upraised pole down. Mr. Hand was standing almost directly beneath it, and the pole struck him a glancing blow on the head, ripping the scalp open. In its journey downward it struck his hand, breaking several of the small bones, then landed in his foot and broke three bones in that.

Mr. Hand was badly shaken by the shock, and the blow in his head left him half-unconscious. He was hurried to the hospital, where it was found that none of the injuries were serious. His escape from death was very narrow; if the pole had struck his head an inch further to one side his skull would have been crushed.

Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Church Celebrates Anniversary.

SPEAKER FROM RUTGERS

Dr. Chamberlain Tells the Society That Its Work Helps to Make the Country Great—Praise From Pastor.

A special service was held at Trinity Reformed church last night to mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Ladies' Christian Work Society. The members of the society attended in force, marching into church in a body, to pews reserved for them in the front of the auditorium. Rev. Dr. William I. Chamberlain, professor at Rutgers College, known among mission workers and church people for his recent work in India, was the speaker of the occasion.

Before the main address, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the church, congratulated the society warmly on the completion of its first quarter-century. He paid a high tribute to their work. Although the society's primary aim is the support and encouragement of missions and evangelical work, it takes the place largely of a ladies' aid society in Trinity, and Dr. Schenck expressed the congregation's sense of the high value of the society's assistance in maintaining the church. He called it the church's right hand.

Dr. Chamberlain's address was eloquent and graceful. He referred, in opening, to his association with Dr. Schenck "on the athletic field of Rutgers College twenty-five years ago." The class to which Dr. Schenck belonged, he said, was still remembered for its prowess in Rutgers. He had come to Trinity, it might be said, to show that the college desired to pay graceful tribute to a member of that class by joining in the celebration of the success of an important department of his charge.

The monument of the Ladies' Christian Work Society, Dr. Chamberlain said, was to be found in Arabia, India, and the other mission fields, where workers held them in grateful regard for support and encouragement in upbuilding the Church at the doors of false faith.

Dr. Chamberlain spoke earnestly for the cultivation of the purer spiritual life in the individual and the nation. Only those nations that worked under the stimulus of growing Christian faith advanced. He named the United States, England and Germany as the conspicuous examples of the living nations. This country would grow in greatness, he said, so long as it enlarged its Christian activities through churches and such organizations as Ladies' Christian Work Societies. It was that, and not the number of exports that measured the virility and vitality of a nation.

In the forepart of the service the reports of the secretary and treasurer for the past year were read. The treasurer's report showed that a total of $501.03 was raised in the general fund, of which $279.68 was expended, leaving a balance of $221.35. Missionary money raised and expended amounted to $143.01. Of this money $50 was sent to Arabia and a special gift of $20 was sent to the Amoy, China, school. The rest was divided equally between the two boards. Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., is treasurer.

The report of Mrs. A. L. Force, the secretary, shows that the society has grown from "a struggling little band to a society having forty-nine active and eleven honorary members." Four active and one honorary members were added during the year.

Ten regular meetings are held annually. The average attendance last year was twenty-four. Calls on sick and new members numbered 145. During the summer it is customary for the members to sew for missionary stations, and last year twenty-seven garments so made were sent to India.

One charter member of the society is still living, Mrs. Garrett Van-Winkle. She is still active in the work. One member, Mrs. George L. Van Emburgh, died during the year.

"Peeke Sisters" Will Entertain.

The King's Daughters' Circle of Faith chapel will hold a social at the home of Valentine Utzinger, of Grandview avenue, tomorrow night. It will be a "measuring social" and the famous "Peeke Sisters" will help entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. William Newcorn are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby boy. He came this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Connor, of Hillside avenue, have returned to their home after stopping several weeks in Oakland, Cal. While in San Francisco they were among the guests at the Palace Hotel, but left a few days previous to the earthquake that caused its ruin.

—William A. Woodruff has not learned anything concerning the loss of the pocketbook, containing a good sum of money, which he lost on the evening of the circus. He now believes his pocket was picked on the platform of the trolley as he was returning home, as he distinctly recollects being rudely "shoved" by several men while aboard the car.

GOLF CLUB'S RECEPTION

First Affair of Its Kind This Season Attended by Nearly 400 Members.

EVENTS ON THE LINKS

Weekly Play for Committee Cup and May Cup—Scores of the Day.

There was a large turn-out of golf enthusiasts at the Plainfield Country Club Saturday, and the course was well filled throughout the afternoon. An extra attraction was the first club reception of the season, marking the formal opening of the social events for the year. The affair was held from 4 to 6 and during those hours between 300 and 400 members of the club and friends attended. The stage was run between the trolley terminal and the clubhouse.

The clubhouse was attractively decorated for the occasion with flowers and the social features were greatly enjoyed by all. There was no prepared programme, everything being of an informal nature. Tea was served during the hours of the reception and everyone had a good time. These receptions will be held frequently throughout the season.

There were two events of interest on the course, the weekly play for the Golf Committee cup and competition for the May cup, the winners each Saturday throughout the month playing off at the end of May. Edward J. Patterson not only scored a win for the May cup, but also took first honors for the Golf Committee cup, with a net score of 73. Frank O. Reinhart finished second in the weekly competition with a net score of 76, while J. A. Lane won the remaining point with a net score of 77. The scores throughout were excellent, showing a steady improvement on the part of the players:

These scores were returned for the Golf Committee and May cups:

Edward J. Patterson, 96, 23—73; Frank O. Reinhart, 74, plus 2—76; J. A. Lane, 89, 12—77; D. H. Rowland, 92, 14—78; Charles A. Stover, 88, 10—78; W. Lester Glenney, 78, plus 2—80; E. B. Shoemaker, 81, 0—81; J. H. Tompkins, 95, 13—82; F. C. Jennings, 82, 0—82; E. E. Iremonger, 96, 13—8;3 Howard Huntington, 97, 13—84; C. C. Burke, 97, 13—84; Henry D. Hibbard, 89, 5—85; Stuart H. Patterson, 103, 17—86; Arthur Murphy, 92, 5—87; James P. Murray, 103, 13—90; C. B. Andrews, 107, 16—90.

Another event that attracted many enthusiasts was the clock golf competition for women. Miss Marjorie Fleming was the winner with a score of 22. The other scores were Miss Leila Cruikshank, 25; Miss Margaret Goddard, 26, and Mrs. W. B. Tyler, 27.

This was the result of the second match play, May handicap prize, Class A, at the Westfield Golf Club, Saturday afternoon: Worth beat Halstead, 6 up and 4 to go; Sherman beat Barr, 6 up and 5 to go; Lane drew a bye; Knight beat Cruse, 2 up and 1 to go. In Class B Smith beat Simpson, 6 up and 4 to go; Kerckner won by default; Poor beat Talbot, 4 up and 2 to go.

The result of the second qualifying round for the June handicap cup was as follows:

R. L. VanDyke, 74 net; L. C. Smith, 83; J. A. Worth, 85; R. I. Townley, 85; George Cruse, 86; F. G. Harris, 87; S. S. Poor, 90; W. P. Howe, 90.

STRENGTH OF OPEN SKY.

What great deed was ever done indoors? What great thing of the earth in art, in science, in romance was ever conceived and brought forth within walls? Pathos grows there, and small tragedy, and bitterness and pessimism; but not great tragedy, nor the vast and useful pessimism which uplifts human nature and humanity, writes Emerson Hough, in the Reader. The joyous, hopeful, optimistic things, the large and cheerful motives, are found beneath the sky. The Indians say that the babe born in the wind will be chief, and that might well be so. What strong blood ever grew indoors? What great drama of the ages was ever played there? What duel on the stair ever equaled the battle under the trees? Science may delve, lamp wise; but what great things even of science came wholly from within walls? Electricity, navigation by the stars—the things which have really conquered the world—did these appear to man as he studied at some table side? No, the great and sweet things of knowledge came from the naked stars. Guilty and troublous wisdom may have housing, concealment, and so make confession that it is evil; but before guilty Eden knowledge was out of doors.

ENGLISH AS A CLASSIC.

Study of the Language Is Now Predominant in American Colleges.

A generation ago the education of a college man confined itself almost entirely to a study of Latin, Greek, philosophy and metaphysics, while now the study of history, economics and other subjects of practical bearing predominates, says President Schurman, as reported in the Cornell Sun. Interest in the classical languages has now largely abated, even with persons who make a study of them. The student was formerly supposed to get his training from Greek and Latin; English he studied incidentally. Now the study of English is predominant in the American colleges. This should not be considered, however, as a disparagement of the progress of American culture; it should be remembered that the Greeks themselves wrought out their wonderful culture, literature and art entirely without the aid of a foreign language. The schoolboys of Greece were required to commit to memory the best poems of the language—notably the poems of Homer—which shaped their thoughts, conversation and acts, and finally their character.

POSTAGE STAMP TONGUE.

"A number of ailments, some of them extremely dangerous, are comprised under the general head of postage-stamp tongue," said a physician. "Postage-stamp tongue, in a word, is any disorder contracted from the licking of postage stamps.

"Three or four persons a week visit me with postage-stamp tongues. They have a throat trouble, or a skin disease, or a pulmonary complaint, brought on by the reckless habit of stamp licking.

"A stamp should never be licked, as its gummed surface is always squirming and pulsating with germs. If any licking is to be done, let it be applied to the right-hand corner of the envelope, where the stamp goes, for there the germs are apt to be sparser.

"To be safe, though, the tongue should never be applied to either envelope or stamp. A damp sponge should be used in the tongue's stead."

Billion of Nickels.

More than one billion passengers were carried on the surface, elevated and subway roads of Greater New York last year. The exact number of paid fares was 1,171,151,698, an increase of 93,493,451. Of these fewer than a quarter were transferred. The increase in transfers fell far below the increase in paid fares, which is somewhat accounted for by the increased erasion of the free-transfer law by the transportation companies. On the basis of total car mileage there were six passengers paying a five-cent fare for every mile that a car traveled. Increase in car mileage about kept pace with the increase in passengers, showing that the cars are now crowded to the limit of traffic.—N. Y. World.

France's Young Cabinet.

Though not perhaps quite so young as the cabinet of Mr. Balfour in England, which was, in this respect, a striking departure from tradition, the new ministry formed in France by M. Sarrien cannot be considered old. The premier, M. Sarrien, is himself its "patriarch," and he is only 66. M. Clemenceau comes next in order with 65, and he is followed by M. Etienne, the war minister, who is 62. Then comes the men in their fifties, M. Thomson and M. Bourgeois. None of the rest are yet out of their forties. Of these M. Ruau is the youngest. He is only 41.

Surf Birds Travel Far.

That birds of the family termed surf birds in the Hawaiian islands should leave that paradise of the Pacific to go and rear their young in the tundras of Alaska would seem to many an extraordinary proceeding. Yet the turnstone and the black-bellied plover and the Pacific golden plover make the long journey of about 4,000 miles either annually.

FANWOOD IN QUANDARY; WITHOUT ANY POLICE

CLARK'S REFUSAL TO ACT AS RECORDER RESPONSIBLE FOR ODD SITUATION.

Limited by law to one justice of the peace in making choice of a recorder, and unwilling to pay that one potential police judge what he demands in the way of salary, the Fanwood Township Committee has laid off the two officers on the township force.

The trouble was started by the law, passed last year, legislating certain justices of the peace out of office. Justice Joseph Clark, of Scotch Plains, the one justice of the township, went out under that law. Later, when the special act was passed allowing township committees to name recorders, Justice Clark got the job. In the meanwhile he was nominated and again elected justice of the peace.

He entered on his new term May 1. The township committee immediately tendered him a reappointment as recorder. His salary had been $50 a year. The justice said he couldn't consider the honor at that figure. He asked for $100. Now, there is a revision in the law on the appointment of recorders that says those officers must be justices of the peace, and the committee awoke to the realization that Justice Clark was in the position of a man who controlled a recordership trust. As long as he held out for $100, they had either to give him $100 or do without a recorder.

The committee had raised $100 in the budget for the maintenance of the police department, and it was figured that the fines from the court would make up the rest of the police expenses. That calculation was based on a fifty-dollar salary for the recorder. The figures wouldn't come right with a salary double that. To withhold the recordership and leave the two officers on the force on duty would compel the cops to take their prisoners before Justice Clark, as a justice, in which event the fines collected would go to the county. The committee decided that the only thing it could do was to lay off the cops. The word went forth Saturday, and the officers retired from activity. They have been on duty about the streets Saturday night and Sunday.

There is some hope of a settlement of the difference between Judge Clark and the committee. Until an agreement is reached, the police force will remain in retirement.

MIDDLESEX'S ODD POSITION.

Freeholders Made No Provision for Raising School Tax.

New Brunswick, May 14.—The Board of Freeholders, in arranging its budget for the coming year, took it for granted the State would pay, out of the railroad and canal taxes, the state school tax this year. The amount apportioned to Middlesex county is $68,000. No provision for raising this by direct taxation has been made in the new budget, and if it developes that the State will not so employ the railroad and canal taxes the county will be in an embarrassing position.

This point was raised at the caucus at which the budget was considered and it was decided that in such an emergency bonds would be issued to raise the county's share of the school tax. By depending upon the State to pay the $68,000 of school tax the new Board of Freeholders has effected an apparent reduction of $112,000 in the budget from the amount last year, last year's amount including the county's share of the State school tax.

HE DIDN'T GET THE KISS.

Trenton, May 14.—Earl Shoemaker, of Philadelphia, a Pennington Seminary student, convinced yesterday Police Justice Harris that he had been greatly wronged Thursday night when he was arrested on the charge of attempting to steal a kiss from Miss Mamie Wheeler, a pretty Trenton girl, on North Warren street.

He told the court he had only played the part of the gallant toward the girl in endeavoring to protect her from the kissing endeavors of another student, who had been drinking. The girl screamed, a crowd assembled, and in the excitement the offending student escaped.

Shoemaker, who appeared to be the only student about at the time, was arrested. The Judge was satisfied with Shoemaker's explanation and the prisoner was discharged.

Peter Egenolf Recovering.

Elizabeth, May 14—Peter Egenolf, former president of Elizabeth Board of Trade and a prominent official of the Prudential Insurance Company, who was kicked in the leg two months ago by a new trotter he had just purchased, is now able to move about his home on crutches, but it will be some time yet before he is able to go to his business.

Successful Canvass.

William Pagett, of Lee place, who has been canvassing Plainfield for the Standard Book of Knowledge and Home Educator, reports very gratifying sales. The book is superbly embellished with hundreds of phototype engravings and ten books are really under the cover of one book, thus adding greatly to its value.

Mr. and Mrs. John Groendyke and son, of West Front street, are spending a few days at Atlantic City.

APPEARING OLD

Acts as a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old.
In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible ones youthful appearance.
It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxurious growth of hair.
The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness.
Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use
Accept no substitute—there is none.

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"I don't believe you feel right, either. I just know you've got an awful headache right now. Do let the man give you a nice piece of this steak."

"Don't, I beg of you, Lady Ashmorton! The suggestion is extremely repugnant to me. Besides, I'm behaving this way because I arose with the purely humorous fancy that my head was a fine large accordion and that some meddler had drawn it out too far. I'm sportively pretending that I can press it back into shape. Now you and sis never get up with any such light poetic notion as that. You know you don't—don't attempt to deceive me." He glanced over the table with swift disapproval.

"Strawberries, oatmeal, rolls, steak three inches thick, bacon, omelette—oh, that I should live to see this day! It's disgraceful! And at your age—before your own innocent womanchild, and leading her into the same excesses. Do you know what that breakfast is? No; I'll tell you. That breakfast is No. 78 in that book of Mrs. Rorer's, and she expressly warns everybody that it can be eaten safely only by steeple-climbers, piano movers and sea captains. Really, Mrs. Wrangleberry, I blush for you."

"I don't care how you go on. You ain't looked well for months."

"But think of my great, big heart—a heart like an ox"—he seemed on the verge of tears—"and to think that you, a woman I have never treated with anything but respect since we met in Honduras in the fall of '93—to think you should throw it up to my own face that I'm not beautiful. Others there are, thank God, who can look into a man's heart and prize him for what he is—not condemn him for his mere superficial blemishes."

"And I just know you've got in with a fast set. I met Mr. Milbrey yesterday in the corridor—"

"Did he tell you how to make a lovely asparagus shortcake or something?"

"He told me those men you go with so much are dreadful gamblers, and that when you all went to Palm Beach last February you played poker for money night and day, and you told me you went for your health!"

"Oh, he did did he? Well, I didn't get anything else. He's a dear old soul, if you've got the copper handy. If that man was a woman he'd be a warm neighborhood gossip. He'd be the nice kind old lady that starts things, that's what Haddy Milbrey would be."

"And you said yourself you played poker most of the time when you went to Aiken on the car last month."

"To be honest with you, ma, we did play poker. Say, they took it off of me so fast I could feel myself catching cold."

"There, you see—and you really ought to wear one of those chamois-skin chest protectors in this damp climate."

"Well, we'll see. If I can find one that an ace-full won't go through I'll snatch it so quick the man'll think he's being robbed. Now I'll join you ladies to the extent of some coffee, and then I want to know what you two would rather do this summer than."

"Of course," said Psyche, "no one stays in town in summer."

"Exactly. And I've chartered a steam yacht as big as this hotel—all but—. But what I want to know is whether you two care to bunk on it or whether you'd rather stay quietly at some place, Newport perhaps, and maybe take a cruise with me now and then."

"Oh, that would be good fun. But here's ma getting so I can't do a thing with her, on account of all those beggars and horrid people down in the slums."

Mrs. Bines looked guilty and feebly depreciating. It was quite true that in her own way she had achieved a reputation for prodigality not inferior to that acquired by her children in ways of their own.

"You know it's so, ma," the daughter went on, accusingly. "One night last winter when you were away we dined at the Baldridge's, in Eighty-sixth street, and the pavements were so sleety the horses couldn't stand, so Col. Baldridge brought us home in the Elevated, about 11 o'clock. Well, at one of the stations a big policeman got on with a little baby all wrapped up in red flannel. He'd found it in an areaway, nearly covered with snow—where some one had left it, and he was taking it down to police headquarters, he said. Well, ma went crazy right away. She made him undo it, and then she insisted on holding it all the way down to Thirty-third street. One man said it might be president of the United States, some day; and Col. Baldridge said: 'Yes, it has unknown possibilities—it may even be a president's wife'—just like that. But I thought ma would be demented. It was all fat and so warm and sleepy it could hardly hold its eyes open, and I believe she'd have kept it then and there if the policeman would have let her. She made him promise to get it a bottle of warm milk the first thing, and borrowed $20 of the colonel to give to the policeman to get it things with, and then all the way down she talked against the authorities for allowing such things—as if they could help it—and when we got home she cried—you know you did, ma—and you pretended it was toothache—and ever since then she's been perfectly daft about babies. Why, whenever she sees a woman going along with one she thinks the poor thing is going to leave it some place; and now she's in with those charity workers and says she won't leave New York at all this summer."

"I don't care," protested the guilty mother, "it would have frozen to death in just a little while, and it's done so often. Why, up at the Catholic Protestory they put out a basket at the side door, so a body can leave their baby in it and ring the bell and run away; and they get one twice a week sometimes; and this was such a sweet, fat little baby with big blue eyes, and its forehead wrinkled, and it was all puckered up around its little nose—"

"And that isn't the worst of it," the relentless daughter broke in. "She gets begging letters by the score and gives money to all sorts of people, and a man from the Charities Organization, who had heard about it, came and warned her that they were impostors—only she doesn't care. Do you know, there was a poor old blind woman with a dismal, wheezy organ down at Broadway and Twenty-third street—the organ would hardly play at all, and just one wretched tune—only the woman wasn't blind at all, we found out—and ma bought her a nice new organ that cost $75 and had it taken up to her. Well, she found out through this man from the Organization that the woman had pawned the new organ for $20 and was still playing on the old one. She didn't want a new one because it was too cheerful; it didn't make people sad when they heard it, like her old one did. And yesterday ma bought an Indian—"

"A what?" asked her brother, in amazement.

"An Indian—a tobacco sign."

"You don't mean it? One of those lads that stand out in front and peer under their hands to see what palefaces are moving into the house across the street? Say, ma, what you going to do with him? There isn't much room here, you know."

"I didn't buy him for myself," replied Mrs. Bines, with dignity. "I wouldn't want such an object."

"She bought it," explained his sister, "for an Italian woman who keeps a little tobacco shop down in Rivington street. A man goes around to repaint them, you know, but hers was so battered that this man told her it wasn't worth painting again, and she'd better get another, and the woman said she didn't know what to do because they cost $25 and one doesn't last very long. The bad boys whittle him and throw him down, and the people going along the street put their shoes up to tie them and step on his feet, and they scratch matches on his face, and when she goes out and says that isn't right they tell her she's too fresh. And so ma gave her $25 for a new one."

"But she has to support five children, and her husband hasn't been able to work for three years, since he fell through a fire escape where he was sleeping one hot night," pleaded Mrs. Bines, "and I think it rather stay here this summer. Just think of all those poor babies when the weather gets hot. I never thought there were so many babies in the world."

"Well, have your own way," said her son. "If you've started out to look after all the babies in New York you won't have any time left to play the races, I'll promise you that."

"Why, my son, I never—"

"But as here would probably rather do other things."

"I think," said Psyche, "I'd like Newport—Mrs. Drelmer says I should not think of going any place else. Only, of course, I can't go there alone. She says she would be glad to chaperone me, but her husband hasn't had a very good year in Wall street, and she's afraid she won't be able to go herself."

"Maybe," began Mrs. Bines, "if you'd offer—"

"Oh! she'd be offended," exclaimed Psyche.

"I'm not so sure of that," said her brother, "not if you suggest it in the right way—put it on the ground that you'll be quite helpless without her, and that she'd oblige you world without end and all that. The more I see of people here the more I think they're quite reasonable in little matters like that. They look at them in the right light. Just lead up to it delicately with Mrs. Drelmer and see. Then if she's willing to go with you, your summer will be provided for; except that we shall both have to look in upon Mrs. Juzzlebraggin here now and then to see that she doesn't overplay the game and get sick herself, and make sure that they don't get her vaccination mark away from her. And, ma, you'll have to come off on the yacht once or twice, just to give it tone."

It appeared that Percival had been right in supposing that Mrs. Drelmer might be led to regard Psyche's proposal in a light entirely rational. She was reluctant, at first, it is true.

"It's awfully dear of you to ask me, child, but really, I'm afraid it will be quite impossible. Oh!—for reasons which you, of course, with your end-

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." ness bank account, cannot at all comprehend. You see we old New York families have a secure position here by right of birth; and even when we are forced to practice little economies in dress and household management it doesn't count against us—so long as we stay here. Now, Newport is different. One cannot economize gracefully there—not even one of us. There are quiet and very decent places for those of us that must. But at Newport one must not fall behind in display. A sense of loyalty to the others, a noblesse oblige, compels one to be as lavish as those flamboyant outsiders who go there. One doesn't want them to report, you know, that such and such families of our smart set are falling behind for lack of means. So, while we of the real stock are chummy enough here, where there are only us in a position to observe ourselves, there is a sort of tacit agreement that only those shall go to Newport who are able to keep up the pace. One need not, for one season or so, be a bottager; but, for example, in the matter of dress, one must be sinfully lavish. Really, child, I could spend three months in the Engadine for the price of one decent month at Newport; the parasols, gloves, fans, shoes, 'frillies'—enough to stock the Rue de la Paix, to say nothing of gowns—but why do I run on? Here am I with a few simple summer things, fit enough indeed for the quiet place we shall reach for July and August, but ab-so-lute-ly impossible for Newport—so say no more about it, dear. You're a sweet—but it's madness to think of it."

"And I had," reported Psyche to her mother that night, "such a time getting her to agree. At first she wouldn't listen at all. Then, after I'd just fairly begged her, she admitted she might because she's taken such a fancy to me and hates to leave me—but she was sensitive about what people might say. I told her they'd never have a chance to say a word; and she was anxious Perce should know, because she says he's so cynical about New York people since that Milbrey girl made such a set for him; and at last she called me a dear and consented, though she'd been looking forward to a quiet summer. To-morrow early we start out for the shops."

So it came that the three members of the Bines family pursued during the summer their respective careers of diversion under conditions most satisfactory to each.

The steam yacht Viluca, chartered by Percival, was put into commission early in June. Her first cruise of ten days was a signal triumph. His eight guests were the men with whom he had played poker so tirelessly during the winter. Perhaps the most illuminating log of that cruise may be found in the reply of one of them whom Percival invited for another early in July.

"Much obliged, old man, but I haven't touched a drop now in over three weeks. My doctor says I must let it be for at least two months, and I mean to stick by him. Awfully kind of you, though!"

CHAPTER XV.

THE SIGHT OF A NEW BEAUTY, AND SOME ADVICE FROM HIGBEE.

In from the shining sea late one afternoon steamed the Viluca. As her chain was rattling through the hawsehole, Percival, with his sister and Mauburn, came on deck.

"Why, there's the Chicago—Higbee's yacht."

"That's the boat," said Mauburn, "that's been piling the white water up in front of her all afternoon trying to overhaul us."

"There's Millie Higbee and old Silas, now."

"And, as I live," exclaimed Psyche, "there's the Baron de Palliac between them!"

"Sure enough," said her brother. "We must call ma up to see him dressed in those sweet, pretty yachting flannels. Oh, there you are!" as Mrs. Bines joined them. "Just take this glass and treat yourself to a look at your old friend, the baron. You'll notice he has one on—see—they're waving to us."

"And doesn't Higbee look just too Chicago beside the baron?" replied her brother.

The Higbee craft cut her way gracefully up to an anchorage near the Viluca, and launches from both yachts now prepared to land their people. At the landing Percival telephoned for a carriage. While they were waiting the Higbee party came ashore.

"Hello!" said Higbee, "if I'd known that was you we was chasing I'd have put on steam and left you out of sight."

FOZZY'S BASEBALL CHAT

Reardon, the new centerfielder, with his three bingos, doesn't look like one of those "rumors."

Phil. Smith diagonizes his tantalizing drop as the Delsarte Dip, which is just about the same kind of a ball that is being used by Rube Waddell with success.

Talk about high salaried teams in the Tri-State League, Williamsport with its $5,800 monthly pay roll will make several major league clubs shiver.

Louis Wiltse is home from the Tri-State nursing his arm for a week or so. He was seen on Front street Saturday evening pushing young Wiltse, Jr., around in a go-cart. Too much of this work will put any man's arm out of condition.

Much to the disappointment of many local fans "Tommy" Barry failed to show up with the Suburbans. According to the Surburban manager he sent word at the last minute that he had to work Saturday afternoon. However, it did not make much difference, he couldn't have played any nicer than our "Smiling Jimmy."

Westfield and Plainfield will hook it into one another in a baseball argument on Crescent Oval. Manager Nicholas has been hot on the trail of Manager Daab for a game for the past three weeks and is confident that with a little strengthening up of the weak points he will produce a team here that will either "do up" or make Plainfield fight to win.

Charlie Denman is pleased over the turn of affairs and it wouldn't be surprising that he would have a hand in the pie before it cools off. And George Mallen too.

The present season in the independent baseball ranks will be remarkable, because of the number of first-class colored teams which will appear on all independent diamonds of note before the season is over, including the Crescent Oval. Less than a dozen years ago there were practically only two teams of colored players playing good ball, the Cuban Giants and the Gorhams. During the past three seasons other teams have cropped up all of whom are capable of playing fast ball. Along with the organization of these various clubs have come a change of conditions. Heretofore the colored teams were big drawing cards, principally because of the coaching abilities of the players. Their playing has since improved and now the teams are big attractions on the road because of their fast playing. The dusky artists have made a scientific study of the game and are among the fastest teams in the country.

Last season the Cuban X-Giants, colored champions of the United States and Cuba, played 165 games, of which number they won 130. Considering that these games were all played on the grounds of the enemy this record is the more remarkable.

This year Manager E. B. Lamar, Jr., announces that the club is stronger than ever, and he is confident it will not only land the International League championship, but also any other championship honors for which they may play.

The club is a member of the International League of Independent Professional Baseball Clubs, composed of the Cuban Stars, Havana, Philadelphia Professionals, Philadelphia Quaker Giants and Cuban X-Giants, which will play its championship games on the American League grounds, Philadelphia, during the season.

Including some of the best players of the Cuban National League, the Cuban Stars have come to the United States with high hopes of carrying away the international championship. Manager Camps, president and manager of the team, asserts that he has obtained a club that will prove a big surprise to Americans, being much faster than anything ever seen here before from the islands. These players will compose the team: Macineria and R. Carrilo, catchers; Orego, Rosada and Medina, pitchers; Cabera, first base; Hernandez, Cabera, Carillo and Captain Almeyda, infielders; Gallego, Lopez and one of the battery men in the outfield. With this combination Manager Camps cannot figure how he can lose the pennant.

The Havana baseball club is composed of the best ball players in Cuba. In the last fifteen championship seasons in Cuba they have finished first twelve times and second three times, being beaten out on these occasions by the All-Cubans, San Francisco and Mantanzas. It is therefore with the confidence of past achievements that Manager A. Pastor claims that he will surely carry the international championship back to Cuba with him. All the famous players of ther egular club are with the team in the United States. The players include Molina and Gonzales, catchers; De Meza, Cardenas and Clave, pitchers; S. Valdes, Carrilo, Bustamante, Martinez, Hildago and Govantes in the other positions. They play their first championship game against the Cuban Stars in Philadelphia May 29.

The Philadelphia Giants have already played several games and promise to make another grand record the coming season. Manager H. Walter Schlichter has obtained the following players: Bowman and McClellan, pitchers; Booker, catcher; Sol White, first base and captain; Grant, second base; Harris, shortstop; Jordan, third base; Hill, left field; Moore, centre field; and one of the pitchers in right field. He has lines out for several more players. His schedule for the entire season is nearly completed.

The Philadelphia Quaker Giants, the New York Colored Giants, and the All Cuban teams are other strong aggregations. Clarence Williams, the old Cuban Giant catcher, has organized still another team to be known as the Wilmington Giants. Manager Williams has booked games with many of the strong independent clubs in the metropolitan district.

"Happy Pete" Kiernan, who covered short for Plainfield last year, is in bad shape, being laid up with a formation of abscesses in his neck. Kiernan's head and neck are swollen to twice their normal proportions, but he is hopeful of getting rid of the malady within the next month. Because of his condition he has been unable to get in the game this season. Despite his affliction, he is able to be about and appears happy as ever. During the winter he cultivated a luxuriant red mustache which is now in full bloom. It hides Pete's identity and is known as the General Logan type.

The Holy Cross church choir team defeated the Whittier School team, of Dunellen, Saturday morning, on the Cricket Grounds, North Plainfield, by a score of 5 to 3. Ira Vail and E. Moran was the battery for the choir team and Dodwell and Day were in the points for the visitors.

David F. Shay, the new clerk at the Plainfield Country Club, has already made himself popular with the members by his courteous manner and business-like method. Mr. Shay is well-fitted for the position, having been employed for fifteen months at the Metropolitan Club, New York, and for eighteen months at the Metropole Hotel. SMITH IN GREAT FORM

EASY FOR PLAINFIELD

New Yorkers Weak In the Field As Well As At the Bat—Montross Hero of the Single Hit.

Helpless before Phil. Smith's delivery, the Suburbans made a weak showing against Daab's men Saturday afternoon. With the aid of a single hit, which happened at their one moment of promise in the game, they managed to score two runs after the home nine had tallied six without the expenditure of any particular trouble. That was the score, 6 to 2, but the playing was wider apart than it indicates.

It was Smith's first full game with his new mates. He set a pace that will keep him hustling to equal it during the rest of the season. He struck out thirteen men, and nothing that looked like a hit came from the Suburban hats until the one single in the eighth inning. He fielded sharply, and got a clean hit.

Aside from Smith's pitching the game was featureless. The Suburbans gave Durand poor support, particularly at critical stages. Plainfield fielded well, with the exception of Kid Brogan, who grew tired of warming the bench for Jersey City last week, and reported back to Daab. He made two bad errors, one of which made the scoring possible. He had an off-day in batting, too, his one hit being scratchy. Reardon, a former Ridgewood player who took George Mallen's place in the field, showed up well. He had nothing to do in the field, but he made three hits, one a clean two-bagger. Henriques made a pretty catch of a line drive and executed a double play unassisted. Jack O'Neil caught in perfect form, shining as a worthy partner for the other member of a gilt-edge battery. Mallen was a lively figure on the coaching lines.

Jimmy Montross figured largely in the run-getting of the visitors. Jimmy filled in a hole left on the team by the non-appearance of Tommy Barry, who sent out word at the last minute that he was too sick to report. Wehrum started the eighth by drawing a base on balls. Egan hit to Curley, who threw the ball to Brogan. Brogan let it get by, and Wehrum made second while Egan got to first. Reuton hit to Brogan, and forced Egan, but made the bag before the ball got to Henriques, Wehrum going to third. Montross, following Reuton up, allowed the latter to go down to second, then picked out a good one and hit sharply. The ball bounded away from Curley into centerfield, and the runners scored. Montross made second on the throw-in, but Smith chilled the Suburbans' hope of a batting rally by striking Oveis out.

DECIDE TO DOUBLE THE ASSESSED VALUATION NOW

THE ASSESSORS TO ACT

Plainfield's Valuation Will be About $20,000,000 Instead of $10,000,000—Hillery Law the Cause.

The Plainfield Board of Assessors and the councilmanic finance committee held a joint meeting last night to discuss matters relative to the assessment and collection of taxes during the coming year. The meeting was the result of the action taken by the Union County Board of Assessors at Elizabeth, last week, when a resolution was adopted providing that assessment this year shall be at full value.

Heretofore in Plainfield as well as in other parts of the county and the State the rule has been to assess at about fifty per cent. but the Hillery act passed at the last session of the Legislature, will establish a uniform tax rate throughout the State, beginning January 1, 1907.

After a full discussion of the question as regards Plainfield, it was practically decided that values here shall be increased between forty and fifty per cent. for the coming year and to cut the tax rate from the present figures of $2.48 on the $100 valuation to between $1.25 and $1.30. By this method the board of assessors expect to increase the total valuation of real and personal property in Plainfield to $18,000,000 or $20,000,000. The increased valuation will permit a reduction in the rate and it will not make much material difference in the individual tax to be paid, except that the large property-owners will probably have to pay a little more tax. The finance committee decided to refer the matter of adjusting the rate and the amount to be raised to the board of assesors.

The application of William Newcorn to purchase the McCarthy property, on Plainfield avenue, between Second and Third streets, recently acquired by the city in default of payment of taxes, was denied by the finance committee. Mr. Newcorn offered to pay $1,500 for the property, but the committee expressed the opinion that it is worth more than that and decided to hold the property for the present.

CARNIVAL KNIGHTS.

Watchung Council Will Make Show Grounds Coruscate May 23 and 30.

Ways and means for making their nights at the carnival lively and attractive were discussed at length by the executive committee of the committee of fifty appointed from Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, last night. The knights will be in charge of the grounds May 23 and 30.

The council has determined to make their nights the banner ones of the fourteen, and the committee is working like a small body of Trojans to realize the council's expectations. A lot of plans were broached last night, and before the meeting closed a number of novel, bright and unusual features were adopted. Others will be worked up, and when the plans are shaped a little more completely the details of the programmes will be announced.

The executive committee will hold frequent meetings between now and the twenty-third. The committee is made up of A. E. Kenney, Den J. Galbraith, John J. Kenney, Dr. A. Brennan, Robert McCormack, Garret Kiely, H. P. Greenwood, Thomas F. Gough, Arthur A. Cannon, John J. Hines, William J. O'Keeffe and John C. Traynor.

Miss Derby's Funeral Here.

The funeral of Miss Edna Florence Derby, who died at Howells, N. Y., Sunday, will be held at the First M. E. church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. The service will be attended by a large number of students from the Plainfield High School, the young woman having graduated from there last year.

NEW HEAD OF PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT OF Y.M.C.A.

George L. Listman, the new physical director of the Y. M. C. A., will assume charge of the department

George L. Listman.

July 1. He will familiarize himself with the general character of the work here before that time, and come to the position prepared to assume active direction of the summer activities and make ready for the fall opening.

Mr. Listman is a young man, but thoroughly trained, in experience as well as in theory, for physical department management. He has been in the physical department of the 26th Ward Branch of the Y. M. C. A. in Brooklyn, since 1903. The members of the basketball team of the local association met him there at a game last winter, and he impressed them then as a clever director and a pleasant companion.

Mr. Listman came to Brooklyn from the Winsted, Conn., association. Before that he had charge of the physical work at the Mount Hermon School, at Mt. Hermon, Mass., where he graduated in 1899. He has a number of medals won for athleic proficiency in different fields.

COMPANY K PASSES A FINE INSPECTION

AWARDED 100 PER CENT. FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE ITS ORGANIZATION.

Company K's annual inspection was conducted in the armory last night and for the first time in the history of the organization it was awarded 100 per cent. Every member was in attendance and withstood the careful scrutiny of the inspecting officer, Adjutant Murphy, of Governor's Island. On its conclusion he warmly complimented the militiamen and informed them they stood well in line for the State trophy, offered for the company securing the highest percentage at inspection. Colonel Collins was among the spectators.

At the company's regular business meeting it was voted to turn out for the carnival parade to be held Saturday afternoon. From the number of members who stated they would be on hand there is every indication that the organization will make a fine showing. Captain Martin is to be marshal and the boys will be given a place at the head of the line.

The company will turn out for several other affairs previous to starting for camp on July 14.

No Appointment Made.

Announcement by the Governor of the appointment for the judgeship of the proposed district court for Plainfield will be delayed until Attorney General McCarter has filed his opinion and Senator Ackerman has made a recommendation. It was reported today that the senator favors former Councilman Clarence L. Murphy for the position, but it is generally accepted that former Assemblyman William Newcorn will get the berth.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

H. B. Coombe Succeeds Hugh F. Fox As President—Three Very Brief Speeches in the Post Prandial Period.

With the largest attendance ever drawn to one of its sessions, the Men's Club of Grace P. E. church held its annual meeting and banquet at the parish house last night. The dinner was an unusually enjoyable affair.

Covers were laid for sixty. The banquet was served on several tables placed about the auditorium. Clusters of roses, lilacs, carnations and other blooms graced them; the decorative effect was of a striking nature. The menu was a delightful one, prepared and served by Mrs. Lena Hellstrom.

The dinner preceded the meeting. It started at 7:30 and the oratory was not unloosened until 9. There was not much speaking. Three addresses were made, but they were all brief and awoke no feeling of weariness in the breasts of the diners.

Rev. Dr. J. H. Egar, of North Plainfield, R. M. Huse, principal of Cedarcroft School, and Rev. E. V. Stevenson, the rector, were the speakers. Dr. Egar spoke of his connection with Plainfield many years ago, when he was in the employ of the New York Tribune. Money was very tight in New York in those days, he said, and his chief sent here for currency with which to pay off his men. He made a profit of three-fourths of one per cent. in the transaction. Mr. Huse spoke on the layman's views on dogma. Some of the views, he said, were broad and expansive.

The rector said nice things of the club. He rejoiced in its strength and welcomed its co-operation in church work. He felt sure of success in any undertaking, he said, with the club at his right hand.

During the dinner a dozen of the younger members sang glee choruses. Lewis Williams played a piano solo. William Tallamy and G. H. Chamberlain sang a duet.

After the speaking the meeting was opened in the banquet room. There was a complete change of officers. H. B. Coombe succeeded Hugh F. Fox as president; Howard Fleming took W. T. Pelletier's place as vice president; Arthur Murphy succeeded Edward F. Feickert as secretary and T. C. Smith succeeded G. S. Clay in the treasurership. Seven new members were elected to the executive committee, which was named as follows: E. H. Booth, J. P. Nolting, F. R. Stevens, R. M. Huse, Walter H. G. Veysey, A. McClean Parker, T. W. T. Maxwell, Charles Dubois, C. B. Morgan, T. W. Iredell, J. A. Lane, Hugh F. Fox, Lawrence Tweedy, George S. Clay and Edward F. Feickert.

In his report, Secretary Feickert recounted the story of the inception and organization of the club. It was started in 1904 with a charter membership of fifty odd, and has grown to a membership of ninety-two. Three new members were elected last night. During the year the club has taken part in five special Sunday evening church services.

Mr. Clay's report on the treasury was for six months, the fiscal year having been rearranged recently. The receipts during the half-year were $114 and a small balance remains in the treasury.

The dinner was arranged by a committee composed of Howard Fleming, chairman; H. B. Coombe; J. P. Nolting and Arthur Murphy. They received a vote of thanks from the club.

MR. NEWCORN SMILES.

And Says Nothing, When Judgeship Is Mentioned.

Former Assemblyman William Newcorn, who is said to be the lawyer slated for appointment to the district court judgeship here, smiled a sphinx-like smile when reporters asked him how he felt as a mark for politico-judicial lightning this morning.

"How can I talk of a position that has not been offered to me?" he asked, and gently but firmly waved all embryo interviews aside.

It is said that an applicant for one of the subordinate court positions has announced himself. Constable John Manley, it is understood, has filed application for the appointment as court officer, a berth of passable profit and not too much work. He is said to have laid his application before Mr. Newcorn, being something of a lightning forecaster.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR SECURED FOR COMMENCEMENT.

As the annual speaker for the Plainfield High School commencement day exercises, Dr. James H. Canfield, a professor in Columbia University's faculty, has been secured. Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of schools, made the announcement today. The annual exercises of the graduating class will be held in the Plainfield High School auditorium on Thursday night, June 21.

Dr. Canfield was formerly chancellor of the University of Nebraska and is a noted educator. At the annual conference of the National Educational Association, at Asbury Park, last summer, he was one of the most prominent figures and his address on that occasion attracted unusual interest in educational circles.

Dr. Maxson is anxious to make the graduating exercises notable in local high school history and to that end is devoting his energies to make the programme as interesting as possible. The other speakers will be the valedictorian and salutatorian, whose names have already been announced.

THE SOMERSET CLUB ADOPTS CONSTITUTION

BOROUGH SOCIAL ORGANIZATION HAS PLANS FOR A SUCCESSFUL SEASON.

The Somerset Club, a social organization formed a week ago in the borough, met at the clubrooms at Somerset sereet and Manning avenue, last night, adopted by-laws and constitution, elected Julius J. Stahl treasurer in place of George F. Brown, resigned, and also elected a number of new members. Another pool table was ordered and plans for appropriately decorating the clubrooms were adopted.

The rooms are now completely furnished with new carpet, chairs, tables and drapings, making them very attractive. It was decided to keep the charter list open until June 1 for the benefit of those wishing to join as charter members. The rooms will be open every night until 12 o'clock and a business meeting will be held the second Monday night in the month. The club now has a membership of seventy-five.

The organization's constitution, which has already been outlined in these columns, has been published in pamphlet form and can be had on application to any officer of the league.

It was announced last night that the first mass meeting of the Colbyites in Summit will be held in Odd Fellows Hall, in that place, tomorrow night. The speakers will be Mayor Wilcox, of Summit; Senator Colby, of Essex county, and Councellor Record, of Jersey City. Councilman Debevoise, vice president of the county league, will entertain the visitors at dinner.

THE FLOMERFELT TRIAL ON

Widow of Slain Man Defends Accused Brother in Her Testimony.

DID NOT SEE THE FIGHT

New York Pathologist Declares There Were Thirty-five Wounds On Cramer's Head and Face.

In the Somerset County Court yesterday afternoon in the trial of Jacob Flomerfelt, charged with being responsible for the death of her brother-in-law, Constable Frank D. Cramer, at North Branch, December 15, 1904, after Walter Richardson, a civil engineer, had explained the maps of the kitchen, where the crime took place, Mrs. Louise Cramer, wife of the dead man and sister of the defendant, took the stand. She said she was living at Belle Mead now but on December 15, 1904, she lived at North Branch with her husband and children, Emery, Bessie and Frank. On that morning between 7 and 8 o'clock her husband received injuries, which were cuts in the face and head, inflicted by her brother, Jacob Flomerfelt, and died Sunday morning, December 18.

She said her husband arrived home on the 6 o'clock train and was under the influence of liquor. The family sat down to breakfast, including Miss Minnie Frazee, a school teacher of Somerville, and her brother. The latter finished his meal and went to the barn. Miss Frazee went to the station to take a train home, having been a guest over night of her daughter, Bessie. After Miss Frazee had gone her husband accused her of infidelity and used vile language. Her daughter said he ought to know better and he told her to shut up, that it was none of her business and she had nothing to say. Then he slapped his daughter in the face and chased her around the table. She picked up a pitcher of milk and threw it at her father, who said he would throw her out of the window.

The witness than became frightened, fearing her husband would kill her daughter and went out and called her brother. When the latter arrived he tried to pacify Cramer and the witness saw the deceased raise his hand as if to strike her brother. Seeing they were going to quarrel she and her daughter stepped out on the back porch. Inside they heard a noise as if the combatants were wrestling. After three or four minutes Mrs. Cramer went back in the kitchen and her brother and husband were still in the kitchen. The latter said he had been cut and declared it served him right for abusing his family so. There were wounds on his head and face and blood on the table and on his clothes. Her brother was at the sink and she did not notice whether or not he was washing. She went out and gave the alarm and sent for Dr. Davis. She said she was sick and nervous at the time and had been some time previous to that. Her husband was removed to the sitting room and someone went into the room with a glass of liquor for him.

Bessie Cramer Clark, daughter of the deceased, corroborated her mother's testimony in relation to the happenings at her home on the morning of the crime. She said that when she returned to the kitchen after her father had been carried out she picked up a bread knife from the floor where it was lying in the blood, and identified the knife produced by the Prosecutor. She said it had been used that morning in cutting bread and that after she picked it up she had washed the blood off. She declared she did not see the knife in the hands of Jacob Flomerfelt.

Mrs. Clark denied the questions of the Prosecutor in relation to her going to High Bridge the day following the crime and telling her uncle, former Assemblyman George H. Cramer, a different version of the affair in which the bread knife figured as a weapon instead of the brass-knuckle Flomerfelt said he had used. Mrs. Clark did not remember of any such conversation with her uncle.

She declared that when her uncle came in he put his hand on her father's shoulder and said "Don't kill her; remember she is your daughter" and that her father tried to get past Flomerfelt to strike her.

Miss Minnie Frazee told of the occurrences at the breakfast table before she left. It was her opinion that Cramer was not intoxicated. John T. E. Van Derveer, a New York lawyer, was at the station when the call for help came. He went to the house and found Cramer on his hands and knees in the blood. He helped carry Cramer to the lounge. Flomerfelt came to him and said "What could you do, he struck his daughter?" The witness told Flomerfelt to be quiet.

WOES OF A KEEPER OF LEGAL EVIDENCE

DRIVER O'GORMAN HAS GOT TO WATCH FIVE LIVE CHICKENS.

Five plump chickens are being fed and nurtured at police headquarters, with a degree of care not lavished on the common run of fowls. For these are not ordinary chickens, but chickens extraordinary of a legal character. They are the main exhibits in the evidence against William Pape, chicken thief, who was captured with them in his possession Sunday night.

Pape, Chief Kiely says, has acknowledged stealing the fowls, but he cannot tell, or pretends he cannot tell, just where he got them. Until the police learn who the owner is the case against him cannot proceed, hence the great value of the chickens, both as clues and as evidence. The police thought they could locate the owner yesterday, but they failed to do so, and this morning a fresh hunt for the man who is needed as the complaining witness was started. Justice Mosher placed Pape under $100 bonds this morning, for a week, to give the sleuths a chance to locate the owner of the chickens. Pape says he got them somewhere between South Plainfield and Metuchen.

The chickens have been duly marked and registered as evidence and filed away in the yard back of the patrol wagon barn. Driver Tom O'Gorman has been appointed keeper of the evidence, and he is a worried man. To lose a piece of evidence is a serious matter for the man responsible for it, and the evidence doesn't seem to realize the difference between it and plain everyday chickens. It shows an individual and collective tendency to stray away that is rapidly wearing away the nerves of the conscientious keeper. Moreover, there is a colored poolroom a few doors below headquarters. O'Gorman has begged the chief to place an officer at each entrance to the resort. "Just suppose this here evidence strays near that hangout!" he said with an apprehensive shiver this morning.

"Please, mister, kin I look for my ball?" he asked. "It just fell in here."

"Get out of here!" yelled O'Gorman. As the black boy fled the custodian of the evidence kicked a rag ball down a cellarway. "That is the ninth ball that colored boys have come hunting for here since yesterday," he sighed. "If this case ain't settled up in a hurry I'll resign."

P. S. C. Announces Reductions Made Here Will Also Prevail in Nearby Towns.

IT MEANS A BIG CUT

Bound Brook, Somerville and New Brunswick Will Have Cheaper Gas and Electric Light Rates.

As a direct result of the Plainfield Protective Association's concessions from the Public Service Corporation, Bound Brook, Somerville, New Brunswick and other nearby places have secured material reductions in the price of gas and electricity. In other words the victory won by the P. P. A. is of far greater importance than at first supposed, for though other communities did not display any civic interest by becoming aroused over the situation they will share in the benefits obtained in an amicable manner by Plainfield.

"That as of May 1 the base rate for electricity in Plainfield shall be made 12 cents with the understanding that on the first day of January, 1908, it shall be reduced to 11 cents, and on the first of January, 1910, to the ultimate rate of 10 cents.

"With regard to the request of your committee for reduction in the price of gas because of the pipe line from Camden, while we have not been able to fully meet your wishes, we are willing to make a substantial concession over the reductions already announced. I am authorized to say that beginning January 1 next—or as soon thereafter as the pipe line is in operation—we will make the price of gas in Plainfield $1.15 net, for two years, and that on January 1, 1909, we will reduce the price to $1.00 net."

RUTGERS MAN MADE DEAN.

Elevated to Head of Arts Department of Utah University.

New Brunswick, May 15.—Word has been received here that Professor Byron Cummings, formerly of Rutgers College, has been made dean of the arts and science department of the University of Utah, at Salt Lake City. Professor Cummings' elevation is the last of a series of revolutionary changes at the university, to which he went several years ago.

In its early life the university spent all its energies building up its engineering department, because of the demand for mining engineers in the West, neglecting arts and science. Only recently it has reached a position where it can create the separate department, with a faculty of its own.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Sir Charles Wyndham has arranged to bring his company for a tour of the United States, beginning next January and continuing until Easter.

Howard Kyle, who recently closed his first starring tour as Mozart in "The Greater Love," which was seen at the New Plainfield last winter, has begun another one in Carl Herbert Fast's play, "Her American Prince." The piece is a romantic comedy-drama in four acts and six scenes.

When James J. Corbett again appears as a star it will be in the part of a gentleman burglar, not exactly on the Raffles order, it is explained, but something original devised by Langdon McCormick, who is at work on the play. Mr. Corbet will have all summer to memorize his lines, and says ts soon as he gets started, no more vaudeville for him.

Miss Henrietta Crosman is rehearsing Thompson Buchanan's play, "Don' Care Nancy," which is to have a try out this spring. Miss Crosman's production of "Pilgrim's Progress" will probably be put on next January in New York. The play will be taken on the road for two weeks, possibly appearing in this city, and then move into one of the large New York theatres. The company, it is said, will number two hundred persons.

Arnold Daly is said to be making preparationns to play Hamlet, "an ambition he has long held." It is hard to imagine the qualities of mind and person which so admirably fitted Mr. Daly for the task of interpreting Shaw's soulful and effeminate poet Marchbanks in "Candida" employed in a conception of Shakespeare's greatest character, but the result should be novel at least. There is consolation in the thought that an eminent critic once said that no actor playing Hamlet ever made a complete failure of it.

George Broadhurst, author of "What Happened to Jones," has gone into melodrama and his first effort in that line, "The Coward," which had its premiere in Chicago this week, was very cordially approved by the reviewers. The Chicago Post calls it a "fine, cogent, mannerly melodrama," although a "fraudulent finish" and platitudes and conventionalities in the concluding act worried its critic considerably. The play has a strong cast, including Robert T. Haines, Frederick Perry and Frederic de Belleville.

COLBY MEN OUT FOR THE ASSEMBLY

THREE MEN OF BERGEN COUNTY ANNOUNCE THEIR CANDIDACY

Following the announcement of the candidacy of George L. Record, under the Colby Reform Republican banner, for United States Senator comes the announcement by C. Van Husen Witbeck, of Hackensack, and Otto J. Strasser, of East Rutherford, of their candidacy for Assembly under the Colby banner in Bergen county.

The announcement appeared in a Hackensack newspaper Saturday as a paid advertisement, and with it were the principles which the candidates stand for. Editor Witbeck wished the Republican Assembly nomination two years ago. These are the principles announced:

Opposition to the nomination of candidates through the boss and the machine.

The nomination of all candidates for public office by direct vote.

A law permitting voters to indicate upon their ballots their choice for United States Senator.

A law taxing the franchise of public-utility companies in the streets the same as other property.

The adoption of a rule whereby each house of the Legislature will be compelled to vote upon every bill introduced in case 20 per cent. of the members shall sign a written request to that effect.

A thorough legislative investigation of insurance companies and the relations existing between such companies and other financial corporations.

An act requiring sheriffs to select grand and petit juries by lot from the entire qualified citizenship of the county, with discretionary power in the court to reject jurors.

The candidates pledge their votes to George L. Record for United States Senator.

George Voehl, of West Front street, enjoyed an automobile ride to Pennington on Sunday, where he visited his daughter, who is a student at the seminary. Miss Voehl will return home next month for the summer vacation.

AUTO CLUBS ARE TO ENFORCE AUTO LAW

MOTOR ORGANIZATIONS UNANIMOUSLY FOR OBEDIENCE TO IT.

Trenton, N. J., May 15.—Representatives of the Associated Automobile Clubs met at the Trenton Country Club house Saturday evening and decided that every automobile club in the State should appoint committees to see that all auto drivers abide strictly by the provisions of the Frelinghuysen Motor Vehicle law which was passed by the last Legislature.

Before the law was enacted the autoists were to a man against it, defying the Legislature to enact an anti-scorching law, but Saturday's meetinfi developed the unanimous sentimentn that in order to gain the public confidence, which is necessary for the cause of good automobiling, the autoists must obey the law and aid the State to enforce it. They decided that they must carry favor with the public to avoid more drastic legislation in the future.

Among the prominent autoists present were E. A. Pratt, of Newark, and John E. Gill, of Trenton, president and secretary respectively of the Associated clubs, and Senator L. M. Cresse, of the Cape May Club.

Union a Pivotal Point.

Another strong card has been played by the Colby men in Union county, where teh old Fowler risaffection, which has been slumbering for two years, promises to break out for the defeat of the Kean organization. Representative Fowler long has been a personal foe of Senator Kean. By giving his support to the Runyon faction, and aided presumably by Foster M. Voorhees, he might lead to the sending of an anti-Dryden delegation from this county to Trenton next January. In such an event Fowler might want to profit and he would like nothing better than to sit with and oppose Kean in the Senate. It may be that Voorhees has a similar longing and that Fowler would not be averse to succeeding Stokes in 1908.—New York Press.

To Fight the Ice Trust.

On account of the high price of ice the West Hudson Business Men's Protective Association has decided to erect an independent ice plant at a cost of about $60,000. Almost all of the stock has been subscribed for. The rest will be offered to residents of Harrison, East Newark and Kearny.

Consumption Can Be Cured

Positive Proofs From the Best Medical Authorities.

One hundred thousand persons are said to be dying yearly from Consumption. Ninety thousand of these need not die. This is a proven fact and the public is finally awakening to the truth.

Statistics prove that with proper sanitary surroundings, life in the open air, good food and care and attention 90 per cent. of all Consumptives will get well. In his PRIZE ESSAY which was awarded the international prize at the Tuberculosis Convention held at Berlin, Dr. S. A. KNOPF gives the following figures:

Seventy-two out of 99 patients suffering from Consumption were alive and well from 3 to 9 years after their discharge from the Falkenstein Sanitarium. Only 12 out of the 99 had died.

Of 324 patients discharged from the St. Blasien Sanitarium in Germany 5 had died and 12 were reported worse.

Dr. Von Ruck, of Asheville, N. C., reports on 650 cases from 457 of whom he heard from one to three years afterwards. Of these 67 left absolutely cured, 70 felt relatively cured, 258 felt still improved while only 62 got worse or died.

For further testimony along the same lines see the remarkable article in McClure's Magazine for February, 1905.

Statistics prove conclusively that nearly 25 per cent. of all persons who die from causes other than Consumption, show scars on their lungs proving that they had tuberculosis without knowing it, thinking probably that it was only a bad cold. And these cases got well of their own accord.

But, more decisive and convincing than anything else is the testimony of a multitude of cured patients in the trial held before the Superior Court of Cincinnati against the pirates who tried to rob the Piso Company of their 50 years' reputation, but were ignominiously defeated. Case after case, doctors, druggists, chemists, farmers, lawyers, clerks, housewives, parents of children all gave testimony that Consumption is absolutely curable under certain sanitary conditions and by the use of the Piso Cure.

Our free book, "How Consumptives Ought to Live," is yours for the asking. Write The Piso Co., 198 Piso Building, Warren, Pa., today. It will interest you, especially if you have the disease, are threatened with it or have a near or dear one who is.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is for sale by every druggist at 25c. a bottle, and if after using two-thirds of a bottle you are not more than satisfied the money is refunded. Piso's Cure contains no morphine or other injurious ingredient.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Contrary to expectation, Frank O. Reinhart has returned to the game of golf and made his first appearance at the Plainfield Country Club, this season, on Saturday, where he returned a low score, finishing second in the competitions for the two cups.

There will be some lively times in college golf this week. The champion team of the New England College Golf Association, from Williams College, will play at Princeton on Thursday, and against Yale at Garden City, on Saturday. Harvard has already been taken into camp and the boys from Williams are expected to demonstrate this week their right to be invited to play in the Intercollegiate Golf Association championship next fall. In fact a merger of the two associations, which virtually occupy the one field, may eventuate from the pioneer expeditions undertaken by Williams.

First in the field of the business men's leagues for the season, the spring handicaps of the New York Produce Exchange Golf Club will be held at the Knollwood Country Club on Thursday. As usual there will be Class A and B divisions, the first prize in each to be a cup from the president, George A. Zabriskie, with second and third prizes from the Produce Exchange Club. There will also be a "kicker's" handicap, for two prizes. It is expected that Plainfield members will be represented in this tournament.

Still another contest of this busy week in golf will be the semi-annual club championships, thirty-six holes medal play, at the Baltusrol Golf Club on Thursday. The contest is one of the red letter ones in Metropolitan Golf Association golf and stamps the class of the winner. The cup is to become the property of the player winning three times, Louis P. Bayard, Jr., gaining a second victory last spring and A. S. Morrow now holding the trophy. This season's schedule at the Baltusrol Club indicates lively times for the members.

Among the events at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday will be a team match with Columbia University, one of the strongest aggregations in this part of the country. There will also be the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup, play for the May cup and possibly a clock golf competition for women.

The Park Golf Club lacks its usual hustle this season in getting started. Thus far no schedules have been issued by the club and while there has been general play on the course, there has been no formal opening. It is said that a schedule will be announced within a short time. In the meantime many of the members have been playing on the Plainfield Country Club course.

The New Brunswick Golf Club opened its twelfth season on Saturday on the course at Ross Hall. There was a large attendance to enjoy the tea and the scheduled events. Golf, tennis, bowling on the green, roque and croquet were played. The club expects to make a good showing this year. Kendrick R. Wilson is the captain and he has arranged a schedule. Some of the matches are with the following teams: Glen Ridge Golf Club, Colonial Country Club, New York Golf Club, Trenton Country Club, Suburban Club, of Elizabeth, and the Forest Hill Club, of Newark. The present officers of the club are: President, John P. Street; vice president, Professor E. R. Payson; secretary, H. Brewster; treasurer, J. Bayard Kirkpatrick. The club was organized in October, 1894, and was among the first of the golf clubs formed in this country. It started with a membership of forty-nine and now has a membership of about two hundred. The history of the club has been one of constant development. Its first links were laid out on upper Livingston avenue, but, through the kindness of James Neilson, the club was allowed to use his beautiful private grounds. Later the club returned to larger grounds on Livingston avenue, and in 1897 removed to the present links at Ross Hall. In addition to the quaint old historic clubhouse, the club controls about forty acres of land, on which are laid the golf links proper.

OTHER TOWNS TO BENEFIT.

Somerville, Bound Brook and New Brunswick, among other places, can thank themselves that Plainfield is always awake to the best interests of its people. While other communities said nothing and paid the bills, the people of Plainfield arose against the Public Service Corporation because of the charges made for gas and electricity.

An organization of representative and influential men was formed to secure better rates. No sooner had the association gotten down to work than the P. S. C., knowing that it was in earnest, offered to treat with it. As a result of the negotiations, about everything that Plainfield could ask was obtained in a friendly way without any attempt to resort to legal proceedings.

And now comes the news that what Plainfield has done will be to the direct benefit of all surrounding communities.

CARL SCHURZ.

The name of Carl Schurz will be recorded on the pages of American history as that of a publicist, statesman and soldier. There is no better obituary to the man than that penned by President Roosevelt, who says: "This country has lost a statesman of Lincoln's generation, whose services both in peace and in war at the great crisis of the republic's history will not be forgotten while that history lasts."

Plainfield's merchants should avail themselves of the opportunity to advertise their wares by participating in the annual carnival parade on Saturday. The demonstration promises to be creditable to the town in every respect and Chairman Fisk, of the general committee, is deserving of praise for the time and effort he has spent in advancing the enterprise.

If Mr. Record desires to convince the voters that he is in the reform movement for no sordid purposes he will renounce that boom for the United States Senatorship. Let him emulate Mr. Runyon in his avowed purpose to neither seek nor take office.

That "muck rake"—long since condemned by the President—is certainly being worked overtime by that self-same individual in his controversy with Tillman, Allison, Lodge, et al.

Judge Newcorn sounds all right and is all right.

RULES FOR HORSE SHOW

Plainfield Riding and Driving Club Announces Exhibition Regulations.

THE JUDGES ARE NAMED

The Plainfield Riding and Driving Club will hold its third annual horse show on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 7, 8 and 9, on the new show grounds, at Woodland avenue and Randolph road. Encouraged by the success and support which the shows in the past have attained, the club, formally incorporated under the laws of the State, purchased a large tract of land and erected grandstand, clubrooms, stables and show ring in the most substantial and modern manner. The buildings have all been modeled upon the Spanish mission style of architecture, contrasting in bright colors with a background of natural woodland beauty.

The ring itself, 325x180, is carefully underdrained, to insure a dry and springy track. Roomy and well ventilated stalls are provided with with covered passageways in front. The grounds, one mile from the city, are within the "city limits" and provided with water hydrants and most complete fire protection. The trolley from Plainfield station passes one of the gateways. It is the intention of the club to place its exhibition in the front rank of outdoor horse shows, and, with this in view, no expense or care will be spared in providing attractive and convenient accommodations for its patrons. Persons desiring to become subscribing members can do so by remitting $6 dues for the year 1906 to the secretary of the club. Each subscribing member will receive a badge entitling him to admission to the show grounds and club rooms during the exhibition. Tea and ices will be served in the women's pavilion.

The executive committee of the club comprises Lewis E. Waring, chairman; William J. Buttfield, George P. Mellick, Charles J. Fisk and Robert A. Fairbairn. The judges selected for the coming show are as follows:

Roadsters, George Willing, Philadelphia; harness horses, Joseph P. Ogden, Morristown; Jay F. Carlisle, Brooklyn; hunters and jumpers, Percy Evans, Warrenton, Va. Judges in the saddle classes will be announced later.

These rules and regulations have been adopted:

One or more judges shall be appointed for each class. No exhibitor shall be a judge of a class in which he exhibits. Competition is open to all, except in local classes. Every exhibitior must make his own choice as to the class in which he will enter his horse, and abide by it. The pedigrees of all animals entered in the harness and saddle classes must be given on the entry form, whenever known. In all classes, except four-in-hands, the description on the entry blank must fully identify horses. There must be three entries by two different owners in every class.

When one horse of a pair is not exceeding half an inch over or under the height prescribed, the other horse being with the limit, the pair shall not be disqualified. But the horse which is not within the prescribed limit shall not be eligible in any single harness class. All prizes will be withheld when the judges are of the opinion that there is not sufficient merit in the animals exhibited for such prize to justify an award.

Every animal entered for competition shall be under the control of the executive committee, but the club will in no case be responsible for any loss or damage that may occur, and it shall be a condition of entry that each exhibitor shall hold the club blameless for any loss or accident.

The fee charged for each entry in every class is $5. A limited number of stalls and box stalls are provided on the grounds. These will be reserved in order of application, accompanied by remittance, out-of-town exhibitors being given preference. The charge for a stall will be $2 per day, box stalls $2.50 per day, including keep and bedding. Stabling cannot be reserved for less than three days. In case of animals being entered and not exhibited, the entrance fee and charge for stalls or boxes will be forfeited.

All animals competing must be entered in the name of their bona-fide owners or their duly authorized agents. Should doubts arise, the directors may require affidavits of ownership.

Every horse entered and all vehicles or equipments when such vehicle or equipment count, must be the bona-fide property of the exhibitor making the entry. Horses will be measured in the shoes in which they come to the exhibition, and this measure shall hold good during the show in all competitions. All exhibitors will have a badge of free admission sent to them. In case of transfer or other improper use of said badge, the same will be forfeited.

Each attendant bringing horses to the exhibition will be furnished with a badge of admission, and no person will be allowed to enter the grounds without having a badge. A single attendant's badge will be given to each exhibitor of one or two horses, and in the same proportion for a larger number of horses. Should additional ones be required by exhibitors, they must be paid for at the rate of $3 each. All attendants coming in charge of horses will be subject to the orders of the executive committee or its authorized agent.

Exhibitors are warned that any act of discourtesy or disobedience to the judges or officials on the part of the owner, groom, rider or driver, will disqualify the horse for adjudication, and the owner shall forfeit his entrance and other fees. No groom that is not appropriately dressed will be permitted in the ring. The club reserves to itself the right to remove any groom from the show grounds without being liable for compensation.

The club will not be responsible for any article of any kind or nature that may be lost or destroyed or in any way injured. Each exhibitor shall be responsible for any injury that may be occasioned to any person whomsoever by any horse exhibited, and each exhibitor shall indemnify the club against all claims or demands of any kind or nature that may grow out of any injury occasioned by any horse exhibited, or arise from the negligence of the person in charge of such horse.

With the view of properly determing the respective merits of horses entered in the saddle horse, hunting and jumping classes, the Committee reserve the right of holding preliminary trials in the morning. Only such horses as may then be selected by the judges shall be allowed to compete in their classes when subsequently judged.

During the time of judging nobody will be allowed in the ring except the judges of the classes then in the arena, attendants in charge of horses being judged, and the Ring Committee. This rule will be strictly enforced.

"Recognized Hunt" means a hunt club recognized by the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association.

Should any question or dispute arise, not provided for in the foregoing rules, the same shall be referred to the Executive Committee, whose decision shall be final.

Any exhibitor lodging a protest must first deposit $25.00 with the secretary, which sum shall be forfeited to the club if the same is not sustained. All protests must be made in writing, signed by the protestor, and must be lodged within twenty-four hours after the award is made.

All protests will be decided by the Executive Committee, and their decisions shall not be subject to appeal.

The results of all the veterinary examinations shall be regarded as confidential.

The judges are especially requested to note rules in the preceding rules and regulations.

Every horse shall be ridden at the fences in his turn, according to the number in the catalogue.

In case of a horse refusing his fences, he shall be allowed two further trials, and no more; if then unsuccessful he shall cease to compete.

The minimum weight to be carried in the hunter and jumping classes will be 150 pounds.

Riders will not be allowed to punish their horses with unnecessary severity.

Any rider or driver who shall not obey the directions of the management or judges shall be reprimanded, and, at their discretion, shall, if so ordered, withdraw from the ring.

When the judges consider it necessary, they may ride or drive any of the contesting horses to determine their respective merits.

ALAS! "HE" HAPPENED TO BE THE BUYER'S WIFE.

So Cupid's and Romantic Miss Jennie Hatcher's Shafts Went Sadly Astray.

Atlantic City, May 15.—Blind Cupid and a romantic girl made a clean miss when a box of luscious strawberries packed by Miss Jennie Hatcher, of Rose Hill, N. C., fell into the hands of a local realty broker who is a husband and father of several children. On the bottom of the box was written in a neat hand:

"If the buyer of this box of berries should happen to be a young man I would be pleased to hear from him."

To this Miss Hatcher had signed her name and address. The message was discovered by the wife of the broker and the romantic berry packer will get no answer to her request for correspondence acquaintance.

DATES SET FOR SEA GIRT CAMP

SECOND REGIMENT TO PITCH ITS TENTS ON SATURDAY, JULY 21.

General orders No. 5 have been issued from division headquarters, N. G. N. J., as follows:

1. Pursuant to special orders No. 26, adjutant general's office, dated May 1, 1906, the several commands comprising the Division National Guard will encamp upon the State camp grounds at Sea Girt, N. J., as follows:

First brigade—First regiment, infantry, and First troop, cavalry, Monday, July 30, to Saturday, August 4, inclusive; Fourth regiment, infantry, and Signal and Telegraph corps, Monday, August 6, to Saturday, August 11, inclusive; Fifth regiment, infantry, and Battery B, Field artillery, Monday, July 23, to Saturday, July 28, inclusive.

Second brigade—Second regiment, infantry, and Battery B, Field artillery, Monday, July 16, to Saturday, July 21, inclusive; Third regiment, infantry, and Second troop, cavalry, Monday, July 9, to Saturday, July 14, inclusive.

2. The several organizations may enter camp on Saturdays, July 7, 14, 21, 28 and August 4 respectively; provided, it is understood that no apy will be allowed for the additional two days.

3. No man will be taken to camp who is not enlisted prior to June 30. Regimental, troop and battery commanders will cause their commands to be mustered each day of the encampment, and will allow no man to be present in uniform and as a part of the command who has not been regularly enlisted.

4. Transportation, camp equipage and subsistence will be furnished by the quartermaster general and commissary general, upon requisition duly approved.

5. The troops so encamped will be paid by the paymaster general in accordance with the provisions of "An act concerning the military and naval forces," approved March 22, 1901. Company pay rolls must show the correct names of the entire command, whether present for duty or not; the absentees will be marked "absent with leave," "absent without leave," or "absent sick," as the case may be. No man will be paid for duty at camp whose name is not of record in the office of the adjutant general. To avoid delay in payment for services at camp, regimental, troop and battery commanders will cause the pay rolls to be audited and see that they are properly and correctly made before forwarding.

6. The commanding officers of brigades, with their staffs, will encamp in the time of the organizations of their respective brigades and be in command of the camp during that period.

By command of
MAJOR GENERAL WANSER.
THOMAS S. CHAMBERS,
Assistant Adjutant General.

THE PIANO NEXT DOOR.

Music hath charms—at a distance—
For hearts that are weary and sore;
But how it embitters existence
From the jingling piano next door.
"Bedelia" can't steal ye,
Nor "Violets" heal ye,
On the tinny piano next door—
The twanging, the banging, the ready-for-hanging piano next door.

In the daytime I'm wildely distracted.
And at night I can't slumber and snore,
With the murderous doings enacted
On the cursed piano next door.
"Keep a Little Cozy Corner in Your Heart for Me."
"Under the Shade of the Old Apple Tree,"
Says the jangly piano next door.
The blood-curdling, note-hurdling, pounded and hounded, confounded piano next door.

There's no torture can catch me hereafter
That I haven't endured it—and more,
Since with grim, demoniacal laughter
Satan brought the piano next door.
Oh, golly, "Irish Molly,"
And "Yankee Doodle Boy!"
And don't the demons smile
At the strains of "Just My Style."
On the jangling piano next door,
The mangling and wrangling, benighted and blighted piano next door.

Take all that I've said—and then double,
Think of discords and breaks by the score,
And you won't have a tithe of my trouble
From the jigging piano next door—
It's ragtime and jagtime,
It's chink-a-ling-ching,
Holy Cities, coon song ditties,
Pink-a-ping, ping, pink-a-ping—
That awful piano next door,
That jawful and (unfortunately) lawful piano next door.

HEALTHY PLANTS
Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.
Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere,—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.
A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.
You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.
You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.
You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.
Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result.

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"It's much better you didn't recognize us; these boiler explosions are so messy."

"Know the baron here?"

"Of course we know the baron. Ah, baron!"

"Ah, ha! very charmed, Mr. Bines and Miss Bines; it is of a long time that we are not encountered."

He was radiant; they had never before seen him thus. Mrs. Higbee hovered near him with an air of proud ownership. Pretty Millie Higbee posed gracefully at her side.

"This your carriage?" asked Higbee; "I must telephone for one myself. Going to the Mayson? So are we. See you again to-night. We're off for Bar Harbor early to-morrow."

"THERE'S THE BARON."

"Looks as if there were something doing there," said Percival, as they drove off the wharf.

"Of course, stupid!" said his sister; "that's plain; only it isn't doing, it's already done. Isn't it funny, ma?"

"For a French person," observed Mrs. Bines, guardedly, "I always liked the baron."

"Of course," said her son, to Mauburn's mystification, "and the noblest men on this earth have to wear 'em."

The surmise regarding the Baron de Palliac and Millie Higbee proved to be correct. Percival came upon Higbee in the meditative enjoyment of his after-dinner cigar, out on the broad piazza.

"I s'pose you're on," he began; "the girl's engaged, to that Frenchy."

"I congratulate him," said Percival heartily.

"A real baron," continued Higbee. "I looked him up and made sure of that; title's good as wheat. God knows that never would 'a' got me, but the madam was set on it, and the girl, too, and I had to give in. It seemed to be a question of him or some actor. The madam said I'd had my way about Hank, putting his poor stubby nose to the grindstone out there in Chicago, and makin' a plain insignificant business man out of him, and I'd ought to let her have her way with the girl, being that I couldn't expect her to go to work, too. So Mil will work the society end.' I says to the madam, I says: 'All right, have your own way; and we'll see whether you make more out of the girl than I make out of the boy,' I says. But it ain't going to be all digging up. I've made the baron promise to go into business with me, and though I ain't told him yet, I'm going to put out a line of Higbee's thin-sliced ham and bacon in glass jars with his crest on 'em for the French trade. This baron'll cost me more'n that sign I showed you coming out of the old town, and he won't give any such returns, but the crest on them jars, printed in three colors and gold, will be a bully ad.; and it kept the women quiet," he concluded, apologetically.

"The baron's a good fellow," said Percival.

"Sure," replied Higbee. "They're all good fellows. Hank had the makin's of a good fellow in him. And say, young man, that reminds me; I hear all kinds of reports about your getting to be one yourself. Now I knew your father, Daniel J. Bines, and I liked him, and I like you; and I hope you won't get huffy, but from what they tell me you ain't doing yourself a bit of good."

"Don't believe all you hear," laughed Percival.

"Well, I'll tell you one thing plain, if you was my son, you'd fade right back to the packing house along with Henry-boy. It's a pity you ain't got some one to shut down on you that way. They tell me you got your father's capacity for carrying liquor, and I hear you're known from one end of Broadway to the other as the easiest mark that ever came to town. They say you couldn't walk in your sleep without spending money. Now, excuse my plain speaking, but them are two reputations that are mighty hard to live up to beyond a certain limit. They've put lots of good weight-carriers off the track before they was due to go. I hear you got pinched in that wheat deal of Burman's?"

"Oh, only for a few hundred thousand. The reports of our losses were exaggerated. And we stood to win over—"

"Yes—you stood to win, and then you went 'way back and set down,' as the saying is. But it ain't the money. You've got too much of that, anyway, Lord knows. It's this everlasting hullabaloo and the drink that goes with it, and the general trifling sort of a dub it makes out of a young fellow. It's a pity you ain't my son; that's all I got to say. I want to see you again along in September after I get back from San Francisco; I'm going to try to get you interested in some business. That'd be good for you."

"You're kind, Mr. Higbee, and really I appreciate all you say; but you'll see me settle down pretty soon, quick as I get my bearings, and be a credit to the state of Montana."

After they had gone away Percival sat revolving the paternal warnings of Higbee. He considered them seriously. He decided he ought to think more about what he was doing and what he should do. He decided, too, that he could think better with something mechanical to occupy his hands. He took a cab and was driven to the local branch of his favorite temple of chance. His host welcomed him at the door.

"Ah, Mr. Bines, a little recreation, eh? Your favorite dealer, Dutson, is here to-night, if you prefer bank."

Passing through the crowded, brightly-lighted rooms to one of the faro tables, where his host promptly secured a seat for him, he played meditatively until one o'clock; adding materially to his host's reasons for believing he had done wisely to follow his New York clients to their summer annex.

CHAPTER XVI.

HORACE MILBREY UPHOLDS THE DIGNITY OF HIS HOUSE.

In the shade of the piazza at the Hotel Mayson next morning there was a sorting out of the mail that had been forwarded from the hotel in New York. The mail of Mrs. Bines was a joy to her son. There were three conventional begging letters, heart-breaking in their pathos, and composed with no mean literary skill. There was a letter from one of the maids at the Hightower for whose mother Mrs. Bines had secured employment in the family of a friend; a position, complained the daughter, "in which she finds constant hard labor caused by the quantity expected of her to attend to." There was also a letter from the lady's employer, saying she would not so much mind her laziness if she did not aggravate it by drink. Mrs. Bines sighed despairingly for the recalcitrant.

"Oh, that's a poor little woman I helped. They call her husband 'the Terrible Iceman.'"

"But this is just the season for icemen!"

Percival gasped.

"—and he had a chance to make some money, only the man he fought against had some of his friends drug this poor fellow before their—their meeting—and so of course he lost. If he hadn't been drugged he would have won the money, and now there's a law passed against it, and of course it isn't a very nice trade, but I think the law ought to be changed. He's got to live."

"I don't see why; not if he's the man I saw box one night last winter. He didn't have a single excuse for living. And what are these tickets—'Grand Annual Outing and Games of the Egg-Candlers & Butter Drivers' Association at Sulzer's Harlem River Park. Ticket Admitting Lady and Gent, One Dollar.' Heavens! What is it?"

"I promised to take ten tickets," said Mrs. Bines. "I must send them a check."

"But what are they?" her son insisted; "egg-candlers may be all right, but what are butter drivers? Are you quite sure it's respectable? Why, I ask you, should an honest man wish to drive butter? That shows you what life in a great city does for the morally weak. Look out you don't get mixed up in it yourself, that's all I ask. They'll have you driving butter first thing you know. Thank heaven! thus far no Bines has ever candled an egg—and as for driving butter—" he stopped, with a shudder of extreme repugnance.

"And here's a notice about the excursions of the St. John's Guild. I've been on four already, and I want you to get me back to New York right away for the others. If you could only see all those babies we take out on the floating hospital, with two men in little boats behind to pick up those that fall overboard—and really it's a wonder any of them live through the summer in that cruel city. Down in Hester street the other day four of them had a slice of watermelon from Mr. Silvinsky's stand on the corner, and when I saw them they were actually eating the hard, green rind. It was enough to kill a horse."

"Well, have your own fun," said her son, cheerfully. "Here's a letter from Uncle Peter I must read."

He drew his chair aside and began the letter:

Montana City, July 21, 1900.

Dear Pete: Your letter and Martha's rec'd, and glad to hear from you. I leave latter part of this week for the mtns. Late setting out this season acct. rhumatis caught last winter that laid me up all spring. It was so mortal dull here with you folks gone that I went out with a locating party to get the M. P. branch located ahead of the Short Line folks. So while you were having your fun there I was having mine here, and I had it good and plenty.

The worst weather I ever did see, and I have seen some bad. Snow six to eight feet on a level and the mercury down as low as 62 with an ornery fierce wind. We lost four horses froze to death, and all but two of the men got froze up bad. We reached the head of Madison Valley Feb. 19 north of Red Bank Canyon, but it wasn't as easy as it sounds.

Jan. 8, after getting out of supplies, we abandoned our camp at Riverside and moved 10 m. down the river carrying what we could on our backs. Met pack train with a few supplies that night, and next day I took part of the force in boat to meet over-due load of supplies. We got froze in the ice. Left party to break through and took Billy Brue and went ahead to hunt steam. Billy and me lived four days on one lb. bacon. The second day Billy took some sickness so he could not eat hardly any food; the next day he was worse, and the last day he was so bad he said the bare sight of food made him gag. I think he was a liar, because he wasn't troubled none after we got to supplies again, but I couldn't do anything with him, and so I lived high and come out slick and fat. Finally we found the team coming in. They had got stuck in the river and we had to carry out the load on our backs, waist-deep in running water. I see some man in the east has a fad for breaking the ice in the river and going swimming. I would not do it for any fad. Slept in snowdrift that night in wet clothes, mercury 40 below. Was 18 days going 33 miles. Broke wagon twice, then broke sled and crippled one horse. Packed the other five and went on till snow was too deep. Left the horses where four out of five died and carried supplies the rest of the way on our backs. Moved camp again on our backs and got caught in a blizzard and nearly all of us got our last freeze-up that time. Finally a Chinook opened the river and I took a boat up to get the abandoned camp. Got froze in harder than ever and had to walk out. Most of the men quit on account of frozen feet, etc., etc. They are a getting to be a sissy lot these days, rather lie around a hot stove all winter.

I had to pull chain, cut brush and shovel snow after the 1st Feb. Our last stage was from Fire Hole Basin to Madison Valley, 45 m. It was hell. Didn't see the sun but once after Feb. 1, and it stormed incessant, making short sights necessary, and with each one we would have to dig a hole to the ground and often a ditch or a tunnel through the snow to look through. The snow was soft to the bottom and an instrument would sink through.

"Here's a fine letter to read on a hot day," called Percival. "I'm catching cold." He continued.

We have a very good line, better than from Beaver Canyon, our maps filed and construction under way; all grading done and some track laid. That's what you call hustling. The main drawback is that Red Bank canyon. It's a regular avalanche for eight miles. The snow slides just fill the river. One just above our camp filled it for ¼ mile and 40 feet deep and cut down 3 ft. trees like a razor shaves your face. I had to run to get out of the way. Reached Madison Valley with one tent and it looked more like mosquito bar than canvas. The old cloth wouldn't hardly hold the patches together. I slept out doors for six weeks. I got frost-bitten considerable and the rheumatis. I tell you, at 75 I ain't the man I used to be. I find I need a stout tent and a good warm sleeping bag for them kind of doings nowdays.

Well, this western country would be pretty dull for you I suppose going to balls and parties every night with the Astors and Vanderbilts. I hope you ain't cut loose none.

By the way, that party that ground-sluiced us, the woman who was with your pa when he died and who turned up later with a fake marriage certificate and will, Coplen he met a party in Spokane the other day that seen her in Paris last spring. She was laying in a stock of duds and the party gethered that she was going back to New York—

The Milbreys, father and son, came up and greeted the group on the piazza.

"I've just frozen both ears reading a letter from my grandfather," said Percival. "Excuse me one moment and I'll be done."

"All right, old chap. I'll see if there's some mail for me. Dad can chat with the ladies. Ah, here's Mrs. Dreimer. Mornin'!"

Percival resumed his letter.

—going back to New York and make the society bluff. They say she's got the face to do it all right. Coplen learned she come out here with a gambler from New Orleans and she was dealing bank herself up to Wallace for a spell while he was broke. This gambler he was the slickest short-card player ever struck hereabouts. He was too good. He was so good they shot him all up one night last fall over to Wardner. She hadn't lived with him for some time then, though Coplen says they was lawful man and wife, so I guess maybe she was glad when he got it good in the chest-place—

Fred Milbrey came out of the hotel office.

"No mail," he said. "Come, let's be getting along. Finish your letter on the way, Bines."

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

FOZZY'S BASEBALL CHAT

Next Saturday Dan Bastian's Paterson team will be the opponents of the Plainfields at Crescent Oval. The Patersons made a big bid for victory in Hoboken Sunday and only lost after the tightest kind of a struggle by the score of 5 to 4. Mr. Bastian told Manager Daab that he is anxious to come out to Plainfield and show his oldtime friends that he has the real goods. Fans will remember that it was Bastian who brought the Philadelphia Athletics to town to play as the St. Mary's against Westfield. Since he left Plainfield Bastian managed a team in Pottstown, Pa., besides being interested in baseball matters in the Silk City. After the game Sunday Bastian declared to Manager Daab that the aggregation he will bring to Plainfield will be stronger that that which played in Hoboken.

Bastian was never known as a bluffer or hot air artist. It can be depended on that he will bring a team along prepared to annihilate Plainfield.

It is all settled that Hank Mathewson and the All Nationals will be the double-deck attraction for Decoration Day. Matty the Second is pitching the best kind of ball. Pitching for the Port Chesters two weeks ago against New London he struck out seventeen of the Nutmeg leaguers.

Reardon seems to be the real goods. Sunday at Hoboken he cracked out another three bagger and nailed every fly that came in his territory.

Secretary Robert Gow has it all doped out on the result of the Giant's invasion of the West. He picks Cincinnati, St. Louis and Pittsburgh to capture a pair of games each from the world's champions and Chicago to do better by taking three out of the four games.

G. Tobin announced Saturday that the game was too tame for him and that he didn't expect to see any more games this year.

A contest worth seeing would be with Somerville with Jimmy Montross in the box and Plainfield with Phil. Smith on the slab. Wouldn't these two curveologists work for their salaries and glory?

Willie Deegan showed his old time form in Hoboken Sunday against the Patersons. Now that the warm weather is on the old war horse will be at his best until the snow flakes drop.

Manager Daab has arranged the following schedule to July 1: May 19, Patersons, champions of northern New Jersey; May 26, Westfield; May 30, a. m. and p. m., All Nationals with "Hank" Mathewson on the slab; June 2, St. John's College, semi-professional champions of Jersey City; June 9, Philadelphia Giants; June 16, open; June 23, Philadelphia Quaker Giants; June 30, Paterson. During July and August several of the strong Cuban teams will be the attractions.

The baseball team from the Holy Cross church will meet a church team from Orange on Saturday morning, May 26.

HOBOKEN NINE, FIVE; PATERSON TEAM, FOUR.

Daab's Men Victors In a Rattling Good Game.

In a rattling good game the Hobokens defeated the Paterson nine at St. George's Cricket Grounds, Sunday, by a score of 5 to 4. It is the team scheduled to meet Plainfield on Crescent Oval next Saturday afternoon. "Willie" Deegan occupied the box for the Hobokens, and held his opponents to six hits and he fanned seven batsmen. Reardon led in the hitting with a three bagger, while Curley and Heffron each banged out a two bagger. The home team made a total of eight hits.

Ralph Van Pelt and C. V. D. Bergen told about the same story as Mr. Van Derveer. They helped get Cramer on the lounge.

Miss Dora Powelson, a school girl at the depot, overheard a conversation in which Flomerfelt said "I have fixed him so he will not drink any more in a while."

Dr. Henry V. Davis testified that he was the family physician of the Cramers. He attended Cramer after the fight and found about thirty wounds on his face and head. When the question of getting another physician to help arose Dr. Swinton, of Somerville was suggested, and Flomerfelt said, "Don't get Swinton, or I will fix him in the same way." The witness had not completed his testimony when court adjourned.

Dr. David again took the stand when court was resumed this morning and said he didn't think that a deep wound above Cramer's eye had been made with a brass knuckle. It looked, he said, more like a gash that might have been made by a bread knife. He related the manner in which he had treated Cramer and said that he had advised whiskey because of his collapsed condition. The point was raised that Cramer had an attack of delirium termens shortly after the struggle but the physician asserted that it was not "D. T.'s" but "ordinary delirium."

Dr. John T. Hecht, of Somerville, followed Dr. Davis on the stand and testified in positive terms that Cramer had died from the effects of the wounds he had received in the struggle. Dr. Hecht assisted in the autopsy of the body. His testimony was corroborated by County Physician Long, of Somerville.

County Detective George Totten was placed on the stand and told of going to Gladstone on December 19 to arrest Flomerfelt. The latter told him of the fight and stated distinctly that he had hit Cramer with a brass knuckle having a steel gaff. He recounted the struggle and said that he had forced Cramer to the floor and had held him down until he (Flomerfelt) was tired, doing so because he knew Cramer had been carrying a revolver. He also said he had polished the gaff so as to prevent blood poisoning following any cut that might be inflicted by it.

Dr. Ernest E. Smith, the celebrated pathologist, was called and said that by actual count he found thirty-five wounds on Cramer's head and face. He produced three photographs of Cramer's features, taken after the quarrel, and they were admitted as evidence after Alvah A. Clark had made a hard fight to exclude them. Dr. Smith was still on the stand when adjournment was made at noon.

JERSEYMEN MAKE RECORD FOR TROLLEY RIDING.

Travel Enough to Round the Globe Four Times—P. S. C. Earnings.

A statement showing the remarkable growth of the trolley car riding habit is being prepared by the Public Service Corporation. This statement will be issued this week to the stockholders and will show that since the beginning of the year the lines operated by the company north of Trenton have carried 79,000,000 passengers, an increase of fully 10,000,000 over the same period last year.

The gross receipts of the company during the same months were about $400,000 over the corresponding months in 1905. This is an average of four cents for each passenger, which is found to be the actual income with transfers considered, and it makes the total income $3,160,000 for four months, as compared with $2,760,000 of the first four months of last year.

The statistician who compiled the figures estimates that the total mileage of the company is more than 100,000 miles daily, or 40,000,000 car miles traversed in a year. The number of miles covered daily is about equal to a trip four times around the earth.

BAND AGAINST BOSSISM

South Plainfield Citizens Organize a Good Government Club.

HAMILTON PRESIDENT

Smothering of Bill to Make Village a Borough Cause of the Independent Political Movement.

In a strongly expressed spirit of uncompromising antagonism to bossism and political jobbery, the Good Government Club of South Plainfield was permanently organized last night. The meeting was largely attended by all classes of citizens, from wealthy business men and prosperous farmers to farm and railroad laborers.

There was no flowery oratory at the organization, but an air of business and of determination to achieve results in as short a time as possible marked the meeting. A constitution and by-laws were adopted, and a full complement of officers and standing committees were selected.

These officers were chosen: President, William Hamilton; recording secretary, H. J. Manning; financial secretary, W. S. Maltbie; treasurer, Thomas E. Lindaberry; vice-presidents, John I. Holley and Edward Smith; trustees for one year, Newton Saxton, B. F. Kane, W. S. Maltbie and T. E. Linaberry. Standing committees; Property, H. J. Manning, Mr. Clark; auditing, W. E. Smith; speakers, S. R. Manning, Charles Brantingham, A. R. Soper, Archibald Steengrafe, F. Miller and D. M. Kellogg; naturalization, Archibald Steengrafe, William Reilly and Antone Phillip; public improvements, W. E. Smith, P. J. McDonough, John Geary, S. R. Manning and John I. Holley; finance, Archibald Steengrafe, Morris Higgins and W. S. Maltbie.

The members contributed the money due on the expenses of the unavailing effort to have the bill making South Plainfield a borough passed by the Legislature last winter. The smothering of the bill in committee was the chief reason for the outbreak of indignation against political jobbery that led to the formation of the club, so the members readily responded to the president's appeal for funds with which to meet the old obligations.

HOPE MEN'S CLUB ACTIVE.

The Organization to Present a Series of Entertainments.

At a meeting of Hope Chapel Men's Club, last night, preliminary arrangements were made for giving a series of entertainments in the near future. The first is to be a lecture on "The Health of Plainfield and Vicinity" by Dr. P. B. Cregar, assisted by other physicians. After that the Atlantic College Quartette will be presented and the local talent will appear, first in a mock trial and concluding the series with a production of "The Merchant of Venice." The dates will all be announced later.

Although the club was but recently organized it is growing rapidly and promises to become one of the strongest of its kind in the city. Officers and members have taken great interest in the work and by next winter it will take an important part in the affairs at the chapel.

RECEPTION TO BRIDAL COUPLE.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Waring Honor Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Fisk.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Waring entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus R. Fisk, who have just returned from their honeymoon trip, at the Casino last night. Between 200 and 225 guests were present.

The affair was in the form of a reception and dance. It passed off delightfully. The Casino ballroom was lavishly decorated with flowers and foliage. Mrs. Waring was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Chas. J. Fisk. Austen's orchestra played, from behind a bank of foliage. An elaborate supper was served.

Improvements for West Second St.

Work was started this morning by Eugene M. Laing, the owner, remodelling the Harris property on West Second street, nearly opposite Trinity Reformed church. The entire front of this double house will be removed and in place a handsome brick structure erected. The plans originally called for three stories, but the building ordinance would not permit that many in the reconstruction of the property. Mr. Laing then decided to make it a two story building. Two stores will be built on the ground floor and the upper floor will be used for flats. Workmen are now engaged in lowering the building to the ground, after which the new work will begin.

Percy Cannon, the blind chair caner, and his mother are spending two weeks at Warrenville.

CRANE OFF SLATE FOR UNION TAXATION BOARD

COUNTY LEADERS SAY SCUDDER IS TO THE JOB.

Ex-Judge J. Williams Crane, of Elizabeth, whose name was presented to Governor Stokes by Senator Ackerman as that of a man in every way capable of holding up the Democratic end of the Union County Board of Commissioners for the Equalization of Taxes, is out of the running. That's the announcement that comes from the leaders of the Republican county committee, and they know. Mulford Scudder, of Westfield, is the man who is to get the place if the wires pull right, and if he does there will be a number of disgusted Republicans not alone in Elizabeth, but throughout the county.

When the name of Mr. Crane was presented to the Governor, backed by the best Republican sentiment and even by some of the leaders of the machine, and his honesty and capability vouched for by the story of his excellent work as a member of the Martin Act Commission, when the city was facing bankruptcy, Frank Smith, chairman of the Republican county committee, is reported to have said that since his name had been presented it would be best to let it go. But since then, it appears, there have been strong influences at work in secret to down him.

Charles N. Codding, of Westfield, who is pushing the interests of Scudder, had a long conference yesterday with County Chairman Frank Smith on county matters.

CONGREGATIONAL WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION ELECTS.

Other Business Transacted at the Annual Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

Encouraging reports of the past year's work, together with the election of officers, comprised the chief business at the annual meeting of the Women's Association, of the Congregational church, yesterday afternoon. The report of the treasurer showed an increase in contributions, a total of about $500 being raised for all purposes, including the foreign and home missions, missionary boxes and local charities. The association has a membership of about fifty and the average attendance at the meetings during the year was twenty-two.

These officers were chosen for the year: President, Mrs. Curtis Bates; vice-president, Mrs. Charles L. Goodrich; recording secretary, Mrs. John M. Whiton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. B. Morgan; treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Rice; chairman programme committee, Mrs. F. S. Clark; chairman social committee, Mrs. William Hylan; chairman afternoon teas, Mrs. Eugene M. Laing; chairman sewing committee, Mrs. William Hand; chairman visiting committee, Mrs. William Van Alstyne.

Last year there were the regular meetings for sewing while considerable time was devoted to the study of missions. This work will be continued this year and the programme committee will at once prepare the line of study to be undertaken. This will be about foreign and home missions. Following the annual meeting there was a social hour and an informal discussion about plans for the coming year.

KNOCKED DOWN BY FENDER.

Plainfielder and His Grandchild Victim of Accident at Westfield.

A. E. Hall, of Plainfield, accompanied by his grandchild, met with a peculiar accident at Westfield Sunday afternoon, which has laid him up at home ever since. He started out early in the afternoon to give the little one a trolley ride to Westfield. They left the car at the latter place for the purpose of returning home on the next westbound car. They were standing on the curb near the railroad station when the car approached, but the motorman refused to stop at that point.

Mr. Hall and the child followed up the trolley and just as it was making the curve, the rear end of the car struck Mr. Hall and the child, knocking them both down. Mr. Hall's arm and wrist were badly sprained and his left side injured. The child went sprawling across the street into the gutter, but was not seriously injured. They finally got on the car and came home. The company disclaims liability for the reason that they say Mr. Hall had no right to be standing so close to the car.

Miss Campbell Entertains.

In honor of her coming departure for a visit to Scotland, Miss Jessie Campbell, of East Second street, entertained a gathering of twenty friends at her home last night. Vocal and instrumental music and games were enjoyed until after midnight. Miss Campbell will sail on June 2 and will remain abroad until late in the summer.

FOWLER FOR 2ND PLACE?

New Jersey Fifth District Congressman Mentioned For Vice-President.

JOHN W. GRIGGS, MAYBE

Mr. Fowler Has a National Reputation, Says a Dispatch Which Connects His Name With Nomination.

Washington, May 16.—In view of the suggestion that has been made in some quarters that New Jersey would have a claim on second place in the making up of the Republican Presidential ticket two years hence there is more or less speculation as to the choice of a man to be the President's running mate, says a dispatch from Washington. It is conceded that a man to be named for the position of Vice President must be a man, in these times, of national prominence, for the old idea of putting a man on the ticket for Vice President is out of date.

It is, of course, very doubtful if New Jersey will be asked to name a man for second place on the national Republican ticket. At the present time one of the prominent men in the State who might be considered in this connection is John W. Griggs, of Paterson, former governor and former attorney-general. He is sufficiently well-known by reason of his cabinet position to be acceptable. Another who has been mentioned in this connection is Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, the present Representative from the Fifth district. On account of his prominent work with the Committee on Banking and Currency, Mr. Fowler has a national reputation which would entitle him to consideration in connection with the candidacy for the Vice Presidency. No doubt there will be others in the field, if it should come to pass that New Jersey would name the second man.

RUSSEL HOAGLAND HEAD OF TRINITY LADS' BAND.

Mission Organization Effected by Reformed Church Boys.

The Boys' Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church was organized last night by Russel Hoagland, Edson Woodhull, Arthur Gaskill, Harold Schenck, Arthur Martin, Clifford Cole, Horace Van Arsdale, Newton Mowen and Ralph Martin. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the church, counseled the boys in the formation of the organization.

These officers were elected: President, Russel Hoagland; vice-president, Edson Woodhull; secretary, Arthur Gaskill; treasurer, Harold Schenck; recording secretary, Arthur Martin.

It was decided to hold the next meeting on Tuesday, May 29. Any boy belonging to Trinity Reformed church or the Sunday-school wishing to join the band may do so at any of the meetings. The members are enthusiastic and the prospects for a successful organization are good.

JUDGE ATWATER IS SWORN IN.

Oath Administered By Supreme Court Justice Fort Yesterday.

At 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Judge Edward S. Atwater, recently appointed by Governor Stokes, judge of the Court of Common Pleas, as successor to Judge B. A. Vail, was sworn in by Justice John Franklin Fort. The ceremony took place in the Supreme Court room at Elizabeth. The oath was administered by County Clerk James C. Calvert.

Among the witnesses were Judge Vail, Sheriff Lawrence and a few court attaches. Immediately after being sworn in, Judge Atwater was tendered the congratulations of those present. He will enter upon his duties at once, making his first appearance on the County Court bench this morning.

McCarter Blames Newark.

President Thomas N. McCarter, of the Public Service Corporation, sent a letter yesterday to City Counsel Joseph H. Coult, of Newark, with reference to the 5 per cent. trolley ordinance and the litigation which the city of Newark has already begun as a result of the corporation's failure to take steps toward making good a promise of a settlement made by Mr. McCarter some months ago. The Public Service president puts all the blame on the city for the failure to reach an agreement in the matter, and said that the difficulty was that the city officials could not agree among themselves upon a satisfactory basis of a settlement.

Epworth League Affair.

The Epworth League of the Grace M. E. church will give an entertainment, "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party," Thursday night, May 17.

FLOMERFELT'S TESTIMONY

RETAINS COMPOSURE

Cross Examination to Come This Afternoon—Belief That Summing Up Will Commence Tomorrow Morning.

Dr. Ernest E. Smith, the pathologist, finished his testimony yesterday afternoon in the famous Flomerfelt case on trial in the Somerset County Court at Somerville. He said there were by actual count thirty-five cuts on Cramer's face and head, and described the nature of them. He said the cuts opened the flesh so as to make it susceptible to the influence of micro-organisms which exist in the atmosphere. These entered through the open wounds and produced acute septic poisoning, which is the same as blood poisoning, and that was the cause of death.

Dr. Smith took portions of the vital organs to his laboratory and examined them microscopically and found degeneration of the organs. He reached the conclusion that it might have been caused by chronic alcoholism. It was his opinion the wounds would not have been fatal except as a result of blood poisoning.

Bertha Cramer, of High Bridge, wife of former Assemblyman George H. Cramer, brother of the deceased, was called. She said she first heard of Frank Cramer's condition through a letter, and then his daughter, Bessie, came to High Bridge and told a version of the affair. There was a hot battle of the lawyers as to the admission of Mrs. Cramer's evidence at this point. Mr. Clark, of counsel for the defense, said it was contrary to all rules to allow the State to discredit its own witness, Bessie Cramer Clark. Justice Garretson allowed the testimony, saying he believed it was obligatory for the State to call all the eye witnesses, that Bessie Cramer Clark had testified about the transaction that morning. He said he thought the State might show that she had made a different statement as to what had transpired.

The witness answered in the affirmative all the questions Bessie Cramer Clark had denied in relation to what she had told the witness at High Bridge in regard to the fight. Counsel Clark took exceptions to the testimony.

Hon. George H. Cramer, of High Bridge, brother of the deceased, told of Bessie Cramer Clark's visit to High Bridge and corroborated his wife as far as he had heard the conversation between the two women.

Here the State rested its case and Clarence E. Case, of counsel for the defense, made the opening address to the jury. He said he would show that Frank Cramer was a jovial fellow, was a large man, a giant, in fact, fond of drink. After his father's death he became possessed of some property and gave way to excess and riotous living, making life miserable for his wife, particularly. Cramer was a wrestler; one able to take care of himself in a fistic encounter, and he made boasts of his prowess. The defendant knew all these things. When Cramer was under the influence of liquor he was more aggressive. His wife was so terrorized by her husband's manner of living, his attitude toward her, his threats, that she wrote to her brother to come to defend her.

Before this there had been action taken as to the sanity of Cramer. He had visited prysicians and had received instructions, which he never followed because he objected to such proceedings.

Flomerfelt came to the Cramer homestead at the request of Cramer's wife and at the instigation of James Flomerfelt, a brother. He went there and made arrangements with Cramer to work the farm.

Cramer accused his wife with infidelity to him; said she had improper relations with his father. At night time he would lock her in the room.

Mr. Case said he would show an unbalanced mind on the part of Cramer. One night when sitting in a room with his wife he read in a paper of a husband shooting his wife for infidelity and remarked there was someone not far off who ought to be served in the same way. He had threatened his daughter and even Flomerfelt. He spent many nights away from home, returning on an early train. He would come home and accuse his wife of infidelity.

Mr. Case said he would prove that when the defendant was called by his sister he remonstrated with Cramer and asked him not to kill his daughter. Then when Cramer broke away from the defendant and went where the defendant knew he always kept his revolver, Flomerfelt went to the outhouse and got the brass knuckles

NORTH AVE. REALTY DEAL

George J. Tobin Pays $25,000 To Jos. P. Taylor For One Building.

LYMAN MAKES SALE

Brick Structure To Be Altered When Leases Expire—Lyman's Second Big Deal in Last Few Days.

After having consummated a real estate deal involving $36,000 but a few days ago, Charles H. Lyman, the real estate broker, announced today that he has sold the big business property, Nos. 187, 189 and 191 North avenue. George J. Tobin, the sanitary engineer, is the purchaser and the price he paid for the block is $25,000. The property was owned by Joseph P. Taylor, who has much money invested in North avenue real estate.

The deal was closed today and when one or two leases expire, Mr. Tobin will make many improvements. The building has a depth of ninety feet and is forty feet in width. On the ground floor are two stores, one used by Mr. Tobin, himself, and the other by Marchant brothers, and dealers. The second and third floors are given over to improved apartments, four in number. The building is of brick and stone and is very substantial.

The lease of Marchant brothers does not expire until May 1 next. After that time, Mr. Tobin will alter the whole appearance of the ground floor making it into one large store which he will use for his plumbing business. The new owner has occupied the store in which he now conducts is ever expanding business for over seventeen years. Starting on a small scale he has built up a business that is unsurpassed in that line in this part of the State. Increasing business long ago compelled him to open branch stores at Trenton, N. J., and Pittsburg, Pa., and he also has a New York business office.

"CAPTIVATES AN AUDIENCE."

So Says Clergyman of Laywer Who Is to Speak Here.

Hon. Walter M. Chandler, of the New York Bar, who will deliver a lecture before the Men's Club, of the First Baptist church, Monday night, on the subject of "The Trial of Jesus from a Lawyer's Standpoint," is considered one of the most able lawyers of the metropolis. Rev. Cortland Myers, pastor of the Baptist temple, Brooklyn, has this to say regarding Mr. Chandler:

"Mr. Chandler has discovered the great secret of captivating an audience and lifting the individual under the spell to a higher life. His splendid gifts are seen at their best in the famous lecture, "The Trial of Jesus." This was given before a large congregation in the Baptist Temple, which was delighted, instructed and elevated. They are waiting anxiously for his coming again."

Besides the lecture, William Holmes, baritone soloist of the church, will sing. This will be the last meeting of the club this season and every member of the church and congregation and the public is given an invitation to attend.

OPEN ATHLETIC MEET.

Plainfield Athletes Invited to Compete In Westfield.

Plainfield athletes have been invited to take part in an open meet that is being arranged by a Westfield athletic club. A number of entries will most likely be made from here, especially from among the older schoolboys. The Y. M. C. A. has received an invitation and the gymnasium members will be encouraged to enter.

Lindsey Best, an instructor at the Plainfield High School, will be starter at the meet. Kenneth Robbie, boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was asked to act as referee, but he could not promise to serve.

Miss Clara Weber's Funeral.

A private funeral service over the body of Miss Clara Weber, who died suddenly early Sunday morning, was held at the home of her parents on East Third street, yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. C. H. Schneegas, pastor of the German Reformed church. There were numerous handsome floral tributes from friends. Interment was made at Hillside.

Breaking Game Law.

Residents in the neighborhood of Laing's swamp at the upper end of Central avenue are complaining that some one has been breaking the game laws during the past week by running dogs after rabbits. One cottontail at least, was run down, a day or two ago. Steps have been taken to lay the matter before Game Wardens Hopkins.

FORESTERS OBSERVE A "LADIES' NIGHT"

ENTERTAINING PROGRAMME FEATURE OF ANNUAL AFFAIR.

Instrumental music by Naylor's orchestra, sleight-of-hand and ventriloquism by Hal. Merton, vocal selections, together with an able address by F. A. Mackenzie, high secretary, of Elizabeth, followed by a banquet, combined to make the "ladies' night" entertainment given by Court Watchung, Independent Order Foresters, last night, a great success. It was an annual affair and was of the usual high character. There was a large attendance of members and friends, including the wives and sisters of Foresters.

Chief Ranger Fred Hayes was in charge of the programme, which opened with a selection by Naylor's orchestra. This was followed with some very clever magic by Hal. Merton. Many of his tricks were new and completely mystified everyone. A vocal selection by John Daub, Harry Pound and Joseph C. Martin was so well received that the trio was obliged to respond to an encore.

Mr. Mackenzie was introduced by Chief Ranger Hayes, and he gave a brief talk on the objects and benefits of the order, commenting on the fact that it has no assessment plan and telling of the wonderful progress made during the past few years. Today the order has 6,000,000 members in the world and is constantly growing. He also mentioned the generally approved method of conducting the order, whereby the expenses attendant upon running old line insurance companies is cut out. He also spoke of the sick and death benefits and the special reserve fund for carrying old members who find themselves unable to pay their dues. In conclusion he urged those not members to identify themselves with the order and derive the benefits of a sound organization.

After the talk Mr. Merton entertained for awhile with ventriloquism, which amused and delighted all. This concluded the programme and an adjournment was taken to the banquet hall where refreshments were served by a committee in charge.

Court Watchung, although the youngest of that order in town, has had a substantial growth, numbering an even 100 today. Financially, the court is in excellent condition and every member is a hustler. It has an experienced set of officers and has made progress which has been the envy of other courts in the State.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY HOLDS PROGRESSIVE SOCIAL.

Party of Baptist Church Members Last Night Proved Enjoyable.

The Young People's Society of the First Baptist church held a progressive social, last evening, which was largely attended and afforded much pleasure. Starting in with a cobweb party, all sorts of games were played. Partners were chosen at the beginning and as the different ones would win the games they would progress and change partners. The games occupied most of the evening, being interspersed with vocal and piano selections by Miss Miriam Hall.

Later refreshments were served by the social committee comprised of Miss Carolyn Combs, chairman; Miss Florence White, Miss Etta Ackor, Charles Miles and Harry Woodland. Kenneth Robbie, as president of the society, had general charge of the social.

SAVING ABUSED HORSES

ACTIVE CRUSADE IS ON

A Boney and Weak Express Horse Rescued On the Street by Chief Kiely This Morning.

Co-operating with a Netherwood woman who is interested in S. P. C. A. work, Chief of Police Kiely has started a crusade against the abuse of work-horses in this city. Overworked, underfed horses, and those unfitted for labor by reason of injuries or infirmities, will be rescued from their owners or drivers wherever and whenever noted.

The announcement of the crusade was made by Chief Kiely. He gave the credit for inaugurating it to the Netherwood woman, who is wealthy and has made the alleviation of the condition of dumb brutes her mission for a number of years. She prefers to do her work without personal publicity, and at her particular request the chief withheld her name.

She laid the proposed movement against the abusers of horses before the chief early this week. She gave him names and addresses and facts enough to make it plain that action was needed, and the chief immediately pledged his active co-operation. Orders were issued to the officers to watch for cases of abuse, and to put a stop to them.

First fruits of the crusade came this morning, when the fair leader of the forces of mercy came into headquarters. She gave the chief the name of a garbage collector who is said to be shamefully overworking his horse, and then took him to the doorway. She pointed out the horse attached to an express wagon that stood before a store a few feet from headquarters. The animal was painfully boney, and it shifted uneasily from leg to leg, as if easing constant aches; it presented a picture of gaunt misery.

The chief located the owner, a mild colored man, and called him into his office. He protested that the horse was all right and fit to work as he worked him. He acknowledged that the horse was not a tower of strength, and acted so decently about the complaint that the chief gave him a chance to make matters right between himself and the law. He said he was willing to get rid of the horse if the chief said so, but the latter told him to take the animal to Dr. Knott, the veterinary, and have him pass on its condition. He will not have to get rid of it if the veterinary gives it a certificate of passable health.

BOYS' CLUB CLASSES CLOSE FOR THE SEASON.

Will Reopen September 15; Y. M. C. A.'s First Term of Management Successful.

After a most successful season under the management of the Y. M. C. A., the Boys' Club has closed until fall. The work actually ended for the term the night of the recent circus at the club, when an exhibit of the things turned out by the members in the different classes was made, but the formal closing did not come until last week, when the boys in the classes were entertained at a "commencement sociable."

During the past season between fifty and sixty boys, the limit of membership, have been trained and entertained at the club. Four classes were conducted: Mechanical drawing, under William Ruddy and Clarence Barnum; carpentry and pattern-making, under Charles Belknap, and molding, under John Gray. The classes will be reorganized on September 15, when the club will reopen.

While the club will not be opened until September, the boys will be kept under the watch and guidance of Kenneth Robbie, boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who has charge of the club, through the attractions offered by the association. It was because of its greater facilities for guarding and guiding the boys all the year 'round that the old managers of the club decided to give over control to the Y. M. C. A.

LITERARY.

"The Hesitation of Gisella," by Edith Macvane, is the title of the novelette which opens the June number of The Smart Set. It is a charming story, the scenes of which are laid in France; the period, however, is modern and the story is of an appealing character which will win for it many admirers. Mary Austin, so well known for her stories of the shepherds on the western plains, contributes to this number one of her best tales, entitled "At Tio Juan." It is a tragedy in miniature worked out with remarkable skill. Arthur Stanley Wheeler is again a contributor; "The Violin" is a ghost story, thoroughly fascinating. Amos De Lany is a new writer, but his contribution, "The Strength of His Arms," will cause his name to be remembered. Robert McDonald's "The Reformation of Billy Henderson," is a delightfully humorous tale, and "The Making of a Man," by Edna Kenton, will please a host of readers. Arthur Stringer is at his best in "Three Women and Love," and there are other stories by Mabel Herbert Urner, E. J. Rath, Leila Burton Wells, Charles Battell Loomis and Anna Warner, besides a story in the original French.

The Hippodrome.

The last weeks of "A Society Circus" at the New York Hippodrome are announced by Thompson & Dundy. Never before in the history of theatricals has such a successful season been recorded as that which has favored the big playhouse since its reopening last September. "A Society Circus" alone, since its initial performance in December, has been played almost three hundred times before approximately 800,000 persons, which for any other theatre in New York would mean playing to capacity every night from two to five years. So colossal the scale of magnificence which marks the production; its beauty and grandeur, that it is practically self-advertising. One visit means two. The programme includes the greatest arenic tournament ever arranged, including as it does the world's champions seen for the first time in America. Then, there are the gorgeous ballet; the plunging horses; the great chorus and the beautiful tableau, the Court of the Golden Fountains,—features impossible of duplication. Matinees are given daily.

To Suppress Improper Postal Cards.

Atlantic City, May 16.—Members of the local Mothers' Congress asked the Common Council today to suppress the sale of indecent postal cards on the boardwalk. The council directed the Mayor to find some way of censoring the sale of these cards.

By Tom Muir.

Richard Mansfield has declined a very flattering offer to go under the managerial wing of the Shuberts.

Instead of sailing for France next month as originally planned, Mme. Sarah Bernhardt will sail for Australia, where she will appear in all the important cities. On her return to the United States she will resume her American tour, visiting the cities of the Northwest before returning to New York.

"The Girl in Waiting," the new play in which Virginia Harned will begin her tour under the Shubert management, is the dramatization of a novel by Archibald Eyre. Another piece which has been selected for Miss Harned's use is "The Wooing of Eve," written by J. Hartley Manners, one of the authors of "Zira."

Jefferson De Angelis will return to "Fantana" at the beginning of next season, but will have a new vehicle before the year is over. The musical comedy by Robert Smith and Raymond Hubbell has been playing without the loss of a single night since September, 1904, when it opened at the Garrick theatre, Chicago. Since that time it has had 350 performances in New York and nearly 200 in Chicago.

Horace Wright, a lifelong resident of Kearny, who is well known throughout this section, has been visiting his friends here for the last few days, after a successful forty weeks' tour with the musical extravaganza "Simple Simon Simple," seen at the New Plainfield last fall. Mr. Wright has a remarkable lyric tenor voice and has besides developed into an actor of ability. In his recent engagement he began with a small part, impersonating an Italian fruit seller of the streets of New York, which Plainfielders remember. At the end of the season his part had became a feature of the show. His dialect is a particularly strong feature of his work. In order more thoroughly to equip himself for the part he studied Italian and sang one of his numbers in that language. Critics everywhere were united in praise of his work, and as a result he has been persuaded by agents of F. F. Proctor to enter vaudeville. It was announced yesterday that he signed a contract to do his Italian character and the accompanying songs on the Proctor circuit. His engagement in the new field will begin in the local Proctor theatre during the week of May 21. Mr. Wright gained much of his musical training as a boy and young man as a member for many years of the choirs of Christ Episcopal church in Harrison, and in Trinity church and Grace church in Newark, serving at different times as soprano and tenor soloist.

A cool kitchen, a hot day, and plenty of hot water, are three things hard to reconcile. But it can be done. A Gas Water Heater does it. The gas flame heats the water (not the whole house) in three or four minutes.

The heater is connected to the water system so that water can be drawn in bath, laundry or kitchen. With a gas heater there is no carrying of hot water in bucket for bathing or laundry use. Order one now. Price $8.50.

Urinary trouble, diabetes.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

Plainfield people endorse our claim.

Mrs. W. W. Mills, of 86 Summit avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says "I am willing to reiterate my former statement given in behalf of Doan's Kidney Pills, feeling that some other person may be benefitted thereby. I had suffered with a severe pain in the small of my back and across the hips, and if I did any lifting or stooping my back became lame and sore. I used plasters but they only helped me for the time being. I was feeling unusually bad when my attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and they were so highly recommended for troubles like mine that I procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. In a few days I felt their good effect, and when I had finished taking them I was relieved in every way. I am glad to recommend this reliable remedy."

Plainfield, N. J., May 16, 1906.

It is a principle of the common law that a corporation has no soul, but it has never been a fixed rule that the men controlling it are not endowed with a sense of right and justice. That there are good corporations and bad corporations no one will deny, for experience has taught that there is just as much difference in the standards of morality among huge business concerns as there is among private individuals. When the Public Service Corporation voluntarily lowered the rates for gas and electricity surely its chief officials acted magnamiously. No one can right! argue that there was any compulsion on its part. The president gladly met the representatives of the association which had some grievances and after explanations and arguments had been made on both sides, Mr. McCarter ordered the desired reductions to be made. Surely Plainfield patrons of the concern have nothing to fear when the P. S. C. acts so generously and justly

SISTER [illegible] HOSPITAL STAFF.

Determines to Take Management of Institution Into Her Own Hands.

Sister Mary Clare, who has been twenty-five years in charge of St. Joseph's Hospital at Paterson, has notified each member of the members of the hospital staff that his resignation is desired, so that a reorganization may be effected. The physicians are told that each can send in an application if he desires reappointment.

The friction between Sister Mary Clare and the hospital staff is the outcome of the death of Dr. Smith, who was a member of the staff. Before that vacancies on the staff had been filled by the physicians, who, as a matter of form, sent the name to Sister Mary Clare for confirmation. The sister decided to name Dr. Smith's successor without consulting the physicians, and she chose Dr. Noer.

She also decided she would take into her own hands the matter of appointing all the assistants to each member of the staff. The staff members had heretofore appointed their own assistants. They objected to the attitude of Sister Mary Clare, although they had no fault to find with the appointment of Dr. Noer.

The members of the staff are Drs. E. J. Marsh, Frank E. Agnew, Andrew F. McBride, Henry Parke, George H. Balery and Walter B. Johnson. They have resigned, as requested, but none has sent in an application for reappointment.

GIRL NEARLY UNDER WHEELS OF TRAIN.

Thrown from Moving Car, After Her Clothing Was Partly Torn Off, Is Only Slightly Bruised.

Miss Georgia Van Dewan, twenty years old, of No. 89 North First street, Paterson, barely escaped death at the Erie Railroad station in Paterson at half-past ten o'clock last night. She had forgotten her parasol and returned for it. She was in the centre of a car when the train started to move. She ran to the door to get off, and was about half over the sill, when the door slammed shut, catching her dress and throwing her forward between the two cars. Her efforts to rise tore her skirt, and she was freed with such force that she tumbled down the steps to the station platform. Men on the platform prevented her from going beneath the wheels.

UNIDENTIFIED VICTIM OF TRAIN MAY BE KNOWN HERE

YOUTH KILLED IN NEW YORK HAD LOCAL ADVERTISEMENT WITH HIM.

A description of the victim of a fatal railroad accident in the upper end of New York city, who may be known here or in this vicinity, was received by the police department this morning from the Fordham Hospital, Bronx. The victim, a young man, apparently 18 or 20 years old, was brought to the hospital from the tracks of the N. Y. C. and H. R. R. R. at 239th street, May 11, suffering from a fracture of the skull and other severe injuries. In the absence of indications pointing to anything else, it is assumed that he was hit by a train, although the accident was not seen. He was found beside the tracks at 7:05 o'clock in the morning, unconscious. He died at the hospital at 1 o'clock, without regaining consciousness sufficiently to enable the hospital authorities to learn his name. There was just one thing in his pocket to serve as a possible clue to his identity—an advertising booklet issued by the Credit Clothing Company, of this city.

The youth weighed 140 pounds, he was 5 feet, 7½ inches in height; had gray eyes and brown hair, was smooth-faced and had sound teeth; an eye-tooth was broken. His left foreman was tattooed with the picture of a sailor girl's bust, beneath which was a heart, with a scroll across it bearing the initials R. B. Under the design were the figures 1906.

It is assumed from the presence of the clothing company advertisement in his clothes that the young man may either have been in this neighborhood recently or knew somebody about here. There were 20,000 of the booklets printed, however, and they were distributed between Somerville and Elizabeth.

BAPTIST WOMEN MEET AT ELIZABETH.

East New Jersey Foreign Missionary Society in Convention in First Church.

The annual meeting of the Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society of the East Association of New Jersey was held yesterday in the First Baptist church in Elizabeth. The women assembled for the morning session at 10 o'clock. Delegates from nineteen of the churches represented in the association were in attendance.

Mrs. H. S. Rollinson led in the opening devotional service, giving to the delegates as the keynote for the day, "Light," the transforming power of the gospel of Jesus Christ to turn men from darkness into light. Words of welcome were extended by Miss Laura Vail. Mrs. J. M. Dudley, president of the association, responded. The appointment of committees and reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by the recording secretary, Miss Bogart, of Roselle, followed in order.

The annual report of the secretary and treasurer was read by the corresponding secretary, Miss Grace M. Davis, of Newark. It was full of encouragement and showed increase along many lines.

The junior report was read by the junior secretary, Mrs. Frances C. Foster, of Newark. This report included work among young people, primary department and cradle rolls.

The roll call of churches was a pleasant feature of the morning.

The reports from the various circles were presented by some members from the respective church and showed encouraging and progressive plans used in many of the circles during the year. A large number are using the United study course, "Christus Liberator," an outline study of Africa.

Dr. Anna Degenring, who is an Elizabeth girl, and is now at Haseltine House, Newton Centre, Mass., the training school of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, awaiting the going out to India in the fall, was to have made an address, and much disappointment was felt that she was unable to be present, but Mrs. Alonzo Pettit, the State secretary, told of the years of preparation of Dr. Degenring and her faithful and efficient work.

A number of impressions were given by delegates who were in attendance at the annual meeting held in Philadelphia last month.

Miss Elizabeth Dimock, the junior State secretary, presented the large supply of missionary literature to the attention of the delegates.

Mrs. Pettit followed with a talk on the apportionment of money that is assigned to each circle for the year. This was illustrated by the use of the blackboard.

At noon the women adjourned to enjoy the bountiful hospitality provided by the women of the First Baptist church.

The Daily Press Never Fails.

Mrs. Joseph Anguerbauer, of East Third street, sent her young son to The Plainfield Trust Company on Monday to deposit $7. On the way to the bank the boy lost the money. It was found by Vincent LaPorte, son of A. E. LaPorte, clerk at the postoffice. An advertisement was inserted in The Daily Press and this morning Mrs. Anguerbauer called at the office, proved her property and substantially rewarded the boy.

JERSEY REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE CALLED.

Chairman Briggs Explains Leaders Want More Effective Organization.

Trenton, May 16. — Chairman Frank O. Briggs last evening called a meeting of the Republican State Committee to be held at the Trenton House today for the purpose of adopting a constitution and by-laws with a view of getting a more active working organization.

Mr. Briggs says the calling of the meeting has no further significance than the carrying out of the determination that was reached by the Republican leaders some time ago to make the State committee a more active organization.

This, he said, accounted for the unusual proceeding of calling a meeting of the committee just before a campaign in which neither a President nor a Governor was to be elected.

Chairman Briggs has spent considerable time gathering data with reference to the workings of the political committees of other States, and has learned that, as a rule, they play a very important part in every campaign, have permanent headquarters and issue reports of value and interest to the members of the party.

The New Jersey Republican State Committee has heretofore confined its activity to Presidential and Gubernatorial campaigns, and it was with the idea of changing this state of affairs that today's meeting has been called.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will hold its meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. Schorb, 117 East Front street.

to defend himself with and to defend his sister and niece.

Emery Cramer, son of the deceased, sat up with his father the night before he died. He said his father tried to get up and stretched out his hand as though to get a glass of liquor, and then could not get it. His father was a well developed man, an athlete fond of sports and a fine shot. In changing his father's clothing the witness found a revolver and a pair of knuckles. Besides these weapons his father had two guns and three or four revolvers. An effort was made by Mr. Clark to show by the witness to show the previous habits of his father, but the court ruled this testimony out.

The witness said that his uncle came to live with them at the request of his mother to protect her. His father had threatened to wipe out his family and all his relatives and his uncle knew of this because they had talked it over with him. These threats were frequently made when his father was partly intoxicated.

The witness stated his father kept revolvers in a pantry closet adjoining the kitchen. He found two revolvers there after his death.

Jacob Flomerfelt, the defendant, was called to testify in his own behalf. He was almost sixty-seven years old, he said. He was perfectly composed and had no apprehensions as to relating his story of the affair. He testified that he had previously had charge of his father's coal yard at North Branch and left there in 1901. A letter was produced written by his sister in January, 1904, asking him to come down. He went there and after staying there about a month, he hired with Frank. Before he received the letter he knew of the differences between Frank and his wife. After he got there he observed Mrs. Cramer was trying to help her husband in every way she could. Frank abused her and "committed the most outrageous crimes that I cannot tell about it. The community would be shocked to hear of it." At this point the aged man's voice trembled and tears came in his eyes. "I promised my sister and her children that for their sakes I would not tell of his crimes, but they were awful."

At this point the court stopped the witness and told his counsel that it had no effect on the case to state how Cramer treated his wife.

The witness said while he was in the Cramer home he never saw Frank sober but once. He was drunk almost all the time. He threatened his wife's life. He said that women were at the bottom of all trouble, on one occasion, and then he referred to his wife in a threatening manner and called her vile names.

Flomerfelt was still on the stand when court adjourned for the day.

The defendant resumed his story this morning and stated that on the morning of the crime he came downstairs at 6 o'clock. Cramer was at the stove warming his feet and was intoxicated. Flomerfelt went to the barn to do some chores and had been absent but a short time when he was called in the house by his sister who shouted that "Frank was killing Bessie." Witness said he laid his hand on Cramer's shoulder and said to him "Don't kill Bessie; remember she's your daughter."

Cramer turned away from him and went into another room where he was in the habit of keeping a revolver. Fearing that it was his intention to secure the weapon, Flomerfelt got the knuckles he had prepared and came back to the room just as Cramer returned, also having knuckles. The two men started toward each other and Cramer showed by every move that it was his intention to beat his brother-in-law. Flomerfelt struck at his eye, as he testified, for the purpose of disabling him. The terrible struggle followed and both rolled about the floor, pounding and hitting at every opportunity until finally Flomerfelt got the better of Cramer.

The testimony was concluded just before noon and adjournment was made. The cross examination of Flomerfelt will begin at 2 o'clock and it is thought will be concluded so that the counsels can begin summing up tomorrow morning.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keenan. Following the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Banghart left town for a two weeks' trip. They will reside here upon their return. Mr. Banghart is employed by the New Jersey Central and has been a resident of Plainfield two years.

CEREBO NOT INDICTED?

Action of the Circuit Court Indicates He May Be Released.

It is reported in Elizabeth that the Grand Jury did not indict Frank Cerebo, the Plainfield Italian who was charged with killing Joseph Susco, a room-mate, following a quarrel over a game of cards.

The witnesses who were held in the county jail have been discharged and on a motion of Prosecutor English, yesterday, the court directed Sheriff Lawrence to pay the witnesses' fees. This would appear that there will be no further prosecution of the case and that it is only a question of a short time when Cerebo will be released.

Stole Princeton Automobile.

Chief of Police William Gilfoyle, of Princeton, asked the local police this morning to let him know if they got any trace of a Stevens-Duryea automobile bearing the number 1,533. Plainfield is known as an automobiling center, and he may try to dispose of it here or in this neighborhood. This is only the second automobile theft brought to the knowledge of police departments of this section since the sport first came in. The other occurred in New York.

UNION'S COLBY LEAGUE RULES.

Bylaws Printed and Work of Spreading New Idea Goes On.

Elizabeth, May 16.—The bylaws of the Union County Colby League have been printed, and the work of spreading the doctrines of the champions of honest government goes on apace notwithstanding the efforts of the machine followers to cast doubts on the sincerity of Senator Colby, and his bodyguard of energetic officials.

The greatest cause of anxiety among the machine men here is their utter inability to tell, outside of the favored few in the inner circle, where their neighbor stands. The downtown section of the city is being watched closely since the appearance of Captain Robert J. Kirkland, the head of the Downtown Republican Club, at the first Colby gathering. Since then he has, it is true, denied that he had any other purpose in attending the meeting than to satisfy his curiosity. The captain has not been in the best of humor since his experience in the shrievalty contest with the man from Summit—some have said that he was the sorest man downtown—and no one was surprised at his appearance in the Colby meeting.

Now that C. Addison Swift has been appointed judge of the District Court some Republicans, not of the proper sort to suit the machine, are wondering if the possible defection of Kirkland didn't have something to do with bringing it about. Swift is a neighbor of Kirkland and a coworker in his own political stamping grounds. He was as well one of the captain's chief lieutenants in his fight for the nomination for sheriff last year.

People who won't stand for a calling down, say observant ones, may sometimes be coaxed. They also point out that judicious lubrication is necessary to overcome friction in any machine and those who run machines know how to place the proper lubricant where it will do the most good.

LOSES LEG THROUGH A BRUISE.

Woman Was Hit By a Baseball and Cancer Develops.

Bruised originally by a baseball, the left leg of Mrs. Lillian B. Crawford, of No. 36 Woodlawn avenue, Jersey City, was amputated just below the knee yesterday at Christ Hospital. Last September she saw a baseball game, which her husband umpired, at the foot of Danforth avenue, between the West Sides, of Jersey City, and the Brooksides, of Bayonne, amateur clubs.

A foul ball hit her and cancer developed a few weeks ago where the ball had caused a severe bruise. The cancer was cut out in April.

BIG FIRE AT CONSTABLE HOOK.

With a detonation that shook the earth and a flash of flame that shot into the air several hunder feet a huge oil tank containing 30,000 barrels of gasolene blew up at 10:30 o'clock this morning at Constable Hook, N. J. Immediately afterward flames burst out and are now burning fiercely and threaten to consume the whole Bayonne water front, where the works of the Standard Oil Company are located.

Westfield Man a Suicide.

William Young, of New York, aged about forty-five, recently employed by Edward R. Woodruff at his greenhouses, in Westfield, took his life last night, by hanging himself in one of the greenhouses. The dead body was discovered at 4 o'clock this morning by an Italian, employed about the place, and he at once notified Mr. Woodruff. County Physician Westcott was summoned and followed the usual procedure in such cases. Young came to Westfield for his health and of late he had been acting despondent. He leaves a family.

TWO ELIZABETH BOYS KILLED NEAR NEW YORK

BOTH LADS RAN AWAY WITH ROBBIN'S CIRCUS—STRUCK BY AN OVERHEAD.

Two boys of Elizabeth, who ran away with the Frank A. Robins circus when the show was here two weeks ago, were killed last week twenty miles out from New York, while riding on the top of a freight car. The funeral of one of them took place today. The boys were Rhein Buechner, 17 years old, of 22 Centre street, and Fred Buckser, 17 years old, of Franklin street, between Fifth and Sixth streets. Buechner was buried today near the place where the accident occurred. His father attended the funeral. The other boy's body is still at New Rochelle, near which place the boys met their death.

Buechner was employed in Brown's Foundry up till a short time before the circus came to town, which was just two weeks ago. Buckser had a job as an apprentice to Philip Hammer, a carpenter. Both lost their jobs, and when the circus arrived they were without employment. Without telling their parents, they left home and ran away with the show. Some days after Bueckner wrote home and it was only then that the parents of the boys knew of their whereabouts. The boys expressed the determination to stick to the circus.

On Tuesday afternoon, May 8, the show train was going out of New York on its way to Rochester. Buechner and Buckser were riding on the top of one of the freight cars. Twenty miles out from New York there is a dangerous low bridge, and one of the crew knew of it. As the train neared the bridge, this man yelled to the boys to look out. They replied that they'd be all right. A boy who went off with the circus from Newark was on the same car. He was knocked into a stream that ran alongside the railroad, but was not hurt much. Both the Elizabeth lads were caught in the chest by the bridge and crushed. They were knocked off the car unconscious. The train was stopped and an ambulance called. Buechner died on the way to the hospital. There was a slight chance for Buckser's recovery, and the doctor worked hard over him. But he died late Thursday night.

Word reached the parents in Elizabeth toward the latter end of last week. They were not told that the boys had been killed, and it was only when the fathers of the lads investigated that they found out. Arrangements were made to bury Buechner today. No disposition has as yet been made of the other boy's body.

TROLLEY BUYS A $35,000 TRACT.

Morris County Traction Company Gets Hoyt Estate.

The purchase of the Hoyt property just north of the pumping station on Morris avenue, Elizabeth, by the Morris County Traction Company was announced this morning. It consists of about 100 acres. The purchase price was $35,000, and the papers are to be signed today or tomorrow.

The negotiations for the purchase of the tract have been under way for some time, and its acquisition gives the company a right of way as far as the pumping station of the Elizabethtown Water Company.

Negotiations are now being carried on with the latter for a right of way through its property, and it is expected that before many days the traction company will be in a position to push the construction of the road from the city line at the intersection of Morris avenue and Cherry street to the Meeker Inn, from which point the road has been completed to Huntley, near Summit, with a branch line to Millburn.

The road will eventually form the eastern end of the line that is to run through Dover to Morristown and will open up a new section of the country.

The managers of the Hoyt estate reserved the right to repurchase the property again within a certain period, and this reservation, it is expected, will have the effect of hurrying the work to completion.

THE PEOPLE ALL
In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.
This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes," Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

WOMEN IN CRUSADE AGAINST RESORTS.

A crusade is to be started by the Hudson County, N. J., Vigilance League against the dance halls at what is known as Little Coney Island, in the northern section of that county. The Vigilance League is composed of Mrs. Caroline B. Alexander and other public-spirited women.

A meeting of the league was held yesterday at the Free Public Library, Jersey City, and reports of investigators employed by the organization was to the effect that the law is openly violated, and that young girls are lured into the resorts. The recent outrage in which two girls were maltreated was discussed, and the criminal authorities in the county were called upon to use the machinery of justice to close up the dens.

The North Bergen authorities will also be asked to revoke the licenses of places against which the league has obtained damaging evidence. Several members who had visited Little Coney Island told of what they had seen there, and said that the scenes enacted brought the blush of shame to their faces.

Prosecutor Speer, it was announced, had promised to lend his aid in suppressing the dens. It is probable the matter will be the subject of an early innvestigation by the Grand Jury.

WAS IN "SUICIDE ZONE."

Section, Where Man Killed Himself, Is So Called by Residents.

High Bridge, May 16.—The funeral services of Conover Van Syckle, who committed suicide by hanging himself in his wagon-house Saturday at the Clifton Hill farm, will be held at his residence at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Dr. Kugler, a retired Presbyterian minister, of Clinton, will officiate. The body will be taken to Lebanon for interment.

That section has been termed by some residents a suicide zone. Including Mr. Van Syckle, there has been three deaths from hanging and an attempted suicide during the past two months. In March, Elmer Tigar, about forty years old, a farmer, committed suicide by hanging himself in the haymow of his barn. In April, Mrs. Austin Schuyler hanged herself in a woodshed. Last week a servant at an adjoining farm arranged a rope for the purpose of hanging, but was frustrated by the woman of the house.

Mrs. Henry Liefke, of West Front street, is entertaining friends from Morristown.

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"I've just finished," said Percival, glancing down the last sheet.

—Copley says she is now calling herself Mrs. Brench Wybert or some such name. I just thought I'd tell you in case you might run acrost her and—

"Come along, old chap," urged Milbrey; "Mrs. Wybert will be waiting." His father had started off with Psyche. Mrs. Bines and Mrs. Dreimer were preparing to follow.

"I beg your pardon," said Percival, "I didn t quite catch the name."

"I say Mrs. Wybert and mother will be waiting—come along!"

"What name?"

"Wybert—Mrs. Brench Wybert—my friend—what's the matter?"

"We can't go—that is—we can't meet her. Sis, come back a moment," he called to Psyche, and then:

"I want a word with you and your father, Mr. Milbrey."

The two joined the elder Milbrey and the three strolled out to the flower-bordered walk, while Psyche B nes went, wondering, back to her mother.

"What's all the row?" inquired Fred Milbrey.

"You've been imposed upon. This woman—this Mrs. Brench Wybert—there can be no mistake; you are sure that's the name?"

"Of course I'm sure; she's the widow of a southern gentleman, Col. Brench Wybert, from New Orleans."

"Yes, the same woman. There is no doubt that you have been imposed upon. The thing to do is to drop her quick—she isn't right."

"In what way has my family been imposed upon, Mr. Bines?" asked the elder Milbrey, somewhat perturbed. "Mrs. Wybert is a lady of family and large means—"

"Yes, I know, she has, or did have awhile ago, $2,000,000 in cold cash."

"Well, Mr. Bines—"

"Can't you take my word for it, that she's not right—not the woman for your wife and daughter to meet?"

"Look here, Bines," the younger Milbrey spluttered, "this won't do, you know. If you've anything to say against Mrs. Wybert, you'll have to say it out and you'll have to be responsible to me, sir."

"Take my word that you've been imposed upon; she's not—not the kind of person you would care to know, to be thrown—"

"I and my family have found her quite acceptable, Mr. Bines," interposed the father, stiffly. "Her deportment is scrupulously correct, and I am in her confidence regarding certain very extensive investments—she cannot be an impostor, sir!"

"But I tell you she isn't right," insisted Percival, warmly.

"Oh, I see," said the younger Milbrey—his face clearing all at once. "It's all right, dad, come on!"

"If you insist," said Percival, "but none of us can meet her."

"It's all right, dad—I understand—"

"Nor can we know anyone who receives her."

"Really, sir," began the elder Milbrey, "your effrontery in assuming to dictate the visiting list of my family is overwhelming."

"If you won't take my word I shall have to dictate so far as I have any personal control over it."

"Don't mind him, dad—I know all about it, I tell you—I'll explain later to you."

"Why," exclaimed Percival, stung to the revelation, "that woman, this woman now waiting with your wife and daughter, was my—"

"Stop, Mr. Bines—not another word, if you please!" The father raised his hand in graceful dismissal. "Let this terminate the acquaintance between our families! No more, sir!" and he turned away, followed by his son. As they walked out through the grounds and turned up the street the young man spoke excitedly, while his father slightly bent his head to listen, with an air of distant dignity.

"What's the trouble, Perce?" asked his sister, as he joined the group on the piazza.

"The trouble is that we've just had to cut that fine old New York family off our list."

"What, not the Milbreys!" exclaimed Mrs. Dreimer.

"The same. Now mind, sis, and you, ma—you're not to know them again—and mind this—if anyone else wants to present you to a Mrs. Wybert—a Mrs. Brench Wybert—don't you let them. Understand?"

"I thought as much," said Mrs. Dreimer; "she acted just the least bit too right."

"Well, I haven't my hammer with me—but remember, now, sis, it's for something else than because her father's cravats were the ready-to-wear kind, or because her worthy old grandfather inhaled his soup. Don't forget that."

"As there isn't anything else to do," he suggested, a few moments later, "why not get under way and take a run up the coast?"

"But I must get back to my babies," said Mrs. Bines, plaintively. "Here I've been away four days."

"All right, ma, I suppose we shall have to take you there, only let's get out of here right away. We can bring sis and you back, Mrs. Dreimer, when those people we don't know get off again. There's Mauburn; I'll tell him."

"I'll have my dunnage down directly," said Mauburn.

Up the street driving a pony cart came Avice Milbrey. Obeying a quick impulse, Percival stepped to the curb as she came opposite to him. She pulled over. She was radiant in the fluffs of summer white, her hat and gown touched with bits of the same vivid blue that shone in her eyes. The impulse that had prompted him to hail her now prompted wild words. His long habit of thought concerning her enabled him to master this foolishness. But at least he could give her a friendly word of warning. She greeted him with the pretty reserve in her manner that had long marked her bearing toward him.

"Good morning! I've borrowed this cart of Elsie Valner to drive down to the yacht station for lost mail. Isn't the day perfect—and isn't this the dearest, fat, sleepy pony, with his hair in his eyes?"

"Miss Milbrey, there's a woman who seems to be a friend of your family—a Mrs.—"

"Mrs. Wybert; yes, you know her?"

"No, I'd never seen her until last night, nor heard that name until this morning; but I know of her."

"Yes?"

"It became necessary just now—really, it is not fair of me to speak to you at all—"

"Why, pray?—not fair?"

"I had to tell your father and brother that we could not meet Mrs. Wybert, and couldn't know anyone who received her."

"There! I knew the woman wasn't right directly I heard her speak. Surely a word to my father was enough."

"But it wasn't, I'm sorry to say. Neither he nor your brother would take my word, and when I started to give my reasons—something it would have been very painful for me to do—your father refused to listen, and declared the acquaintance between our families at an end."

"Oh!"

"It hurt me in a way I can't tell you, and now, even this talk with you is off-side play. Miss Milbrey!"

"Mr. Bines!"

"I wouldn't have said what I did to your father and brother without good reason."

"I am sure of that, Mr. Bines."

"Without reasons I was sure of, you know, so there could be no chance of any mistake."

"Your word is enough for me, Mr. Bines."

"Miss Milbrey—you and I—there's always been something between us—something different from what is between most people. We've never talked straight out since I came to New York—I'll be sorry, perhaps, for saying as much as I am saying, after awhile—but we may not talk again at all—I'm afraid you may misunderstand me—but I must say it—I should like to go away knowing you would have no friendship—no intimacy whatever with that woman."

"I promise you I shall not, Mr. Bines; they can row if they like."

"And yet it doesn't seem fair to have you promise as if it were a consideration for me, because I've no right to ask it. But if I felt sure that you took my word quite as if I were a stranger, and relied upon it enough to have no communication or intercourse of any sort whatsoever with her, it would be a great satisfaction to me."

"I shall not meet her again. And—thank you!" There was a slight unsteadiness once in her voice, and he could almost have sworn her eyes showed that old brave wistfulness.

"—and quite as if you were a stranger."

"Thank you; and, Miss Milbrey?"

"Yes?"

"Your brother may become entangled in some way with this woman."

"It's entirely possible."

Her voice was cool and even again.

"He might even marry her."

"She has money, I believe; he might indeed."

"Always money!" he thought; then aloud:

"If you find he means to, Miss Milbrey, do anything you can to prevent it. It wouldn't do at all, you know."

"Thank you, Mr. Bines; I shall remember."

"I—I think that's all—and I'm sorry we're not—our families are not to be friends any more."

She smiled rather painfully, with an obvious effort to be conventional.

"So sorry! Good-by!"

He looked after her as she drove off. She sat erect, her head straight to the front, her trim shoulders erect, and the whip grasped firmly. He stood motionless until the fat pony had jolted sleepily around the corner.

"Bines, old boy!" he said to himself, "you nearly made one of yourself there. I didn't know you had such ready capabilities for being an ass."

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

When "The Squaw Man" put in his appearance at the Grand Opera House, last night, patrons of this theatre were given an opportunity to see the closest approach to a real Indian, impersonated by a white man, that has ever been given to the stage. To those who are unfamiliar with the mysteries of theatrical "make-up" Tab-y-wana is a real Indian, and yet he is a very good-looking white man outside his part. On the stage, however, he is an Indian in appearance and speech. For years there have been Indians in various plays, but it is to be doubted if any one was ever deceived by them. Here, however, it is different. The old peace chief of the Utes, as presented in this play, is the living embodiment and perfect presentation of the Indian of twenty years ago, as may be attested by any one who has seen Lo upon his native heath. "The Squaw Man" will be at the Grand all this week.

SMOKELESS IS BETTER.

New Powder Is More Adapted for Artillery Use.

Washington, May 16.—A striking illustration of the superior endurance of modern artillery smokeless powder as compared with the guns which burned the old brown powder is afforded by two vulcanite casts received at the ordnance bureau of the War Department, showing the interior of two twelve-inch guns. The first is that of a piece which has been fired 250 times with brown powder and was then relined. The bore of the gun was so deeply pitted that the cast resembled the bark of the roughest of old oak trees, and the cavities were deep enough to contain walnuts and the rifling had completely disappeared.

The second cast was made from a gun which had been fired 300 times with smokeless powder. There was some erosion, but not enough to destroy the lands of the rifling, and the interior was fairly smooth. The gun has been ordered relined, however, because much more importance is now attached to a smooth bore than formerly. The cost of a twelve-inch piece is more than $40,000.

MUST PAY HOSPITAL BILLS.

To Make Saloon Keepers Keep Their Places Free from Brawls.

Atlantic City, May 16.—Mayor Stoy issued an order three weeks ago that saloon keepers in whose places brawls occurred must pay the hospital expenses of those injured in them. The Mayor appeared before the Common Council today and reported that Owen Kelly had failed to pay the expenses of William Dempsey, who had been cut in a fight in Kelly's saloon.

He asked the revocation of Kelly's license, and proceedings were ordered started.

LET THE KNOCKERS HOWL

Good Baseball in Any Town Impossible Without the Constant Kicker.

SO "FOZZY" SAYS

Give Them All the Room They Want But Keep Right on Booming the Team.

They say an epidemic of knockerickis is hanging over the town. According to statistics the plague came down from the clouds Saturday night. Brethren keep cool if the hammer is hot. In all baseball climes knockers abound, the more the merrier. The New Yorks have won the pennant twice and last season added to their laurels by winning the world's championship.

Still there are thousands of knockers in the metropolis. They can't be squelched. They are as plucky a lot of individuals as mosquitoes on the Newark meadows in summer time.

No successful baseball town can exist without knockers. They are the forerunners of prosperity. So let them howl. A fellow who attempts to interfere with their freedom of speech should be hung up to the nearest sour apple tree.

There are knockers in every walk of life. Before the game started last Saturday one dyspeptic took occasion to find fault with the size of the bags Tommy Timbo was selling peanuts in; still another insisted the flag pole was in the wrong place. But the world still goes round.

The essence of knocking is enjoyable to some people, others delight in listening to the kickers spout their lava, so there is joy all around. Good healthy knocking isn't so bad after all.

Lest ye be tainted with the affliction brethren, look up, not down, and boost the game. Give the knockers all the room they want and more too if they insist on it.

Down South a few years ago a darky pastor in a log cabin church was greatly handicapped in the religious development of the neighborhood because of the constant knocking among the members of his congregation.

Sister Sally Jones waxed indignant at the mid-week service and got red hot. "You'n people done do one bad thing in knocking our pastor. The Lawd will have vengeance on you souls. You should every one of you done take a good dose of ole African spoopju and done have your tongues tied up."

African spoopju is an antidote used in the South among some of the "culled" people in despatching healthy chickens on the Rapid Transit death route. It kills the cackle.

We do not agree with Aunt Sallie's idea altogether and do not care to encourage the use of spoopju.

Instead show your Americanism by getting out to the game and handing out encouragement to the association and management. Instead of trying to find flaws to pick at, make an effort to discover the good points of the game, and wear a smile. You might offer your services to take tickets at the gate or do something that will boom the sport instead of trying to stir up dissatisfaction.

Thus endeth this chapter with the blessing of John Alexander Dowie, Elijah the Third, of Zion City, Illinois.

Peace be with thee.

TIPS FOR THE CATCHER

HEADWORK REQUISITE

Between innings Saturday Jack O'Neil found time to deliver a little discourse on "What a catcher should be." This is it.

"One of the most important diamond positions is that behind the bat. A catcher must have baseball intelligence, grit, accuracy, height, weight and a strong arm.

"Any catcher with these requisites, and if he can hit some besides, is sure to hold his own in fast company.

"Headwork is a prime factor. A catcher must work in harmony with his pitcher and there must be a perfect understanding between the two. He must signal carefully, and watch every move on the diamond. A catcher adds to his worth by studying the batsmen and acquainting himself with the weak points of the hitter. After you know these, it is comparatively an easy matter to fool a number of them.

"It is necessary to have grit. Time and time again the ball is caught on the unprotected hand, and it hurts, especially when the hand is swollen. At critical stages it is necessary to use any means to stop a wild pitch. I have stopped them with my shins many times.

"I contend that a catcher ought to be fairly tall, because it gives his pitcher confidence. It is much easier to throw to a tall person. A short backstop keeps the pitcher in fear of throwing over his head.

"Weight counts, because it enables the catcher to act as an obstacle at the plate. The runner must be blocked.

"A catcher must also be accurate and a strong arm to top off his work. Otherwise the players on the opposing team would run the bases like wildmen. It takes a lot of practice to make the throws perfect to the various sacks."

"What do you think of Phil. Smith?" chirped a scribe.

"I think he's the best that came over the pike. I expect to see him with a big league team in two years. That's no kid."

"What's this talk about you going to marry a French countess? Hear your studying the French vocabulary?"

"That is the truth. She is the one the pretty miss. It's no pipe, see, but don't say anything about it until a little later on."

The war scare in Westfield is growing. Fans who entertain the idea that Westfield is coming to town with a cheap outfit are mistaken. Manager Nicholas realizes the fact that he must win from Plainfield or at least make a good showing. He has notified Manager Daab that he is going to pad up for the occasion and is receiving assistance from a few of the promoters of last season's team in his efforts to get a good team together for the fray.

With this spirit there'll be a lively argument on one week from Saturday when the two teams clash. Do not make any rash bets.

First Baseman Henriques needs no step ladders or bushel baskets in the business. He covers about as much area as a San Francisco earthquake, and for pulling down flies and high jumpers he cannot be beaten. His slap stick ability is another strong feature of his playing and before the season is over the fans will see him break a few games up with his slugging.

Paterson next Saturday. The northern New Jersey aggregation put up a gilt-edged exhibition at Hoboken Sunday and were only defeated after the sharpest sort of an engagement by the score of 5 to 4.

Dan Bastian, who manages the team, says he is out to win. He generally means what he says.

THREE NURSES GRADUATE

ARE GIVEN BADGES

W. D. Murray and Dr. T. H. Tomlinson Make Addresses—Rev. Mr. Rodman Offers Prayer.

Before a large audience, strongly representative of the friends and supporters of the hospital, the three members of the graduating class of the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School received their diplomas last night, at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. The exercises were held in the auditorium of the chapel, which was filled almost to the limit of its capacity. Prominent among the audience were members of the hospital Board of Governors and of the Women's Auxiliary, doctors and clergymen of the city.

The graduates are Miss Lucie Tallatschek, of Orange; Miss Ethel M. Robins, of Dutch Neck, and Miss Katherine Van D. Stryker, of Monmouth Junction. Grouped about them on the platform last night, were ten of their fellow students, trim and businesslike in their uniforms. They were greeted with applause as they marched into the auditorium from the church parlor, marshalled by Miss Wildey, the matron at the hospital and superintendent of the training school. The platform was draped with bunting, and flowers graced the speakers' table.

Rev. E. M. Rodman offered the opening prayer. William R. Cock, president of the Board of Governors, W. D. Murray, and Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, of the hospital medical staff, were the speakers, in the order named.

In his address, Mr. Cock paid a tribute to the pupil nurse. Her part in hospital work, he said with emphasis, was very valuable. He spoke interestingly of the introduction of women into the work of nursing in Protestant hospitals, by Dr. Muhlenberg, and of his own experience as a volunteer night nurse in Bellevue hospital, New York, during the Civil War.

The trio of graduates, he said in closing, brought the number of those who had been sent out from the training school up to thirty.

Mr. Murray took the search of the "Scarecrow," the "Cowardly Lion" and the "Tin Woodman" in "The Wizard of Oz," for brains, courage and a heart, as his text. They were the three attributes needed by everyone in their lifework, he said, and none needed them more than the young woman who would be a perfect nurse.

Brains, he knew, were cultivated at the training school. Brains, needed badly enough in the ordinary affairs of the world, assumed the importance of the indispensable where human lives hung in the balance.

There were all kinds of courage, the speaker continued. The kind that is connected with soldiery was an admirable sort, but it was not the kind he had in mind as the attribute needed by the nurse. She needed the everyday kind of courage—the courage to do the right thing out of the world's sight and without its knowledge. In no life was this courage needed more than in that of the nurse.

Perhaps the most important attribute of all that the nurse needed, the speaker said, was heart. Nothing could be successfully accomplished if a spirit of heartiness was lacking. He felt sure that the nurses more than most other workers put their hearts into their labor, without tainting the latter with sordid commercialism. Their work was of a sort that could not be measured in money.

Dr. Tomlinson expressed the appreciation of the hospital staff of the work done by the graduating students. He read the Hippocratic oath, and counselled the graduates to carry it in their hearts and observe its spirit. He paid a very high tribute to the worth of the nurses in medical practice. Without the nurses, he said, Muhlenberg Hospital and its work could not exist; they were as valuable as the medical staff.

Mr. Cock presented the diplomas. "We owe you a debt of gratitude for what you have done," he said in the brief presentation speech. Samuel Huntington, chairman of the managing committee of the Governors, pinned the Muhlenberg pin on the graduates' bodices. The trio received a lot of flowers and a big batch of gifts.

J. Edmund Skiff sang two vocal solos after the presentation ceremony; he was accompanied by Miss Whitney. After the exercises ice cream was served by the Training School Alumni Association.

MACCABEES ORGANIZE TENT IN LAW OFFICE

F. J. HUFF MADE COMMANDER; SOCIABLE AFTER THE ORGANIZATION.

After a number of delays, Plainfield Tent, Knights of the Maccabees, was finally organized last night. The organization was effected in the office of Lawyer F. J. Huff.

Fifteen members enrolled. This does not represent the entire strength of the charter membership; the fifteen just about filled the office of Mr. Huff, which was deemed the best available place for the formal launching of the Tent. The charter roll will be kept open, and a lot of names, it is expected, will be added to it within the next month.

These officers were chosen: Past commander, George Van Order; commander, F. J. Huff; deputy commander, A. H. Dunton; treasurer, J. L. Lindsay; secretary, Charles Van Orden; sergeant, Eugene Ehreat (correct).

An informal sociable was held after the organization to celebrate the successful launching of the organization. Sandwiches, coffee and cigars were enjoyed.

ONE OF HUB'S LITERATI TO ADDRESS THE WOMEN.

Venerable Mr. Sanborn to Speak Before Monday Afternoon Club on "John Brown."

Francis B. Sanborn, who will address the Monday Afternoon Club on Monday, is one of the last of the brilliant literary group which made Boston famous as the intellectual centre some years ago. Although younger than most of these men, he was intimately affiliated with many of them. As a resident of historic Concord, he was the neighbor and friend of Emerson, Thoreau and Alcott and has published biographies of them all. He was one of the moving spirits in the Concord School of Philisophy so famous in its day. Among his other works are a recently published history of New Hampshire, a life of John Brown and one of Dr. Samuel Cridley Howe, the philanthropist.

Mr. Sanborn was long connected with the Massachusetts State Board of Charities, succeeding his friend and co-laborer, Dr. Howe, as chairman and has done long and arduous service as a practical philanthropist. He was also one of the founders of the American Social Science Association, National Prison Association, National Conference of Charities, Clarke School for the Deaf, etc. When we add that Mr. Sanborn has been for many years one of the editors of the Springfield Republican, besides doing much other work as a journalist editor and lecturer, it will be seen that his long life has been one of constant, beneficent and varied activity.

Mr. Sanborn's topic will be "John Brown."

AN UNFORTUNATE LOVER.

Victor Miller Lost His Girl and Was Pinched Besides.

Victor Miller, a colored man with a hard luck tale, faced Judge Runyon in the city court this morning, under a charge of vagrancy. He was arrested last night by a cop who found him sleeping in a fish wagon on Second street.

Miller said he come to town yesterday from Newark. He left the State metropolis to seek surcease from the memory of a colored damsel's perfidy. He got work with Deacon Specner Conway yesterday morning and labored faithfully all day, but the money coming to his was not sufficient to cover the rent of a hired room. The fish wagon was the alternative to walking the streets. Judge Runyon commiserated with the prisoner and suspended sentence.

FEAST ON STRAWBERRIES

Two Organizations of Trinity Church Serve the Luscious Fruit to Big Crowd.

FINE MUSIC A FEATURE

Annual Festival and Entertainment —Pretty Decorations— Continued Tonight.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society and the Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church, a strawberry and ice cream festival was held in the lecture room of the church, last night, and it will be continued this evening. It is an annual affair and the liberal patronage accorded, together with the zealous and earnest efforts of the women, marked it a successful one in every way. Much time was spent by the women in making the room attractive, and they were highly complimented by everyone upon the result.

Pretty booths and the profusion of dog wood blossoms, lilacs and wild honeysuckle gave the place every appearance of the spring-time. The flowers were artistically arranged about the room and the various tables from which ice cream, strawberry shortcake and coffee were served were garnished with bouquets of flowers in vases. In the centre of the room was an attractive flower booth, while on the side were booths where cake, candy and lemonade were sold. There was also used in the decorations varied colored crepe paper, which gave a rainbow effect and added to the attractive picture.

During the evening an orchestra, piano and violin, furnished by Charles Suhr, rendered a delightful programme of music that gave additional pleasure. This evening the musical programme will be furnished by Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, Vincent Sokol and others.

Attractive features last night was an American drill given by members of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society, and a lullaby song by three members of the same society. Those who gave the drill were in costume and they went through the evolutions in clever style. The girls taking part were the Misses Helen Leithousser, Kate Layton, Mildred Premier, Adelaide Cole, Ella Ball, Elizabeth Chickering, Ida Van Arsdale, Elsie Tier, Alice Auten, Beatrice Tier, Nellie Macafee, Adele Freeman, Ella Van Arsdale, Maude Macafee, Rosamond Rogers. Miss Roberts took the part of the Goddess of Liberty in the drill, singing the solo parts of "Star Spangled Banner" and "My Country 'Tis of Thee." Miss Edna Cole presided at the piano. The Misses Helen Woolley, Madeline Strader and Helen Roberts sang the lullaby song. The Juniors received hearty applause for their part in the entertainment.

The Misses Helen Roberts, Elizabeth Winn, Margaret Vandeventer and Madeline Strader gave a very pretty Japanese song and drill in costume. Miss Margaret Leggett accompanied the girls on the piano.

The committees in charge of the affair are as follows:

ENDEAVORERS OBSERVE 18TH ANNIVERSARY

REV. DR. J. A. CHAMBLISS MAKES THE PRINCIPAL ADDRESS.

Encouraging reports, vocal and instrumental music and an address by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, were the principal features of the eighteenth anniversary celebration of the Christian Endeavor Society held at Warren chapel, last night. The chapel was elaborately decorated for the occasion with lilacs, flag lilies, snowballs, red and white roses. The successes of the society during its eighteen years were recounted with considerable satisfaction, although it was noted that during the past year the society lost several members by removal. The membership is about forty.

The programme opened with an address of welcome by the president of the society, Charles Windham, a selection by the choir, "Hark, Hark My Soul," Scripture reading and prayer, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of the chapel. The report of the secretary, Miss Cornelia Christofferson, showed an increased interest in missions, $51 being raised for that purpose during the year. Special mention was made of the mission study class held for eight weeks and taught by Miss Palmer. Fifty-two meetings were held during the year with an average attendance of twenty-four.

The treasurer, William Kenney, presented his report, showing that $25 was sent to Mr. Pierson in Japan, $18 were divided between the home and foreign mission work, $5 was contributed to the baby camp and $5 to Harberson Academy in the South. The reports were followed with a vocal solo by Miss Nora Schenck.

The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, who spoke earnestly urging the Endeavorers to press forward toward the high mark of their calling in Christ Jesus. He also spoke of being weary in the work, but not of the work, illustrating the human side of Christ's life. Dr. Chambliss told the society that having once taken a stand for the right to hold the position and to gradually press forward in the work for Christ.

Following the address there were selections by Whitney Frazee's orchestra, violin solos by Martin A. Korff and recitations by Miss Case. After the programme ther was a social time and refreshments were served. These committees were in charge:

Anniversary—The Misses May Christofferson, Dora Bennett, Nora Schenck and Harriett Squires. Decoration—Theodore Martin, Miss Clara King, Mary Lees and Charles Ryan. Social—Miss Jennie Everitt, Miss Try Mattox, William Kenney and William Welsh.

EX-COP'S DIRTY WORK

HALED BEFORE MAYOR

Former Borough Policeman Had Novel Method of Making Money Until Complaint Was Made Against Him.

Walter Smalley, a one time member of the North Plainfield police force and who but recently recovered from the effects of an accident on the Newark Bay draw in which he nearly lost his life, was fined $20 and sentenced to seven days in jail by Mayor Smalley, last night, on a technical charge of disorderly conduct. In reality it was to put a stop to a game he was working akin to the "badger" variety and which has led to the borough police receiving numerous complaints.

Smalley has been in the habit of frequenting the outskirts of the borough and working hold up men and women who he found out walking, giving the impression that he was an officer and declaring that they were under arrest for "disorderly conduct." The victims would naturally protest that they were guilty of no wrong, but Smalley would declare that they would have to go to headquarters. In nearly every case this would result in hysterics on the part of the woman and to shield her from the humiliation of "arrest" the escort would offer to pay something to let the matter drop. The police say this was all Smalley was after and he would take the money.

The plan has worked successfully several times, it is alleged, but a few nights ago Smalley made a blunder and got hold of a well known boroughite who was out walking with a young woman relative. This man declares that the ex-officer demanded a sum of money and when it was indignantly refused him, gave the station house gag. But the intended victim was right on the job and exclaimed:

"Why most certainly we'll go to headquarters and we'll see if there is any law against people walking in the borough streets."

At the first electric light Smalley discovered the identity of the man and he suddenly declared the whole thing to be a joke. "Let's be friends," he said, "everything's all right." But the boroughite didn't see it that way and he entered complaint before Chief Weiss.

Smalley was arrested and brought before Mayor Smalley, last night, when evidence that he was the man who had been doing the trick all along was produced. The intended victim was on hand and told just what had happened and identified him positively. Under the borough ordinance $20 and seven days was all that could be given him and the mayor imposed the full amount. Relatives of Smalley afterward went before the mayor and begged so hard that he relented to the extent of taking off the seven days. The $20 was paid.

"Contribution of the Plainfield Yale Club gratefully and enthusiastically received. The good Yale spirit shown greatly appreciated. You will receive further acknowledgement from the city. Your club made me prouder than ever of Yale."

The telegram was read by Mr. Day last night at a meeting of the executive committee of the club, called for the purpose of settling everything in connection with the dinner.

STILL HUNTING FOR MISSING YOUNG WOMAN

NOTHING KNOWN OF WHEREABOUTS OF MISS KUENLEN.

Mrs. Marie Kuenlen, of 912 West Front street, whose daughter, Miss Lena Kuenlen, suddenly disappeared from home the latter part of April, frequently receives letters from people in New York, Brooklyn and other places, informing her that they think her daughter was seen at this or that place. While Mrs. Kuenlen feels almost sure that there is nothing in these rumors, she is impelled to investigate them to satisfy her mind.

On Tuesday Mrs. Kuenlen went to Brooklyn in response to such a letter, but nothing came of it. Friends of Mrs. Kuenlen assure her that in their opinion her daughter is alive and that she is undoubtedly hiding. But when the circumstances of her comfortable home life is considered it is hard to explain why she would want to remain away and keep her mother in such suspense.

The Pinkerton detective was taken off the case recently and the police have it in charge. The reward of $500 is still offered for the return of the missing woman, dead or alive.

BIG EUCHRE FOR NEW ST. MARY CONVENT.

One Hundred Tables Used in the Play—Given Under Auspices of the A. O. H.

A "monster" euchre for the benefit of the new St. Mary convent was conducted in St. Mary's school hall under the auspices of Division No. 4, A. O. H., last night. One hundred tables were used and some of the best players in the city took part, bringing about some spirited games.

The prize winners were announced as follows: First women's, Mrs. James McCarthy; first men's, Daniel Sullivan; second women's, Miss Kathryn Mulligan; second men's, Cormack Caulfield; consolations, Miss Anna Butler and Thomas Gannon. After the awards had been made the floor was cleared for dancing and it was enjoyed by the young people until after midnight.

The committee which arranged and had charge of the affair consisted of Dr. Brennan, Bryan Hanrahan, James Fosbre, John Gallagher, John F. Casey, Patrick Harrington and James Fitzpatrick. Father Bogan and Father Delehanty were present and gave general assistance.

Seeks a Settlement from the P. S. C.

A. E. Hall, of Plainfield avenue, who was injured at Westfield last Sunday by a trolley car, as related in The Daily Press, has consulted Craig A. Marsh, Esq., with a view to getting a settlement from the Public Service Corporation. At the time of the accident, Mr. Hall and his grandchild were standing on the curb near the Westfield railroad station waiting for the car. It is alleged that the motorman refused to stop at that point and Mr. Hall and the child followed it up in the roadway. As the car swung around the curve the end of it struck them and knocked them down. Mr. Hall was severely sprained. The child escaped with very slight injuries.

Want Randolph Road Macadamized.

Members of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club are using their influence with the Common Council to have Randolph road, from Park avenue to the new show grounds, macadamized. They argue that the expenditure of a large sum of money on the grounds warrants this improvement as there will be plenty of travel on that street during the show and at other times during the summer.

Contract Case Postponed.

LID DOWN AT CARNIVAL

Chairman Fisk Announces an Edict Against Booze and Raffles.

A MORAL EXHIBITION

First Affair Had Both Features But One of Them Crept In Without the Knowledge of the Committee.

Chairman Charles J. Fisk, of the Hospital Carnival Committee, made a statement of carnival morality last night. No intoxicants will be allowed on the grounds and nothing in the nature of a raffle will be permitted. The statement was made before the audience at the graduation exercises of Muhlenberg Hospital Training School, at the Crescent Avenue church, after the exercises.

Mr. Fisk made a special request to be allowed to speak before the audience left.

"I want to make a statement of two facts to a representative hospital audience," he said after he had faced the gathering. "One thing is that no intoxicating drinks will be sold on the carnival grounds. There has been some talk and a certain degree of misunderstanding over that matter, and I want it put right in a public manner so that there will remain no doubt about it at all.

"Last year, unfortunately, intoxicating drinks were introduced on the grounds, without the knowledge of the committee. That kind of thing will not be allowed to happen again. No intoxicants whatever will be allowed on the grounds. The sale of them has been positively prohibited, and no one will even be permitted to bring intoxicants on the grounds.

"The other thing I wish to speak about is the matter of raffles. There is decided disapproval of raffles in certain quarters and in other directions they are desired. It was one of the hardest questions I had to settle, I believe I have found a solution of the problem that is entirely satisfactory, and I can say positively now that there will be no raffles at the carnival. The Carnival Store takes the place of the raffle feature. There are no blanks in its scheme of operation; everybody who deals at the store will get good value for his or her money.

"That is all I wanted to say. It was on my mind and I welcomed this opportunity of saying it to an audience representative of the hospital supporters."

Mr. Fisk made no direct reference to the fact that one of the biggest features of the carnival last year was the raffling of a $1,000 auto.

FIRE CHIEF DOANE'S SON RECEIVES ANOTHER HONOR.

His Name Sent to War Department for Regular Army Commission.

Hervey Doane, second son of Chief and Mrs. T. O. Doane, of West Fifth street, who will be graduated from Rutgers College in June, has taken several honors during his college career, but one received on Wednesday is particularly gratifying to him. At the annual exhibition drill of Rutgers cadets on that day, Cadet Major Thomas A. Deven, of New Brunswick, Cadet Captain Hervey Doane and Cadet Captain Edward H. Acton, of Salem, were pronounced the best soldiers and their names will be sent to the War Department for entrance on the army register as fitted for commissions in the regular army.

Captain Doane has already received several offers of positions upon the completion of his college course and he is quite likely to accept one in the engineering department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company on the tunnel work. He is a graduate of the Plainfield High School.

Cloud-Burst at Westfield.

While this entire section of the State was being visited by heavy showers from midnight last night until early morning, Westfield probably received more than its share. About 6 o'clock this morning there was a deluge of rain, resembling a cloud-burst. Trolley cars and trains on the New Jersey Central were held up for several minutes.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

After a two weeks' imprisonment, Louis Cerfici, of New Market, was released from jail at New Brunswick, yesterday, to where he was committed by Justice Von Minden for refusing to pay $22, damages and costs due in a suit Casino Barone brought as the result of a deal in ducks. Mrs. Cerfici brought the money to the justice yesterday morning, and he wrote out an order of release for Cerfici at once. Not long ago Cerfici was imprisoned for the same sort of defiance of the court, finally winning his freedom by digging up the money from a buried box in the garden.

James F. Eganey, the plumber, was compelled to shoot his valuable horse yesterday. The animal was ruined by the snapping of a tendon in its foreleg. It was one of the speediest horses in this vicinity and worth not less than $300. Mr. Eganey was much attached to it.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Suburban Club, of Fanwood, brought the series of winter club dances to an end last night, by tendering a shirt waist dance to their friends. The cozy little hall was filled with dancers enjoying the music of the two step and waltz as furnished by Suhr's orchestra. For those who tired of the dance the club parlors, bowling alleys and billiard room offered other amusements. The affair was one of the most enjoyable events ever given by the club.

PERFORMING BEAR ATTACKS A LITTLE GIRL.

Muzzle on Bruin's Face Saved the Child From Serious Injury.

Henrietta Peterson, 6 years old, of 233 Bond street, Elizabeth, was attacked Wednesday noon at the corner of hird and Court streets by a bear performing in the streets. The animal knocked the girl down and scratched her face. The bear had a muzzle on, and this saved the child from serious injury. John Gedo, an intinerant performer, was arrested and brought to the Second Precinct station with the bear.

For a number of days Gero has been sleeping on the site of the old cordage works on Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth. In the day he would go around town and pick up odd pennies. At noon yesterday the bear was going through his antics, and a crowd of school children got around him. The Peterson girl came close to the bear. He rushed at her, knocking her down. Before he could injure her seriously, Gedo pulled the animal away. Officer Kelly arrested the man and bear.

The Shuberts are rapidly deciding upon their new attractions for next season. Three musical plays are announced for fall production. The first is "The Snow Man" from the pens of Stanislaus Stange and Reginald de Koven. Its premier will take place about October 1. The second is a comic opera, the book of which was written by A. T. Cahn, of Washington, and the music by Julian Edwards. The third is a musical comedy, with book by Skinner and Campbell and Joseph Herbert, and the music by Ludwig Englander.

James K. Hackett yesterday secured for America the rights of a three-act farce entitled "Brown at Brighton.' It was written by Fenton Mackay and Walter Stephens, and enjoyed great popularity at the Avenue theatre, London, and in the provinces some two years ago. It is Mr. Hackett's intention to make the American production of "Brown at Brighton" during the early part of next season.

"Fantata" closes its road tour tomorrow night and Jefferson De Angelis will then have the first vacation he has enjoyed in more than two years. This musical comedy has the unique record of having been played continuously since its first performance two years ago. It was at the Lyric theatre all last summer, where it was seen by many Plainfielders. Mr. De Angelis will go abroad early in June.

Mrs. Jane Mauldin Feigi's play, "The Girl Patsy," which had its first performance at the New Plainfield last March, will receive its New York premiere at the Savoy theatre Saturday evening, May 26, opening the summer season at this house. Mary Ryan will play the principal role.

NEGRO TAKES WHITE BRIDE.

Thomas Jefferson and Miss Weaver Persuade Alderman to Tie Knot.

Broadway, May 18.—Thomas Jefferson, colored, thirty-five years old, who has been employed at the cement plant, went to Easton, Pa., Wednesday, where he obtained a marriage license at the courthouse, and was married to Miss Carrie M. Weaver, a white woman, who says she is thirty-four years old, Jefferson was a widower. Both were born in Coopersburg, Lehigh County, Pa. They had been residing in Broadway for a short time, when Jefferson and his white companion made application to Alderman Brunner to marry them. The latter tried to persuade the woman to consider the step she was taking, but she replied that Jefferson was as good as any white man she knew. The alderman finally consented to tie the knot.

The bridegroom was surprised when the alderman explained that the law allowed him a fee of $5. Jefferson had not expected to pay more than fifty cents, and tendered a half-dollar. The magistrate performed the ceremony for nothing, telling the bridegroom to give his bride the fee.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." JERSEY GUARDS MAY TRAIN WITH REGULARS

STOKES BELIEVES TROOPS WOULD GET BETTER DISCIPLINE.

Trenton, May 17.—There is a strong probability that the five weeks' encampment of the entire division of the New Jersey National Guards at Sea Girt will not come this year and that the division will go to the regular army manoeuvres at Plattsburg, N. Y.

Governor Stokes is inclined to think that the soldiers of the State will get a better camp of instruction with the regular army boys, and it is said that he favors sending the entire division to the manoeuvres and having the regular two weeks' camp at Sea Girt for the Second Brigade this year, instead of sending the entire division to Sea Girt.

This would mean that the entire division would go to the manoeuvres at Plattsburg during the weeks for national guards' instruction, between August 1 and September 30, and only the Second and Third Regiments of infantry, the Red Bank Cavalry and the Camden Battery go to Sea Girt this summer.

The national government has sent an invitation for New Jersey to send a division of her National Guards to the manoeuvres, and the expenses are to be paid by the Federal authorities. The boys in the ranks would get the regular army pay of 40 cents a day and be subjected to the hard discipline of the regular army boys.

This would be a good way to save money to the State treasury, thinks those in charge of military things, and the boys would be getting the benefit of the highest class of military instruction.

The matter is not settled yet, but will be taken up shortly and the national government apprised of the results of conference.

The Governor yesterday signed the Military bill, which places the National Guard on the footing prescribed for the regular army.

INTEREST IN AUTO BUMP.

Chatham Obstruction to Speeding Attracts Many Visitors to the Town.

Chatham, May 18.—As an example of local ingenuity, the automobile "bump" of this borough has become a Mecca for every self-propelled vehicle from steam runabouts to racing motor cars. Wednesday the raised crosswalk, which constitutes the bump, was photographed in five different ways by a representative of an Eastern magazine. Cars from all over the State have made the trip across the big "thank-you-ma'am" to test its jolting capacity. On Monday a man came down from New Haven, Conn., to test its powers. The idea is to be tried at Wood Haven, a place near that city, and he wished points for a local automobile club.

The bump also has incurred the ire of the Board of Freeholders. According to an observer, "Uncle Danny" Voorhees, of Morristown, inspired the visit made by county officials recently to the affair. "Uncle Danny" came through Chatham from a visit in Union county, and his chauffeur forgot the presence of the bump in the town's centre. The big car struck it and the Republican leader of the county rose several feet out of his seat. A day or so later the official inspection was made.

The Chatham Council, in the mean time, had decided to lower the crosswalk, and this had been accomplished before the inspection was made. The result was that it was reported to those in authority that the bump was no higher than a bump should be, and no action was taken by the county.

MAYOR SCORES COAL DEALERS.

Elizabeth City Council Hears that Short Weights Have Been Given.

Elizabeth, May 18.—Mayor S. J. Berry, in a communication to City Council, has called the attention of that body to the fact that there are numerous coal dealers in this city who conduct their business without scales or any visible means of determning the weight of the coal delivered. He recommended that an ordinance be passed by the City Council to regulate the business of the local coal dealers by making it compulsory for all coal dealers to have scales in use in their yards and to have the scales under the direct charge of the sealer of weights and measures, John Carroll.

The attention of Mayor Berry was called to the fact that some of the local coal dealers have been dispensing short weight coal, by a statement made by John P. Hannifin, president of the Board of Education, wherein he verified the reports that some of the local coal dealers in this city who have been supplying coal to the public schools at a price lower than it actually costs to unload the coal at the docks here.

He said that the board had not been in the habit of getting a certified guarantee that it was receiving full weight, and this led to an investigation.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Phillips, of West Front street, have returned from a visit with Brooklyn relatives.

Lewis E. Waring, who has been detained at his home in West Seventh street, by illness, is much improved.

HILLERY ON THE WARPATH.

The people of Morris county will have the privilege of hearing the merits of the reform movement discussed provided Senator Colby takes up the gauntlet thrown down by Senator Hillery. The floor leader of the regular forces in the Senate considers the State reform leader's invasion of his domain as a personal reflection and declares that he will neither give nor seek quarter. What he wants is a debate in the presence of his own constitutants, and he wants it without delay. The reply to the challenge is awaited with considerable interest.

A SENSIBLE CHOICE.

After such a disappointment at the new high school dedication exercises, it is a satisfaction to know that a man of some note in the educational world has been selected as the speaker for the commencement day exercises. Dr. Canfield was formerly chancellor of the University of Nebraska and is now a member of Columbia University's faculty. Last summer the professor attracted much attention at the annual conference of the N. E. A. where he delivered a scholarly address.

THE CARNIVAL.

The thirty-six tents have been pitched and all is in readiness for the second annual carnival—"New Jersey's greatest show"—which will be inaugurated tomorrow afternoon by a street parade. Captain Martin, the capable chief marshal, has promised that the street demonstration will be worth seeing and that is the assurance given by General Chairman Fisk regarding the show itself.

HOBOKEN OFFICIALS PLEAD.

Say Not Guilty and Give Their Own Bonds for Appearance.

A number of persons and former officials of Hoboken appeared yesterday before Judge Blair, of the Hudson County Court of General Sessions, and entered pleas of not guilty to indictments found against them by the December term Grand Jury.

Mayor George Steil, former Mayor Lankering, Councilman James Clarke, John Duffy, James Fitzpatrick, Herman Hoppe, Andrew Hopper, Daniel J. McCarthy, James O'Rourke, Charles Schultze and Herman Voll and Police Commissioners Patrick Smith, Anthony Capelli, Jacob Kuper and Matthew Wright are included in the list.

The councilman are charged with failing to properly take care of the sewers of the city and the police commissioners, it is alleged, exceeded their annual appropriations. Mayor Steil was formerly a councilman and former Mayor Lankering was, ex-officio, a member of the Board of Police Commissioners.

All the accused officials were released on their own recognizance.

SQUATTER IS EVICTED.

He Believed Long Occupancy Made Him Owner of Property.

Possession is nine points of the law thought John Ryan, seventy-three years old, who for thirty-six years had been a squatter on land owned by the estate of the late Frank Matthews, at Thirteenth street and Provost street, Jersey City.

Despite two court decisions against him Ryan refused to quit the premises, and yesterday lawyers and policemen for the city ejected him, putting what little furniture he had into the street.

Ryan fought hard to retain the property he claimed was his by right of possession and not until he had been overpowered by the police did he give in.

HILLERY FORWARDS CHALLENGE TO COLBY.

Demands the Right to Be Heard in Defense of His Record.

Boonton, May 18.—In an open letter given out yesterday Senator Thomas J. Hillery, of Morris county, issues to Senator Everett Colby, of Essex, a challenge to meet him on the stump throughout this Senatorial bailiwick to discuss the respective records of the two legislators. That of the Morris Senator, the letter declares, has been unjustly criticized, and the Boonton lawyer-politician demands the right to refute such aspersions. Here is the text of the challenge:

"Boonton, May 17.

"To the Hon. Everett Colby:

"My Dear Senator—As you have pitched your tents for battle within the confines of Morris, and according to press reports, are leveling your 'strictures upon the alleged sins of omission and commission of Morris county representatives in the Legislature,' I doubt if I am asking too much of a fellow Senator when I request that you give me the opportunity of self-defense by meeting me upon the platform in the various towns of Morris county to discuss the subject above mentioned.

"This I ask not only in self-defense of my reputation as a legislator of which I am naturally jealous, but also in behalf of my people in Morris who have returned me several times to the Legislature with increased majorities, and who are entitled to an 'account of my stewardship.'

"We both entered the Legislature four years ago and have been in close touch since and I feel that no man knows better than yourself what I stand for and whether I am fulfilling my sworn duties. You are to have the liberty to lay before the people of my county my legislative record in full, I to have the same right as to yours, and both to discuss generally the 'new idea' and also the work of the Republican party of the State.

"While you personally are making no allusions to me in your speeches, one of your speakers and closest advisers who is going about with you has seen fit to criticise my public acts, and I have the right to assume that it is done with your approval and possibly by your advice.

"The avowed purpose of your movement is to furnish Morris county with better representation, which, of itself, is a reflection upon me, and you can scarcely deny me the right to be heard in my own behalf.

"I do not ask this as a courtesy. This point I feel has been long passed. I ask it as a right and because I desire that the whole truth shall be given to my people in whose judgment and common sense I have an abiding faith.

"Yours very truly,
"Thomas J. Hillery."

Firemen Rescue Three Women from Windows of Burning Apartment-House.

Jersey City firemen saved yesterday three women and a child at a fire in the apartment-house at the northeast corner of Grove and Fifth streets. The fire started in the rooms of Mrs. Mary Pate, on the third floor. It burned upward, and when the firemen arrived Mrs. Elizabeth Galbraith and her daughters, Mrs. Mary Klopman and Annie Galbraith, who lived on the fourth floor, were at the windows of their apartments appealing for help.

A ladder from No. 2 Truck was raised and Firemen Burke and Baldwin brought the three women to the street.

On the second floor Mrs. Lizzie A. Crown was guarding the body of her son-in-law, Charles Berger, who died the previous night. Neighbors rushed in and would have carried the coffin to the street had not the firemen found that the flames would not spread below the third floor.

IRELAND'S DECREASING POPULATION.

Consul Moe, of Dublin, writes that the detailed annual report of the registar-general of Ireland, containing figures dealing with the number of marriages, births and deaths registered during the year 1904, has recently been published. The marriages registered numbered 22,961, the births 103,811 and the deaths 79,513. The marriage rate, which was 5.22 per 1,000 of the estimated population, shows a slight increase as compared with the rate for 1903 and was the highest rate for ten years. The birth rate—23.6 per 1,000—also makes a like showing. The death rate, which is returned at 18.1 per 1,000, is .6 above the average rate for the ten years 1894-1903. The excess of births over deaths was 24;298. But against this figure has to be set the emigration return, which is given as 36,902, or a decrease in the population during the year of 12,604.—United States Consular Reports.

THE NEW IDEA HAS SUMMIT'S EAR NOW.

Colby and Record Explain It Before Big Throng in Odd Fellows Hall.

Summit, May 18.—There were not enough seats for all the voters who made up the mass meeting of the Union County Republican League for Equal Taxation in Odd Fellows' Hall here Wednesday night. Bankers, lawyers and brokers, with clerks, laborers and mechanics. When all was said the listeners appeared to feel that the Colby movement had outgrown the man—that it was greater than any set of men—and at the close more than fifty were enrolled as members of the league.

Judge William N. Runyon had failed in an effort to dispose of a previous engagement and his earnest regret was expressed by T. M. Debevoise, the chairman of the meeting. Mayor Wilcox, of this city, who had been announced as one of the speakers, was ill, but Senator Colby and George L. Record, corporation counsel of Jersey City, were there and they received a rousing greeting.

Opening the meeting, Mr. Debevoise said that the machine had tried to vain to find fault with the movement, but had failed. Instead, they had been compelled to pass bills at the session of the Legislature just closed which they had refused to pass a year ago. He was willing to give them credit for what they had done in the same measure that he would credit to a thief who had robbed him of $5. If after taking the money and getting away half a block the thief voluntarily returned with it, he would credit him for his action, but if the thief did not think of returning the money until he saw the uplifted stick of the "cop" waiting for him on the corner he would not be inclined to give him much credit.

Senator Colby, who was the first speaker, said:

"In all of our campaigns I have been struck by the phenomenal patience of the citizens who have been willing, like you, to come to meetings like this, months before the usual time for the opening of a campaign and sit in a hot room listening for several hours to what would be, under ordinary circumstances, tedious talks on taxation, franchises, etc. A marvel to me last summer were the results of meetings begun with only three people present. One meeting in Essex I remember, we started with only three children, who had been playing in the hall, present, but we carried that ward by a larger majority than any other ward in Newark.

FIVE GIRLS CONTEST THEIR FATHER'S WILL.

Elizabeth, May 18.—Many thousands of dollars are involved in the suit to break the will of the late William Dooley, of this city, who died in 1901, leaving his entire property to his son, John J. Dooley. The property consisted mainly of real estate. To his widow Dooley left $10, an to each of five daughters he left $1. There was no contest of the will then and it was probated in July, 1901.

The estate at the time of the elder Dooley's death was worth probably $30,000. Since that time it has greatly enhanced in value. A strip of land on Staten Island, directly opposite this city, and having a water frontage, has become the centre of an industrial hive. The younger Dooley has built a marine railway on it, and a large ship repairing business is done there. John J. Dooley is considered today by many one of the richest men down town.

His sisters, who got one dollar in the will, are now bringing suit for a partition of the property. They are Mrs. Katherine Harrington, Mrs. Ann McGowan, Mrs. Agnes Dennis, Mrs. Elizabeth Masterson, Miss Margaret Dooley. A sister in the House of Good Shepherd in Newark, where she is a religieuse, does not enter into the suit.

It is contended now by the daughters that some time before his death their father made a deed of the property to John J. Dooley, but that their mother did not enter into the deed, nor sign the papers.

Suit has also been brought against the Moore Brothers Company, of which former Governor Voorhees is president, and who have since purchased two lots on Bond street from Dooley, it being claimed that Dooley had no legal right to sell.

For a strip of the Dooley property on the Staten Island Sound shore the sum of $100,000 was recently refused.

NEWARK CATHEDRAL PLANNED.

Bishop to Appoint Committee to Prepare Report on Episcopal Edifice.

The principal topic among the delegates to the thirty-second annual convention of the Episcopal Church, which open its second day's session in Trinity church, Newark, Wednesday, was the proposition that a cathedral for the diocese be erected in that city. The project had long been talked about by the various clergy and laymen, but not until the close of the session on Tuesday was anything definite done.

Then the Rev. Frank B. Reazor, of West Orange, brought the matter to the attention of the convention, with the result that Bishop Edwin S. Lines will in the near future appoint a special committee to look into the matter and prepare a report, to be handed in not later than the next convention.

PIGMENT CO.'S RECEIVER.

Concern Alleged to Have No Funds With Which to Pay Debts.

Richard H. Brokaw, of Bound Brook, has been appointed receiver of the Lake Pigment Company of this city by Chancellor Magie. The petition for the receiver was filed against the company by William Ellis & Son, of Philadelphia, who charge that the concern is insolvent.

The Lake Pigment Company is the successor of the Lasher-Pray Color Company, and owns property in Plainfield and Piscataway township, located on West Front street, where it conducts a paint factory. Ellis & Co. claim thath the concern, which has an authorized capital of $35,000, has no funds on hand with which to pay its debts.

BODY NOT COWLING'S, VICTIM A CIRCUS YOUTH.

His Identity as That of Robbins' Show Employee Practically Established.

The body of the young man killed on the tracks of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad May 11, is not that of Albert Cowling, of Jackson avenue. George E. Cowling, who went to New York yesterday to investigate the resemblance of the dead youth's description to that of his missing brother established the fact that the remains were not those he feared to find.

He said the body, and though the victim looked much like his brother, there was no doubt that it was not him. Before Mr. Cowling left the morgue the identification of the dead youth was practically established by a telegram from the management of the Robbins' circus, one of whose employees is missing. The latter's description fitted that of the victim exactly, even to the tattooing on the left forearm. A fragment of an envelope addressed "care of Robbins' Circus, Plainfield, N. J.," found in the youth's pocket, seems to establish the identity beyond doubt. The young man was here with the circus early this month.

SPRAINED HIS ANKLE..

Bertram Leggett Hurt While Running Bases.

While trying to stretch a base hit into a two bagger, Bertram Leggett, son of Mrs. Anna Leggett, of Madison, badly sprained his leg near the ankle, yesterday afternoon, on Hope Common. Leggett was playing with the Whittier School team, it being a scrub game. When he came to the bat he hit the first ball pitched and it looked good for two bases. The player reached first base in safety and saw a possibility of landing on the second station before the ball was returned. To do so he took a slide of several feet and twisted his leg suddenly.

Leggett suffered intense pain. With the assistance of his companions he was able to reach home, where a physician was summoned. Owing to the fact that the leg is swollen very much the physician has been unable to ascertain as yet whether any bones are broken or not. However, he thinks it is only a bad sprain. The young man will be laid up for sometime and it is doubtful whether he will be able to play baseball again this season.

In the court of Common Pleas at Somerville, this morning, Judge Schenck upheld Justice John C. Cooper's conviction of Joseph T. Newton, of Warren township, for keeping his children out of school. Newton was arrested twice, the first time being fined $5, which he paid. He was arrested a second time and fined $10, but retained Lawyer N. L. Dungan, of Somerville, to make an appeal. The case was heard this morning and Cooper's action was sustained. He will now have to pay the second fine.

STOKES DISAGREE WITH EDUCATION COMMITTEE.

Governor Stokes met in conference Wednesday afternoon with the special committee of the State Board of Education charged with the work of supervising the erection of the new State Normal school in North Jersey.

The object was to consider the matter of employing an architect to plan the structure. The committee stood out for its plan of engaging an outside architect. Governor Stokes insisted that would be illegal, and claimed that the work was in charge of the department of charities and corrections and that Architect Geo. E. Poole, of that department, must prepare the plans.

Then the committee presented an opinion from Attorney General McCarter, which held that the law creating the department of charities and corrections did not apply to the State schools; therefore, the committee was not compelled to engage Architect Poole. This rather stumped Governor Stokes. However, he told the committee that he would have the whole question thoroughly looked into before anything further was done. That ended the conference.

—H. Philips, of New York, a well-known vocalist, will appear at the concert to be held at Levy Bros.' dry goods store Saturday afternoon and evening. He will sing "Alice, Where Art Thou?" "Is It Warm Enough for You," "Why Don't You Try?" and "Poor Old Man."

Women's Spring Suits Sacrificed!

"Welcome the coming, speed the parting guest."

Summer stocks are pouring in. We must have space in which to store and display them. Therefore, we must bid a hasty farewell to our spring garments, no matter what the loss may be to us. Many of them are so beautiful and becoming that we are loath to see them part. Sentiment is one thing, however, business another, and sentiment and business do not mingle any more than oil and water. So it happens that right now, when the spring season has only fairly begun, you have a choice of some of the finest garments shown anywhere at practically your own prices.

The suits we offer are all new and highly desirable for all this season's wear. They are made from a good quality of Panamas, Cheviots and Fancy Mixtures. The coats can be had in Eton, pony or hip lengths—the skirts in gored or circular styles.

$17.50 to $20.00 were the former and recent prices. You may choose now for just..... $12.50

In addition, we offer the balance of our stock of

Misses' & Children's Spring Garments

CURRENT COMMENT.

A City Without Crime.

San Francisco for the last fortnight has been absolutely free from disorder and virtually free from crimes of violence. There have been no street brawls. No drunken brute has beaten his wife. No gamblers have murdered each other in low resorts. Except for some dealings with sneak thieves the occupation of the police courts is gone. It is a most impressive object lesson of the value to society of the restriction of the liquor traffic. We are promised a continuance of this peaceful condition for a considerable time to come, save only as drunken men may drift over from Oakland, where the authorities have been so reckless as to allow saloons to open. We may be compelled to renew the quarantine against Oakland.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Congressional Verbosity.

An epidemic of verbose speeches rages in the Senate, and yet the public business waiting, with hot weather near, is great in extent and importance. It remains to be proved that any subject can be rendered clearer by a two-day address. Admitting that the legal bearings of the railroad question are somewhat complicated, what is to prevent a Senator from summarizing his views in at least one day? If reasonably skillful in condensation he could do it in an hour or two. Lacking the power of crystallizing thought, he might talk on forever without any result except to add to the fog. The two-day speech vanity in the Senate is a bore.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

In Justice to Standard Oil.

Unpopular as the Standard Oil Company is, we must try to be fair to it, even though it has been unfair to the public and to its rivals. The question, as it seems ta us in these cases, is not what rate the Standard should pay, but what rate it can be compelled to pay under the legitimate conditions which it has created. The railroads have to face either actual pipeline competition or possible pipeline competition, as between Olean and Rochester, which are only a hundred miles apart, and at both of which points there are Standard refineries. There is a point below which rates could not fall without making certain the construction of a pipeline between Rochester and Olean. Some weight should be given to these considerations. We do not mean to say that they explain or justify everything, but they do explain and justify some things.—Indianapolis News.

Rivals in Politics.

The tendency of the Democrats to turn to the tariff as their most promising issue in the coming congressional campaign is more marked as the weeks pass. Their role is not without its difficulties. If they are to be the radical party of the future, the Republican president is steadily diminishing the roar of their thunder by setting up a rival thunder-making plant. He has already appropriated their railroad rate issue, and if the session ends with a fairly satisfactory bill enacted the Democrats will have to favor almost government ownership itself in order to make Rooseveltism seem in any sense like conservatism. The Republican President has also attacked the great fortunes by suggesting that they be broken up by federal taxation at the death of their possessors, and in his slashing attack on the Standard Oil Company he has indorsed a leading socialistic principle by advising permanent government ownership and control of such oil and coal lands as may still be left on the public domain.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Conditions in San Francisco.

Within a reasonable time San Francisco will doubtless reduce its municipal expenses. With a population one-half as large as before, there will be no necessity for a costly government. The city is virtually free of debt, and its credit will be sufficient to obtain funds for all absolutely necessary purposes. The citizens are beginning to put the brakes upon dreamers who talk of rebuilding the city on purely esthetic lines. There will be no palatial municipal edifices and ornamental avenues, built on borrowed money guaranteed by the government. The task of recovering lost ground is enough to sober the enthusiasm even of San Franciscans without attempting to advance the millenium in municipal betterment.—Washington Post.

THE FRENCH STAGE.

As reflected by the ledgers of the Paris theatres, 1905 cannot be considered as having been an unprosperous year for the French stage. In 1904 the total income wos £1,600,000, and last year it grew to £1,680,000. The opera comes first in the list of individual theatres with £125,000, then the Opera Comique with £96,000. The Comedie Francaise comes third with £90,000, which seems to indicate pretty conclusively that it is more profitable to bear the lyre than to wear the buskin. After the Comedie the Alhambra comes next in order of receipts, then the Chatelet, the Folies-Bergere, the Gaiete, the Gymnase-Olympia, and the Varietes—all with more than £40,000.—London Globe.

—Prof. and Mrs. Krebs, of Fairview avenue, entertained the Monday Evening Club, this week. Miss R. Anna Miller read a paper on "Tolstoi."

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

The vogue of "Charley's Aunt" at the Manhattan theatre, New York, increases, and it is without doubt the most popular theatre offering in that city today. This clever comedy was revived at the dullest period of the theatrical season, but at once caught public favor, and has steadily played to large audiences; and now, as the season is closing, it draws better than ever, and is undoubtedly on for one of those runs that reach into summer weather. It attracts all classes of theatregoers, drawing largely from the hotel population, which at this season includes innumerable tourists from all parts of the country, as well as from the fashionable population of New York, a fact testified to by the large number of private equipages that throng the Manhattan vicinity at every performance. Its patronage, in fact, proves that since its original great success, years ago, it still has retained a happy place in the memory of theatregoers everywhere. "Charley's Aunt" in fact more than holds its own in comparison with any of the so-called "up-to-date" comedies that have been made known since it was first seen here; for it possesses many elements that are delightful and that have been lacking in the later pieces constructed for laughter-provoking purposes. Its action is brisk and continuously funny; its characters are varied, well drawn and well impersonated; and its story is entertaining. Etienne Girardot, its chief actor, repeats his original success in the title part, and he is well supported by a capital company. But one matinee a week—on Saturday—is given at the Manhattan.

John Philip Sousa's new military comic opera, "The Free Lance," has received its metropolitan premiere at the New Amsterdam theatre and is a huge success. Klaw & Erlanger are responsible for the production, elaborately staged with beautiful scenery and costumes, and Harry B. Smith, the well known librettist, stands sponsor for the book and lyrics. The verdict of the critics in Springfield, Hartford and Philadelphia is that Mr. Sousa has never composed more brilliant and catchy music, Mr. Smith has never written a more comic story and Klaw & Erlanger have never made a more artistic production. The company numbers 125 people. A notable feature is made of a male chorus of 50 voices which greatly aids in the rendering of Mr. Sousa's spirited martial music, especially his new march number, "On to Victory," the finale of the first act. This is considered a worthy successor to "The Washington Post" march and "The Stars and Stripes Forever." "The Free Lance" is a genuine comic opera. It is staged in two acts. The locale of the first act is the court of the Emperor of Braggadocia, who is devoted to art and is a bankrupt. He is so aesthetic that even his army is composed of Amazons. To replenish his coffers he plans a marriage between his daughter, Princess Yolande, and Prince Florian, the son of the Duke of Graftiana. The Duke, who also is bankrupt, hopes, through this union, to refill his purse. The Princess and Prince, who have never met, fly to escape marriage, and zoth Emperor and Duke, in desperation, compel Siegmund Lump, a goatherd, and Griselda, a goosegirl, to become substitutes, each thinking to deceive the other. Siegmund and Griselda are really husband and wife. Siegmund is a descendant of Samson and has been leader of a band of brigands. He has lost his hair and with it his strength and bravery and his band has deserted him. Both Emperor and Duke discover that each is bankrupt and war is declared. Siegmund becomes general of the army of Graftiana and Griselda the commander of the Amazons of Braggadocia.

Robert Edeson appeared in the role of Strongheart the other night in Harrisburg to the most unique audience of his career. A large delegation from the Indian Industrial School at Carlisle attended the performance following the career of the college-bred Indian with unusual interest. Major W. A. Mercer, of the Eleventh Cavalry, the superintendent of the school, was desirous of arranging a special matinee at Carlisle but it was found to be impractical. At the conclusion of the performance the real and imitation Indian had an enjoyable pow-wow on the stage.

"The Lion and the Mouse" will celebrate the 200th performance of its run at the Lyceum theatre, New York, next Thursday night. To judge by the demand for seats the play will continue throughout the summer.

Dorothy Donnelly has been engaged by Henry B. Harris for an important role in Charles Klein's new play which is being prepared for production at the Hudson theatre next season. Miss Donnelly made her first New York hit under Mr. Harris' management in "Soldiers of Fortune" after which she became noted for her impersonation of Bernard Shaw's Candida. During the past season Miss Donnelly has scored a striking success in "The Little Gray Lady."

"The Lion and the Mouse" will earn for its author, Charles Klein, and its producer, Henry B. Harris, fortunes that would enable them to rest from labor the rest of their days if they so desired, for next season four companies will be presenting it in America, a fifth in England, should it meet with British approval on its premiere in London at the Duke of York's theatre on May 22, a sixth in Australia, and a seventh in Germany. Yet "The Lion and the Mouse" was literally hawked about the managerial officers of every theatre in New York, Henry B. Harris being the only manager who could "see" the possibilities of the play.

LITERARY.

Major Moorehouse, the artist in question, has the finest collection of Indian photographs in the country. He was formerly United States Indian agent at the reservation at Pendleton's, Oregon, and for thirty years has had personal acquaintanceship with the representative members of the different tribes. This has given him their confidence, and where others are driven from the tepees because of the Indians' superstitious fear of the camera, Moorehouse is welcomed and permitted to photograph them in all the picturesque ancestral trappings which they value so highly.—R. H. R. in the June Metropolitan.

The farmer takes out of his crop something to return to the soil to refertilize it. The manager of a corporation, looking to the real interest of his stockholders, takes of the earnings enough to maintain the property. Not so with this promoter. A proper maintenance of the property would have meant smaller dividends, and smaller dividends would have meant lower stock market puotations. Need anyone ask the result? At the end of twenty years, a broken down street-car system, an indignant public; four or five thousand shareholders waking up to the consciousness that they had been trapped and the manipulator in possession of one of the great fortunes of the country. —Judge Grosscup in the American Magazine.

From a mill hand to a millionaire; from a worker on railroads to a railway magnate and lumber king—such is the history in outline of J. R. Booth, the possessor of about six thousand square miles of Canadian timber wealth, and the largest owner in his own right, of railways in British North America, writes William R. Stewart in Technical World Magazine for May. Seeing Mr. Booth driving around the city of Ottawa, Ontario, in an old-fashioned buggy, quietly dressed after the manner of a well-to-do farmer, one would scarcely imagine, from outside appearances, that he was a prince of industries. But attention once called to him the observer cannot fail to note the forceful, self-reliant and energetic countenance which looks from beneath the narrow-rimmed soft felt hat, covering a rich crop of hair, once of a sandy color but now of a silvery hue.

BREVITIES.

Apropos of the clamor for old age pensions at Washington, it has cropped out that there are 18,000 unpaid grocers' accounts against Government clerks in that city.

Among some odd coins in the collection of Fred Fifield, of Manchester, N. H., is a 3-cent piece used by George Washington in paying toll at a bridge just outside Valley Forge.

This queer notice appears in a Missouri paper and may be taken as a threat to tax dodgers: "All persons are hereby notified to pay their dog tax by April 1, otherwise they will be killed."

The town of Bowdoinham, Me., is the only one in New England which has five tide rivers within its boundaries. They are the Catchance, Abbagadasset, Kennebec, Androscoggin and Muddy Rivers.

Mrs. George Wright, of Jay, Me., has a ring made from a piece of soup bone by her brother, William Small, while he was a prisoner in Libby Prison at Richmond, Va., in 1864. The ring is polished and has two hearts cut upon the upper part. The work was done with a knife.

Carl Beers, a Bangor florist, has made a fortune during the last ten years in the rearing of angle worms. He imported a breed of dark purple worms from Belgium and some giant angle worms from India. In the course of a short time Beers was able to supply live worms by the millions to local fishermen, and also to Boston trade. By selling the bait at 75 cents a pound the florist made a very respectable fortune, and has returned to his old home in Sweden a wealthy man.

TALL STORY OF A SMALL TREE.

Writing from Ceylon, Mr. L. A. Bigger, of Hutchinson, now touring the world with his wife, says of the oldest tree in history:

"We have seen the oldest tree of which there is any history. Its age is 2,130 years. From 245 B. C. until the present time it has been in charge of a succession of guardian priests. Their palm-leaf manuscripts recite the story; besides, a Chinese writer of high reputation visited here in A. D. 410 and gives independent confirmation in the Chinese chronicles. You won't believe it. Neither did I till I saw the tree and felt of it. It is neither large nor prepossessing in appearance. In fact it springs up with five limbs from one root. When a branch dies it renews itself and thus the growth is cintinuous. Frescoed stone walls of ancient date protect it. This tree grew from a sprig taken from the bo-tree in India under which Buddha reclined when he attained Nirvana. — Kansas City Journal.

ONE NOVEL FEATURE OF COMING HORSE SHOW.

Fire Horses from Jersey's Cities and Towns to Form One Class.

In their efforts to secure new features for this year's horse show, the executive committee of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Association through Lewis G. Timpson, has hit upon one that is distinctly novel. It is to be a class for fire horses, that is, confined strictly to animals attached to departments in enarby cities and used regularly in hauling apparatus. There is not a fire company in the State but what has its pet equines, but so far as known they have never had any opportunity to exhibit them. The coming Plainfield show will open the way for just such classes and give the departments an opportunity to prove their claims of having the best horse every time then subject is mentioned.

Mr. Timpson has sent out notices to companies in Elizabeth, Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Trenton, Somerville and other places and has hopes of getting a large lot of entries. The Plainfield department has been asked to make the pick of its stock and as the local horses have a reputation for speed and looks the team selected will undoubtedly get a blue ribbon. The prize list is to be large and anyone will more than recompense officials for any expense incurred in getting animals to the track.

SMALLPOX IN JERSEY CITY.

Tenants of Tenement Object to Being Quarantined.

There was considerable excitement last night in the Italian colony in Jersey City when it was discovered that Charles Pigoraro, of No. 363 Second street, had small-pox. Pigoraro has a little tailoring shop on the first floor of a tenement occupied by a dozen or more families.

When the health authorities put the house under quarantine the occupants protested vigorously and several of them tried to get out of their windows. They were warned that if any of them left the house they would be arrested. The patient was sent to the pest-house at Snake Hill.

This is the first case of the dreaded disease in several months, and the authorities are using every precaution to prevent its spread.

PATERSONS TO PLAY HERE

Visitors Will Have a Strong Team and Try Hard to Win a Plainfield Scalp.

"PHIL" SMITH TO PITCH

Baseball Gossip Heard On a Jersey Central Ferry Boat—Buzz of the Fan Bee Crisp and Boiled Down.

After the parade tomorrow follow the crowd and take a trolley car to Crescent Oval. There is going to be a ball game and a snapping good contest at that. The opponents of the Plainfield team will be the Patersons, the team that won the northern New Jersey championship last season by defeating the Paterson Hudson River League team in a series of games.

In booking the Silk City aggregation for Plainfield, Manager Daab has secured one of the best travelling attractions in the metropolitan district. The Patersons exhibited their true mettle last Sunday in the contest with Hoboken when the locals won out in a hair-raising contest by the score of 5 to 4, with Deegan in the box. Dan Bastian, a former Plainfielder, is managing the team this season.

"Phil." Smith will be on the slab against the Patersonians and he will likely be opposed by Gerber, who is the star twirler of the Paterson Hudson River League team. The game will probably be witnessed by a large crowd, as many of the players on the Patersons are well known to local fans, including Hartman, who covers shortfield and his brother who plays in the outer garden.

The game will be started at 3:30. In order to not conflict with the game the carnival committee will start the parade at 2 o'clock, one hour earlier than at first intended. The batting order of the two teams will be:

It is surprising to note at times that some of the intelligent appearing people do not read their home newspapers. Coming over on the 6:15 boat last night there was a little baseball conversation going on between a Plainfielder and Westfielder—both of them looking to be very wise guys and smoking cigarettes—gold tipped, we presume. At any rate the arugment was carried on in enthusiastic tones by both.

The Plainfielder started off, "I understand you're going to have a baseball team in Westfield again this season."

"No, no," replied the Westfielder. "The club had a big financial loss last season. The players wanted too much pay and nobody would take hold of the matter this year. We had a good team, in fact there was no team in the State could beat them."

The Plainfielder who had evidently remembered something about the excitement last season gave a long whimper, "I thought Plainfield beat them to a standstill last season. In fact I'm sure of it."

"Well,' says the Westfielder, "I mean the Westfields were the strongest and fastest players in the semi-professional ranks."

"Why isn't Plainfield a semi-professional team?" quothed the Plainfielder.

"No, no. Plainfield and Hoboken are professional teams. They belong to the Eastern League. They play Jersey City, Montreal, the New York Americans and all of the bigger teams. They play in Hoboken Sundays and in Plainfield on Saturdays."

"Uh, Uh-m-m-m, I never knew that before," declared the Plainfielder, "but anyhow they are one of the strongest teams playing around these parts."

Orr, who catches here tomorrow for the Patersons, was the backstop artist for two seasons at Elizabethport on Sundays.

It is reported that Billy Keeler will be traded to Brooklyn by the New York Americans, in order to give him more time to attend to his real estate business.

The Murray Hills will tackle the Hobokens Saturday. Playing with the Murray Hills this season is Hughey Gauven, the former Hope chapel captain and first baseman. Gauven, when not behind the bat, covers the second bag.

Gerber, the star twirler of the Paterson Hudson River League nine, is slated as one of the pitchers for the Patersonian delegation tomorrow.

The team from the Silk City that appears tomorrow against the Plainfielders, trimmed the Hudson River League club of that town in a series of games last fall.

"Phil." Smith will go in the box. Smith has been cultivating a slow drop which he may use tomorrow.

Captain "Mike" Leonard declares that the team will be in perfect working shape by Decoration Day and fully prepared to go up against the combination of strong clubs that are booked after the holiday.

"Lou" Wiltse, of the pitching staff of the York, Pa., Club, is rapidly getting his arm into condition. He will remain at his home here for a week at least, giving his arm perfect rest. Early in the season "Lou" got cold in the arm and it came near putting out of the game for the season. He now feels that he will soon regain his old-time form and pitch winning ball.

Perrine Now a Republican.

Trenton, May 18.—Colonel Lewis Perrine, a well-known broker, of this city, who, as a Democrat, ran for Congress against Judge William M. Lanning in 1902, has quit the Democrats. This became known when the announcement was made of the new members of the Republican Club. Colonel Perrine comes of one of the oldest families in New Jersey, his father, a Democrat, having been quarter-master-general of the State for forty-four years. It was while acting as assistant quartermaster-general that Colonel Perrine got his military title. He was overwhelmingly defeated when he ran for Congress.

OPPOSED TO CONGRESSMAN.

Van Winkle May Not Have An Easy Time Getting Renomination.

Jersey City, May 18.—Representative Marshall Van Winkle will have strong opposition if he seeks a renomination this fall. The Congressman from the Ninth District of New Jersey is serving his first term, and it is said he considers himself entitled to a renomination. The basis of the opposition to him appears to be his attitude in the fight in the party.

Congressman Van Winkle has always been regarded as a Dickinson man, but the majority of his party in the district are supporters of Mayor Fagan, This left him in an embarrassing position when the colonel opened war on the Mayor last year. The Dickinsonites called on him to denounce Fagan, and he was made to stand for several newspaper interviews in which he attacked Corporation Counsel George L. Record and Assistant Corporation Attorney I. Gaerber Goldenhorn, but he did not say much about Mayor Fagan.

There is some talk that President James W. McCarthy, of the Board of Aldermen, might be a candidate for the nomination, for friends have urged him to enter the race against Van Winkle.

Council Meets Monday Night.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Common Council on Monday night, when Chairman Leslie Daniel, of the finance committee, will have several matters, left over from the last regular session, presented. These will include some petitions asking for an adjustment of tax assessments, which the petitioners claim to have been made in error and for other reasons which they contend are unwarranted.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, attended the annual meeting of the alumni association of Rutgers College at New Brunswick, yesterday.

CHAPTER XVII.

A HOT DAY IN NEW YORK, WITH NEWS OF AN INTERESTING MARRIAGE.

At five o'clock that day the prow of the Viluca cut the waters of Newport harbor around Goat Island, and pointed for New York.

"Now is your time," said Mrs. Drelmer to Mauburn. "I'm sure the girl likes you, and this row with the Milbreys has cut off any chance that cub had. Why not propose to her tonight?"

"I have seemed to be getting on," answered Mauburn. "But wait a bit. There's that confounded girl over there. No telling what she'll do. She might knock things on the head any moment."

"All the more reason for prompt action, and there couldn't very well be anything to hurt you."

"By Jove! that's so; there couldn't, very well, could there? I'll take your advice."

And so it befell that Mauburn and Miss Bines sat late on deck that night, and under the witchery of a moon that must long since have become hardened to the spectacle, the old, old story was told, to the accompaniment of the engine's muffled throb, and the soft purring of the silver waters as they slipped by the boat and blended with the creamy track astern. So little variation was there in the time-worn tale, and in the maid's reception of it, that neither need here be told of in detail.

Nor were the proceedings next morning less tamely orthodox. Mrs. Bines managed to forget her relationship of elder sister to the poor long enough to behave as a mother ought when the heart of her daughter had been given into a true lover's keeping. Percival deported himself cordially.

"I'm really glad to hear it," he said to Mauburn. "I'm sure you'll make sis as good a husband as she'll make you a wife; and that's very good, indeed. Let's fracture a cold quart to the future Lady Casselthorpe."

"And to the future Lord Casselthorpe!" added Mrs. Drelmer, who was warmly enthusiastic.

"Such a brilliant match," she murmured to Percival, when they had touched glasses in the after-cabin. "I know more than one New York girl who'd have jumped at the chance."

"We'll try to bear our honors modestly," he answered her.

"Stay here with the turtle doves," he said to Mrs. Drelmer, "far enough off, of course, to let them coo, and I'll be back with any people I can pick up for a cruise."

At five in the afternoon Percival had gathered his party. Percival, Arledge and his lively wife, Yelverton, who enjoyed the rare distinction of having lost money to Percival, and Burman. East they drove through the street where less fortunate mortals panted in the dead afternoon shade, and out on to the dock, whence the Viluca's naphtha launch presently put them aboard that sumptuous craft. A little breeze there made the heat less oppressive.

"We'll be under way as soon as they fetch that luggage out," Percival assured his guests.

"It's been frightfully oppressive all day, even out here," said Mrs. Drelmer, "but the engaged ones haven't lost their tempers once, even if the day was trying. And really they're the most unemotional and matter-of-fact couple I ever saw. Oh! do give me that stack of papers until I catch up with the news again."

Percival relinquished to her the evening papers he had bought before leaving the hotel, and Mrs. Drelmer in the awninged shade at the stern of the boat was soon running through them.

The others had gone below, where Percival was allotting staterooms, and urging every one to "order whatever cold stuff you like and get into as few things as the law allows. For my part, I'd like to wear nothing but a cold bath."

Mrs. Drelmer suddenly betrayed signs of excitement. She sat up straight in the wicker deck chair, glanced down a column of her newspaper, and then looked up.

THE OLD, OLD STORY.

Mauburn's head appeared out of the cabin's gloom. He was still speaking to some one below. Mrs. Drelmer rattled the paper and waved it at him. He came up the stairs.

"What's the row?"

"Read it!"

He took the paper and glanced at the headlines.

"I knew she'd do it. A chap always comes up with something of that sort, and I was beginning to feel so chippy!" He read:

"London, July 30.—Lord Casselthorpe to-day wed Miss 'Connie' Burke, the music hall singer who has been appearing at the Alhambra. The marriage was performed, by special license, at St. Michael's church, Chester square, London, the Rev. Canon Mecklin, sub-dean of the Chapel Royal, officiating. The honeymoon will be spent at the town house of the groom, in York terrace. Lord Casselthorpe has long been known as the blackest sheep of the British peerage, being called the 'Coster Peer' on account of his unconventional language, his coarse manner and slovenly attire. Two years ago he was warned off Newmarket Heath and the British turf by the Jockey Club. He is 88 years old. The bride, like some other lights of the music hall who have become the consorts of Britain's hereditary legislators, has enjoyed considerable antenuptial celebrity among the gilded youth of the metropolis, and is said to have been especially admired at one time by the next in line of this illustrious family, the Hon. Cecil G. H. Mauburn.

"The Hon. Cecil G. H. Mauburn, mentioned in the above cable dispatch, has been rather well known in New York society for two years past. His engagement to the daughter of a Montana mining magnate, not long deceased, has been persistently rumored."

Mauburn was pale under his freckles.

"Have they seen it yet?"

"I don't think so," she answered. "We might drop these papers over the rail here."

"That's rot, Mrs. Drelmer; it's sure to be talked of, and anyway I don't want to be sneaky, you know."

Percival came up from the cabin with a paper in his hand.

"I see you have it, too," he said, smiling. "Burman just handed me this."

"Isn't it perfectly disreputable!" exclaimed Mrs. Drelmer.

"Why? I only hope I'll have as much interest in life by the time I'm that age."

"But how will your sister take it?" asked Mauburn; "she may be afraid this will knock my title on the head, you know."

"Oh, I see," said Percival; "I hadn't thought of that."

"Only it can't," continued Mauburn. "Hang it all, that blasted old beggar will be 89, you know, in a fortnight. There simply can't be any issue of the marriage, and that—that blasted—"

"Better not try to describe her—while I'm by, you know," said Mrs. Drelmer, sympathetically.

"Well—his wife—you know, will simply worry him into the grave a bit sooner, I fancy—that's all can possibly come of it."

"Well, old man," said Percival, "I don't pretend to know the workings of my sister's mind, but you ought to be able to win a girl on your own merits, title or no title."

"Awfully good of you, old chap. I'm sure she does care for me."

"But of course it will be only fair to sis to lay the matter before her just as it is."

"To be sure!" Mauburn assented.

"And now, thank the Lord, we're under way. Doesn't that breeze save your life, though? We'll eat here on deck."

The Viluca swung into mid-stream, and was soon racing to the north with a crowded Fall river boat.

"But anyway," concluded Percival, after he had explained Mauburn's position to his sister, "he's a good fellow, and if you suit each other even the unexpected wouldn't make any difference."

"Of course not," she assented, "'the rank is but the guinea's stamp,' I know—but I wasn't meaning to be married for quite a time yet, anyway—it's such fun just being engaged."

"A mint julep?" Mauburn was inquiring of one who had proposed it. "Does it have whisky in it?"

"It does," replied Percival, overhearing the question; "whisky may be said to pervade, even to infest it. Try five or six, old man; that many make a great one-night trouble cure. And I can't have anyone with troubles on this Cunarder—not for the next 30 days. I need cheerfulness and rest for a long time after this day in town. Ah! Gen. Hemingway says that dinner is served; let's be at it before the things get all hot!"

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

The impulse to imitate is well nigh irresistible. It certainly is universal. If one in a company begins to yawn or gape how quickly the others do the same thing. It may be, and most frequently is, done unconsciously. Soon some quick witted one notices the spreading, imitative yawn and, struck with the humor of the situation, laughs. Quickly the ready laugh runs round. Ah, we are surely imitative creatures.

How some new game or sport or fashion in dress, speech or manners arises and soon is taken up and becomes the fad of the day! What we see others do we try to do, consciously or unconsciously. Why this is so is not difficult to discover, but we are not following that clew now.

What we wish to emphasize in this week's study is how to utilize to the best advantage this peculiarity of our human makeup.

First of all we must have regard to self. What habits am I acquiring? is the inquiry I must answer to myself. Whom am I copying? Is the model a worthy one for me to follow? Can I find a better one? What is the best thing for me to adopt as my example for life? This kind of self searching is as natural as physical growth to young life. When we pass from boyhood and girlhood into young manhood and womanhood this kind of questioning is indicative of the change from the child to the adult stage of life. New thoughts, desires, occupations, ideals and resolves mark the transition.

We must choose what model we will adopt and the lines on which we will shape our future. Happy is that one who in this transition time comes in contact with a noble life, the outshining of a good soul. Faith is deepened in God and man and self until resolution to become similar to such a one passes into action, experience and firm knit character.

What unspeakable wreck and misery have swept over other lives by the incidental meeting with some one of frivolous or vicious actions, who by genius or some gift of attractive personality has turned the taste toward the morally unclean or irreligious and lured the unwary one to shame!

No care is too great to be bestowed on the examples we set before us. For this very reason we need to give constant heed to the wise words of the book of Proverbs regarding evil companionship and shunning all association with the impure. No good can come to us from any knowledge of vice.

Every city has sewers as well as streets. He who explores the moral sinks and sewers of any place will reek of moral filth and pollution and may contract spiritual disease and death on the trip.

There is another side to this subject. Every one exhales in act and word what he is in soul. Cover and dissemble as carefully as you please, play the false part as skillfully as you may, soul sees behind the mask and recognizes the complexion of the soul which seeks concealment. Lilies breathe the perfume of lilies alone. No fraud can forever deceive. Counterfeits are sure of detection at last, though for a time they may pass as current coin unchallenged.

Your example preaches all the day and all days what you really are—that is, very close to what your influence is. What then? Be what you desire others to esteem you to be. It takes no more time and effort to make genuine coin than counterfeit and pays far better wages. Not only be what you seem, but be what you desire and should seem to be. Produce good fruit.

Holiness, Not Happiness.

The gospel of Jesus never says, Be happy. The gospel does not deal in little ironies. But the gospel of Jesus says: Be holy; aim at the highest, and happiness will come. Forget it; trust in God; do the next duty; go round by Calvary if the road lies there. And, like sweet music falling among the hills or like a fragrance wafted we know not whence, like the springing of water where we never looked for it, like the shaft of light breaking the cloud above us, like an angel unbidden, happiness will come. Like its Lord, we shall find it when we sought it not. "Seek happiness first," says Jesus, "and be baffled. But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you."—Rev. G. H. Morrison.

To Gain Men's Praise.

If you wish for the praise of man, cease to pursue it. Live that life which sooner or later leads to honor in this world and to eternity in the next. Be just, be modest, be charitable. Love dearly your fellow creatures and number your days by the miseries you have lessened and the blessings you have diffused.—Sydney Smith.

A Prayer.

I thank Thee, dear Lord, for Thy word. It is my guide and my stay and my delight. Help me to use it constantly as a message from Thee. May it speak to my soul and make me strong to live. And let me never doubt its power to lead and instruct and bless. Amen.—Floyd W. Tomkins, S. T. D.

A Tribute to Christ.

If Jesus Christ is a man,
And only a man, I say
That of all mankind I will cleave to Him,
And to Him I will cleave alway.

If Jesus Christ is a God,
And the only God, I swear
I will follow Him through heaven and hell,
The earth and the sea and the air.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 20.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Lessons from the lives of Elijah and John the Baptist.—Luke i, 14-17; 1 Kings xviii, 30-39. (A temperance topic.)

The doctrine of the reincarnation of the human soul either in another human body or any other form of earthly life is not taught in the Scriptures and is rejected by Christianity, but that men in different generations may possess the same characteristics and have essentially the same mission to perform is readily recognized. Elijah, the prophet of the Old Testament, and John the Baptist, the forerunner of Christ in the New Testament, stand out as the most conspicuous illustration of this fact to be found in the Scriptures. In the prophecy of Micah (chapter iv, 5) we have the statement, "Behold, I will send you Elijah, the prophet, before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord." From that day on the Jews expected Elijah to return in person before Christ should appear. And Elijah did appear—not in actual person, but in the person of John the Baptist, in the sense that he "in spirit and power" resembled the Old Testament prophet. This resemblance is very striking. Even in personal appearance, in manner of living and of dress, John, the forerunner of Christ, resembled the great prophet of Old Testament times as well as in the more important facts of their lives, which form the subject of our study.

1. Elijah and John resembled each other in their characters. They were striking in appearance and austere in their lives. The allurements of the world had no attractions for them. They lived largely apart from the world and disdained its follies and sins. There is no question as to the abstinence of Elijah from participation in the mad whirl of sin and frivolity and especially from the curse of strong drink. The same was true of John the Baptist. He spent his life apart from the world and by his vow of separation unto God was pledged to abstain from wine and strong drink of any kind. And all who are indeed consecrated unto God must come out boldly and be separated from the sins and follies of the world. "Love not the world nor the things of the world" is enjoined upon every child of God. "God's heroes must be free from even the semblance of temptation. They must stamp their lives high from the beginning by the solemn vow of self denial and abstinence." Are you such an out and out Christian or one who is trying to follow Christ while still clinging to the world? If so, remember Christ's own words, "No man can serve two masters," and pray for grace to come out from the world and for power to "avoid the very appearance of evil."

2. Elijah and John resembled each other in their missions. Elijah's greatest mission was to call an idolatrous people from the sin of idolatry back to the worship of the true and living God. John's mission was similar in character. He was to prepare the people of God for the coming of the Saviour by calling them to repentance of sin and to abstinence from sin. Like Elijah, his great predecessor, he was a voice in the wilderness calling unto the people to repent and to be baptized, that the day of the Lord might come. And this, too, should be the mission of every child of God. Set apart ourselves, we should call upon others to dedicate themselves to God.

The world today as seldom ever before needs in the lives of God's people the manifestation of "the spirit and the power" of Elijah and John the Baptist. It demands and has a right to demand a sterling Christianity, one that rings true at any cost, and when it does not find it in professing Christians it exercises the right which it also possesses to severely and mercilessly criticise those who profess to be what they are not. The world recognizes and honors the man who lives up to his belief, though it does not accept it, but it despises and condemns the man who professes to be a Christian, but fails to show it in his life. The way for Christians to overcome much of the criticism of the world is to be Christians. Replace inconsistency with absolute and sincere consistency and the world will be disarmed of its greatest weapon of criticism and, best of all, many in the world will be won to the love and service of Christ.

Providentially Preserved.

From a most helpful article on "The Triumphant March of Endeavor," written by Rev. Charles M. Fillmore, the author of the famous Torrey-Alexander revival campaign song, "Tell Mother I'll Be There," we take the following suggestive sentence: "It was a child of God providentially preserved even as was the infant Moses, called to service as was the youth Samuel, and now as a vigorous young man it is led forth of God to battle like David against Goliath and the Philistines of our day."

Unknown Before.

A quarter century of Christian Endeavor is something to arouse the thought of all thinking men who have interest in the extension of the work of the Christian churches of the country, for from that movement have arisen an education and a deepening of religious interest among the young such as were unknown before.—Editorial in Christian Work and Evangelist.

NORTON MYSTERY DEEPER

Not Even a Hint of Direction the Boy Took Discovered.

YOUTH'S FATHER DIES

His End on Far-away Idaho Ranch Hastened, It Is Said, By Grief Over the Boy's Disappearance.

In some ways more of a mystery than the disappearance of Miss Kuenlen, the case of Daniel Norton, the atypical youth who dropped from the sight and knowledge of his instructors and relatives while on an errand between Somerset street and the Groszman School six weeks ago, is still a complete puzzle. Miss Kuenlen was seen two or three times on her wonderings, the last time as late as two days after she disappeared from here, but not since he left Rosenstiehl's barber shop on the day of his disappearance has any word of him been received; not even the slightest hint of the direction he took has been gathered. A new feature of sadness has been added to the case in the death of the boy's father, A. D. Norton, an Idaho ranchman. Dr. Groszmann, head of the school for atypical children, announced the death in the following letter:

"Editor Daily Press.

"Dear Sir:—The sad news has come to me that Mr. A. D. Norton, the father of Daniel Norton, our missing pupil, who has been in poor health for several years, the result of a stroke of parlysis, died on May 7th. His death was hastened by his grief over the disappearance of his only boy, although he gave no word of complaint. He was one of those rare men of decided practical views, fearless of censure, always contending for the right, faithful unto death to his friends, and anxious to give his children an education that would be of service to them in their daily life. He leaves a widow and two daughters.

"The mother, on a lonesome Idaho ranch, now deprived of her husband's help and advice, and grieving for her lost boy, is surely to be pitied.

"As none of his relatives have received any word from Daniel Norton, it is plain that it has not been his intention to go to them. The family agree with me that the most likely theory concerning his whereabouts is that he is within a radius of fifty miles of this very place. Why it should have been impossible as yet to locate him, if the authorities had given us their prompt and proper assistance, is a mystery to me. Under the circumstances, I appeal to anyone and everyone who should have an opportunity of being of service, to help me in locating the boy, so that we may relieve the anxiety of a mother whose affliction at this moment is great.

"Yours very respectfully,
"Maximilian P. E. Groszmann."

COPS GETTING READY FOR ANNUAL INSPECTION.

Begin Drills at Company K Armory —Mayor Will Speak To Men.

The police force has begun to drill in preparation for the annual inspection by the mayor and the councilmanic committee. The men were out yesterday afternoon in Company K armory, for the second time.

The date for the review has not been definitely fixed, but it will probably be May 30. Sgt. Frederickson is the drill officer, as in past years, and he is setting a fast pace. The force is larger than it has ever been before, and there are a number of youngsters to whom the drilling is new. They do not take to it kindly, but are bending to the work vigorously enough and are getting what satisfaction there may be in trying to make the vets looked ragged on parade.

There was no inspection last year. At the coming one, Mayor Buckle will make an address, and Chairman Frank Randolph, of the police committee, will say the usual nice things. Other city officials will witness the inspection from the side lines.

New Bank Building Progressing.

The iron window frames have all been installed in the Plainfield Trust Company building on Park avenue, and the interior furnishings are rapidly being put in position. During the past week steady and substantial progress has been made with the new structure and the company has hopes of getting possession early in July.

Will Attend Y. M. C. A. Convention.

Boys' Secretary Kenneth Robbie, of the Y. M. C. A., will attend the twenty-third convention of the Employed Officers' Association at Indianapolis June 1 to 5. He will represent the local association staff.

DESIGNED CARNIVAL PROGRAMME COVER

DRAWING BY W. MONTGOMERY SMITH HANDSOME AND CATCHY.

One of the most attractive minor features of the Hospital Carnival will be the souvenir programme, a handsomely decorated affair, with a cover in two colors. It will make a souvenir of the affair well worth preserving as a memento of Plainfield's biggest outdoor festival to date.

The most striking feature of the programme is an artistic cover design in red. It is the work of W. Montgomery Smith, of this city, a recognized leader among designers of covers and of artistic advertisements.

For many years Mr. Smith has had the reputation of being one of the best designers in the country, and has had the continued patronage of such well known advertisers as the Royal Baking Powder Company, the American Cereal Company and the Singer Manufacturing Company. Plainfielders have seen his designs all over the country in advertisements of the products of those companies, and of the Abbey Effervescent Salt, Alcock porous plasters, Sozodont tooth powder, Ingersoll watches and other well-known commodities. His lettering is valued for legibility, grace, attractiveness and space-saving qualities.

This is not the first opportunity Plainfielders have had to admire and appreciate Mr. Smith's work. His diploma design for the High School and numerous sets of resolutions for the Pharmacentical Association, for Charles W. McCutchen, those on the death of Mr. Babcock, and others gotten up for the Lawrence Cement Co. on the death of James Clark, of Seventh street, were all spoken of at the time as "works of art."

A "Coat-of-Arms" Mr. Smith designed in colors for the Clark family was a thing of great beauty. It was said to be far ahead of the original, gotten up abroad.

C. WESTLY ABBOTT MARRIED AT PATERSON

MISS HOXFEY THE BRIDE OF PLAINFIELDER AT SOCIETY WEDDING.

Miss Elsa Hoxfey, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Hoxfey, of Paterson, and C. Westley Abbott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Abbott, of Central avenue, were married this afternoon in St. Paul's church, Paterson, in the presence of nearly 1,000 friends. The ceremony, a brilliant one, was performed by Rev. Dr. Hamilton, rector of the church. There were many Plainfielders present.

The bride was attended by four bridesmaids, her two sisters, the Misses Margaret and Dorothy Hoxfey; Miss Helen Wilcox and Miss Constance Griggs, all of Paterson. Gordon Abbott, brother of the groom, was the best man, and the ushers were Robert Abbott, another brother of the groom, and H. Reeve Stockton, of this city; J. H. Thompson and Mr. Chamberlain, of New York; William J. Torrey, of Scranton, Pa., and Kenneth Dodge, of Paterson. Mr. Thompson, Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Torrey were classmates of the groom at Yale, Mr. Abbott being graduated in the class of '99 and from the law school in the class of '01. He is now engaged in the practice of law in New York.

Following the ceremony a small reception was held at the home of the bride's mother and later Mr. and Mrs. Abbott left for their honeymoon trip. For the summer the couple will occupy a country place near Paterson and in the fall they will probably make their home in New York.

Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY TO HAND IN RESIGNATION.

Failing Health Compels Mr. Manning to Retire From Association Work.

The resignation of General Secretary Manning, who has been connected with the association for twenty years, will be handed in at the June meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Manning has informed President Gavett and the other members of the board his intention to retire. The resignation is prompted by failing health. All the time that Mr. Manning has been with the association he has worked at the association daily until ten o'clock at night, and his strength has given way under the steady labor. His work has been of the reatest value to the organization, and the directors express keen regret over the necessity that compels him to retire.

Mr. Manning will go into business. He has an opening in view that promises a prosperous future.

DIED BY HER OWN HAND

Poison, Not Heart Trouble, Caused the Death of Miss Clara Weber.

FOUND BY HER FAMILY

Sad Case of Young Woman Highly Esteemed By Friends—But Twenty-three Years Old.

Instead of having succumbed to a sudden attack of heart failure, as was given out by all those of a necessity called into the case, Miss Clara Weber, of East Third street, died Sunday morning by her own hand. The girl took a dose of strychnine, big enough to kill a dozen men, and she had been dead several hours when discovered by members of the family between 7 and 8 o'clock.

Dreading the publicity that would naturally follow, relatives pledged physicians and others concerned, to keep the fact a secret and had the funeral conducted privately to follow out the plan. From the first there were circumstances about the death that aroused the suspicions of a Daily Press reporter but is was only today that the details were learned.

Miss Weber, who was but twenty-three years old and had hardly been ill a day in her life, retired late Saturday night after spending the evening in her father's meat market. There was nothing about her manner to indicate that she felt sick or was brooding about anything but in the morning the door to her room was found locked from the inside, a most unusual occurrence. An entrance was hastily forced and the body was found. It needed but a glance to show that strychnine had been used, this poison acting in a manner that admits of no mistake as to its presence. The physician who was called said she had taken the fatal dose shortly after midnight.

The report of heart failure was given out and accepted at the time but appearances indicated differently. When a Daily Press representative asked the physician point blank if it was a case of a suicide he refused to answer. A similar question put to the county physician elicited about the same amount of information and a request to see the death certificate at the Board of Health office met with the surprising reply that the document was not considered public property. In every other city in the State but Plainfield they are.

In this way the true state of affairs was hushed up but the inevitable leak followed. The facts came out one by one until the entire story was secured, with the exception of the girl's reason for committing the act. The family offers no explanation and friends have no theory because they didn't know there was any suicide.

ATE MORE STRAWBERRIES.

Second Night of Trinity Festival a Big Success.

The pronounced feature of the strawberry and ice cream festival, continued at Trinity Reformed church, last night, was the excellent programme of music rendered by an orchestra comprising G. W. V. Moy, leader; Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, Whitney Frazee, Charles Spier, Garret T. Dunham, Vincent Sokol and Ernest Higham. The orchestral music was greatly enjoyed.

The attendance was even larger than on Thursday night and by 9 o'clock the ice cream, cake, strawberries, candy and lemonade were entirely disposed of. As it was an ideal night for cooling refreshments the women in charge met with no difficulty in selling out everything. The drills as given the first night were repeated, the Juniors doing particularly well. The Ladies' Christion Work Society and the Young Women's Mission Band, under whose auspices the festival was given, will net a gratifying sum for their work.

Outdoor Sport Caused His Harm.

Joseph Gavett, Jr., of Third place, met with an accident on Tuesday which necessitates the use of crutches. While frollicking at the home of a friend in West Seventh street he attempted to jump a hedge fence and fell, breaking a bone in the ankle of the left leg and tearing the ligaments. He was removed to his home and a physician was hurriedly summoned. The injured ankle was placed in a plaster cast and it will be four weeks before it can be removed. The injury will prevent the young man from taking part in the P. H. S. play, "The Nephew As Uncle," and accordingly Samuel B. Howe has arranged to take his place.

—The monthly meeting of the Mothers' Association was held last night at the High School. W. D. Murray was the speaker.

ORGANIZE A BIG CEMENT BUILDING BLOCK COMPANY

PLAINFIELD INVESTORS WILL ESTABLSIH A PLANT IN TRENTON.

The Ewing Cement Block Company, organized last week by Plainfielders for the manufacture of cement building block, has filed papers for incorporation at Trenton. The capitalization is put at $125,000, in shares of $50. The incorporators are Clarence L. Murphy, W. H. Smith, A. D. Honeyman, Jr., W. E. Moffett and Edward E. Nelson.

The company has purchased a tract of twenty-two acres in Trenton, on which the plant will be located. Part of the tract will be cut up into building lots and developed.

Officers will be elected next week, at a meeting to be held as soon as the papers of incorporation are received. W. H. Smith will be president and managing director.

MAYFLOWER DESCENDANTS GATHER AT THE CASINO

ANNUAL MEETING, IN WHICH PLAINFIELDERS TAKE PROMINENT PART.

The New Jersey Society of the Descendants of the Mayflower held its annual meeting at the Casino, last night. Twenty-six of the forty members, representing all sections of the State, were present. Among them were the following Plainfielders:

Col. Mason W. Tyler, L. N. Lovell, Boardman Wright, W. G. Wright, E. H. Ladd, Jr., W. S. Tyler, Mrs. Kirtland Myers, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Stillman, Dr. Leonard Waldo, Mrs. Tyler, and Mrs. W. G. Wright.

Col. Tyler was re-elected governor, and Mr. Lovell was re-elected deputy governor. Boardman Wright and W. G. Wright were re-elected secretary and historian, respectively. E. H. Ladd, Jr., and W. S. Tyler are among the seven assistants.

A banquet followed the meeting. Prof. Henry M. Tyler, of Smith College, a brother of the governor, delivered an address on "The Virtues of the Pilgrims." Their strength lay, he said, in the exaltation of the common virtues, Industry, Honesty and Patience. Dr. Waldo played 'cello selections and Mrs. Cobb, of Orange, rendered piano solos.

Great Demand for Private Boxes and Parking Spaces.

The Watchung Hunt Club has been fortunate enough to secure Harry S. Page, of New York, to represent the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association, at the steeplechase show to be held at the Gentlemen's Driving Park, Memorial Day afternoon, June 2. He has a world-wide reputation as a horseman and his presence here is sure to be a noteworthy one.

There has been a great demand for private boxes and parking spaces. There are now three boxes left and the reserved seats are selling fast. They can be had by applying to either member of the collowing committee: W. D. Andrews, C. E. S. Bellows, H. Duncan Bulkley, C. W. Fisk and Dr. Knott.

There are surviving three brothers, Louis, who lives in Brooklyn, and Herbert and Charles, residents of Plainfield. The funeral service will be held in the family plot at Greenwood cemetery tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Carrying Humane Work On.

General support is being accorded the police in their crusade against cruelty to horses. Several letters calling attention to cases requiring attention have been received, and the writers promise to keep up their volunteer work. All cases brought before the police will be promptly investigated.

ALL IS IN READINESS

Mayor Fisk Predicts Undertaking Will Be a Huge Success —Route of Parade.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Hospital Carnival. It will be the biggest thing of its kind this section has ever seen.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the carnival parade, with which the big affair practically begins, will be held. The paraders will be reviewed at the carnival grounds, West Fourth street, and immediately after the line is dispersed all the outdoor attractions on the grounds will start up. The women's pavilion will not be opened until 7 o'clock in the evening, but with nightfall the carnival will be in full blast.

Former Mayor C. J. Fisk, general chairman of the whole affair, is immensely gratified over the outlook and he freely predicts that "New Jersey's Greatest Show" will be fully in keeping with its claim. He has worked night and day for a fortnight and says he will not rest until the gates are closed on Saturday night, June 2.

The parade promises to be a sight worth traveling miles to witness. Besides marchers from the Junior Order and the whole force of Company K, vehicles of every description will be in line. Both private and business rigs will be decorated, and the tradesmen will have a number of floats. What the private decorations will be is only conjectural, but there is no doubt that some striking and highly novel effects will be shown.

Automobiles will be out in large numbers. As many, if not more, autos than took part in the automobile parade in 1904 are expected to turn out. Some bigger and fancier cars have been brought to the city since then, and a number of new and handsome models have come into existence, and the automobile section is likely to be a striking parade in itself.

Seventh street to Franklin place; countermarch to Crescent avenue, to Park avenue, to Front street, to Watchung avenue, to Jackson avenue, to Park place, to Grove street, to Mercer avenue, to Washington avenue, to Prospect place, to Grove street, to Front street, to Park avenue, to West Seventh street, to Darrow avenue, to Darrow avenue to carnival grounds and dismiss.

Ferdinand Rockefellow Injured.

While loading iron pipe at the freight house, this morning, Ferdinand Rockafellow, of Cedar street, the borough, an employe of William Hand & Sons, the truckers, was struck on the left side of the forehead with one of the pipes. The head was severely, though not seriously, injured. He was removed to the home of his mother in West Second street, and Dr. H. H. Lowrie summoned. The young man will be detained at home for several days.

Building Another House.

Mrs. J. F. Loeser has started the erection of another house on her property on East Seventh street near Belvidere avenue. This is the fourth house she has put up within two years. The plans were drawn by F. L. Lancaster.

POVERTY-STRICKEN OLD MAN FOUND DEAD IN BED

Report That Whitten Had Been Murdered Due to Bruises Received From Natural Causes.

FARMERS ARE AROUSED

George Wood's Father-in-Law Seized With Apoplexy—No Help For Him—Died Alone.

George E. Whitten, who came into prominence locally a year ago as the father-in-law of George Wood, sent to prison for thirty years for the murder of George Williams, was found dead early yesterday morning in the upper part of his home on the road from Warrenville to Mount Horeb. He had evidently been stricken with apoplexy and died after an ineffectual attempt to secure assistance, no one but a roving farm hand living with him. In his struggles his head was cut and bruised by striking the bed post and these marks led to rumors that he had been murdered. They were quickly dispelled when County Physician Long arrived and stated that death had resulted from purely natural causes.

Whitten was sixty-nine years old and had resided in Warren township for half that time. In his younger days was a school teacher and at various times he had taught at Warrenville, Liberty Corner and Round Top. He was also versed in stage work and frequently took small parts in productions at the New York theatres.

With the death of his second wife, his children left him one by one, and in recent years he has been left pretty much to himself. He quarrelled with many of his relatives and when the Wood trial was on, an attempt was made to show at one time that he and the accused man had been on very bad terms. The testimony he gave did not please Wood's relatives and several who had been helping him withdrew their aid. It left him almost penniless but he was proud-spirited and struggled to eke out an existence by planting a bit of ground he owned and working for the township.

Two weeks ago he returned from New York after an unsuccessful attempt to secure a position with a dramatic company. He was sick then but no one knew of it until Sunday, when he sent a note by "Red Fritz," his helper, to Freeholder Joel Codington asking assistance. Codington requested Martin E. Blazier to go and see him and the latter did so, reaching the house Tuesday morning. He found the old man sadly in need of food and a doctor's attention and after doing all he possibly could for him, sent word to Overseer Bowers to take up the matter. The township machinery moved with calm precision, however, and it was Wednesday afternoon before Dr. Wild, of Bound Brook, went over. He didn't do much of anything but sent some medicine by mail that was still in the letter box yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Wild was the last one to see him and yesterday morning Blazier went to the house for a neighborly call. Receiving no response to his knock he summoned Freeholder Codington and the two made their way to Whitten's bedroom. They found the body half on the floor, death having felled him as he was trying the reach a hall door.

The neighbors are outspoken in their denunciation of the township officials for not giving the old man proper attention after he had asked for it, as it was the first time he had ever done so and he would not make his condition known to anyone else. Those living nearby did not know of his sickness until told so after the body had been found.

Beside George Wood's wife, who is in New York, Whitten leaves two other daughters, Mrs. Mabel Bishop and Mrs. William Pollack, also of New York, and one son, George Whitten, Jr., of California.

Death of W. R. Tabb.

D. C. Tabb and his brother, Albert E. D. Tabb, of Forest Hill, have just returned from Montreal, Canada, where they attended the funeral of their father, W. R. Tabb, who died at that place on Saturday last after a few days' illness. He was in the eighty-fifth year of his age and death was due to a general breakdown in health. The funeral was held on Tuesday. Mr. Tabb visited his son at New Market last summer and was then in excellent health.

POSTMASTER WANTS LARGER QUARTERS

MR. BIRD IS ALSO AFTER MORE LETTER CARRIERS.

The present quarters being in many respects wholly inadequate to handle the constantly increasing business at the postoffice, Postmaster Elias H. Bird looks to the Government postal department to act favorably on his request for additional room. Among the things he desires most at present is the extra room which could be secured by leasing the corner store in the Babcock building, formerly occupied by Shirley & Johnston.

A few weeks ago Mr. Bird made a special trip to Washington for the purpose of ascertaining what could be done toward getting larger quarters. The proposition as submitted by him was favorably received and he was promised that assistant superintendent of allowances and salaries, Z. N. Norris, of Newark, would visit Plainfield soon and investigate the matter and report to Washington.

Mr. Norris was in Plainfield yesterday and made a thorough investigation. Mr. Bird's plan is to secure the corner store and remove the partition separating it from the office. That would allow more room in the front for patrons of the office, and Mr. Bird would be able to get the extra space for the various departments and force of clerks and carriers in back. In case the improvements are recommended and allowed, Mr. Bird says that he will have as fine an office in the State outside of those occupying Government buildings. A report on the matter is expected within a short time.

Another improvement Mr. Bird hopes for is one in the carrier delivery service. He says that while the service is fair it is not as good as the city is entitled to and he has brought the matter to the attention of the postal authorities. On his return from Washington Mr. Bird stopped off at Philadelphia to see Postal Inspector Meharey. He seemed particularly anxious to take the matter up right away and told Mr. Bird that one of his assistants would be in Plainfield soon to go over the territory.

DEPUTY GRAND MASTER VISITS A. O. U. W. LODGE.

Trenton Man the Guest of Columbia Lodge as Officer of Order.

Past Grand Master Workman E. C. Stahl, of Trenton, who is the deputy for this district, paid an official visit to Columbia Lodge, No. 58, Ancient Order United Workmen, last night, and made a speech. His remarks were in support of the new plan, whereby a nominal additional amount is levied on the members in the State to create an emergency fund for their protection. In his opinion Mr. Stahl said that the members are placed in a position where they are absolutely safe and that New Jersey Workmen are saved a lot of trouble experienced by jurisdictions in other States.

Other remarks were made during the evening by Salmon C. Baker, Edward Mosher, J. R. Spicer, J. W. A. Bauersachs and V. W. Nash, Sr. In the absence of Master Workman Clarence Leland, the chair was occupied by Peter Doeringer. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

WAITING FOR WATER.

When Service Is Established Mr. Sharp Will Build.

W. T. Sharp, of Scotch Plains, who recently purchased ten lots there, is planning the erection of a dwelling in Highland Park, Netherwood. The house will be a handsome two-story-and-attic structure, 33x34 feet. It will cost about $5,500.

Architect Fred L. Lancaster has prepared the plans, and everything is in readiness for building operations as soon as water service is introduced in the Park. There is a little hitch in the water arrangements, but the matter will be smoothed out very shortly. Mains will be laid and connections made under rush orders.

Will Observe Ascension Day.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will observe Ascension Day, Thursday, May 24, in the customary manner by attending divine service. The absence of Rev. A. C. McCrea from Plainfield, due to the recent death of his son, has delayed the matter of selecting a place to attend service. The question will be decided within a few days.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The P. S. C. repair force has straightened the tracks through the borough during the past few days. The roadbed has been put in first-class condition for the heavy summer traffic. It is expected that more cars will be run over the road than in any previous year, and most of them will be of the heaviest type ever used in this section.

A movement has been started to have the local barber shops close on Sundays. It is argued by those in favor of the stricter observance of the Sabbath that all those who need the services of a barber can secure them Saturday afternoon or night, and take away the necessity for Sunday opening.

Several New Market chicken raisers have been keeping watch for the fowl-killing cat that has been committing depredations in henneries for several weeks, but without success. The animal has eluded all the vigilantes, but manages to take toll of the chickens with more or less regularity.

Mrs. Eugene Smalley is suffering from a severe cut on the ball of her thumb, the result of a peculiar accident several days ago. While throwing a broken bottle away, one of the jagged pieces caught in her thumb, and ripped the flesh open. The injury is causing her considerable trouble.

In commemoration of the opening of the Hague Peace Conference, exercises were held at the Whittier School yesterday afternoon. Verses on the topic "Peace on Earth" were recited, and a letter from State Superintendent Baxter was read.

In view of the new high school course expense, it is interesting to boroughites to note that State Superintendent Baxter says the new tax law will bring in enough additional revenue to wipe out the school tax next year.

John W. Dutcher and Raymond W. Dutcher have returned home from a visit to New Springfield, S. I., from where Rev. Mr. Dutcher came to take the Methodist charge here last month.

Mrs. George Conover will entertain Friendship Circle next Wednesday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The married men in town have challenged the local ball team for the afternoon of Decoration Day. The local have not accepted the defi yet, and the benedicts are beginning to say they are afraid to. The married men could put up a strong line-up, as nearly all of them have only shaken the game within the past two or three years, for the more responsible cares of life. Such a game would make an interesting contest and the locals should lose no time in agreeing, so as to enable the benedicts to get out and practice.

The hospital carnival opens tonight on the Fourth street circus grounds, Plainfield, and will continue for two weeks. The residents here should all be interested in the success of the affair, as the hospital needs the money. Go every night if possible, if not attend as often as you can, but above all go once, as every little bit helps in making the grand total when the proceeds are counted.

"Willie" Deegan, believing that there should be no counter attraction while the two weeks' carnival is in progress, has decided to discontinue his weekly Saturday night dance until June 9.

Services tomorrow at the Baptist church will be as usual: Sunday-school, 9:30 a. m.; morning preaching, 10:45; B. Y. P. U., 7:15 p. m.; evening sermon, 8 o'clock.

Chickens.

A variety of feed is best. No single grain equals a mixture. Rye is a poor feed, barley as good, and wheat and oats the best. A mixture of the last three mentioned with a smaller proportion of corn, is very satisfactory. Only sound grain should be fed. The average screenings in the market are an uncertain quantity. Feed all grain in deep litter, rye or wheat straw being the best, so that the hens will be compelled to scratch and get exercise. Give plenty of grit, crushed oyster shells, and pure water. We usually feed mash once a day, and prefer not to feed it in the morning, but let them warm up by scratching in the coldest part of the day. The mash may vary largely according to locality, but we prefer about one part wheat bran, two parts ground corn and oats, one part cut clover meal or alfalfa meal, and one part meat meal, with the addition of a little linseed meal, middlings, charcoal, and salt.—Farming.

To the Trustees of St. Stephen's Church, Park Ave. Baptist Church:

Gentlemen:

It's sound sense that we tell you.

It will cost less dollars to paint your church with L. & M. Paint, because more painting is done with one gallon of L. & M. than with two gallons of other paints, and the L. & M. Zinc hardens the L. & M. White Lead and makes the L. & M. Paint wear like iron.

Any church will be given a liberal quantity free whenever they paint.

Four gallons L. & M. mixed with three gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.

Actual cost L. & M. about $1.20 per gallon.

U. S. ONCE MORE INVITES MILITIA

WANTS JERSEY GUARDSMAN TO ATTEND MONUMENT UNVEILING.

Trenton, May 19.—Following the invitation from the United States War Department asking New Jersey to send a division of troops to Washington at the unveiling of the McClellan memorial in the National Capital next October, has come another special request from the national military authorities that this State send a division of its National Guard to Plattsburg, N. Y., this summer, to participate in the regular army maneuvers.

The army tactics will take place at Plattsburg between August 1 and September 30, and the invitation to Governor Stokes, as commander-in-chief, asks that the New Jersey troops be sent for a period of from ten days to two weeks during that time.

While no official statement was made at the State House yesterday, it was understood that Governor Stokes rather favored the idea of accepting the invitation. The time spent at Plattsburg would be the best possible schooling for the Jersey guardsmen, as a large body of troops will participate and maneuvres carried out that would not be possible at Sea Girt.

It is also a fact that under regular army discipline the soldiers would be worked much harder than they are at Sea Girt. The invitation to Governor Stokes stated that the national government would bear all the expenses of sending the division to Plittsburg, and of maintaining it there, the troops to receive regular army pay, forty cents a day.

If this invitation is accepted it will cause a reconsideration of the plans for the Sea Girt camp this cummer. The State military board has decided to send the whole division into camp this year, one regiment going at a time. Major-General Wanser, commanding the division, has already issued the official order in tnat effect.

It was understood yesterday that if the request of the national government is compiled with one brigade will be sent to Plattsburg and the other will camp at Sea Girt. No statement was made as to which brigade would get the special honor. The First Brigade, which includes the North Jersey troops, camped at Sea Girt last summer, so that under the old regulation of alternating the brigades at camp each summer, it would be the turn of the Second, including the Second Regiment, to go to Sea Girt this summer.

What More Can Plainfield People Ask?

When well-known residents and highly-respected people of Plainfield make such statements as the following, it must carry conviction to every reader:

Mrs. Martha Snedeker, of 244 East Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Some six weeks ago I began using Doan's Kidney Pills for an attack of kidney trouble that had been annoying me for a long time, procuring the remedy at Randolph's drug store. My main symptoms were severe backaches and pains in the top and back of my head, a stiffness in the limbs—especially my arms. I had a languid feeling of weakness and depression and paysicians did not help me. Doan's Kidney Pills did seem to reach the cause of my trouble, however, and that very quickly and now all those aches and pains I have described have disappeared and the kidney secretions are perfectly normal, all of which is due to the healing virtues of Doan's Kidney Pills and their direct action on the kidneys."

NOW TALK OF BLAIR FOR GOVERNORSHIP

SLATE, ATTRIBUTED TO DICKINSONITES, ALSO STOKES FOR U.S. SENATOR

Jersey City, May 19.—Are the Hudson County followers of Secretary of State Dickinson preparing to present the name of Judge John A. Blair, of the Common Pleas Court, as a candidate for Governor as an offset to the boom for Senator Everett Colby, of Essex, started at the recent dollar dinner of the Mark M. Fagan Association in Jersey City?

And, will Governor Stokes be the announced choice of the same faction as a candidate for United States Senator to succeed John F. Dryden, of Newark?

Some observers of the recent maze of tangled politics in Hudson declare their belief that such a move is coming, and already Dickinson Republicans are declaring that Blair is the one man who could unite the warring factions of the county, and therefore, as they put it, the logical candidate for the highest office in the State.

In support of their contention they point out that the Common Pleas judge has not become involved in any way in the local factional fight and is regarded as highly by the Faganites as by the so-called regulars.

Followers of Jersey City's Mayor say that the Dickinsonites are not sincere in their advocacy of Judge Blair, and are simply using his name to bring local support to their cause, and weaken the reformers who have practically declared for Colby and Record.

The mention of Judge Blair's name in connection with the Republican Gubernatorial nomination is nothing new. Before the open split of the factions in Hudson he was talked of as a possibility, and he has steadfastly avoided any act that might in any way identify him with either faction. Almost every other Republican has been forced to show his hand in the struggle, and, although the Hudson judge has taken part in his party's primaries to the extent of voting, as far as can be learned no one has been able to learn with which side his sympathies lay.

But no official act that has has been called upon to perform has he as yet been obliged to discriminate between the Fagan and Dickinson followers, and it is believed that when such an occasion does arise, as is possible in the matter of the appointment of an excise board for Jersey City, that the appointments will be made with reference to the wishes of both sides.

Some politicians are inclined to view the rumored candidacy of Blair and Stokes as the result of a combination between Colonel Dickinson and machine leaders in other sections of the State to kill off the reform movement.

CHICAGO JOB PRINTERS.

They Secure Concessions from Two More Shops as to Working Hours.

Chicago, May 19.—The long and costly struggle of the printers to inaugurate the eight-hour work day in the commercial shops of Chicago Thursday was partly rewarded by the capitulation of two large printing houses, one of which is a leading members of the Typothetae Association of employers.

The two firms which yielded to the demands of the Typographical Union are Stromburg, Allen & Co. and Walter H. Altken. Ths former employs forty compositors, while the latter employs twenty printers.

Both agreed to operate hereafter on an eight-hour basis, with the same wage scale that prevailed when nine hours work was required. Former employees of the two shops returned to work during the day, taking the places of non-union printers, who were discharged. They have been on strike since last November.

JERSEY CENTRAL'S STRIKES.

Somerville, May 19.—Two hundred section hands of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, who have been on strike for the past few days for an increase in pay, returned to work yesterday morning after their demands for an increase from $1.25 to $1.40 a day had been granted.

The trackmen of the New Jersey Central are striking on the instalment plan. Last week all trackmen in the section between Jersey City and Bound Brook struck for $1.40 a day. Because demands were granted and the railroad company failed to increase the wages of trackmen all along the line a general strike followed among the section hands between this place and Easton.

P. H. S. TEAM WINS AGAIN

Defeat Old Rivals, Rutgers Prep. School, Handily on Crescent Oval.

FINAL SCORE WAS 10-2

"Stu" Freeman's Pitching a Puzzle to Prep. School—Ragged Fielding by Visitors.

Two rival school teams, representing Plainfield High School and Rutgers Preparatory School, met on Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon, and the local team showed a marked superiority in all departments of the game. The final score was 10 to 2 in favor of the local High School team.

Stuart Freeman was on the slab for Plainfield High School and his pitching was an enigma to his opponents all the time till the ninth when he let up. Fifteen Rutgers men fanned the air and but two hits were chalked up to their credit, one of these being of the scratch variety.

Cox, of Rutgers, faced the locals in the box, and for his part held the locals well in hand, allowing them to bunch but five hits, while he struck out nine men, but his team-mates gave him discouraging support in the field and with the stick.

Plainfield High School showed excellent judgment on the bases, and they fielded faultlessly with the exception of Van Deventer on second base, who appeared to have an off-day on his throwing.

For Plainfield High School Mehaffey and Douglass played well, while Case and Mc Donald did creditable work for the visitors. These same teams will meet again next week at New Brunswick and it is probable that Plainfield High School will take along a big enough crowd of rooters to charter a special trolley.

They say:—

That the best poems ever written by the late H. Longfellow were inspired before breakfast time, or early in the morning. The same should apply to baseball dope written at 6:15 a. m.—without rations—

That the ball game with the Patersons will be a corking good affair this afternoon on Crescent Oval.

That Manager Daab and the Plainfield Baseball Association should arrange to have a 16-inning, 1 to 1, tie game, every Saturday, holidays included, especially to please the chronic knockers.

That in nine cases out of ten baseball knockers are afflicted with the old-fashioned dyspepsia caused by over-eating.

That Johnnie McGraw and his bunch of stars are feeling very sore over their reception in Pittsburg.

That the New Yorks are going back and that Christy Mathewson's star is setting. Don't you believe it for ten minues, we mean that about Mr. Mathewson.

That Lou Wiltse's arm is improving. The go-cart cure must be the great remedy on earth for sore arms.

That the All Nationals with Hank Mathewson in the box on Decoration Day will bring out record-breaking attendances at both games. It is nothing new or extraordinary for Matty, Jr., to pitch two games a day.

That Phil. Smith will show him a few pointers with that Delsarte Dip of his'n.

That the Somerville management released Jimmy Montross because the moguls heard he was looking around for a job with another team. They would have done far better to advance his salary to remain. Instead they got hold of an inferior pitcher by the name of Neefus, who came along with a big record, like some other stars that shoot upward and disappear forever.

That one best bet for today is that Somerville will be after "Smiling Jimmy" before the season is over.

That Jimmy Bertwhistle is about due to knock the ball over the wire fence this afternoon. Jimmy is soaking the sphere hard but the ball is failing to land just where he wants it to set.

That Manager Murphy, of the Summit team, is anxious to arrange a county championship series with Plainfield. Good news.

That Westfield will come to town next Saturday padded to the limit and prepared to win. Glad to hear that there is some life in the old burg.

That the Jersey Citys will never win the Eastern League pennant this season if the team doesn't soon take a brace. Well there is still some hope as they have won two consecutive games.

That Bob Fitzsimmons may give a punching bag exhibition on Crescent Oval next Saturday afternoon before the game is called with Westfield.

That Mayor Smalley expresses a desire to become a big league manager and would like nothing better than to take the delapidated Brooklyn outfit in tow.

That Treasurer Runyon is preparing a letter for the delinquent stockholders of the baseball association. A little jolt in this direction will work wonders.

That Tommy Timbo is going to give more peanuts for a nickel than ever starting this afternoon.

Fred Van Auken, of this city, who is at the Naval Academy, Annapolis, has been doing great work in the pitching line for the academy baseball team, this season. A few days ago he shut out the Carlisle Indian team without a run.

TENNIS.

The women's tennis tournament, singles, will be started at the Plainfield Country Club this afternoon. There is a large entry list and some good matches are anticipated.

Harry L. McGee is interesting himself in tennis at the Park Club this season and he will arrange several matches during the summer. There will also be home tournaments to attract the tennis enthusiasts.

The Cedar Brook Tennis Club has put its courts in East Seventh street in fine condition and the officers are arranging an attractive schedule for the season.

EX-ASSEMBLY SPEAKER DEAD.

Andrew Dutcher, Once Represented Union County.

Elizabeth, May 19.—Andrew Dutcher, who died at his home in Brooklyn Wednesday night, was once a well-known lawyer in this city, and formerly represented the old Sixth Ward in City Council. He was a brother of Silas P. Dutcher, now president of the Hamilton Trust Co., of Brooklyn. He was for 61 years a practising lawyer and in 1876 argued the case of John Bogart versus the city of Elizabeth to test the legality of assessments, as a result of which over a million dollars in assessments were set aside.

Dutcher, in 1872, was a represetative from Union county in the New Jersey Legislature, and formerly represented Mercer county, for one year being speaker of the House. He was 78 years old.

NEWARK DOCTOR'S TRIAL.

Plainfield Patient Claims Treatment Did Him Injury.

The suit of George Lees, of North Plainfield, against Dr. Albert Wickman, of Newark, is scheduled to be tried before Justice Garretson and a struck jury next week in the Somerset County Courts at Somerville. The sut was tried at the September term last year, and a verdict of $780 was given in favor of the plaintiff, but this verdict was set aside and a new trial ordered by the higher court, on the ground that the verdict had been against the weight of evidence. G. W. V. Moy, of North Plainfield, is counsel for the plaintiff, and Louis Aff, of Newark, represents the defendant.

The original suit was brought for $20,000, and was tried before Justice Garretson also. Lees claimed that he had been injured by a careless application of a plaster jacket. The trial occupied several days, and during the course of it expert testimony was given by Dr. William H. Hicks and Dr. Sidney A. Twinch, of Newark, who claimed that the injuries could not have been the result of any treatment applied.

The higher courts on this account had held that the verdict was against the weight of evidence.

P. S. MUST SHOW CAUSE.

Will Have to Demonstrate Why It Shouldn't Be Enjoined.

Trenton, May 19.—On complaint of the North Brunswick Township Committee, an order was made by Vice Chancellor Bergen yesterday requiring the Public Service Corporation to show cause, in this city, May 22, why it should not be enjoined from laying gas pipes in the Trenton and New Brunswick turnpike. The complainants allege that the Public Service Corporation began laying pipes without asking or obtaining permission from the proper authorities, and also charge that the purpose of laying the pipes is to connect the mains of the corporation in New Brunswick with the mains running under the State to Camden.

The Township Committee charges that it would be dangerous and impracticable to tap the mains for private use, due to the fact that the gas will be forced through them at a high pressure. According to the bill of complaint, the Public Service and the Gas Light Company, of New Brunswick, a subsidiary concern, have never supplied the people of North Plainfield Township with gas, and it is not the purpose of the companies to do so from the pipes which they are laying.

De Wolf Hopper finds one thorn in the pleasure he has in the success of his present starring medium, "Happyland." The tall comedian some time ago arranged for an automobile trip through the British Isles this summer and, believing that his season would end about the last week in May, had expected to sail on June 2nd. But the demand for "Happyland" in the metropolis is such that it is scheduled for an indefinite run at the Majestic theatre. In fact the Ranken-De Koven comic opera is expected to remain at the playhouse the entire summer. Therefore Mr. Hopper will do most of his automobiling between the theatre and his estate at Douglass Manor, Long Island.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

WOULD GIVE LIFE FOR THAT OF BOY HE KILLED.

Supervisor Wittpenn, Arraigned for Manslaughter, Collapses in Court-Room.

H. Otto Wittpenn, supervisor of Hudson county, whose automobile ran down and killed Wednesday night John Furlong, seven years old, at Pine street and Johnston avenue, Jersey City, within a few feet of the boy's home is completely prostrated as a result of the accident.

He was in court yesterday, accused of manslaughter. After witnesses had testified that the boy was to blame, as he ran directly in front of the machine, and Judge Manning had paroled him, Mr. Wittpenn broke down and had to be led to a coach in waiting.

"I will never forget the scene of that accident," he said; "it will be with me as long as I live. God knows I was careful! If I could give my own life to restore that of the poor boy I would do so gladly."

Much regret is expressed for Mr. Wittpenn, as well as for the parents of the dead boy. Mr. Wittpenn is one of the most popular officials in Hudson county, and all day yesterday friends called at his home to express their sympathy.

Proof Positive

That "Piso's Cure" Can Heal Even Advanced Cases of Consumption

—Sworn Testimony of a Voluntary Witness.

To write a testimonial for a medicine that you think has done you good and to go voluntarily into open court and swear positively on the good book that a certain remedy has saved your life and dragged you from the very maw of the grim destroyer are two very different things.

And yet this is what a multitude of witnesses did before the Superior Court of Cincinnati, where, in order to protect themselves from the thieving practices of pirates who wished to trade on the reputation and 50 years' enviable record of the real Piso Company, of Warren, Pa., they sought a permanent injunction and got it.

Here, for instance, is a sample and any intelligent person can draw his own conclusions: Mr. Percy B. Dixon, of Mobile, Ala., being duly sworn, testified that he had caught a bad cold in England some years before coming to this country and although carefully treated by several physicians, amongst them some of the most eminent in London, England, could not seem to get well.

He stated under oath, "I used Piso's Cure for Consumption from the winter of 1882 until 1884 and I credit that with benefiting me, as I was not under a physician's treatment during that time and took no other medicine.

"I came to Mobile on January 13, 1884. I weighed 123 pounds, was 28 inches around the chest and 29 inches around the waist. About three years after coming to Mobile, being under no medical treatment whatever, my weight had increased to 206 pounds, my chest measurement to 46 inches and my waist measurement to 48."

Aside from being the greatest remedy the world has ever known for coughs, colds, sore throat and all affections of the lungs, Piso's Cure for Consumption has proved itself to be, under certain hygienic conditions, the remedy of all others for Consumption, especially in its early stages. As a preventative of this dread disease we believe there is nothing like it, and it is especially valuable because it is free from opium, morphine or injurious ingredients.

Every druggist sells it and it costs 25c. per bottle.

May we send you our little free book entitled "How Consumptives Ought to Live." Address The Piso Company, 198 Piso Building, Warren, Pa.

CHAPTER XVIII.

A SENSATIONAL TURN IN THE MILBREY FORTUNES.

It was a morning early in November. In the sedate Milbrey dining-room a brisk wood fire dulled the edge of the first autumn chill. At the breakfast table, comfortably near the hearth, sat Horace Milbrey. With pointed spoon he had daintily scooped the golden pulp from a Florida orange, touched the tips of his slender white fingers to the surface of the water in the bowl, and was now glancing leisurely at the headlines of his paper, while his breakfast appetite gained agreeable zest from the acid fruit.

On the second page of the paper the names in a brief item arrested his errant glance. It disclosed that Mr. Percival Bines had left New York the day before with a party of guests on his special car, to shoot quail in North Carolina. Mr. Milbrey glanced at the two shells of the orange which the butler was then removing.

"What a hopeless brute that fellow was!" he reflected. He was recalling a dictum once pronounced by Mr. Bines. "Oranges should never be eaten in public," he had said with that lordly air of dogmatism characteristic of him. "The only right way to eat a juicy orange is to disrobe, grasp the fruit firmly in both hands and climb into a bathtub half full of water."

The finished epicure shuddered at the recollection, poignantly, quite as if a saw were being filed in the next room.

Mrs. Milbrey entered, news of importance visibly animating her. Her husband arose mechanically, placed the chair for her, and resumed his fork in an ecstasy of concentration.

"You really must talk to Avice," his wife said.

Mr. Milbrey sighed, deprecatingly. He could remember no time within five years when that necessity had not weighed upon his father's sense of duty like a vast bowlder of granite. He turned to welcome the diversion provided by the rognons sautees which Jarvis at that moment uncovered before him with a discreet flourish.

"Now you really must," continued his wife, "and you'll agree with me when I tell you why."

"But, my dear, I've already talked to the girl exhaustively. I've pointed out that her treatment of Mrs. Wybert—her perverse refusal to meet the lady at all, is quite as absurd as it is rude, and that if Fred chooses to marry Mrs. Wybert it is her duty to act the part of a sister even if she cannot bring herself to feel it. I've assured her that Mrs. Wybert's antecedents are all they should be; not illustrious, perhaps, but eminently respectable. Indeed, I quite approve of the southern aristocracy. But she constantly recalls what that snobbish Bines was unfair enough to tell her. I've done my utmost to convince her that Bines spoke in the way he did about Mrs. Wybert because he knew she was aware of those ridiculous tales of his mother's illiteracy. But Avice is—er—my dear, she is like her mother in more ways than one. Assuredly she doesn't take it from me."

He became interested in the kidneys.

"If Marie had been a man," he remarked, feelingly, "I often suspect that her fame as a chef would have been second to none. Really, the suavity of her sauces is a never-ending delight to me."

"I haven't told you yet the reason—a new reason—why you must talk to Avice."

"The money—yes, yes, my dear, I know, we all know. Indeed, I've put it to her plainly. She knows how sorely Fred needs it. She knows how that beast of a tailor is threatening to be nasty—and I've explained how invaluable Mrs. Wybert would be, reminding her of that lady's generous hint about the rise in Federal Steel, which enabled me to net the neat little profit of $10,000 a month ago, and how, but for that, we might have been acutely distressed. Yet she stubbornly clings to the notion that this marriage would be a mesalliance for the Milbreys."

"I agree with her," replied his wife, tersely.

Mr. Milbrey looked perplexed, but polite.

"I quite agree with Avice," continued the lady. "That woman hasn't been right, Horace, and she isn't right. Young Bines knew what he was talking about. I haven't lived my years without being able to tell that after five minutes with her, clever as she is, I can read her. Like so many of those women, she has an intense passion to be thought respectable, and she's come into money enough—God only knows how—to gratify it. I could tell it, if nothing else showed it, by the way in which she overdoes respectability. She has the thousand and one artificial little rules for propriety that one never does have when one has been bred to it. That kind of woman is certain to lapse sooner or later. She would marry Fred because of his standing, because he's a favorite with the smart people she thinks she'd like to be pally with. Then, after a little she'd run off with a German dialect comedian or something, like that appalling person Normie Whitmund married."

"But the desire to be respectable, my dear—and you say this woman has it—is a mighty lever. I'm no cynic about your sex, but I shudder to think of their—ah—eccentricities if it should cease to be a factor in the feminine equation."

"It's nothing more than a passing fad with this person—besides, that's not what I've to tell you."

"But you, yourself, were not averse to Fred's marrying her, in spite of these opinions you must secretly have held."

"Not while it seemed absolutely necessary—not while the case was so brutally desperate, when we were actually pressed—"

"Remember, my dear, there's nothing magic in those $10,000. They're winged dollars like all their mates, and most of them, I'm sorry to say, have already flown to places where they'd long been expected."

Mrs. Milbrey's sensation was no longer to be repressed. She had toyed with the situation sufficiently. Her husband was now skillfully dissecting the deviled thighs of an immature chicken.

"Horace," said his wife, impressively. "Avice has had an offer of marriage—from—"

He looked up with new interest.

"From Rulon Shepler."

He dropped knife and fork. Shepler, the man of mighty millions! The undisputed monarch of finance! The cold-blooded, calculating sybarite in his lighter moments, but a man whose values as a son-in-law were so ideally superb that the Milbrey ambition had never vaulted high enough even to overlook them for one daring moment! Shepler, whom he had known so long and so intimately, with never the audacious thought of a union so stupendously glorious!

"Margaret, you're jesting!"

Mrs. Milbrey scorned to be dazzled by her triumph.

"Nonsense! Shepler asked her last night to marry him."

"It's bewildering! I never dreamed—"

"I've expected it for months. I could tell you the very moment when the idea first seized the man—on the yacht last summer. I was sure she interested him, even before his wife died two years ago."

"Margaret, it's too good to be true!"

"If you think it is, I'll tell you something that isn't: Avice practically refused him."

Her husband pushed away his plate; the omission of even one regretful glance at its treasures betrayed the strong emotion under which he labored.

"This is serious," he said, quietly. "Let us get at it. Tell me, if you please!"

"She came to me and cried half the night. She refused him definitely at first, but he begged her to consider, to take a month to think it over—"

Milbrey gasped. Shepler, who commanded markets to rise and they rose, or to fall and they fell—Shepler begging, entreating a child of his! Despite the soul-sickening tragedy of it, the situation was not without its element of sublimity.

"She will consider; she will reflect?"

"You're guessing now, and you're as keen at that as I. Avice is not only amazingly self-willed, as you intimated a moment since, but she is intensely secretive. When she left me I could get nothing from her whatever. She was wretchedly sullen and taciturn."

"But why should she hesitate? Shepler—Rulon Shepler! My God! is the girl crazy? The very idea of hesitation is preposterous!"

"I can't divine her. You know she has acted perversely in the past. I used to think she might have some affair of which we knew nothing—something silly and romantic. But if she had any such thing I'm sure it was ended, and she'd have jumped at this chance a year ago. You know yourself she was ready to marry young Bines, and was really disappointed when he didn't propose."

"But this is too serious." He tinkled the little silver bell.

"Find out if Miss Avice will be down to breakfast."

"Yes, sir."

"If she's not coming down I shall go up," declared Mr. Milbrey when the man had gone.

"She's stubborn," cautioned his wife.

"Gad! don't I know it?"

Jarvis returned.

"Miss Avice won't be down, sir, and I'm to fetch her up a pot of coffee, sir."

"Take it at once, and tell her I shall be up to see her presently." Jarvis vanished.

"I think I see a way to put pressure on her, that is if the morning hasn't already brought her back to her senses."

At four o'clock that afternoon, Avice Milbrey's ring brought Mrs. van Geist's butler to the door.

"Sandon, is Aunt Cornelia at home?"

"Yes, Miss Milbrey, she's confined to her room h'account h'of a cold, miss."

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." THE PARADE WAS 'GREAT'

Thousands View the Pageant That Marked the Opening of the Carnival.

MANY FLOATS IN LINE

The carnival parade has come and gone and like many other enterprises that have originated with former Mayor Charles J. Fisk it is best described as having been "great." It took place Saturday afternoon and was every bit as successful as had been hoped, hundreds of business men and citizens entering into the spirit of the occasion and turning out. The pageant was the first of its kind in the city since the Fourth of July affair of 1895 and it delighted thousands of sightseers who came out as though it was "circus" day.

The parade was in three divisions and formed at Seventh street and Madison avenue, moving shortly after 2 o'clock over the prescribed route. Captain William B. Martin, of Company K, as grand marshel, rode at the head with Col. C. E. Bellows, chief of staff. After them came Chief Kiely and a platoon of police. A band came next marking the beginning of the first division, composed of Company K, commanded by Lieutenant John M. Lewis, 300 members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., Hose Company No. 3, of the city fire department, with its handsome combination chemical engine, and apparatus from the North Plainfield department. No. 3 company was in charge of Captain George Feiring and consisted of Patrick, Kneeland, Charles Graves, E. V. Lorton, Howard Manning, William C. Chamberlain and Frank Ingraham. Lewis Kelley handled the team. Lieutenant William Campbell drove the borough's big team of grays, "Nip" and "Tuck," attached to the new chemical and hose wagon and it was followed by the borough steamer, the veteran of scores of firemen's celebrations and jubilees.

In this division was Mr. Fisk's own big tally-ho and the energetic promoter of carnivals and operas for worthy purposes, occupied a front seat. It had not been his purpose to take any part in the procession, but his assistants couldn't see it that way and they got him up on the vehicle before he knew what is was all about. His appearance was the signal for enthusiastic applause at scores of places along the route.

The second division was composed of business men's floats and was looked after by Marshal Dr. Knott. A prize had been offered for the most unique effect and as a result there were some very pretty displays while not a little ingenuity was shown in the representation of trades or business.

One of the rigs that probably attracted more attention than anything else, was Edward S. Hooley's tiny Italian burro, "Teko,' hitched to a very small sulky in which was seated "Dutch" VanNest, who lays claim to being three feet in height. Though small of stature, "Teko" has a mind of his own as strong as his aunt's, "Maude," and it required the efforts of Harry Noble to keep him from cutting up didoes. This entry made the children dance with glee and thousands of envious glances were cast at the happy "Dutch." The idea of the get-up originated with Mr. Hooley's children and was executed for them by James Frazer.

The Plainfield Business College had in line a handsomely decorated float which represented a school room with young men and women busy at ledgers and typewriters. It was one of the largest in the parade and was applauded dozens of times. The Drake School also had a pretty display in line.

Another entry in this division was a troop of "Rough Riders," all local young men in Roosevelt war-time costume They were gotten together by William Hobbie and Ralph Hallock and made a pleasing diversion in the successsion of floats.

Among some of the most striking floats were those of Frank Linke, which showed a soda water making apparatus at work, boys handing out the product to the thirsty crowds; The Credit Clothing Company, which caused shrieks of laughter by a cart before the horse effect in a new style automobile; C. M. Nagle, the druggist, a pretty flower bedecked rig with a mortar and pestle on top; J. Manhattan, a big truck carrying stonecutters chiselling at huge stones; The Waldorf Hotel, The International Correspondence Schools.

Other business men represented by rigs in the line were B. F. Tallamy & Brother, R. B. VanArsdale, Henry J. Wierenga, Geer & DeMott, Stewart's delivery, Patrick Kane, L. M. French, Andrew Schlick, Leslie

COL. VROOMAN TALKS TO LARGE GATHERING

APPEARED AT GRACE M. E. CHURCH UNDER AUSPICES OF LEAGUE.

A gathering which filled Grace M. E. church to its capacity last night, heard Col. John W. Vrooman, of New York, talk on "Christian Patriotism," in connection with the Epworth League's celebration of the seventeenth anniversary of the begining of the organization. The address was part of one which he made last Decoration Day on the battlefield of Chattanooga to a great gathering of G. A. R. and Confederate veterans.

The colonel is a talented orator and the address made a deep impression. In a clear and concise way he told of how men and women can be soldiers in the Lord's army and carry the day for righteousness. He has a way of interpolating anecdotes and his talk held the close attention of everyone throughout.

Colonel Vrooman, besides being a devoted churchman and devoted Christian worker, has been prominent in politics in New York State; secretary of the Republican State Committee, candidate for lieutenant-governor; Grand Master of the Masonic order in New York State and president of the Holland Society of New York city. A large number of Masons from the local lodges accepted Dr. Parsons' invitation to hear him.

During the service, Miss Winifred Carroll and Edson C. Martin sang a duett and Mrs. Thomas MacDonald rendered a pleasing solo.

HARRY McCOMAS DEAD.

Ex-Plainfielder Succumbs to Rapid Decline of Health in Newark.

Word has come to friends of the family here of the death, in Newark, of Harry McComas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin McComas, a former Plainfielder well known in the West End. He died last week, after a rapid decline in health. He was about 35 years old, and unmarried.

The McComas moved to Newark, from Prescott place, about six years ago. Fifteen years ago Harry McComas was one of the lions of the West End as the pitcher of the fast Pond Machine shop nine. The nine was a winning combination, and rooters of those days will remember it well.

Testing Mercury Vapor Lamp.

A chance to observe the way in which the mercury vapor lamp works in street lighting is afforded visitors to the Carnival. The P. S. C. has placed one of the lamps at Darrow avenue and Fourth street. It casts a much brighter, steadier light than the incandescent lamp, and covers a much wider area. The Board of Trade is seeking to have the light tested in the business section. It is claimed that he lamp is cheaper in operation than the incandescent.

His Sight Threatened.

Three doctors and three trained nurses are working to save the sight of Lewis E. Waring, who has been threatened with blindness through the spread of an affection that impaired the sight of one eye a number of years ago. Drs. Ard and Endicott, of this city, and a New York specialist are in attendance on him. It was said this morning that there is now every chance of saving the sight.

West End Avenue Closed.

The iron taken from the old West End avenue bridge will be used in the rebuilding of the Leland avenue bridge over Green brook, in this city, thus saving considerable money. The West End avenue bridge is now practically demolished and the street is closed to wagon and automobile travel. A temporary foot bridge is a great convenience to pedestrians.

Observed Seventeenth Anniversary.

The Epworth League of the First M. E. Church observed its seventeenth anniversary, last night, in connection with the regular service of the church. There was no special programme, but Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes, a former pastor, delivered a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

After Cesspool Wagon Drivers.

Aaron Reed, charged with driving a leaky cesspool wagon through the borough streets, will be given a hearing before Mayor Smalley tonight. The police have received numerous complaints against offenders of this class and they have determined to put a stop to it.

Veterans Will Attend Divine Service.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., the Women's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans will attend divine service at the First M. E. church on Sunday night. Rev. A. C. McCrea, the pastor, will preach the sermon and there will be special music by the choir.

AUTO FACILITATES ASSESSORS WORK

ENTIRE CITY COVERED BY BOARD IN LESS THAN FIVE HOURS.

The Plainfield Board of Assessors adopted a new method of covering the city today in its search for new buildings. The trip was made in an automobile, driven by Horace J. Martin, Jr., and the work was completed between the hours of 8 o'clock this morning and 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. In past years the trip has been made with a horse and wagon and it required a day and a half to do the work. The board found a large number of new buildings. The members will now secure copies of the permits from Building Inspector T. O. Doane and this will help them in the work of making proper assessments.

Now that a general trip has been made about the city, the assessors will start in and make their customary house-to-house visits. The law says that all assessments on new buildings or additions must be made as the work stands on May 20 and for this reason it is necessary that great haste be exercised in covering the city. Of course, the board cannot tell as yet the approximate value of new buildings erected during the past year, but it believes that it will be considerable.

With the new method of assessing at full value it is believed that the real and personal valuations in the city will easily reach $20,000,000, about double of that of last year, and with a cut in the tax rate the general amount to be raised will be a little more than was collected a year ago.

RACE LEADS TO INJURY.

Bicyclist Tried Brush With Autoist and Went Under the Wheels.

John Z. Arrowsmith, of South Plainfield, riding homeward on his bicycle along Plainfield avenue Saturday afternoon, tried a brush with Dr. Fred Hughes' automobile runabout. As a result of the race he is lying at his home with internal injuries of a sever nature, a sprained angle and a cut head.

The race started near Second street. It had gone only a distance, when the bicycle swerved too close to the auto, and was knocked down. Arrowsmith was run over.

Dr. Hughes took charge of him at once and carried him to his home. He is attending him there.

Blined and Aged Dog's Long Journey.

Bound Brook, May 21.—About two weeks ago Thomas W. Reedy moved with his family from South Bound Brook to Newark, taking with them Rover, a black-and-tan dog, the pet of the household. But Rover, who had lived all his life of seventeen years on one street in the town he had been taken from, did not like his new home in the city, and on Thursday, May 10, disappeared. Mrs. Reedy advertised and offered a reward, which brought many dogs, of all sizes, colors and breeds, that were either lost, strayed or stolen, but not taeir Rover. A week from the day Rover disappeared he arrived at his former home, apparently none the worse for his journey of twenty-five miles or more, although he was greatly handicapped, being old, deaf and totally blind.

Close Shave for Americans.

The New York Americans had a close shave at Elizabethport, yesterday, and only for the brilliant play of "Willie" Keeler, who threw a base-runner out at the plate from right field, Frank Burke's Stars would have tied the score and probably won out. The game ended 3 to 2 in favor of the Americans, after ten hard-fought innings. "Red" Waller pitched a great game and was opposed by Hogg, one of the best American League twirlers.

Waiter Heir to $200,000.

Henry Math, a waiter at the new Clinton Hall, No. 153 Clinton street, New York, known as "Bismarck," has been informed that he has fallen heir to a fortune of $200,000, left by his grandmother, Posel Math, of Psesov, Austria. Math is twenty-eight years old and came to this country eight years ago.

Patrick Gets by Again.

Sing Sing, May 21.—Albert T. Patrick would have been executed at daybreak today but for a fourth reprieve granted by Governor Higgins. His seven companions in the deathhouse did not omit to celebrate the event.

Rahway Gun Club Shoot.

The Rahway Gun Club will hold a shoot and house-warming on Decoration Day. Two fifty-target events will be held, with twenty prizes in each event.

HELPING ILLITERATE POOR

Missionaries Tell of Their Labors Among the Mountain Whites in Kentucky.

AT TRINITY CHURCH S. S.

Work to Help Forlorn People Who Eke Out a Bare Existence and Know Absolutely Nothing.

Rev. and Mrs. Isaac Messler, missionaries at McKee, Kentucky, visited Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school yesterday afternoon and gave talks about their work among the Mountain Whites. Mr. Messler made an address before the main school, while his wife spoke in the beginners' department. Among other things Mr. Messler said:

"I am glad to see that the churches are so active and anxious to aid these people, for they certainly need all the educational and religious help they can get. There are two distinct classes of people in Kentucky; the 'Blue Grass' and the 'Mountaineers.' The 'Blue Grass' are more prosperous and continually strive to keep the others from advancing. They endeavor to keep the 'Mountaineers' from getting either money or education.

"However, conditions are much improved and where, a few years ago, it was not safe for a stranger to travel the mountains, he can now do so with perfect safety. The territory where my wife and I are working includes all of the county of Jackson, which is a very mountainous one. The farms are on the hillsides and are very hard to till. Wages are about fifty cents a day, and it is difficult to earn that, for he has to take most of his time caring for himself so that he 'won't fall off the farm,' as the saying is down there. Many queer stories are told about cattle falling off the farms and men falling down the chimneys of their homes.

"The people go without much that they need, because of the difficulty of getting from one place to another, it requiring in many instances twelve hours to go twenty-five miles. We find in many places five to ten men living in a hut, with but one room, where they eat, sleep and live. We have started schools there in which we hope to overcome the extreme bashfulness of the people, and which makes it difficult to approach them. Their education has been sadly neglected. Hardly any of the children up to the age of fifteen years have seen an arithmetic and few can spell the most simple words.

"There are a number of classes in Sunday-schools which are contributing to the help of these boys and girls, by paying their board in town, which is $1.50 a week and in some cases much lower."

In closing Mr. Messler thanked all those who have been helping in the work among the Mountain Whites, and said he hoped that hey would be able to do more in the future. Mrs. Messler had a number of excellent photographs taken by her in Kentucky which showed better than words could tell of the mode of living there.

Rev. Dr. Barnes Preached.

In the absence of Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, the pulpit was occupied yesterday morning by Rev. Dr. Charles R. Barnes, of Jersey City, a former pastor. He delivered a strong sermon before a large congregation. Mr. and Mrs. McCrea are expected home this week from Carlisle, Pa., where they went to bury their young son.

Grace Church Recital.

There was a large audience yesterday, at the first of the Sunday afternoon organ recitals that will be held at Grace P. E. church during the summer. W. E. FOUR RIBS BROKEN BY FALL FROM FLOAT

NINE-YEAR-OLD SON OF FRANK LINKE SERIOUSLY HURT.

By falling from the big float entered by his father in the Carnival parade, Saturday afternoon, Gerald Linke, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Linke, narrowly escaped being crushed to death. A quick move on the part of John Winzenreid, the driver, prevented one of the front wheels from going all the way over him but it went far enough to break four of his ribs and cause probable internal injuries. He was resting easily today though still in a serious condition.

The accident happened on West Seventh street as the parade was on the way to the carnival grounds. Gerald clambered to a place on the front seat and began handing out bottles of soda water, machinery on the float making it for this purpose. The horses gave a sudden lurch as the boy was leaning over the side of the vehicle and it caused him to topple off. Winzenreid saw him drop and threw his horses around, otherwise the heavy float would have gone squarely over him.

The boy was picked up and taken to George A. Beaton's home almost opposite. Drs. Hedges and Hughes were soon in attendance and administered treatment previous to getting him to his parents' residence on West Second street.

Gets Two Mummies from Egypt.

Rahway, May 2.—Two mummies and four cases direct from Egypt arrived at the Pennsylvania Railroad freight house Saturday, having come to G. W. Neville. The heavy wooden cases, covered with hieroglyphics and writings of what looked like pigment or mineral paint, were dilapidated and look as if a rought voyage had damaged them. One mmmy was in plain sight, wrapped in old gray cloth interspersed with gayer colored fabrics. The head was partially uncovered.

BIG CROWDS AT OPENING OF HOSPITAL CARNIVAL

SCOTCH PLAINS GIRL BRIDE OF CHAS. BACKER.

Miss Anna Jahn, daughter of Mrs. Robert Jahn, of Scotch Plains, and Charles Backer, son of Levins Backer, of East Second street, this city, were married Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother on Park avenue, by Rev. E. E. Roberson, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. The affair was a quiet one, being witnessed only by the immediate members of the two families and a few relatives.

The bride, who was given away in marriage by her brother, Philip Jahn, was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Jahn, as bridesmaid. The bride was gowned in creme Landsdown, trimmed with lace. Her bridal veil was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of bride roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of pink silk lawn. She carried lilies-of-the-valley. Robert Janh, brother of the bride, was best man. Miss Cora Backer, brother of the groom, played the wedding march from Lohengrin. The home was decorated with the season's flowers, a large bell of dog wood blossoms being an effective arrangement in the parlor. After the ceremony an inforal reception was held and supper served. The bride was the recipient of many handsome gifts.

At the conclusion of a ten days' trip, Mr. and Mrs. Backer will make their home on Netherwood avenue, wher the groom has built and furnished a house for his bride. The couple is well known and popular in a large circle of friends. The groom has been employed at the Walter Scott Machine Works for a number of years.

GRAND MARSHAL'S AUTO BROKE DOWN ON THE ROAD.

And Captain Martin Was Late; But Harvey Fisk Filled His Place.

Captain W. B. Martin, grand marshal of the Carnival parade, started for this city in his automobile early Saturday afternoon from his home in Elizabeth. Halfway on his journey the machine broke down. He started on the trip with just about time enough to get here in season to handle the formation of the line and the breakdown prevented his getting here on time, but he handled the situation with military resourcefulness.

He telephoned to headquarters at the Casino to get the line formed and started, while he hurried, as fast as he could, to the city. Harvey Fisk, one of his marshals, took command. There was a slight delay, but Marshal Fisk got the line into shape and started off as smoothly as if he had handled columns of paraders from boyhood. When Captain Martin reached the city the parade was under way and ready for his direction. He complimented Marshal Fisk highly on his work. The line that the young man was called upon to whip into shape was over a mile long.

Two Small Fires.

The city fire department was called out at 1:24 Saturday afternoon by an alarm from box 34 for a blaze in a closet at the home of George Kennedy at 614 West Fourth street. It was put out in a few minutes by extinguishers. The damage was trifling. An alarm was turned in at 5:04 yesterday afternoon from box 89 for a blaze in the woods on DeKalb avenue. It was practically out before the department arrived.

Between 7,000 and 8,000 People on the Show Grounds Saturday Afternoon and Evening.

WONDERLAND GROWN

Carnival City Is Much Bigger Than Last Year, With Eleven More Attractions—Women's Pavilion a Fairyland.

Greater than last year, the Hospital Carnival opened Saturday with the promise of complete success. Afternoon and evening, between seven and eight thousand people entered the show grounds, and a lot of money was spent. If the weather holds good, and the indications of the opening night are carried out, the affair will be a vastly bigger success than the one of a year ago.

The grounds and the attractions were thrown open immediately after the parade Saturday afternoon. Although about 1,500 people were on the grounds at that time, the real opening took place after seven o'clock, when the myriads of electric lights tsrung about the grounds were lighted, and the Women's Auxiliary pavillion was opened up. By 8.30 o'clock fully 5,000 people were on the grounds, and the crowd never diminished then until close to midnight.

It is the biggest thing of its kind, by far, that has ever been conducted in this section of New Jersey. Even those who were at the carnival last year, have no real idea, if they were not at the show grounds Saturday night, of the 1906 Carnival City. It covers much more ground than last year, there are more attractions and of a bigger sort, and there are more lights. After nightfall, standing at the entrance, the visitor receives the impression of an illimitable expanse of Carnival, and that impression was not to be received a year ago.

Fully five acres is covered by the tented city. Some of the attractions have been compelled to go into the side street for room, and the dancing platform has been pushed around into a vacant lot beside the house that stands at the eastern side of the entrance.

There are at least 1,500 electric lights used in the illumination, and a big searchlight helps to keep darkness at a distance. There are thirty-two separate attractions, eleven more than last year. They range from a big one-ring curcus, a toboggan slide, minsterel show, vaudeville show, down through shows like Punch and Judy, trained horse, novelty and mystery acts, to cane racks, fish pond, merry-go-round, candy kitchen, and such irresitsible coin coaxers.

Most prominent of all the attractions on the grounds is the Building of All Nations, conducted by the Women's Auxiliary of the Hospital Board. It is brilliantly lighted, and the different booths, decorated to represent thirteen nations, with a variegated display of merchandise and of costumes, presents a most unusual picture. Outside it is charming; inside it is somewhat bewildering in its riot of color and activity.

Of the Building of All Nations Mrs. Samuel Huntington is general chairman. Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney is treasurer, and Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman is assistant. The various booths and those in charge of them are as follows:

Ireland, under the direction of Mrs. Andrew E. Kenney; assistants, Mrs. A. A. Cannon, Mrs. John J. Kenney, Mrs. A. K. Brennan, Mrs. James L. Slevin, Mrs. Charles J. Ward, Mrs. H. McElroy, Mrs. James E. Bailey, Mrs. W. E. Dunn, Miss Mary Hines, Mrs. John Mathews, Miss Elizabeth Rafferty, Miss Loretta Flanagan, Miss Jeanette Summers, Mrs. Joseph A. Blatz, Miss Helen Rafferty, Miss Elizabeth Flanagan, Mrs. Edward Feiring, Miss Marie Carty, Miss Elsie Knowlton, Miss Gertrude Berkhan, Miss Justina Smith, Miss Elizabeth Gavin, Miss Margaret Kenney, Mrs. James Harper, Mrs. M. J. Whalen, Misses Edna Ryan, Ella Mullen, Florence and Clara Smith, Margaret Rafferty, Sarah Rafferty, Nellie Keeley and Mrs. Anthony Martell. The Irish booth is thatched, in old country style, and the young women wear real Connemora capes like acushla colleens. Over the booth hangs this bit of Gaelic: "Caed Mille Failthe." It means "A Hundred Thousand Welcomes."

Holland, under the direction of Mrs. M. A. Zook. Assistants, Mrs. Samuel Huntington, Mrs. F. W. Ire-

Many from here attended both the parade and the ground attractions. The carnival will continue two weeks and the residents here should attend the affair and help make it a financial success as the hospital needs the money.

The local ball team defeated the Potter A. C. team Saturday afternoon in a loosely played game, the final score being 14 to 9. The home team played listlessly, after the first two innings, seeming to think they had a sure thing and there was no need of playing their best game. The visitors should have been shut out, and would have been had the home team played its usual game.

COLBY GLAD TO MEET HILLERY IN DEBATE

ESSEX COUNTY LEADER SENDS LETTER TO MORRIS SENATOR.

Pleased with such a good chance to tell the citizens of Morris county about the reform movement in the Republican party, Senator Everett Colby, of Essex county, has accepted the challenge of Senator Thomas J. Hillery, of Morris county, to meet him in debate. Mr. Hillery had requested "the opportunity of self-defence by meeting me upon the platform in the various towns of Morris county to discuss the alleged sins of omission and commission of Morris county's representatives in the Legislature."

Mr. Colby sent the following letter yesterday to Mr. Hillery:

"My Dear Senator—I see by the public prints that you have forwarded me a letter requesting that I meet you in joint debate in Morris county upon certain questions and issues and upon certain conditions which you suggest. I have not as yet received your letter and take it that it has gone astray, but I accept with pleasure your challenge and shall be glad to meet you and arrange for dates and places."

Think Mr. Colby Will Be Leader of a New Machine.

At a meeting held at the residence of C. E. F. Hetrick, in Asbury Park, the Republican Executive Committee discussed the Colby movement. A discussion of the Ballot Reform laws resulted in the appointment of the following committee to help enforce them:—County Clerk Joseph McDermott, Sheriff C. A. Francis, Judge Foster, John S. Applegate, Jr., and James D. Carton.

The committee, while giving credit to Senator Colby for high political moral sentiment, thought the movement would build up a political machine in the State with Mr. Colby at its head.

At the meeting were Senator O. H. Brown, Sheriff C. Asa Francis, Judge Foster, Assemblyman Walter S. Reed, County Clerk Joseph McDermott, Chairman J. H. Bennett, of Long Branch; D. D. De Nise, of Freehold; Dr. Orville Van Wickle, of Matawan; Former Sheriff Obadiah Davis, of Shrewsbury; D. G. Van Note and F. E. Price, of Middletown; I. M. Davison, of Englishtown; Edward A. Sexsmith, of Wall; Edward Taylor, of Atlantic; Richard Lufborrow, of Middletown, and D. W. Van Note, of Belford.

Governor and Dickinson Disagree Over Hudson County Appointment.

Political gossip in Jersey City yesterday had it that there is a coolness between Colonel Samuel D. Dickinson, Secretary of State, and Governor Stokes because of the alleged refusal of the latter to oblige the Colonel by refusing to name a supporter of Mayor Fagan as a member of the new Hudson County Board of Equalization of Taxation. It is said that the Governor announced to the Colonel that he had decided to appoint a man who has the recommendation of the Jersey City administration.

Colonel Dickinson, it is said, thereupon informed the Governor that he would not recommend any one for membership in a Board that would have a Fagan supporter on it. It is known that friends of former Sheriff Alexander McLean, of Jersey City, a legislative correspondent, had counted on the Colonel supporting him for a position on the new Board.

It is said that Senator James F. Minturn, of Hoboken, has recommended to the Governor as the choice of the Democratic party for the minority membership of the Board James E. Connolly, secretary of the present County Board.

If one Republican member and the minority member come from Jersey City it is believed that the Governor will go to Hoboken for the third member of the Board, if he does not select a Republican from North Hudson.

Mrs. Charles G. French, of St. Paul, accompanied by her two sons, is visiting relatives in the borough. This is her first visit to her home since her marriage about five years ago.

FEARED SCUDDER AS FREEHOLDER CANDIDATE

THAT REASON ASSIGNED FOR URGING HIM IN PLACE OF CRANE.

Those who are regarded as knowing all about the political problems of Westfield say that the real reason for substituting Mulford Scudder, of that place, for Judge J. Williams Crane, of Elizabeth, as the choice for the Democratic member of the County Board of Commissioners for the Equalization of Taxes for Union County, is found in the necessity for getting Scudder out of the way. He was not heard of as a candidate until the death of Freeholder Connolly, of Westfield, a few weeks ago. As it was felt that Connolly was the only man who could beat him in a run for office he is looked upon as a man that required to be beguiled into passivity if the berth in the Board of Freeholders is to be preserved to the Republican party.

An appointment on the Tax Commission, it was argued, would put him out of the game for some time to come, and to do this Charles N. Codding, deputy clerk of the Supreme Court, and Assemblyman Perkins are bending all their energies. And it is felt there that there must be strong reasons for this success if the Governor is to ignore the fact that Judge Crane is backed by the best business, social and political strength of Elizabeth and the county at large. Senator Ackerman, it is pointed out, will not indorse any other man, and it is not thought that Governor Stokes will excuse the appointment of Scudder on the plea of Crane's advanced age and the onerous duties to be performed by the new commissioners, which is looked upon as the only excuse that can be offered for the rejection of Crane.

Jersey's regulars ate shad all right, but who is to eat the crow?

Not in many years has there been such a parade as the carnival pageant Saturday afternoon. Practically the whole town turned out to witness the demonstration which was hugely enjoyable from start to finish. That it surpassed expectations is generally admitted as is also the fact that Mr. Fisk as an originator of carnival ideas "do beat all."

For its action in voluntarily reducing the rates for electricity and gas in Bound Brook, Somerville and New Brunswick, the Public Service Corporation is certainly deserving of credit although it will never get it from those who dislike to give justice to whom it is due, particularly when the one who should receive it is a corporation. There was no influence brought to bear on the company, whatever, but the officials determined that it would be unfair to make any distinction and without hesitation decided to treat all alike.

GOVERNOR ASKED FOR SQUIRRELS.

Saw Them Tame in Harrisburg and Suggested Them Here for People.

The placing of squirrels in the State house grounds is following a wish of Governor Stokes that the animals might be provided for the people to look at. The Governor on visiting Harvard university a couple of years ago noticed the number of tame squirrels on the college campus and in the woods. Last year he called on Governor Pennypacker in Harrisburg and was delighted with the number of tame squirrels in the State house grounds. This led him to ask the State House Commission to provide them for the New Jersey State nouse grounds, and they have been so provided.

The squirrels are now in one box in a tree of the grounds and after they have been out there for a time, one of them will be released and watch kept to see if he will return to his mate. If this is so, then others will be released and in this way it is hoped that the animals will be contented with the trees in the State house grounds and for the food which will be given them. It was suggested to the Governor yesterday that an appropriation will have to be authorized by the Legislature for feeding them.

SAILOR CHARGES BRUTALITY.

Seaman Declares He Saw an Elizabeth Father Cruelly Beat Son.

Elizabeth, May 21.—Miss Josephine Kremm, an agent in this city for the State Charity Organization and also the Children's Guardian Society, went before the grand jury last week with Hugh Kilpatrick, ten years old, of 65 Erie street, Elizabethport, who, she charged, had been cruelly beaten by his father, William Kilpatrick. Miss Kremm was accompanied by David Brown, of 50 Florida street, Elizabethport, who is one of the sailors of the battleship Kentucky. Brown, who is home on a furlough, declared he saw the boy's father tie him to a table and beat him with a club. The lad's body is badly bruised.

After the grand jury heard the story Miss Kremm took young Kilpatrick before Judge Mahon, in police court, and had him swear out a warrant against his father, who will be arrested and arraigned in police court today. Seaman Brown told the police magistrate the same story he had previously related to the grand jury. Then the agent, accompanied by Brown, took the boy to the office of Dr. Theodore F. Livengood, 1105 East Jersey street, to have the lad examined by the physician as to the extent of his injuries. The doctor's certificate will be made a part of the case today against the parent.

M. Cobbs, Joseph C. Blimm, P. S. Dayton, John A. Koch, C. H. Farley, W. W. Wilson, Woodbrook Farm, George Conover, Marchant Brothers, Cormack Caulfield, E. R. Mills, the Washington Rock Spring Water Company, the City Steam and Hand Laundry, T. Callahan & Son, W. W. Warnock, Fred Dunn, J. P. Homan, The Vacuum Cleaning Company and the Plainfield Compressed Air Cleaning Company and Woolston & Buckle. The Oshkosh Club occupied a big stage and enlivened things along the route with some of the songs that made hits in its productions at the Casino.

The third and last division was made up of automobiles, of which there were about twenty-five in line. Frank L. C. Martin and Allen B. Laing were marshals. It was optional with the owners whether they decorated or not and only a few of them did. The most conspicuous was one entered by Morris Brothers, which had a pretty floral canopy.

In the second division the marshal's aides were Harry Butler, Hartley Mellick, A. R. Fisk, Harry Finch and R. A. Shebbeare.

The parade was reviewed from the porch of the Casino by Maze Edwards, secretary of the carnival committee, Mayors Buckle and Smalley, former mayors of the city and borough and officials and the Muhlenberg Hospital Board of Governors.

Prizes were offered for the most unique rig in line and for the best decorated float but the judges have not yet announced which were selected. They will in all probability do so tonight and it is understood that the first prize is to go to the Hooley rig.

UNION MEN WILL PARADE LABOR DAY.

Elizabeth Workingmen Contemplate Biggest Demonstration Given There.

After many years of inactivity Elizabeth is to have a big parade next Labor Day. It will be held by the local labor organizations and promises to be one of the biggest affairs of its kind ever conducted in this community. The Union County Trades Council and the Building Trades Council of that city are now busy with preparations for the event. They expect to have between 4,000 and 5,000 men in line, together with floats, bands and other accessories. The object of the parade is to show the strength of unionism in Elizabeth and in Union county. The parade will probably be followed by a banquet and speech-making, and there will be many prominent men in the labor world present.

Prizes will be awarded to the union making the best appearance and also to the union having the most members on parade. Already there is much rivalry evident.

In order to defray the cost incurred in the affair it will be necessary for the committee to solicit subscriptions from Elizabeth's business men. There is no doubt but that they will meet with hearty support.

Just now everything in labor circles is quiet and harmonious. The few slight agitations have been settled peaceably, and the time is most opportune for a gathering of the labor forces. There will be a similar gathering in Newark, but it is not expected to conflict in any manner with the local demonstration. The citizens are asked to bedeck their homes, as there will surely be a big turnout.

City Proceeds Against Railroad.

Elizabeth, May 21.—City Attorney J. C. Connolly has begun court proceedings against the Central Railroad of New Jersey charging violation of a city ordinance forbidding the erection of wooden structures within certain fire lines. A short time ago the company, at the solicitation of a large number of residents of Elizabethport who use the Newark branch of the Central Railroad daily, erected a frame station for their accommodation at Fourth street.

MOVING TIME IS HERE.

Why not come in and talk with us? OFFERS REWARD FOR MISSING WIFE.

Frances De Angelis, eighteen years old, wife of Nicolas De Angelis, a musical inventor, is missing from her home at Belleville. Dante Marconi, a wine merchant, who recently came to this country, it is charged by De Angelis, is responsible for the breaking up of his home.

The woman took with her her jewelry valued at $3,000, including a pair of diamond bracelets that had been willed to De Angelis by his grandmother, who was conected with the Italian nobility.

The husband has offered a reward of $100 for information that will lead to the arrest of the couple. The woman left behind two small children.

When she went away yesterday morning she told her mother she was going to Philadelphia to meet her husband, who went there Thursday. At 1 p. m. De Angelis came home, just one hour too late to see his wife, who hal gone away on a trolley car.

According to Rose Lombardo, a sister of Mrs. De Angelis, said to her:

"Good by, Rosie, I'll never again see Belleville."

Rose ran after a man who boarded the car with Mrs. De Angelis and attempted to pull him from the platform, but he laughed at Rosie and pushed her away.

De Angelis can give no reason for his wife's desertion. Their home life was happy, he says, and his wife had everything a woman could wish.

HARDLY QUALIFIED TO BE A UNITED STATES CITIZEN.

Applicant Gave the Name of the President as Roseville and Made Other Bulls.

William Kull, of No. 46 Magazine street, Newark, was a candidate yesterday for citizenship before Judge Ten Eyck in the Essex County Court of Common Pleas.

"What city is this you are living in?" asked the Judge.

"New Jersey," replied Kull.

"New Jersey is a State," corrected the Court. "Can you name any other State in America?"

"Oh, yes, Cincinnati," replied the applicant.

"Who is the chief magistrate of New Jersey?" asked the Court.

"The President," responded Kull.

"What is his name?" asked the Judge.

"Roseville," replied Kull.

"Take him away and let him learn more about our country and its institutions," the Court ordered.

Among the best-drawing of the attractions is the exhibition of freaks conducted by Maze Edwards, manager of the Casino. It is a great show, made up of headliners from the big dime museums and circuses.

Two special open-air features please the crowds—a brass band and a sensational high-wire bicycle balancing act. The act was performed in the afternoon and at 11 o'clock at night. It will be repeated every night this week at 11. A new act on the same order will be introduced next week.

The representatives of the general committee at the different attractions, as barkers and ticket collectors, were: H. H. Millar, John Cose, Thomas M. Muir, A. B. Marsh, B. C. Firstbrook, John Todd, Hugh Gray, Bert Fluck, William Firstbrook, Teddy Howse, Boardman Mosher, Robert McCormack, E. J. Peck, Thos. De Meza, D. C. Ivins, Arthur Reed, John Valiant, Carroll Runyon, Clinton Ivins, C. W. Fisk, J. Hartley Mellick, F. W. Butler, J. C. La Breque, Nelson Peterson, Harvey Fisk, H. W. Scott, W. N. Runyon, Reginald Roome, Arthur Peck, W. B. Tyler, Henry Bender, Robert Marsh, W. J. O'Keefe, A. R. Fisk, Kenneth Phillips, George Muir, Edward Nelson, Joseph Robinson, George Cose, G. N. Kirkner and Councilman Buxton.

At the right of the entrance is the headquarters' tent. Harry B. Lovell is in charge there, with George Schoonmaker and James Dodd to help him run things. Major Maze Edwards ought to be there to hold down his job as treasurer, but he is all taken up with the freak show. Harry Roberts is the programme man and he is doing a big business.

A bigger crowd is expected tonight. The Knights of the Golden Eagle will be in charge. The opening of the Carnival Store, which is to be run in conjunction with the Carnival Post Office, both being of a highly original scheme to give the visitors an opportunity to get big value for little money, with no risk of being blanked, will be one of the features of the evening.

Former Mayor Fisk has charge of the whole show, of which he is the originator, and directly under him is Manager W. S. Miller, a man who understands his business from "A to Z."

MAYOR BERRY FOR A SECOND TERM.

Republicans Are Unanimous for His Renomination—Politics Taking an Early Hold.

Politics has taken such an early hold in Union county this year that already there is considerable talk of the next Republican candidate for mayor in Elizabeth. As a general thing, Republicans in the city, both uptown and downtown, are agreed that Mayor Berry should again be nominated.

No opposition against Mayor Berry for a second term has developed. Not a word is heard about any other candidate on the Republican side. It is probable that the almost uanimous favor with which the idea of Mayor Berry's renomination is received will deter any other candidate for the nomination from entering the field.

Though it is believed that the party leaders are united in wishing Mayor Berry's renomination, the attitude of the mayor himself in that respect is problematic. He has not said that he would decline to run again. Neither has he intimated that he would accept the nomination if offered. A number of times he has been broached on the question, but in no case has he committed himself.

The Republican feel that if Mayor Berry is again put up for office, he will have no trouble in being elected. They look for a better majority than was given him two years ago. They argue that then he was accepted simply on faith, but now he would have the advantage of pointing to two successful years of service. There is no doubt as to the satisfaction with which Mayor Berry's administration has been received. In no part of the city has any complaint been offered. On the other hand, many have gone to unusual lengths in expressing their approbation. Approval has been general both from Democrats and Republicans.

One man who is rather close to the mayor stated that the mayor had told him he would not run again. When this was communicted to a Republican leading man, he said that sentiment for Mayor Berry for a second term was so strong that he couldnt' help but run again. His name on the ticket would lend strength, and circumstances have so wrought it that he is the logical Republican candidate for mayor this fall.

POSTAL CLERKS SAID TO BE DISSATISFIED.

Advancement in Salaries to Be Requested at State Association Meeting in Hoboken.

Hoboken, May 21.—At the annual convention of the New Jersey Association of Postal Clerks, which will meet in this city Memorial Day, an important discussion is scheduled to take place, to devise means for an advancement in salaries. According to a member of the local branch, there is considerable dissatisfaction on the part of employees of this branch of Uncle Sam's service. It is claimed that they are compelled to work over eight hours a day at times, when it is generally understood that eight hours shall constitute a day's work.

It is also claimed that the letter-carriers have been favored more by the department at Washington and they are prohibited from working over eight hours under penalty of a fine. The law requiring the carriers to adhere strictly to the eight-hour day is rigidly enforced, according to the clerks, and an effort will be made to have the law calling for clerks to work eight hours a day enforced, in addition to having the salary rate advanced. It is claimed by the dissatisfied clerks that they are underpaid and the salaries they receive are inadequate, and do not compare with salaries paid to clerks by corporations and other firms employing clerical forces.

It is expected by the local branch that 150 delegates will be in attendance at the sessions, the first one of which will convene at 11 a. m.. An afternoon session will also be held and will be followed by a banquet to be given in the evening at Meyer's Hotel. At the morning sessions the delegates will be welcomed to the city by Mayor George H. Steil. The banquet in the evening will be conducted on an elaborate scale, invitations having been extended to Senators John Kean and John F. Dryden, Congressman Allan McDermott and Marshall Van Winkle, to be present and address the delegates. Palmer Campbell, president of the Hoboken Board of Trade, will also be one of the speakers.

MORE ICEMEN ARE NOW CUTTING PRICE.

Newark's Mayor Determined to Force General Reduction of Extortionate Prices.

Newark, May 21.—More icemen were cutting the schedule price of eighty cents a hundred pounds to families in Newark Thursday, than at any time since May 1. In every quarter of the city families were served for sixty cents a hundred and there was a corresponding reduction in the prices to saloons, restaurants, butchers and grocers. In addition, the selling of five-cent pieces of ice to the poor, and in fact to anyone who wanted them, was begun for the first time since the Independent Ice Dealers' Association decreed that after May 1, nothing less than a ten-cent piece should be sold.

Mayor Doremus is vexed over the official decision of the independent ice dealers to maintain the May schedule.

The mayor said last night: "If it is within human possibility we will find a way to force a reduction of the exorbitant rates. This result must be accomplished or great suffering will ensue among the poor, and even among families in moderate circumstances. Worst of all, much distress will result to young children and in cases of illness. The high cost of ice will send food prices up and more suffering will result. The situation requires drastic action unless the ice men themselves do something in short order to relieve it. If it becomes necessary through their failure to heed the just public clamor such action can and will be taken."

The one pleasant feature of it all is that many dealers, acting on their own responsibility, have reduced the prices to all classes of trade. They do not seem to fear that they will be fined or otherwise punished in accordance with the rules of the independent association. Moreover, the association does not seem disposed to enforce the rule. It may be that such action would spell disruption to the organization.

CENTENNIAL OBSERVANCE OF HISTORIC CHURCH.

Will Be Observed May 27 With Gathering of Old Members From Various Places.

The one hundredth anniversary of the Connecticut Farms Presbyterian church at Union, will be celebrated with imposing ceremonies Sunday, May 27, and old members of the church will be present from various parts of the State. This is the church which figured in the Union county history of the Revolutionary war, and was the one of which the Rev. Mr. Caldwell was pastor, whose wife was murdered by a British soldier in her home, by a shot fired through the window, as the soldier was passing the house going from Elizabeth to join his command at the battle of Springfield.

It was this incident which has been recorded in history in connection with the battle of Springfield, and the part taken in it by Pastor Caldwell, who wrought to a pitch of vengence by murder of his wife grasped a gun from one of the continental soldiers, and having no ammunition rushed into the old church at Springfield in the heat of the battle, and grasping an armful of hymn books, tore them up for gun wads, and passing some of the books out to his comrades in arms who were fighting the red coats, cried, "Give 'em Watts, boys." This exclamation has come down in history.

The old church at Connecticut Farms was burned in the Revolution but was rebuilt just 100 years ago, and is together with the old Meeker Inn, which stands near by, and is of Revolutionary fame, are landmarks in Union county on the old road between Elizabeth and Springfield.

J. H. Searing and family, who live here, are former residents of Connecticut Farms, the father and grandfather having been born in that vicinity, and their ancestors having owned the same homestead near the old church for a time before the Revolution.

STILL URGING MAYOR TO APPOINT PATROLWOMEN.

Mrs. Goldzier Calls on Mayor Garven, of Bayonne, to Learn of His Action.

Mrs. Julia Goldzier, who startled Bayonne with a request to Mayor Garven that he appoint policewomen for the purpose of looking after the morals of the boys and girls on the street, has not given up hope of having her proposition adopted.

Mrs. Goldzier called yesterday on Mayor Garven to learn what action had been taken. The Mayor said he had been so much engaged in city matters that he did not have the time to give the necessary deep thought to her project. He promised to give the matter full consideration, and Mrs. Goldzier appeared pleased.

She is securing many signers among men and women for the petitions favoring the appointment of patrolwomen.

Carl Kersting, of Morristown, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Henry Liefke, of West Front street.

YOUR HAT
May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.
A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.
Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.
When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.
There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"Thank heaven!"

"Yes, miss—certainly! will you go h'up to her?"

"And Mutterchen, dear, it was a regular bombshell," she concluded after she had fluttered some of the November freshness into Mrs. Van Geist's room, and breathlessly related the facts.

"You demented creature! I should say it must have been."

"Now, don't lecture!"

"But Shepler is one of the richest men in New York."

"Dad already suspects as much."

"'A woman fancier,' Fidelia Oldaker calls him."

"My dear, if he fancies you—"

"There, you old conservative, I've heard all his good points, and my duty has been written before me in letters of fire. Dad devoted three hours to writing it this morning, so don't, please, say over any of the moral maxims I'm likely to have heard."

"But why are you unwilling?"

"Because—because I'm wild, I fancy—just because I don't like the idea of marrying that man. He's such a big, funny, round head, and positively no neck—his head just rolls around on his big, pillowy shoulders—and then he gets little right at once, tapers right off to a point with those tiny feet."

"It isn't easy to have everything."

"It wouldn't be easy to have him, either."

Mrs. Van Geist fixed her niece with a sudden look of suspicion.

"Has—has that man anything to do with your refusal?"

"No—not a thing—I give you my word, auntie. If he had been what I once dreamed he was, no one would be asking me to marry him now, but—do you know what I've decided? Why, that he is a joke—that's all—just a joke. You needn't think of him, Mutterchen—I don't, except to think it was funny that he should have impressed me so—he's simply a joke."

"I could have told you as much long ago."

"Tell me something now. Suppose Fred marries that Wybert woman."

"It will be a sorry day for Fred."

"Of course! Now see how I'm pinned. Dad and the mater both say the same now—they're more severe than I was. Only we were never in such straits for money. It must be had. So this is the gist of it: I ought to marry Rulon Shepler in order to save Fred from a marriage that might get us into all sorts of scandal."

"Well?"

"Well, I would do a lot for Fred. He has faults, but he's always been good to me."

"And so?"

"And so it's a question whether he marries a very certain kind of woman or whether I marry a very different kind of man."

"How do you feel?"

"For one thing, Fred sha'n't get into that kind of muss if I can save him from it."

"Then you'll marry Shepler?"

"I'm still uncertain about Mr. Shepler."

"But you say—"

"Yes, I know, but I've reasons for being uncertain. If I told you you'd say they're like the most of a woman's reasons, mere fond, foolish hopes, so I won't tell you."

"Well, dear, work it out by your lonely if you must. I believe you'll do what's best for everybody in the end. And I am glad that your father and Margaret take your view of that woman."

"I was sure she wasn't right—and I knew Mr. Bines was too much of a man to speak of her as he did without positive knowledge. Now please give me some tea and funny little cakes; I'm famished."

"Speaking of Mr. Bines," said Mrs. Van Geist, when the tea had been brought by Sandon, "I read in the paper this morning that he'd taken a party to North Carolina for the quail shooting, Eddie Arledge and his wife and that Mr. and Mrs. Garmer, and of course Florence Akemit. Should you have thought she'd marry so soon after her divorce? They say Bishop Doolittle is frightfully vexed with her."

"Really I hadn't heard. Whom is Florence to marry?"

"Mr. Bines, to be sure! Where have you been? You know she was on his yacht a whole month last summer—the bishop's sister was with her—highly scandalized all the time by the drinking and gayety, and now every one's looking for the engagement to be announced. Here, what did I do with that Town Topics Cousin Clint left? There it is on the tabouret. Read the paragraph at the top of the page." Avice read:

"An engagement that is rumored with uncommon persistence will put society on the qui vive when it is definitely announced. The man in the case is the young son of a mining Croesus from Montana, who has inherited the major portion of his father's millions and who began to dazzle upper Broadway about a year since by the reckless prodigality of his ways. His blonde innamorata is a recent divorcee of high social standing, noted for her sparkling wit and an unflagging exuberance of spirits. The interest of the gossips, however, centers chiefly in the uncle of the lady, a right reverend presiding over a bishopric not a thousand miles from New York, and in the attitude he will assume toward her contemplated remarriage. At the last Episcopal convention this godly and well-learned gentleman was a vehement supporter of the proposed canon to prohibit absolutely the marriage of divorced persons; and though he stoutly championed his bewitching niece through the infelicities that eventuated in South Dakota, on dit that he is highly wrought up over her present intentions, and has signified unmistakably his severest disapproval. However, nous verrons ce que nous verrons."

"But, Mutterchen, that's only one of those absurd, vulgar things that wretched paper is always printing. I could write dozens of them myself. Tom Banning says they keep one man writing them all the time, out of his own imagination, and then they put them in like raisins in a cake."

"But, my dear, I'm quite sure this is authentic. I know from Fidelia Oldaker that the bishop began to cut up about it to Florence, and Florence defied him. That ancient theory that most gossip is without truth was exploded long ago. As a matter of fact most gossip, at least about the people we know, doesn't do half justice to the facts. But, really, I can't see why he fancied Florence Akemit. I should have thought he'd want some one a bit less fluttery."

"I dare say you're right, about the gossip, I mean—" Miss Milbrey remarked when she had finished her tea, and refused the cakes. "I remember, now, one day when we met at her place, and he seemed so much at home there. Of course, it must be so. How stupid of me to doubt it! Now I must run. Good-by, you old dear, and be good to the cold."

"Let me know what you do."

"Indeed I shall; you shall be the first one to know. My mind is really, you know, almost made up."

A week later Mr. and Mrs. Horace Milbrey announced in the public prints the engagement of their daughter Avice to Mr. Rulon Shepler.

STOKES EXPLAINS VALENTINA VOTE.

Says There Was No Legal Justification for Commutation—"Mercy Alone Prompted."

Trenton, May 21. — Governor Stokes, who voted Thursday to commute the death penalty of Anna Valentina to a term of life imprisonment, did so, he says, in the full belief that there was no legal justification for leniency. The Governor filed with the Court of Pardons yesterday the following statement, explaining his vote:

"I deem it proper to file the reason for my vote for commutation of the sentence of Anna Valentina to life imprisonment. The murder of Rosa Salza was, in my judgment, most brutal, heartless and unjustifiable. The killing of a mother with an innocent babe of three and one-half months old at her breast is an offence, the enormity of which is appalling and beyond the appeal of mitigating circumstances. There seems to be no legal justification for leniency in the case.

"I cast my vote for commutation solely and entirely upon the ground of mercy to a human being, and I file this statement in order that in future my vote will not be cited as a reason for further clemency or relief from life imprisonment.

NINE WON A HARD FIGHT

4 TO 1 WAS THE SCORE

Pitchers' Duel Between Smith and McGee In Which the High School Lad Has a Little the Better of It.

One bad inning, in which things broke all wrong for them, settled the fate of the Paterson nine in a tight struggle at the Oval Saturday afternoon. With the exception of that inning, the game was as close and exciting a contest as one could see on a diamond.

Phil. Smith again pitched. For the most part, the game was a duel between him and McGee, in which the honors piled slightly higher for the young Plainfielder. Both pitchers exhibited a pretty assortment of curves and shoots. The support of both teams was lively, and, at times, brilliant. Several times the losers checked what promised to be a Plainfield rush by snappy work of machine-like precision.

Paterson took the lead in the first inning. C. Hartman got to first on Curley's poor throw and stole second. Pollard fanned, but Martin singled, and Hartman scored. Smith put on steam and struck out the next two batters.

He started the successful chase after that lead in the third by leading off with the first hit secured off McGee, a stinging grounder to third. He got second base on Bertwhistle's sacrifice and scored on Brogan's single to center. Henriques fanned and Reardon was an easy out, pitcher to first.

In the exciting seventh, Heffron started off with a strike-out, but Curley hit cleanly to right field for a single. He stole second, and went to third on O'Neil's out, second baseman to first. Smith hit sharply to shortstop and Hartman fumbled, allowing Curley to score and Smith to make the base. Bertwhistle hit out a Texas leaguer to right, and he and Smith kept going while the fielders chased the ball. Stapleton, trying to whip the ball to home plate to shut off Smith, hurled it out of Orr's reach in the left field bleachers. Bertwhistle didn't have to hurry following Smith in. Brogan got to first on the second baseman's error, but was caught stealing second.

Paterson made a plucky and scrappy attempt to retrieve the game in the ninth, but a strike-out and some lightning throwing by O'Neil and Henriques pulled down the gallant foe abruptly.

DAABSTERS DEFEAT THE MURRAY HILLS

WITH DEEGAN IN THE BOX—SCORE WAS THREE TO TWO.

The Hobokens continued their winning streak yesterday when they defeated the Murray Hills at St. Georges Cricket Grounds. The score was 3 to 2. "Willie" Deegan pitched for the home team, but he was touched up in lively fashion. Only for the sharp fielding of the team behind him the result might have been reserved. The twirler surprised himself and his mates by making a home run. The visitors got nine hits, while the Hobokens made a total of five off of Dougherty. The score:

LAKE'S HIT ENDS AN EXCITING CONTEST—GARRETSON'S GREAT DRIVE.

The Dunellen F. C. won an exciting game from the Laurels, of Bound Brook, Saturday afternoon, at Dunellen. When Dunellen went to the bat in their half of the ninth the score stood 4 to 3 against them, Garretson, the first man up, drove the first ball pitched to deep center garden for three bases, one of the longest hits ever made on the home grounds. It sent Harney up in the air for he walked the next two men. Then Lake singled past third base, scoring two men and winning the game for Dunellen.

In the second round one match was played, Miss Valiant defeating Miss Laura Lovell, 6-3, 6-4. The remaining matches will probably be played off early this week at the convenience of the contestants.

LEAL'S SCHOOL 12, MORRISTOWN LADS 6

MERRY-GO-ROUND IN THE SEVENTH SETTLES THE CONTEST.

Leal's School team played its annual baseball game with Morristown School, at Morristown, on Saturday, and the result was a decided victory for the Plainfield boys by a score of 12 to 6. The private school boys showed a decided improvement in both batting and fielding. Guterriez held down the initial bag with marked ability and Roger Wilcox was fast and sure in covering his territory in the outfield. Up to the seventh inning the game looked discouraging for Leal's, but in that inning the curves of the Morristown pitcher were solved and the visitors made nine runs, C. Wilcox and Howard each making a two bagger. The steadiness of Bergen, Leal's pitcher, was in marked contrast to the pitching of Kelly for Morristown, who lost control at critical moments and allowed fourteen safe hits. The line-up of Leals and score by innings follow:

TENNIS.

The continuous tennis tournament which has been in progress at the Plainfield Country Club during the past two weeks resulted in some fine play on Saturday. The results were as follows:

A. D. Beers, 3, beat Howard Carter, 4, 6-3, 6-0; W. T. Klenney, 9, beat F. W. Goddard, 5, 7-6, 6-1; J. P. Martin, 35, beat J. L. Fleming, 34, 6-3, 6-2; H. J. Cochran, 1, beat T. M. Day, 7, 6-1, 6-2; Howard Carter, 4, beat Arthur Lovell, 11, 6-1, 8-6; H. Brown, 25, beat T. M. Day, 3d, 36, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4; Arthur Lovell, 11, beat J. F. Middledith, 18, 7-5, 2-6, 6-1; H. J. Cochran, 1, beat Howard Carter, 4, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1. Glenney took Goddard's number and Martin took Fleming's number. Otherwise there were no changes in the handicaps.

COLUMBIA GOLFERS FAILED TO APPEAR

HEIR MATCH WITH PLAINFIELD COUNTRY CLUB WILL TAKE PLACE LATER.

For some unknown reason the Columbia College golf team did not put in an appearance at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday for the scheduled match, but it is likely that the contest will come off a little later. There was the usual weekly play for the Golf Committee cup and competition for the May cup. L. A. Chase won first honors for the Golf Committee cup and also scored a win for the monthly competition trophy. Those who have scored wins for the May cup will play off to determine the winner. Mr. Chase returned the low net score of 76.

Howard W. Beebe won second honors for the Golf Committee cup with a net score of 77, while Frank O. Reinhart and W. Lester Glenney divided the one point, each posting a net score of 81, with a handicap of plus 2.

These scores were returned for both cups:

L. A. Chase, 88, 12—76; H. W. Beebe, 90, 13—77; Frank O. Reinhart, 79, plus 2—81; W. Lester Glenney, 79, plus 2—81; C. B. Morgan, 82, 0—82; S. D. Lounsbery, 89, 7—82; Henry D. Hibbard, 88, 5—83; Arthur Murphy, 89, 5—84; F. C. Jennings, 84, 0—84; L. L. Tweedy, 106, 21—85; J. Whitney Baker, 89, plus 1—90; R. H. Cox, 119, 27—92.

Unusual interest has been shown in the weekly clock golf competition for women and there was a large number of contestants. The event was won by Miss Margaret Goddard who made a score of 26. This game is popular especially among the women as it affords an opportunity for them to watch the play without walking great distances over the course. There were social features at the clubhouse on Saturday that were enjoyed by a large number of members and altogether the day was one of great pleasure for all.

The semi-final match play for the May handicap cup at the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday resulted as follows: Class A—Worth beat Knight, 6 up and 4 to go; Sherman won by default. Class B—Smith beat VanDyke, 1 up; Kerchner beat Poor, 2 up. Those qualifying for the June handicap cup, match play, third round, are as follows: A. D. Tuttle, 88! F. B. Simpson, 90; Robert Turrell, 91; F. P. Condit, 91; A. L. Russell, 93; J. A. Woodward, 93; G. E. Cruse, 96.

MISSING YOUTH RETURNS

Daniel Norton Makes an Undramatic Re-appearance in Fanwood Borough.

WORKED ON A FARM

Went There From North Plainfield; Left His Employer Because He Didn't Get What Was Coming to Him.

Daniel Norton, the eighteen-year-old pupil of the Groszmann School of Atypical Children, who disappeared from Somerset street, nearly two months ago, turned up in Fanwood yesterday afternoon. As had been surmised by the police, he spent most of the time of his disappearance as a farmhand in the back-country.

Norton was seen in Fanwood by David Dunn, an iceman, shortly before 4 o'clock. His peculiar gait and other strongly marked points of description attracted Dunn's attention, and recalled the circular describing the youth that was distributed over the country after the disappearance. Dunn telephoned to Constable Charles Sheelen, and the latter posted himself on the watch for the youth.

He got Norton at the railroad bridge. Norton went with him unprotestingly. Sheelen telephoned to the school, and Henry Groszmann, the principal's son, drove down to Fanwood to complete the identification.

He took the youth back with him. In front of L. W. Randolph's drug store Dr. Groszmann and his wife met the two. Mrs. Groszmann was so overcome by Norton's return that she fainted.

The youth was in good condition, and well dressed. He said he went from North Plainfield to Dover, where he hired out to a farmer. He worked there for several weeks, but, not getting the money promised him, he left. He went to New York for a couple of days, and then travelled to Elizabeth, where he purchased new clothes. He said he was returning to the school when Sheelen stopped him.

FITZ HELPED THE SHOW.

Famous Pugilist Used by Judge Runyon to Boom Carnival Circus.

Robert Fitzsimmons, the ex-heavyweight champion pugilist, who recently became the owner of the Edward White place in Dunellen, was one of the attractions at the Carnival last night, and helped swell the receipts.

Fitz merely came down to look things over, but Judge Runyon, barking before the circus, saw that he might be turned into a moneymaker, and promptly seized the opportunity. He called everybody's attention to Fitz, and in about three minutes there was an admiring crowd gathered about the famous fighter. Then the Judge got Fitz to go into his show and the crowded house that resulted turned the heads of the performers.

"It was a blooming fine show," said Fitz after the performance, and the resourceful barker used the endorsement for all it was worth.

It is anticipated that there will be a large audience to greet Dr. Kimball, who is rated as one of the leading advocates and best informed men in the country on Christian Science; what it is and what it means. The church where the lecture will take place is at the corner of North avenue and Eastman street.

Honor the Memory of Dead Jurist.

Upon the recommendation of Judge Gilhooley, the Union County Courts adjourned yesterday afternoon until Monday, out of respect to the memory of Justice Jonathan Dixon, whose death occurred yesterday morning. Several lawyers in court spoke eloquently of the dead jurist, referring to his long and honored career on the bench.

Adjourned Meeting to Monday Night.

Because of the lack of a quorum the Common Council could not hold an adjourned meeting last night. President Tolles and Councilmen Charles Q. Randolph, Frank Randolph, Herbert Buxton and W. L. Gloak, together with City Clerk MacMurray were present. It was decided to put the meeting off until Monday night.

MR. HOOLEY'S BURRO TOOK HOME 1ST PRIZE

EVERY LITTLE SHAVER IN TOWN WANTED THE TINY ANIMAL.

Chairman Harry L. Hall, of the Carnival parade judges' committee, announced the following prize winners, last night:

Private rigs with unique decorations, first prize, E. S. Hooley; second, George A. Beaton; floats, first prize, Frank Linke; second, the Waldorf Cafe; third, the Plainfield Business College; trades represented, first, Patrick Kane; second, J. S. Manhattan; delivery rigs, first, Fred W. Dunn; second, W. W. Wilson; auto trucks, first, Frank VanWinkle; second, C. M. Nagle; decorated autos, first, A. J. Winans; second, Willard Wadsworth.

Mr. Hooley's entry was the little donkey rig and was picked by nearly everyone as a sure winner. It was one of the "cutest" affairs ever seen in a parade but made trouble for hundreds of fond fathers who are still busy explaining to young hopefuls why they can't have one like it. Frank Linke's float was the one on which soda water was made and distributed and Kan'e rig held an arch made of sewer pipe, Mr. Kane being a sewer contractor.

One of the entries which attracted much attention and was considered as a prize winner was Cormack Caulfield's dancing horse, "Irish Lad." The animal was a circus performer for many years and almost any kind of music will set it to keeping time, changing from waltz or two-step as easily as would a dancing master. It was not seen at its best Saturday as it was so far behind the band that it had nothing to go by.

LAWYER MENTIONED FOR DISTRICT COURT CLERKSHIP

F. J. P. HUFF WILL PROBABLY GET IT IF WILLIAM NEWCORN BECOMES JUDGE.

Another candidate for a district court plum is in the field. Lawyer F. J. P. Huff is mentioned for the clerkship.

The wise ones have him picked as the appointee, providing Former Assemblyman William Newcorn gets the judgeship. The forecast is based on the fact that Mr. Huff studied law in Mr. Newcorn's office and acted as his confidential clerk for years. After his admission to the bar, Mr. Huff was in partnership with his preceptor, and the latter naturally feels that Mr. Huff is more familiar with his methods and manner of looking at things than anybody else available for the position could possibly be.

A friend of Mr. Huff said this morning that he was willing to take the office. He is, of course, thoroughly fitted for it, his legal training making him a peculiarly valuable man for the place. The job pays $600 a year and does not take up much time.

In Memory of Late John Valiant.

In memory of John Valiant, who for ten years was superintendent of Grace M. E. church Sunday-school, and one of the most prominent workers in that church, special services were held at the church Sunday morning and at the Sunday-school session in the afternoon. It was a year ago Sunday morning that Mr. Valiant died. At the morning service the pastor, Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons, made eloquent and touching reference to the life of the departed member. At the Sunday-school appropriate remarks were made by several officers and teachers in remembrance of Mr. Valiant.

Wants Witnesses to Trolley Accident.

Joseph H. Mangers, of 11 Washington street, East Orange, was thrown from a trolley car on Richmond street, near Fourth, on the morning of May 9 and he is anxious to secure witnesses to the accident. He was severely sprained and bruised about the back, compelling him to leave off work for a week and undergo medical treatment. The trolley company ignored Mr. Mangers' notification of the fact and he intends bringing suit to recover the amount of the doctor's expenses.

Miss Taylor Maid of Honor.

Miss Bessie Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas House Taylor, whose home is near Washington Rock, will be maid of honor at the marriage of her cousin, Miss Marguerite Millbank Baker, daughter of Mrs. William Martyn Baker, to William Darby L'Huiller at All Angels church, Eighty-first street and West End avenue, New York, on Wednesday, June 6, at 4 o'clock.

Miss Nellie Clarkson, of East Second street, is entertaining a friend from Elizabeth.

CHRIST'S TRIAL UNFAIR

Lawyer Picks Flaws in Procedure by Which Saviour Was Condemned.

BEFORE MEN'S CLUB

Mr. Chandler Describes Incidents of Trial and Sounds Praises of the Jewish People.

"The Trial of Jesus from a Lawyer's Standpoint" was the subject of a strong address given before the Men's Club of the First Baptist church, last night, by Walter A. Chandler, a prominent member of the New York Bar. There was a large attendance of members of the club.

The Gotham lawyer introduced two important elements in his talk—law and fact—upon which every lawyer builds his case no matter what it may be. Upon these bases he proved conclusively to the satisfaction of the audience that Jesus did not have a fair trial, in fact many long established laws were disregarded and that He was not even accorded the common decency and courtesy given to the assassin of the late President McKinley.

In his effort to show the mistakes of those who acted as judges of Jesus, he mentioned what he considered to be several blunders. In the first place he said that Jesus was tried at night, which was contrary to law. He was arrested about midnight and the trial was held at 3 o'clock in the morning. In the second place the law said that no court could have jurisdiction before sunrise, another violation of the law in the trial. The third blunder was that the trial was begun on the day of the Feast of the Passover, which was also in direct violation of the law and fourthly the judges held secret conclaves, at which the accused was not present, and they discussed ways and means to put Christ to death, thereby convicting him in their own hearts before he had had a trial.

Mr. Chandler said that it was on a charge of blasphemy that Christ was convicted, the penalty for which was being stoned to death and not crucifixion. The first trial spoken of was the ecclesiastical. He then referred to the civil trial which followed. This he characterized as a time for great frolic on the part of Christ's accusers, and he described the awful scenes when Christ was reviled and taunted and His persecutors spat upon him. That night of torture he declared to be the most pathetic in the history of the Passion.

The speaker said that the vilest man is entitled to the fullest protection of the sheriff until the ends of justice are met, yet here was an act almost the equal of lynch law which is so familiar to some people in certain States, and any State that permitted lynching he declared to be a disgrace to the map.

Mr. Chandler then pictured Pontius Pilate before whom Christ was brought. He said that undoubtedly Pilate tried Jesus on a charge of "Kingship," for he asked him "Art thou the King of the Jews?" and the answer "My Kingdom is not of this world," suggested to Pilate that Christ must be guilty of high treason. Although Pilate did hate the Jews and they hated him, Mr. Chandler said that it was because of the fear that he might lose his political job that he went contrary to his own conscience and the advice of his wife who told him that he had better release Christ. He described Pilate as probably being a brilliantly educated man and he imagined that he got up mornings about the time that New York's "400" arouse from their slumbers, at 11:30. Although the Jews had tried and convicted Christ they could not execute the law, it being left to the Romans to carry that into effect; hence the crucifixion of Christ by the Romans.

Mr. Chandler during the course of his remarks devoted some thought and attention to the Jews as a race and cited many instances where this people have not only ruled, but controlled vast interests. In his opinion he declared that no prejudice should be held against the Jew because of his race and any man holding such should not be entitled to the protection of the American flag. He held this view, he said, because of the fact that Christ was a Jew, that it was He who made the Bible possible and did so much for the world.

Before the lecture William Holmes favored the club and its friends with a baritone solo, accompanied by Howard Case on the organ. This was the last meeting of the club until fall and it closes a most successful season.

Lucetta Council, Daughters of Liberty, will hold a dance in its rooms tomorrow night.

5,000 ENJOY CARNIVAL

DOING GREAT BUSINESS

Reaping in the Coin At All of the Thirty-six Tented Attractions —Golden Eagles Were in Charge.

Not even chill winds and a nipping air could dampen the Carnival spirit of the populace last night. In spite of the searching breezes, there was a crowd of 5,000 persons on the show grounds.

Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, first of the societies to take up the burden of booming things, had charge of the attractions. The Knights jumped into the prize class as barkers without delay, and the result of their work was very plainly to be seen. All the attractions did a big business, crowd after crowd filling the different show tents. There were not quite enough Knights to go around, and a few of the unspurred did service at the business end of the megaphone and the box office.

The unarmored band of workers included:

J. M. Shellabarger, William Counihan, Leonce Texier, James Cochran, Carroll Runyon, John Fritts, Edward Canning, James W. Robinson, Elmer Runyon, Clifford McGee and W. F. Righter.

A new attractions, in the form of a squirming mess of sacred Indian snakes, opened last night. The man at "Is Marriage a Failure," put in a lot of new arguments, pro and con, and he says he has a bigger bunch in stock to unloosen. Lavardo and Sturant's high wire bicycle and trapeze act, under the glare of the searchlight, at 11 o'clock, made a climax to the evening thrilling enough for the most hardened carnivalier.

Trinity Commandery, Knights Templar, will have charge tonight. They will parade to the grounds.

RAN AWAY WITH PONY CART FROM CARNIVAL

COLORED BOY'S ESCAPADE LANDS HIM IN CITY JAIL FOR THE NIGHT.

Ernest Waldron, colored, 13 years old, was arrested last night on Front street for running away from the Carnival grounds with a pony carriage belonging to Mrs. Caroline J. Ohl, of Central avenue. Ernest has been work for Mrs. Ohl, and her son took him with him to the Carnival in the little two-wheeled cart. They became separated on the grounds. When Ohl looked for his cart it was gone. He reported its disappearance to the police, who sent out a general alarm over the city. The rig, which is a familiar sight about the city, was spotted on Madison avenue not long after by a patrolman. Ernest was driving it, and he spent the rest of the night in the station house.

He told Judge Runyon in the city court this morning that he only took the rig to call on his brother. The magistrate was skeptical of Ernest's innocent intent, and held him for the Juvenile Court, which Capt. Irwin, of the probation officer's staff, presides over every Saturday morning. The boy was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

Jules C. Bovey.

Jules C. Bovey, son of Henrietta and the late Jules B. Bovey, died yesterday at his home in Brooklyn. He was forty-three years old and a former resident of the borough. He leaves a widow and one son and a sister, Mrs. William Demarest, of Somerset street. The funeral will be held at his late residence, 345 Atlantic avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Miss Marsh, of Philadelphia, is spending a few days in Plainfield with friends.

DEFENDED JOHN BROWN

F. B. Sanborn, a Personal Friend of Great Abolitionist Tells of His Life.

MANY FALSE STORIES

Did Not Kiss Colored Child As He Was Led Out to Die—Exhibited His Last Photograph.

Francis B. Sanborn, of Concord, Mass., who is one of the last of the brilliant literary group which made Boston famous as the intellectual center of the country some years ago, addressed the Monday Afternoon Club yesterday on "John Brown of Kansas." It was the last of the present season's series of lectures conducted by the organization and was heard by a good sized gathering.

Mr. Sanborn had been directly associated with John Brown in several ways and his address was based on personal observation and knowledge of the man, who, he said, had now reached the mythical period of human existence. There have been many stories told of him, he asserted, a few of which are true and a great many absolutely without foundation. He referred particularly to the one dealing with his march to the gallows, which states that as he was being conducted along, Brown stooped and kissed a little negro child. The speaker declared this was a physical impossibility as his hands were tied behind him, guards were all about him and people were kept at a distance, "yet," continued Mr. Sanborn, "this story is so firmly fixed in the minds of the people that it is almost foolish to try and make them believe otherwise."

The speaker detailed Brown's early life, mentioning as a coincidence that he once studied in a school at Plainfield, Mass., intending to enter the ministry but was compelled to give up because of his eye sight failing. Leading up to the time when Brown became so greatly interested in the colored race as to devote time and money to teaching them, he pictured the man as one possessed of an unselfish nature and determined to practice what he believed. The stirring period in Brown's career when he led the anti-slavery forces in Kansas against the Missouri invaders and made the famous stand at Ossawattomie were related in a clear and concise manner by Mr. Sanborn and showed the man in a different light than what he is held as a rule.

Referring to the Harper's Ferry episode which led to his capture and sentence to death, the speaker declared that he consulted none of his friends before doing it and that no one could ever explain why he attempted the move in the face of certain capture. On the afternoon of that affair, he sat up in his blood-soaked garments and gave his ideas and opinions on the slavery question to the Governor of Virginia. A New York Herald reporter was the only one permitted to take them down, but they appeared in a garbled form, as did his address to the jury at the trial. He insisted then that slavery would only be abolished by force and succeeding events, said Mr. Sanborn, proved that he was right.

In conclusion the speaker said people frequently referred to Brown as having been insane but there was not the slightest shadow of insanity about him. He was a man of clear perception, firm will, inflexible purpose and possessed of a lofy and generous nature.

Previous to and after the lecture Mr. Sanborn showed photographs of Brown, one of which was taken especially for him and which was the last time he sat for a picture. He also exhibited a diary that Brown kept on his voyage to Europe in 1849 when he crossed the ocean to see what could be done toward building up the American wool trade.

Mr. Sanborn was long connected with the Massachusetts State Board of Charities, was one of the founders of the American Social Science Association, National Prison Association, Clarke School for the Deaf and other institutions. He has been for many years one of the editors of the Springfield Republican and has published biographies of John Brown and Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe and a history of New Hampshire.

Reception for Brother Minister.

Prof. Edwin Shaw, of Milton College, Milton, Wis., a brother of Rev. George B. Shaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, will be given an informal reception tonight at the home of the latter in Central avenue. Prof. Shaw has just been ordained to the ministry at Milton and came to Plainfield from Salem, W. Va., where he attended one of the denominational meetings. Tomorrow morning he will leave for Berlin, N. Y., to attend another meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. He will be accompanied by his brother, Rev. George B. Shaw.

SIX PASSENGERS HURT IN TROLLEY CAR CRASH

Accident Happens When Big Loads Are Being Carried to Carnival Grounds.

NOT MOTORMAN'S FAULT

Trolley Car Ahead Off Wire and in Darkness—No Rear Danger Lights—List of Injured.

In a rear-end collision between two trolley cars on the West Fourth street line near New street at 8:25 last night, a half dozen passengers were severely cut and bruised and scores received a shock and thorough shaking up. That no loss of life or even serious injury resulted is in no small measure due to the heroism of Motorman Niels Nielson, of the rear car, who stuck to his brake and did everything possible to prevent the crash. Those hurt the worst were treated by physicians and sent home, the following being the list secured:

CUMING, Miss Florence, 1012 Putnam avenue; cuts and bruises and severely shocked. Treated at nearby residence.

NEIDIG, Mrs. Frank, Manning avenue; severely bruised and contusions about the head. Treated at home.

ROSENSTIEHL, Mrs. Lafayette, Somerset street; bruised about the body and suffering from nervous shock. Treated at home.

The accident was indirectly due to the actions of some feather-brained boys on the front car, No. 1041, in charge of Motorman Conway and Conductor Hart, who pulled the trolley pole from the wire bringing the vehicle to a stop in one of the darkest spots along the line. It was crowded to the running boards with passengers, all bound for the Carnival, and they waited quietly for the lights to reappear. Car No. 486, with Motorman Nielson and Conductor Enman, had left the Watchung avenue terminus a few minutes after it and was running about two blocks behind, also packed with passengers.

No. 486 was at Arlington avenue when No. 1041 was at Central. It was at the latter point that the pole was pulled from the wire and the car's momentum carried it to about twenty feet beyond New street. The road is here overhung with big shade trees and it is next to impossible to see anything that gets beneath them. Nielson lost sight of the car ahead of him when the lights went out and thinking it had kept on, let his own controller out to nearly the last notch. Many of the passengers in No. 1041 saw the vehicle but none of them thought for an instant but what the motorman saw them and no one made a move to get off.

Several men were walking along Fourth street at the time, among them Frank W. Runyon, Andrew Muir and Charles Pierson, all of whom saw the impending collision at a glance and sprang into the road to warn Nielson. He heard their shouts and shut off his power, an instant later noting the dark object ahead of him. He then reversed the current and jammed his brake down but the wheels skidded, bringing him onto the stalled car.

Despite the lessened momentum, the crash that followed could be heard for blocks and the passengers were thrown in every direction. Those on or near the platforms had heads and arms shoved through the windows, causing the cuts, and others sitting on the ends were thrown into the road. In the excitement that followed, many women were jostled and dozens were severely jarred by jumping blindly to the ground. Nielson and the other members of the crews escaped harm.

Dr. N. W. Currie was near at hand and treated several of the worst hurt. The police patrol and hospital ambulance were soon on the scene in responce to telephone calls sent in by Charles Pierson but no one went home in them. The cars were not badly damaged, only fenders and windows being smashed.

The trolley officials investigated the accident this morning but what they learned attaches no great blame to Neilson. There was no red light

COLORED BABE FOUND ON HOSPITAL STEPS

TINY ONE HAD BEEN LEFT THERE BY SOME UNKNOWN PERSON.

Clad in a simple dress of common material and wrapped in a blanket, a four-weeks' old black baby boy was found on the doorstep at the side entrance to Muhlenberg Hospital at 10.15 o'clock last night. The infant was discovered by one of the nurses who was attracted to the door by his cries. She took the child in and a thorough investigation failed to disclose any clue as to whom the boy belonged. In one corner of the child's dress was securely tied a fifty cent piece.

In the opinion of the matron at the hospital the child has recently been taken from some maternity hospital and the mother feeling her inability to care for him, decided to leave him at the hospital. The youngster to all appearance is a healthy one and has every chance to grow up to manhood.

As yet it has not been decided what disposition will be made of the child. There is no provisions at the hospital for the care of babes under such conditions and a consultation will be held today with the medical director to determine what to do with the stranger.

Mrs. Baker gave a missionary talk on Japan. Mrs. W. D. Murray presented a primary class programme and Miss Edith Cairns gave a junior class programme.

ILL, SHE TOOK HER LIFE.

Young Woman Saw No Hope of Relief for Her Malady.

Crazed by chronic catarrh from which there seemed to be no relief, Miss Louisa Raab, twenty-three years old, shot herself in the right temple yesterday when in bed at her home, No. 440 South Ninth street, Newark. She was taken to tne City Hospital. The physicians have little hope she will survive.

Miss Raab was employed in a jewelry establishment until a few weeks ago, when she was compelled to give up her employment because of her illness. For three weeks, her relatives said yesterday, the young woman had not slept an hour.

There was evidence that the determination to seek relief from her trouble by death was not a sudden one, as the revolver with which she shot herself was a new weapon, evidently purchased by her at least two days before the used it.

FOUGHT TWO SNAKES.

Paul W. Snyder, of Essex avenue, Bloomfield, N. J., had an encounter yesterday morning with a black snake near Davey's mill pond. He was on his way to work, taking a short cut through wods, when he saw the reptile. He killed it after a sharp fight, only to be attacked soon after by its mate.

The second snake tried to coil itself about Snyder's leg, but by the free use of a walking stick he killed it.

One of the snakes measured five feet one inch in length, and the other just three inches more.

LIBRARY SCHOOL OPEN.

Sessions Will Begin at Asbury Park Today.

Asbury Park, May 22.—The first summer school for library training, which is to be held under the direction of the New Jersey Public Library Commission, will begin today, in the Free Library here, and will continue until Friday, June 22. The five weeks' course is intended to furnish instruction to librarians in charge of the small libraries and better fit them for the work in which they are engaged.

The school will be in immediate charge of Miss Sarah B. Askew, the State organizer, who is a graduate of the Pratt Institute Library School. Miss Askew will be assisted by a number of prominent librarians and instructors, who have volunteered their sirves to the commission.

The school will open with twenty-one pupils. All but two are from New Jersey, and with a single exception all are now employed in libraries. The only expense is the cost of board.

This evening the pupils will meet at the Asbury Park Library, where Mr. Kimball, the chairman of the Public Library Commission, will welcome them.

The course is to be principally elementary.

MAN AND BOY DROWNED.

Mystery in Canoe Spill in Union Lake, N. J.

Millville, N. J., May 22.—A double drowning accident occurred on Union Lake, above this city, at noon yesterday, when Thomas P. Clark, manager of R. D. Wood & Co.'s South Jersey Stores, and Richard R. Lewis, nine years old, son of Daniel C. Lewis, president and general manager of the Millville Traction Company, lost their lives by the capsizing of their canoe. Mr. Clark and young Lewis were taking a cruise, and it is thought that either the boat struck a stump or that in changing seats they caused the canoe to overturn. No one has been found yet who can tell just how the accident happened.

At the time not less than a hundred canoes were on the lake Clark and Lewis were to meet some other canoeists at Union Lake Park and when they failed to appear a search was made for them. The canoe, with their hats, was found washed up on the shore, and this was the first intimation their friends had of the accident. At 4 o'clock Robert Ewing found the bory of Clark, but the boy's body has not yet been recovered. Two thousand persons watched the grapplers at work. Mr. Clark was a well known business and society man, and lived in the old historic mansion house. He leaves a wife.

COLBY'S AIMS DISCUSSED IN MONMOUTH COUNTY.

Republican Committee Fears Reformer's Ideas May Tend to Build Machine.

Asbury Park, May 22.—The Republican executive committee at a recent meeting held at the residence of C. E. F. Hetrick here, formally paid its respects to Everett Colby and Colbyism, upon whom and which the committee evidently looks with suspicion. There was a discussion of the ballot reform laws, with the result that a committee to enforce them, consisting of County Clerk Joseph McDermott, Sheriff C. Asa Francis, Judge Foster, John S. Applegate, Jr., and James D. Carton, was appointed.

The committee, while giving credit to Mr. Colby for high moral sentiment, took the ground that the movement would tend in the end to build up a political machine in the State with Colby at its head. It was decided, however, to co operate with the Good Government League of Monmouth county in securing honest elections.

At the meeting were Senator O. H. Brown, Sheriff C. Asa Francis, Judge Foster, Assemblyman Walter S. Reed, County Clerk Joseph McDermott, Chairman J. H. Bennett, of Long Branch; Dr. Orville Van Wickle, of Matawan; former Sheriff Obadiah Davis, of Shrewsbury; D. Van Note and F. E. Price, of Middletown; I. M. Davison, of Englishtown; Edward A. Sexsmith, of Wall; Edward Taylor, of Atlantic; Richard Lufbarrow, of Middletown, and D. W. Van ote, of Belford.

"THE GIRL PATSY" AT THE SAVOY THEATRE.

A summer season will be begun at the Savoy theatre Saturday night, when Mrs. Jane Mauldin Feigl's new play, "The Girl Patsy," which made such a pronounced hit here, will receive its New York premiere, with Mary Ryan in the title role. "The Girl Patsy" is described as apl ay in four acts, which tells a story of innocence and love and injustice finally rectified under stirring circumstances. The new piece may be classed in the field represented by such popular efforts as "Way Down East," "York State Folks," and "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Miss Mary Ryan has already been seen in New York in "Home Folks" and several other productions of a similar character. In this play Mrs. Feigl has introduced a new character to the stage in the part of Jasper Musselwhite, the original of which is a farmhand on her summer place at Mount Kisco. This character is a man with a hare lip who cannot utter an intelligible word, yet he is so interwoven into the story that he is said to keep the audience amused whenever he is on the stage. This part is played by John Morris. Other principal roles are played by Edward Brandt, Scott Siggins, Clinton Hamilton, W. J. Phinney, John Sutherland, Rosalie de Vaux, Grace Cahill, Marie Haines, Alice Knowland and Olive Helaine Briscoe. Mrs. Feigl has given her play an adequate production, both in cast, scenery and properties.

The St. Louis Club has turned outfielder De Groff back to the Troy Club.

The Cincinnati Club has benched Charley Carr, sending Jack Barry to first base.

The Pittsburg Club is said to be trying to get catcher Al. Shaw from the Louisville Club.

Joe Kelley is likely to figure in a deal which Manager Hanlon, of the Reds, has under way.

The Boston-New York game of June 30, scheduled for Boston, has been transferred to New York.

Infielder Clyde Robinson, whom the Pittsburg Club recured from New York, has been turned over to Milwaukee.

Gilbert, second baseman, is hitting with more success than he has since he became a member of the Champions.

EASTERN LEAGUE.

The Providence Club has suspended catcher Fred Jacklitsch for thirty days.

The Toronto Club has farmed southpaw pitcher Urbach to the Lowell Club.

The Toronto pitching Macs—McCarthy, McCafferty, McGinley—are are there with the goods.

The Newark Club has transferred first baseman Harry O'Hagan to the Waterbury (Conn.) Club.

With Lachance, Dunn, Rock and Neal on the infield, Providence will be traveling some this season.

Joe Bean hasn't made much of a success at second base for Jersey City. He has errors every game.

Martin Walsh, the young but untried pitcher signed by Newark for this season, has been released outright to the Hartford Club.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Hughes, Armbruster and Glaze are still on the Collins team pay roll. "Nothing new," said Collins when asked the other day concerning them.

The St. Louis Club has complained of Nick Altrock to President Ban Johnson at St. Louis recently. He called down the club officials because they would not honor passes.

George Davis, the White Sox' crack shortstop, is very lame, the result of straining his hip in an exhibition game in Louisville early in the month. Besides, he has a cold in his right shoulder.

There was no truth in a story sent out from Detroit on Monday that Manager Armour, of the Detroit Club had resigned, Mr. Armour said he never had, and has not now, any such intention.

"Welcome to our conquering hosts" was the headline in the Cleveland Ledger the day the Clevelands opened at home. That afternoon McAleer's youngsters from St. Louis walloped the Lajoie boys, and followed it up with a second defeat the next day.

A SUNDAY BASEBALL VOTE.

The Jersey City Journal, inspired by the prosecution of boys in the police court for playing baseball on Sunday, opened its columns to a popular vote on the question of Sunday baseball and invited communications on the subject. The result of the poll, as announced by the Journal, is 6,618 votes in favor and 709 against. About 8,000 communications were received. The Journal says of these communications: "The character of the answers was immensely significant. Hundreds of them were from young men. They are voters. Some of them, not yet voters, will soon have their right to vote. Not a few, but an astonishing number of these young men, expressed views to the effect that they regarded the restriction of their enjoyment of Sunday in their own way as class oppression." The moral that the Journal draws from this is that if the Sunday laws are to be executed against Sunday pastimes there must be no discrimination. The Journal says with truth that the spectacle of violations of the law never checked on one hand, and of rigid enforcement on the other, tend to make class feeling. As one letter put the question: "Why are laws against the workingman's pleasures the only one enforced?"—Newark Advertiser.

TROLLEY COMPANY AT FAULT.

The management and not the employes are to blame for the trolley crash on West Fourth street last night. Had there been red lanterns or other danger signals on the rear end of the head car, the motorman of the last one would have been able to see the disabled car ahead. Instead of being censured the rear motorman is deserving of praise for his efforts to avert a worse accident.

TAX BILLS NO HIGHER.

There is no occasion for any alarm on the part of taxpayers because of the fact that all property is to be assessed at full value, for it signifies no change in the amount to be raised by taxation. This is best illustrated by an example. Suppose for instance a property has been assessed, last year's rate being $2.48, at $3,000. This year that same property would be assessed at $6,000, but the rate will be cut in half as the valuation has been doubled, which means that the rate will be but $1.24. In both cases the amount of tax levied is exactly $74.40.

JUSTICE DIXON DIES FROM PNEUMONIA.

He Rose Rapidly After Being Admitted to New Jersey Bar.

Englewood, May 22.—Supreme Court Justice Jonathan Dixon died yesterday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert Post, where he has been ill for the past week. He had been ill with pneumonia.

Justice Jonathan Dixon was born in the city of Liverpool, England, July 6, 1839. He remained there until his eighth year, having attended the public schools for two or three years. His family then removed to Marypont, Cumberland county, in the same country, where his education was continued. His father came to the United States in 1848, and his family followed him two years later, and settled in New Brunswick. Jonathan became an inmate of the home of Cornelius L. Hardenberg, a lawyer, who suffered from blindness, and to him the lad acted as attendant and amanuensis for nearly five years, or until September, 1855.

In that year he entered Rutgers College, and graduated from that institution in 1859. He then entered the law office of his former tutor, Warren Hardenberg, and studied there for a year. Upon Mr. Hardenberg removing to New York, Mr. Dixon entered the office of George R. Dutton, and subsequently that of Robert Adrain, both of these men being members of the bar of New Brunswick.

While studying law he taught school as a means of livelihood. He was admitted as an attorney in November, 1862, and three years later as a counselor. After being admitted as an attorney he moved to Jersey City and entered the law office of E. B. Wakeman in a clerical capacity, and in the spring of 1864 he formed a co-partnership with his employer, which lasted one year. For five years he practised by himself, and then formed a co-partnership with Gilbert Collins, formerly a justice of the Supreme Court.

In April, 1875, he was appointed a Justice of the Supreme Court by Governor Bedle. In 1882 he was reappointed by Governor Ludlow, in 1889 by Governor Green, and in 1896 by Governor Griggs, and in 1903 by Governor Murphy. He was a Republican in poltics, and was a candidate of his party for Governor in 1883, when he was defeated by the late Leon Abbett. His circuit comprised the county of Hudson.

MRS PHIL KEARNY DEAD.

Widow of Famous Cavalry Leader Passes Away at Her Home.

Cape May, May 22.—Mrs. Diana Kearny, widow of General Philip Kearny, died Sunday at her home here at the age of 87. Mrs. Kearny had been ill for tne last year. She had long been a noted figure in the social life of Washington, and was known to a large circle both in this country and Europe. For forty years she had spent her summers in the house in which she died, and members of her family had homes near her. Until last year she had spent her winters in her Washington home or in Europe.

Mrs. Kearny, who was a Miss Bullitt, of Louisville, Ky., met General Kearny while on a visit to relatives at Fort Jefferson. She was a grand niece of Lewis Clark, of Kentucky, and was educated with many other daughters of distinguished Southern families of that period at Mme. Segayne's School, in Philadelphia. In 1859, when General Kearny, who had been living in New Jersey, returned to service with the Chasseurs d'Afrique in the war in Italy, his wife settled with her children at Tours, France. Her surviving children are John Watts Kearny, now a resident of Washington; the Countess de Kermel and Miss Elizabeth Kearny. Mrs. Kearny will be buried in Kentucky.

First Car On Rahway Route.

The first auto car of the East Jersey Motor and Transportation Company, which was recently incorporated to run passenger auto cars on a regular schedule between Elizabeth, Rahway and Carteret, started from the postoffice at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was a trial trip to test the possibilities of auto-car service such as it is intended to provide for the public and for the experience necessary to the perfecting of a card for the regular running of cars.

WOMEN TAKE TO TASK BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Incensed at Refusal to Appoint Principal, They Demand a Reconsideration.

Morristown, May 22.—At a meeting held in Library Hall, Bernardsville, yesterday afternoon the women of the town decided unanimously that the action of the Bernardsville Township Board of Education, in refusing to re-engage Prof. James T. Schock as principal of the Bernardsville Public School, was a mistake, and they demanded are consideration of the Board's action.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Herbert C. Howell and Mrs. M. M. Mitchell was the secretary.

A mass meeting of the men of the town was held yesterday afternoon, at which the Board's action was condemned, and a member of the Board who appeared before the meeting was given to understand, in a very pointed manner, that the Board's action did not meet with the approval of a majority of the citizens. ePtitions have been drawn up by Richard V. Lindabury asking the Board to reconsider its action at its meeting next Thursday night.

THINK IT A MIRACLE.

Fire Charred Image, but Left Rosary Unharmed.

Trenton, N. J., May 22.—The members of St. Joachim's Italian church are divided in their opinion as to whether or not a miracle was worked in the church a few nights ago. There was a fire in the edifice and the altar was destroyed. In a niche back of the altar stood a figure of the Blessed Virgin, which was burned to a crisp, but a rosary of pearls suspended from the hand of the image shone as brightly after the fire as before. Father Aloysius Pozzi, in his sermon last night, called attention to the rosary and declared that its preservation was miraculous. A majority of his parishioners are disposed to agree with him. Hundreds of curious persons visited the church today to look at the pearls, which show brilliantly against the black background formed by the charred figure of the Virgin.

Tax Meeting Has No Result.

New Brunswick, May 22.—A meeting of the assessors of the different taxing districts of the county was held at the courthouse Saturday afternoon to discuss the new tax laws. It was suggested that every township in the county have the same tax rate, but no one was ready with a feasible suggestion os to how the plan might be carried out and put in practical operation. The meeting adjourned without decision.

P. S. C. FINED FOR NOISY CARS.

Lawyer's Defence Worked Until Tally Sheet Showed "Public Service."

East Orange, May 22.—Recorder Elijah Doremus, in the East Orange police court, this afternoon inflicted fines aggregating $100 on the Public Service Corporation for running flat wheel and other noisy cars on its lines through East Orange. The case for the company was fought by Leonard J. Tynan, who had evolved an elaborate defence, his prime contention being that the real defendant was the North Jersey Traction Company. The North Jersey, with the Consolidated Traction Company and some other companies, now forms the giant merger known as the Public Service Corporation.

Mr. Tynan's defence was making good progress until he produced a tally sheet showing the physical condition of the various cars on different days. Unfortunately for him, City Attorney Jerome D. Gedney looked at the head of this sheet, which bore the name "Public Service Corporation." He called the attention of Mr. Tynan to this, remarking, "What does that mean." Mr. Tynan had no answer for this, and the two lawyers walked out of the room together amid the roars of laughter of those who had witnessed the occurrence.

BIG BOILER EXPLODES KILLING TEN PERSONS

FIFTY INJURED—FOUR-STORY BUILDING WRECKED.

Ten men were killed and fifty injured by an explosion this morning in the New York glucose works at Shadyside, N. J.

A four-story brick building, one hundred by two hundred feet, was completely wrecked and outbuildings were torn to pieces.

There were five hundred men in the building at the time, and the wives and children of these, who live in the neighborhood, were thrown into a panic.

Calls were sent to nearby towns for ambulances and police, and sailors on the warships lying in the harbor were asked to aid in the rescue.

It is believed the explosion was caused by a defective boiler.

It was 8:25 o'clock when the intonation was heard. The fires had been started in the boilers for more than an hour, and the men, women and children employed in the huge building had just settled down to their work.

The explosion could be heard for many miles. It sounded as though a monstrous charge of dynamite had been set off, followed by huge clouds of dense smoke.

Immediately after the report the hundreds of women residing in the neighborhood rushed to the ruins. The big building had already taken fire and no time was lost in the work of rescue.

Those who were not struck by the explosion, hit by falling walls or caught by the fire ran toward the river, only about fifty feet away.

AGRICULTURAL STATION'S COURSE IN FARMING.

New Brunswick, May 22.—Plans are being prepared by the New Jersey Agricultural Station for the establishment of the short courses in farming at the college farm in this city. The Legislature last year made provision for these short courses for farmers' sons who want to learn scientific farming without spending four years in college. Nothing was done last year, as an appropriation was not carried with the law. This year an appropriation of $24,000 was made for the establishment of the short courses, and an additional appropriation of $6,500 for the maintenance of the department. While the Governor has not signed these appropriations he will, and plans are being formulated so that as soon as the money is available work can be rushed through and the buildings made ready by fall.

Contracts have been entered into for tne acres of land adjoining the present college farm, necessary for the new courses. Here young farmers will receive practical instruction on the latest things known to science in connection with the raising of crops. Several new buildings will have to be erected and new members added to the faculty. The advocates of these short courses believe that they will become very popular in a short time, and that much benefit to the farming industry of the State will follow.

YOUNG SLAYER SENTENCED.

Killer of His Girl Cousin Is Sent to the County Jail.

Clinton H. Walling, nineteen years old, who accidentally shot to death his cousin, Miss Maud Walling, at his home last November 26 while carelessly handling a shot-gun with which he had been gunning, was sentenced yesterday at Freehold, by Judge Foster to four months in the county jail and a fine of $200 was imposed.

Judge Foster said he did not think the youth should be committed to a reformatory or to State Prison, but he should be given some time to bring him to a realization of the seriousness of the crime he had committed through carelessness.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Paul Simons, of Philadelphia, are parents of a girl born a few days ago. Mrs. Simons was formerly Miss Edith Darby, daughter of John L. Darby, of this city.

HE KILLS HIS DAUGHTER

Mad Father Then Shoots Himself—Housekeeper Attacked.

Woodcliffe, May 22.—John Cole, a marine engineer, yesterday morning attacked his housekeeper, Mrs. Louisa Edgar, and his daughter Maria, twenty years old, with an axe, badly injuring one woman and killing the other. He then shot himself in the head, dying instantly.

That the man had become suddenly mad seems to be the reason for the deed. Cole and his daughter and housekeeper came here ten days ago, having moved from Corono, Long Island. Cole, who was fifty years old, was a widower, and Mrs. Edgar had been his housekeeper for several years.

George B. Bennett, who moved the Cole household goods, says that a few months ago Cole fell and hurt his head and had since been unable to do much hard work. It is believed that the injury to the man's head may account for his act. He was the engineer on the ferryboat Montauk, which plies on the Hamilton ferry, New York.

The girl was engaged to Ernest James, a plumber, to whom she was soon to have been married. James came here with the Cole family, and has since been living with them. This morning the family had breakfast together, and then James started for the railroad station to take a train for New York. He had expected that Cole would accompany him, but the latter said he would go down on the next train. The girl stood on the porch waving her handkerchief at him until he turned a bend in the road.

Martin J. Meyers, a farmer, was approaching the Cole house and saw Miss Cole on the porch. He saw the girl's father come out of the front door with a short handled axe in his hand. The man crept up behind his daughter, and, before Meyers could cry out, brought the axe down with terrific force on the girl's head. The young woman fell on the porch, and the horrorstricken spectator of the deed shouted to Cole to desist. Apparently maddened still more by the sight of his daughter lying on the porch, the madman struck her again and again. Then, throwing away the axe, he dashed around to the back of the house and there shot himself in the head.

Mrs. Edgar was found unconscious in a room upstairs. When she revived some time later she seemed dazed and unable to give any account of what had happened. She was taken to the Hackensack Hospital. She had received a glancing glow from the axe, the blade having cut in between the scalp and the bone. The skull was not fractured, and it is said she will recover.

After being attended at the hospital she was queried, but her answers threw no light on the cause of the tragedy. When asked her name she answered "Mrs. Cole," but one of her sons-in-law, who called upon Coroner Cornelius Collins, of Rutherford, sai dshe was not Cole's wife.

When asked how she had received her injury she muttered that she was in the cellar and must have hit her head against the low ceiling. Physicians say it is impossible that she could have received such an injury. She was not told of the death of Cole and his daughter, but she seemed to suspect that he was in trouble of some kind and apparently tried to shield him.

James learned of the tragedy while at work for John J. Kenney, a plumber, of No. 135 West 25th street. He lives with his mother in Brooklyn. He was at work on a job at Broadway and 35th street. Early in the forenoon Kenney received a telephon message for James that Miss Cole was hurt. When he learned the real state of affairs, through a reporter, Kenney called James from his work and told him that his fiancee had been fatally injured.

James almost collapsed at the news. When he recovered, he left the store, without changing his working clothes, and hurried to Woodcliff. He did not learn the real state of affairs until he reached Woodcliff.

DR. KITTREDGE RESIGNS.

Pastor's Flock Endeavor to Induce Him to Reconsider.

After twenty years of service as pastor of the Madison Avenue Reformed church, one of the wealthiest congregations in New York, Rev. Dr. Abbott E. Kittredge will present his resignation at a special meeting of the church tonight. The resignation is to take effect next September, when Dr. Kittredge will begin a journey about the world.

Some friction has developed among the church members over the selection of a successor to the pastor, and this has resulted in a strong movement to induce Dr. Kittredge to reconsider his resignation.

The pastor's reasons for retiring are purely personal. He will be accompanied on his world trip by his brother, who is head of the street car system is Bombay, ndia.

—Frances Rittenhouse and Muriel Collins, assisted by Mrs. Collins, soprano, will give a piano recital at the studio of Miss May Vincent Whitney in the Babcock building tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Mrs. Bernard Steengraffe, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Steengraffe, of this place, underwent an operation in St. Luke's Hospital, New York, this week.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has announced an excursion to Niagara Falls from May 29 to 31, passing through here.

A large number from here shared in the amusement at the Carnival last evening, in Plainfield.

SIX HURT IN TROLLEY CRASH

on the rear of the forward car and the headlight on No. 486 was poor because of the limited power due to the running of Carnival extras. A rule of the company states that when a car is stopped for any reason at night, the conductor must go back and warn any that might be following. This was not done by Conductor Hart of No. 1041. The witnesses who noticed the approach of No. 486 also state that it was impossible for Neilson to see anything ahead of him.

A coincidence in connection with the accident is the fact that Miss Mabel Conover, one of the injured, was badly hurt in the Westfield wreck on the Jersey Central, and Miss Florence Cuming, who was sitting near her and was also a victim last night, lost her brother, Thomas Cuming, in the railroad catastrophe.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Plainfield Aerie, No. 866, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will hold its regular meeting in Eagles' Hall, West Second street, tonight.

Friendship Lodge, No. 4, Daughters of Rebekah, will meet tonight. After the initiation of new members the monthly sociable and entertainment will be held.

A strawberry festival will be held by the Ladies' Aid Society of the German Lutheran church, Grove street, tonight.

Danish Lutheran services will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue. Rev. Mr. Kier will preach.

Those from Warren chapel donating cakes for the Carnival are requested to send them to Mrs. Story, 89 Jackson avenue, before 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

A $150,000 Fire.

Chief Croker of New ork today estimated that the fire in Tompkinsville last night, when storehouse No. 3, of the American Dock and Trust Company, went up in flames, will entail a loss of at least $150,000. While the fire was at its height the entire harbor was lighted up as though it were day. The big warehouse was filled with cotton, and the dense smoke made it difficult for the firemen to venture close.

Colored Colby Club.

Colored voters will hold a meeting at Thomas Bowser's barber shop, 152 East Front street, tomorrow night, to organize an independent Republican club. The committee at the head of the movement is composed of Charles Shelton, R. B. Norwood and A. Venable. They say the club will be a Colby organization.

Francis B. Sanborn, of Concord, N. H., who gave a charming lecture before the Monday Afternoon Club yesterday afternoon, was a guest during his stay here in the home of David P. Hall, of Madison avenue. He was a friend and co-laborer of Samuel Gridley Howe, the father of Mrs. Hall.

—Regular play has been started on the Y. M. C. A. tennis court. Plans are being made for a tournament.

—The up-to-date firm of A. E. Force & Co. closed its store Saturday afternoon during the carnival parade, in order that its force of employees might enjoy the parade.

ANATOMY IN VERSE.

How many bones in the human face?
Fourteen, when they are all in place.
How many bones in the cranium?
Eight, unless you've mislaid some.
How many bones in the ear are found?
Three in each, to catch the sound.
How many bones are in the spine?
Twenty-four, like a clustering vine.
How many bones in the chest are found?
Twenty-four ribs, to the sternum bound.
How many bones in the shoulder bind?
Two in each—one before, one behind.
How many bones are in the arm?
The top has one; and two the forearm.
How many bones are in the wrist?
Eight, if none of them is missed.
How many bones in the palms of the hand?
Five in the palm, pray understand.
How many bones in the fingers ten?
Twelve bones, plus two and repeat again.
How many bones are in the hip?
One in each where the femurs slip.
With sacrum and coccyx, too, to brace
And keep the pelvis all in place.
How many bones are in the thigh?
One in each, and deep they lie.
How many bones are in the knee?
One, the patella, plain to see,
How many bones are in the shin?
Two in each, and well bound in.
How many bones in the ankle strong?
Seven in each, but none is long.
How many bones in the ball of the foot?
Five in each, as the palms were put.
How many bones in the toes, all told?
Just twenty-eight, like the fingers hold.
There's a bone at the root of the tongue to add,
And sesamoids eight, to what you had.
Now, adding them all, 'tis plainly seen
And in the mouth we clearly view
Teeth, upper and under, thirty-two.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Sworn to in Court.

Not a Testimonial But an Oath. Child With Ulcerated Lungs Following Measles Cured by Piso's, as Prescribed by Her Physician.

In the course of the hearing before the Superior Court of Cincinnati, Ohio, for a permanent injunction to restrain the so-called PiZo company from trading upon and profiting by the great reputation of the real PiSo company of Warren, Pa., it became necessary for the latter to prove in Court that the real Piso's Cure for Consumption was a genuine cure, and to substantiate their claims by indisputable evidence under oath. The Piso company won and the following is a sample of the kind of evidence that was offered by the grateful friends of this marvelous remedy that has been on trial before the public for fifty years:—

G. W. Purdy being duly sworn stated that he was 51 years of age and a farmer by occupation; residence, Belvidere, Kas. "About seven years ago my little girl was sick with a lung trouble caused by measles settling on her lungs. It caused her lungs to ulcerate and all the treatment that I could get for her from doctors did not seem to do her any good. The doctor who was waiting on her gave her up and said that she must die. Dr. Ashley prescribed Piso's Cure for Consumption and under that treatment she got well."

Another child had lung trouble following typhoid pneumonia and she also got well on the same medicine.

Not a single person giving evidence had ever found any effects of Morphine or other harmful narcotics, and the late Professor Albert Benjamin Prescott, Professor of Chemistry in Ann Arbor, also Dean of the School of Pharmacy, and for a full term President of the American Pharmeceutical Association (also author of text books on Chemistry in general use in leading colleges), testified under oath during the week that he was upon the stand, that he had analyzed the medicine known as Piso's Cure for Consumption for Morphine, but "that the most exhaustive examination had shown that none was present."

As a remedy for coughs, colds and sort throat Piso's stands unrivaled for both rapidity and certainty.

Every druggist sells it for 25c per bottle.

OLD AUTOMOBILES FOR DRAY PURPOSES.

Montclair Builder Has Put a 1904 Model to Use With Profit to Himself.

It remains to be seen whether the commercial automobile problem has been solved by the progressive business men of Montclair. One of the most prominent builders in the town has brought the automobile into business in a peculiar way, and if his experiment proves successful, a number of others are planning to follow his example. John S. Carlson, a builder and mill owner, is the man who has begun to use the automobile as a commercial vehicle, and the one feature of his experiment is the fact that he is carrying out his idea on an inexpensive basis. Instead of going to a manufacturer of commercial machines, Mr. Carlson has purchased through the Heyer Automobile Company one of the 904 Winton touring cars at a moderate price, and has had thic car converted into a business machine.

After buying the car Mr. Carlson had the body removed and in itsplace constructed an ordinary truck body. He is using the car to carry lumber, and find that it not only saves him time in going to and fro from his mill to places of business, but it also enables him to carry much more material on each trip than he could carry in an ordinary wagon. The whole cost him of the converted machine is hardly more than $1,000, and Mr. Carlson feels that it will soon pay for itself. Another interesting feature of the experiment is that Carlson still has the old tonneau and can easily convert the machine into a pleasure car when he wishes. A number of builders in town are following the experiment with keen interest, and the will undoubtedly follow Mr. Carlson's plann if it is successful.

If the Montclair plan is practical, it may open a field for second-hand cars not thought of before. Previously small merchants and others in business where there is a great deal of carting to be done have not adopted the automobile, as the cost of purchasing a commercial vehicle has been too great and the expense of keeping one out of proportion to the benefits derived from it. If it is practical to turn a second-hand car into a business vehicle at a cost of from two to three hundred dollars, there would be many in use. There are so many excellent cars of last year's and the previous season's models on the market for from $500 to $700 that the demand could easily be supplied.

G. D. Smith, of Fullerton avenue, a traveling man, has bought one of the 1905 Marion cars to use in his work. He figures that the amount of distance he can cover in a day with the machine and cost of keeping it will make it more valuable to him than a horse.

CHAPTER XIX.

UNCLE PETER BINES COMES TO TOWN WITH HIS MAN.

One day in December Peter Bines, of Montana City, dropped in on the family—came with his gaunt length of limb, his kind, brown old face with eyes sparkling shrewdly far back under his grizzled brows, with his rough, resonant, musical voice, the spring of youth in his step, and the fresh, confident strength of the big hills in his bearing.

He brought Billy Brue with him, a person whose exact social status some of Percival's friends were never able to fix with any desirable certainty. Thus, Percival had presented the old man, the morning after his arrival, to no less a person than Herbert Delancey Livingston, with whom he had smoked a cigar of unusual excellence in the cafe of the Hightower hotel.

"If you fancy that weed, Mr. Bines," said Livingston, graciously, to the old man, "I've a spare couple of hundred I'd like to let you have. The things were sent to me, but I find them rather stiffish. If your man's about the hotel I'll give him a card to my man, and let him fetch them."

"My man?" queried Uncle Peter, and, sighting Billy Brue at that moment, "why, yes, here's my man, now. Mr. Brue, shake hands with Mr. Livingston. Billy, go up to the address he gives you, and get some of these se-gars. You'll relish 'em as much as I do. Now don't talk to any strangers, don't get run over, and don't lose yourself."

Livingston had surrendered a wavering and uncertain hand to the warm, reassuring clasp of Mr. Brue.

"He ain't much fur style, Billy ain't," Uncle Peter explained when that person had gone upon his errand, "he ain't a mite gaudy, but he's got friendly feelings."

The dazed scion of the Livingstons had thereupon made a conscientious tour of his clubs in a public hansom, solely for the purpose of relating this curious adventure to those best qualified to marvel at it.

The old man's arrival had been quite unexpected. Not only had he sent no word of his coming, but he seemed, indeed, not to know what his reasons had been for doing a thing so unusual.

"Thought I'd just drop in on you all and say 'howdy,'" had been his first avowal, which was lucid as far as it went. Later he involved himself in explanations that were both obscure and conflicting. Once it was that he had felt a sudden great longing for the life of a gay city. Then it was that he would have been content in Montana City, but that he had undertaken the winter in New York out of consideration for Billy Brue.

"Just think of it," he said to Percival, "that poor fellow ain't ever been east of Denver before now. It wa'n't good for him to be holed up out there in them hills all his life. He hadn't got any chance to improve his mind."

"He'd better improve his whiskers first thing he does," suggested Percival. "He'll be gold-bricked if he wears 'em scrambled that way around this place."

But in neither of these explanations did the curious old man impress Percival as being wholly ingenuous.

Then he remarked casually one day that he had lately met Higbee, who was on his way to San Francisco.

"I only had a few minutes with him while they changed engines at Green River, but he told me all about you folks—what a fine time you was havin', yachts and card parties, and all like that. Higbee said a man ought to come to New York every now and then, jest to keep from getting rusty."

Back of this Percival imagined for a time that he had discovered Uncle Peter's true reason for descending upon them. Higbee would have regaled him with wild tales of the New York dissipations, and Uncle Peter had come promptly on to pull him up. Percival could hear the story as Higbee would word it, with the improving moral incident of his own son snatched as a brand from the "Tenderloin," to live a life of impecunious usefulness in far Chicago. But, when he tried to hold this belief, and to prove it from his observations, he was bound to admit its falsity. For Uncle Peter had shown no inclination to act the part of an evangel from the virtuous west. He had delivered no homilies, no warnings as to the fate of people who incontinently "cut loose." He had evinced not the least sign of any disposition even to criticise.

On the contrary, indeed, he appeared to joy immensely in Percival's way of life. He manifested a willingness and a capacity for unbending in boon companionship that were both of them quite amazing to his accomplished grandson. By degrees, and by virtue of being never at all censorious, he familiarized himself with the young man's habits and diversions. He listened delightedly to the tales of his large gambling losses, of the bouts at poker, the fruitless venture in Texas oil land, the disastrous corner in wheat, engineered by Burman, and the uniformly unsuccessful efforts to "break the bank" in Forty-fourth street. He never tired of hearing whatever adventures Percival chose to relate; and, finding that he really enjoyed them, the young man came to confide freely in him, and to associate with him without restraint.

Uncle Peter begged to be introduced at the temple of chance, and spent a number of late evenings there with his popular grandson. He also frequently made himself one of the poker coterie, and relished keenly the stock jokes as to his grandson's proneness to lose.

"Your pa," he would say, "never could learn to stay out of a Jack-pot unless he had Jacks or better; he'd come in and draw four cards to an ace any time, and then call it 'hard luck' when he didn't draw out. And he just loved straights open in the middle; said anybody could fill them that's open at both ends; but, after all I guess that's the only way to have fun at the game. If a man ain't got the sperrit to overplay aces-up when he gets 'em, he might as well be clerkin' in a bank for all the fun he'll have out of the game."

The old man's endurance of late suppers and later hours, and his unsuspected disposition to "cut loose" became twin marvels to Percival. He could not avoid contrasting this behavior with his past preaching. After a few weeks he was forced to the charitable conclusion that Uncle Peter's faculties were failing. The exposure and hardships of the winter before had undoubtedly impaired his mental powers.

"I can't make him out," he confided to his mother. "He never wants to go home nights; he can drink more than I can without batting an eye, and show up fresher in the morning, and he behaves like a young fellow just out of college. I don't know where he would bring up if he didn't have me to watch over him."

"I think it's just awful—at his time of life, too," said Mrs. Bines.

"I think that's it. He's getting old, and he's come along into his second childhood. A couple of more months at this rate, and I'm afraid I'll have to ring up one of those nice shiny black wagons to take him off to the foolish house."

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

Linnett for Newark's Mayor.

The first Republican gun was fired in the campaign for Mayor in Newark Saturday, when Alexander M. Linnett, a sturdy Colby worker, was placed before the public as the favorite of the 9th Ward executive committee. The Republicans have been looking about for a candidate and as yet the machine has not decided upon a man, and it is not likely that Mr. Linnett will receive the sanction of Major Carl Lentz and his followers. The 9th Ward committee is composed solely of Colby admirers and men who worked hard for the defeat of Lentz at the primaries last September.

Honorable Mention.

Charles N. Fowler, Congressman from this district, is being talked of already as a possible nominee for Vice-President in 1908 if New Jersey is to name the Presidential running mate. John W. Griggs is also mentioned in the same reports.—Westfield Standard.

OVER A MILLION DOLLARS TO JERSEYMEN!

THE PRUDENTIAL has paid in Industrial Cash Dividends to New Jersey People in the nine years from 1897 to 1906, the sum of $1,039,558. This money was paid in excess of the amounts called for in policies and illustrates how New Jersey People Benefit Through the Success of The Prudential.

"A man's learning dies with him; even his virtues fade out of remembrance, but the dividends on the stock he bequeaths to his children live and keep his memory green." Holmes.

The ordinary bank deals merely with the living man, but the trust company takes charge of his estate after he is gone, and sees that his wishes are carried out.

FOZZY'S BASEBALL CHAT

The subject of town talk in Westfield is the game with the Plainfields on Crescent Oval Saturday of this week. It started Saturday night after it got noised about after the game that Manager Nicholas is on the still hunt for a quartette of star players to bolster up with for the contest. And when the bell rings at 3:30 p. m. Saturday it is safe to say the old familiar crowd from Mt. Ararat will be on hand, prepared to give as of yore, the old rebel yell.

Manager Nicholas entertains the opinion that with a few additions to his aggregation he can present a team that will take the measure of "Phil." Smith and the rest of his comrades. He has a right to own such an opinion, but the outcome will be awaited with interest.

One fan said Saturday night it would be a big joke if Westfield brought a team down and put the kibosh on the locals. Just how he figures that it would be a joke if such a thing should happen is hard to diagonize.

The fans who missed the Paterson argument missed a baseball treat. It was one of the fastest games played on the Oval. The same aggregation will make its second appearance here next month.

Willie Deegan made the first home run of the season on the Hoboken grounds Sunday against the Murray Hills. And didn't Willie swell up and smile after he crossed the rubber?

Jack O'Neil is a roller skating enthusiast and is training to enter a number of contests which will take place in Madison Square Garden under the jurisdiction of Pat Powers this summer.

Policeman "Jack" Payne, since his bout with Fitz, has been bitten by a fight bug, and wants to return to the ring. He may get a chance with Ed Dunghorst, the "human freight car," Peter Maher, or some other heavyweight top notchers.

It is reported that Terry McGovern has petitioned the Brooklyn Borough Council to let him change his name to Young Peter Maher.

Bassford, the former Plainfield player in the days of George Johnston's reign as baseball king, has come back to life again. He signalized his resurrection by smiting Willie Deegan's curves safely four times Sunday.

It is said on good authority that Johnny Todd is disgusted with mountain league playing and wants to enter the Union County Amateur League. "Toddy," although he was on Harry Blimm's winning team who won the dinner from Billy Nash's "vets," has served notice that he would rather have his 75 cents back and go without the dinner, which is booked to come off at Pedeflous' next week. Todd's place on the team will probably be taken by Jack Hall, as soon as his burned digits fully recover.

What with giving away players, his men deserting him and stories of mutiny, Clark Griffith's chances for the American League flag are as good as Republican prospects in Tichemongo county, Mississippi, next fall, so declares Police Sergeant John Flynn.

Fred VanAuken, of our town, has perfected a remarkable submarine drop while pitching at Annapolis. He tried it on a mad dog on the college campus one day last week and killed the dog.

Manager Billy Counihan, late of Philadelphia, thinks Plainfield is twenty times more livelier during Carnival time, than the Quaker metropolis ever was, despite the fact that some of the residents over there keep their watches running an hour or so ahead of time, just to think they are fast.

With Ex-Champion Jim Jeffries managing the Los Angeles Club and Virgil Garven playing with the Portlands, will anybody have the nerve to umpire in the Pacific Coast League?

The local baseball public appreciates the quickness of Tommy Timbo's response to the clamor, to sell bigger bags of peanuts for a nickel. Glad to hear that some people are satisfied.

From present indications the Jimmy Collins Boston American League outfit seems to be the pork in the favorite Boston dish.

A noted physician advises John D. Rockefeller to take up baseball. The Brooklyn club could use him on Sundays.

A leading fishery paper reports that lobsters are scarce this year, although thoughts of Terry McGovern, Young Corbett and others constantly bob up in one's mind.

Ned Hanlon, of the Cincinnatis (next to the rear) does not think well of right handed batters. Wonder if Foxy Ned would make room for Lajoie, Wagner, Chance, Bradley and a few others who bat from that side of the plate.

GOLF.

The golf events at the Plainfield Country Club on Memorial Day will include play in the morning and afternoon for the Decoration Day cup, scratch cups, semi-final rounds; May cup, semi-final round. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon there will be the finals for the scratch and May cups and the final round for the women's clock golf cup.

Although there has been a little delay on the part of the Park Golf Club in announcing its schedule a very strong one is promised within a short time. Charles B. Morse is now at work on it. The course is in good condition and the members have been enjoying it fully. Every Saturday as well as on other days of the week the links are well occupied with enthusiastic players and already many low scores have been returned. While the club is not numerically as strong as some others in the vicinity of Plainfield, it is string in spirit and enthusiasm and it maintains one of the most picturesque courses in the State and it is very sporty. It is far more difficult to make a low score here than at the Plainfield Country Club, as many players can testify. The season promises to be just as successful as those in the past.

On Saturday a twelve-men team from the Westfield Golf Club will go to the Westchester Golf Club and play a friendly match. Later on the Westchester players will engage in a return match at Westfield.

C. W. Sullivan regained the championship of the Baltusrol Golf Club last week, scoring 160 in the semi-annual tournament. Max Behr ranked second with 174.

Laying Out Tennis Courts.

C. M. Meeker, the contractor, has a large force of men engaged in laying out the tennis courts of the Netherwood Field Club, on the ground it has leased from Edward Willis on East Seventh street, between Leland avenue and Terrill road, and Messrs M. C. Stewart and A. Anderson, the committee on grounds, is making great efforts to have the courts ready for play on Saturday. When the grounds are completed they will be second to none in the State. The location is an ideal one for the purpose, being shaded on two sides by large and stately forest trees.

Rahway Follows Plainfield's Example

Following the example set by Plainfield the Board of Excise, of Rahway, increase the liquor license fees in that place last night. The retail and wholesale license fee was increased from $250 to $500 and the fee for bottlers was made $250. As a result a number of liquor dealers will be put out of business as in some cases they can scarcely pay the present fee. There are thirty-three licensed places in Rahway, including two or three wholesale dealers and bottlers.

Lost Valuable Stone in Scramble.

In the scramble that followed the trolley crash on West Fourth street, last night, Mrs. Andrew Kenney, of the borough, had her hand jammed against the back of a seat. The knuckle was rapped hard and when she found time to look at it she found that a valuable stone had been knocked from her ring.

BARKERS WERE SCARCE

Mistake In Dating Knights Templar Puts Management in a Hole.

SHOWS STARTED LATE

But Things Got to Moving and the Crowd Had a Lively Time In Spite of the Chilly Air.

There was a tinge of gloom at the headquarters tent at the carnival last night. Chairman Fisk learned, early in the evening, after widespread announcement had been made of the coming of the Knights Templars, that the knights were not due to come until the twenty-ninth. In some way there had been a misunderstanding of the date.

The absence of the expected Templars put the management in a hole for workers, and the chilly wind, that did its best to make the carnival spirit sluggish, added to the downward droop of Chairman Fisk's mouth. On account of the scarcity of ticket-sellers and barkers the shows were slow in getting under way. The grounds and the surrounding territory were scoured for workers, and hustlers were pressed into service as soon as discovered.

When the shows were finally started off, the gayety went on at a pace lively enough to wear out some of the creases in Mr. Fisk's forehead.

There were about 4,000 people on the grounds. The figures have been kept down by the chilly nights, and the true measure of the way in which the affair has caught on can not be taken until the weather after nightfall becomes warm enough to make outdoors inviting. A warm wave would be greeted with glad acclaim and jurgles of joy by the management and concessionaires.

It was announced this morning that the carnival store would open tonight. This is the store, which, conducted in conjunction with the Carnival Post Office offers great chances of getting big things for a small sum. There are no blanks in the game and it has nothing of the raffle about it, but the patron of the store stands a chance to become the owner of an automobile, a runabout, set of harness, sewing machine, baby carriage, phonograph or something else very much worth while. It is said the post office is to be conducted by the prettiest girl Mr. Fisk can press into service.

The Knights of Columbus will have charge of the grounds tonight, and there is no mistake about that. They made a great record as carnival boomers last year, and have set out to surpass it. Look for lively times on the grounds tonight.

MOTHER ANXIOUS TO HEAR FROM MISSING SON.

Disappeared Two Weeks Ago—Had Been Employed by John McNally.

Mrs. Mary Ferris, of 1325 Lake street, is greatly disturbed over the disapeparance of her son, Ike Ferris, aged twenty years, who suddenly left town about two weeks ago. He was up to that time employed by John McNally, the contractor, learning the carpenter's trade. It was two weeks ago that he gave up his job and since then Mr. McNally has not seen him, neither has he returned home.

Mrs. Ferris, who is an Assyrian, says that her boy has no bad habits, he neither drinks or smokes and has always been devoted to his home. She is under the impression that he is seeking perhaps a better position than he had before and that when he is located he will write home. Any information about the boy will be gratefully received by the mother.

The lad is described as being about five feet eight inches in height, 145 pounds in weight and having very dark complexion, characteristic of the Assyrian. he mother lives alone at 1325 Lake street and has always depended very much on her son.

Dinner in Honor of Guest.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lindsay, Jr., of West Front street, gave a dinner last night at their home in honor of Mrs. E. H. Champlin, of Stanford, N. Y., who is visiting them. Covers were laid for twelve. The dining-room was prettily decorated, green being the predominating color. After the dinner the evening was pleasantly passed with piano selections and dancing. Guests were present from New York, Westfield, Roselle and this city.

Chose a Chairman.

The Public Improvement Committee of the Good Government Club, of South Plainfield, made further progress last night when it met at the home of William E. Smith and he was made chairman of the committee. The committee will now go ahead and follow out its line of action for proposed improvements at South Plainfield.

LEES-WICKMAN CASE AGAIN BEING TRIED

Before Justice Abram T. Garretson and a struck jury in the Somerset county courts at noon yesterday, the case of George Lees, of North Plainfield, against Dr. Albert Wickman, of Newark, was begun. Suit is to recover $20,000 damages for alleged improper treatment in applying a plaster cast for spinal curviture. The suit was tried at the September term of court in 904 and a verdict of $780 was given in favor of the plaintiff, but this verdict was set aside and a new trial ordered by the higher court on the ground that the verdict had been against the weight of evidence.

Yesterday the plaintiff testified that in March, 1903, he went to the doctor's office with his brother, sister and a Mr. Carr. While there he had an epileptic fit, to which he had been subject for six or seven years, and did not regain consciousness until he had been taken by his relatives to the railroad station on the way home. He declared the jacket cut him under the arms and held them so high he could not use them, and he has been unable since to use his right arm. He stated that previously he had been driving a baker's wagon in Plainfield for five years, but had been unable to earn anything since the operation.

His statement was corroborated by his brother and sister, who accompanied him to Newark, and others testified as to his condition.

G. W. V. Moy, of this city, is the counsel for the plaintiff and Louis H. Aff, of Newark, and A. A. Clark, of this place, represent the defense.

The former trial occupied several days and during the course of it expert testimony was given by Dr. Wm. H. Hicks and Dr. Sidney A. Twinch, of Newark, who asserted that the injuries alleged could not have been the result of any treatment applied.

The trial was resumed this morning and several more witnesses were called, among them Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of the borough.

DELIVERY WAGON THROWN OVER BY A GUY ROPE.

Peculiar Accident Turns One of Frank Linke's Vehicles On End.

One of the delivery wagons of Frank Linke, the liquor dealer, and its driver, Herman Pfister, figured in a peculiar accident, yesterday afternoon, in which there were two narrow escapes. The accident occurred on Church street, at Bartle's stone yard. The men in the yard were hoisting blocks of stone and the guy rope of the crane stretched across the street. Pfister, driving the wagon northward, didn't see the rope, and drove his horse under it on the side of the roadway where it slanted downward.

The cable caught the top of the wagon under the hood, and the next two steps of the horse lifted the wagon up with a jerk and dropped it one its end with a crash. In some way, Pfister escaped a backward tumble into the upturned wagon, and held his grasp on the reins long enough to hold the horse in check until the stoneyard men reached its head and quieted it. That was one narrow escape.

The other was disclosed when, with the aid of the stone masons and their helpers, Pfister threw the wagon back on its wheels. Two boxes of beer fell the full length of the wagon without breaking one of the two dozen bottles. The wagon was not damaged, except for a few scratches on the tailboard.

HE MUST FIX DRAIN.

David Arthur Haled To Court By Borough Board of Health.

For ignoring an order from the North Plainfield Board of Health, David Arthur, of Grandview avenue, was arraigned before Justice Snape last night. He promised to obey the order, and was given two weeks in which to do it.

Arthur was cited by the Board for maintaining a drain pipe that was classed as a nuisance. He failed to put it in order in accordance with the Board's order, and the warrant was sworn out as a result. He came to court with his counsel, S. S. Swackhamer, and promised to fix the pipe up. F. J. Blatz, counsel for the Board, agreed to a two weeks' adjoudnment of the case, to see how well Arthur will keep his word.

Jap Butler Sues.

Ken Hayashi, a Japanese, is suing Simeon A. Cruikshank, on contract, in Justice Mosher's court. The case will be heard on June 5. The plaintiff worked for Mr. Cruikshank as assistant butler, and is suing for wages alleged to be due. He claims he was discharged without notice and the defendant contends he left.

TO GET SECRETARYSHIP

Boys' Secretary Kenneth Robbie Will Be Chosen to Succeed J. H. Manning.

CHOICE A POPULAR ONE

Mr. Robbie is a Strong Man and Much Liked Among Y. M. C. A. Members.

Boys' Secretary Kenneth Robbie will be the man chosen to succeed J. H. Manning as the general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The announcement of his selection may be looked for after the meeting of the Board of Directors in June, when Mr. Manning's formal resignation as general secretary will be received.

Mr. Robbie is the logical choice for the position, and his selection will be universally welcomed among Y. M. C. A. men and all those who know anything of his work in the association. He is an exceptionally able man in the field of Y. M. C. A. endeavor.

He has made the boys' department one of the strongest and best organized in the State. He is thoroughly familiar with the general activities of the association and can take over the general secretaryship and carry on the work at an instant's notice.

Personally, Mr. Roobie is a man of unusual strength of character and ability. He is tireless, full of energy and resourceful. He is popular with all those who have come into to contact with him.

It was learned today that Mr. Robbie's name has been the only one considered in conection with the position since Mr. Manning made known his intention to resign. There is no doubt of his readiness to accept the position, although he is strongly interested in boys' work.

MUST KILL HIS HORSE.

Police Issue the First Execution Order In Their Humane Crusade.

A horse belonging to John Steirer was impounded by the police Monday afternoon and sent to George Cole's stable. When Steirer comes for the horse he will find a notice ordering him to kill it tacked on the bill for its keep.

The horse is a scrawney, suffering little animal, and the police warned Steirer last week that it would not be allowed to draw a wagon on the streets again. Instead of caring for the horse, the police say, he has allowed it to run about the streets. The chief decided yesterday afternoon that the horse would have to be destroyed and an order was issued to that effect. This is the first order to kill put out in the humane crusade started last week.

The company does a big business in the manufacture of concrete machinery and employ a large number of men. The factory site has a frontage of 1,072 feet on South avenue and the Central railroad.

The erection of large buildings without delay is said to be part of the corporation's plans in connection with the purchase.

LOCAL BAR ASSOCIATION

Talk of Plainfield Lawyers Organizing Independent or County Society.

MOVEMENT ON FOOT

Barristers Claim They Get Little In Return For Dues—Want a Library Here.

Realizing that the Union County Bar Association is composed largely of Elizabeth lawyers and is of no direct benefit to members of the profession in this city, the younger lawyers here are thinking seriously of forming a Plainfield Bar Association with the nominal dues of $1 a year. It is argued that the dues of $12 charged by the Union County Bar Association are too high, and Plainfield barristers can see no special advantage in putting up money to purchase a library to be located in Elizabeth, where they will seldom be able to make use of it.

The Elizabeth lawyers suggested the starting of a fund to purchase a library to be established in that city and it is said that members of the association in other places do not favor it. The county seat lawyers being in the majority, are able to adopt such a plan without the votes of their fellow-members throughout the county.

One Plainfield lawyer speaking of the matter yesterday said that while the dues are supposed to cover the expenses of the annual banquet, he believed that the assessment was altogether too high. He favored a smaller amount which would bring in a majority of the lawyers throughout the county instead of a minority number as at present. He says that only a half dozen members of the bar in this city attend the banquet and really take but little interest in the function. An annual banquet, he says, could be held here instead of going to New York or elsewhere, thus curtailing the expense.

The advantages of such a local organization, it is argued, will be incalcuable. It is likely that in the near future a date will be fixed for a meeting and that such an organization will be formed. The lawyers who have been approached on the subject favor it heartily and say that they will gladly lend their help and influence toward starting an association.

INJURED LIST GROWING.

Victims of Monday Night's Trolley Crash Now Number Eight.

It was reported today that Miss Margaret Flack, daughter of Marshal Joseph Flack, of the borough, and Mrs. William Trembath, of Chatham street, were also hurt in the trolley crash on West Fourth street, Monday night. Miss Flack was thrown from one of the cars to the roadway but at first thought she had onl been severely jarred. Yesterday her injuries manitested themselves and she is now under the case of Dr. Zeglio. Mrs. Trembath was flung over a seat and sustained severe contusions about the knees and back.

Those originally named as having been hurt were reported today to be doing nicely and the prospects are that there will be no serious results. The trolley officials have taken double precautions to guard passengers while the Carnival crowds are being carried and every car on the Fourth street line has been provided with a rear red light.

PUTTING DOWN SLAG ROAD.

Material Is Much Liked by the City For the Purpose.

The work of grading Mariner's place has been almost completed. Slag will be put down on the roadway as fast as it can be secured from the Pond Machine Tool Works.

Slag is making fine roads out of several soft roadbeds in the West End. Two sections of Clinton avenue and a part of Evona avenue, as well as Mariner's place, have received coatings of it. It is the intention of the city to use all the slag the machine works will furnish.

Well-Known Author Speaks.

Charles Battel Loomis, of Fanwood, the well-known writer, addressed the pupils of the Plainfield High School, this morning, chiefly reading extracts from some of his best known writings, including "Mrs. Gregory's Phonograph," "The New Yorker," "Miss Flutterly on Politics," "Poe's Raven in an Elevator," and "Mother of Little Maude." The last named he said "represented the power of the press—not The Daily Press." The readings were greatly enjoyed by all the pupils and Mr. Loomis was given a cordial reception.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hummel, of 121 Duer street, are parents of a boy, born to them recently.

PLAINFIELD'S SOLDIERS ARE MAKING RECORDS

CO. K'S DRILLS CALLED OFF BY CAPT. BECAUSE OF EXTRA WORK.

Because of the many events in which the members of Company K will take part during the rest of the month, Captain W. B. Martin has called off the drills for the next two Monday nights. The company has been ordered to go to Trenton on Tuesday night, May 29, for drill and on the following day, Memorial Day, it will turn out with Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., in the annual parade.

Company K has been making a record this year. Besides making 100 per cent. at the annual inspection and winning the team match shoot at Newark, word was received yesterday that it received the highest mark, 87.2 per cent. for having the greatest number of men in line at the unveiling of the soldiers' and sailors' monument at Philipsburg. The company now has a membership of sixty-five and a number of new members are constantly being received.

An event being looked forward to with unusual interest is the possibility of a trip to Washington in October when the statue of General George B. McClellan will be unveiled. If the military officials will permit Co. K to take this trip it will help in a large measure to make up for the disappointment caused when it was not allowed to attend the last inauguration ceremonies of President Roosevelt.

The company will go to camp at Sea Girt this summer and it will try to secure the presence of every member so that a good showing may be made on the State range.

ANOTHER EFFORT TO GET TROLLEY TO WATCHUNG.

Residents of the "Notch" Now Said to Favor the Improvement.

One of the numerous efforts toward securing trolley connection between this city and Watchung as well as other villages in the vicinity is now in progress. Recently, a representative made a trip through Watchung and the neighboring places with a view to securing rights of way for a trolley and it is now believed that they can be obtained without much trouble. One of the old routes has been selected, that is the extension of the line from the present terminus of the Somerset street trolley.

It is proposed to run the line on the main road through the "Notch" past Watchung and then take in all of the nearby villages. In a majority of cases where property-owners heretofore opposed and fought against the invasion of the trolley, they are now heartily in favor of it and in fact are working for it. They begin to realize that the trolley will result in a building boom such as will improve property and they want the improvement at the earliest possible date. If the Public Service Corporation is assured of the cooperation of the property-owners it will undoubtedly agree to extend its line.

GRACE M. E. FESTIVAL.

To Be Given in the Church by Ladies' Aid Society.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church will hold a strawberry and ice cream festival in the church tomorrow and Friday evenings. Quite an elaborate programme is being prepared under the direction of Miss Carroll and Mrs. Harry Cannon. The Queen of May and her attendants will be there and her subjects, the Daisies, the Buttercups, the Roses and Violets will sing and recite. The programme will close with a May-pole drill.

Following the programme ice cream will be served by Mrs. Lippincott, home-made cake will be sold by Mrs. Bodine and a committee, strawberries by Mrs. Nelson, lemonade by Mrs. Charles Harden and assistants and Mrs. Charles Force and a committee will dispense a very fine variety of home-made candy. A cordial invitation to attend is extended to all.

Ascension Day Service Off.

Owing to the fact that Rev. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church, who desired to speak to Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., on Thursday, Ascension Day, will be unable to do so because of the death of his son, the commandery has given up its plans to attend divine services that night.

Rev. Mr. Mayell Preached.

Rev. Nelson Miles Mayell, formerly of Ithica, N. ., occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church Sunday morning. His sermon was enjoyed by a large congregation. He is a convincing speaker and delightfully entertaining.

NAMES UNION TAX BOARD

Frederic H. Andrews, C. C. Pollard and M. M. Scudder Appointed by Governor.

CRANE TURNED DOWN

Mr. Andrews a Member of New York Produce Exchange and Former President of Common Council.

Governor Stokes yesterday appointed three of the new county boards for the equalization of taxes, among them being that of Union county. The appointees are Frederic H. Andrews, of this city; C. C. Pollard, Elizabeth; Mulford M. Scudder, Westfield. Scudder is a Democrat and was not originally slated for the place, Senator Ackerman having recommended J. Williams Crane, of Union. Objection was made to him and Scudder was brought forward.

Frederic H. Andrews, the local member of the board, was born in Philadelphia in 1851 and was a member of the class of 1871 of the University of Pennsylvania. He removed to New York in 1884 and was elected a member of the New York Produce Exchange, acting as secretary to the Board of Managers for four years. For two years he was vice president.

Mr. Andrews came to Plainfield in 1887 and he has aldays taken an active interest in its civil and religious affairs. He was president of the Common Council one year and during his term he made a record for himself as a capable and conscientious official. He became a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and this organization has no more devoted worker than he. For the past sixteen years he has been one of its elders and has served in other capacities. When Hope chapel was started in 1888 he went there as assistant superintendent and much of its early growth was the result of his labors. He was taken from Hope to become superintendent of Warren chapel which office he still holds.

In New Jersey Y. M. C. A. circles, Mr. Andrews is almost as widely known as he is in Plainfield and very few of its large gatherings are held without him being in attendance. He is chairman of the State Executive Committee and has frequently taken part in the National gatherings. As a speaker and leader of singing Mr. Andrews is in great demand and he has ever been ready to extend his services.

Though not strongly identified with politics, Mr. Andrews has been affiliated with the Republican party and has been conversant with county affairs. When selections were to be made for appointment to the equalization board, he was picked by Senator Ackerman as the man to head it, believing that he would discharge the duties in a fair and impartial manner and in a way to earn the confidence of the taxpayers.

The other boards appointed by the Governor yesterday were as follows: Monmouth county, William K. Devereux, Democrat, Asbury Park; Wm. T. Hoffman, Republican, Englishtown; John S. Applegate, Republican, Red Bank; Salem county, D. Harris Smittee, Republican, Salem; John G. Ward, Republican, Centerton; Charles Mecum, Democrat, Salem.

Postal Clerks' Annual.

The New Jersey Postal Clerks' Association, of which A. E. LaPorte, of this city, is secretary, will hold its annual meeting in Hoboken Decoration Day. There is a movement on foot among the clerks to secure an increase in pay and the strict enforcement of an eight-hour day schedule, and action in connection with it will probably be taken at the meeting. There will be a big banquet at night, after the close of the second session. Congressmen McDermott and Van Winkle, of Hudson County, will speak to the clerks.

Horse Show Tickets on Sale.

The private box, parking space and grandstand reserved seat tickets for the third annual horse show to be held at the new show grounds of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club, June 7, 8 and 9, will be put on sale at the Casino tomorrow morning. The rule will be first come first served.

Stone on South Avenue.

The city street force is putting stone on South avenue, from Central street to the foot of Netherwood hill. The roller will start to harden down the binder tomorrow.

W. C. T. U. Festival.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold a strawberry and ice cream festival in its rooms on Madison avenue, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

"In sheer delight the housewife smiles,
Her brushes weep and wail the while.
For they are now dethroned and old,

THE LAST VESTIGE

The blacking brush must now go the way of all old fashioned household utensils. It is a breeder of microbes, and consequently in well regulated households should become a thing of the past. The gas range makes this possible, for it needs no blacking. A soft, oiled cloth keeps it in good condition. Order a range to-day. Prices $9.50 to $15.00. $2.00 down; $2.00 a month. WANTED—A FLAGPOLE.

The one hundred and twenty-ninth anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes as the flag of our nation occurs on Thursday, June 14. That the day may be appropriately observed, the American Flag Association has enlisted the aid of mayors and other civil authorities including the superintendents of education. In all the public schools, it is desired that commemorative exercises be held and there is no doubt that the wish will be complied with generally. In most all communities, the flags will be displayed on all public buildings.

In this connection it is timely to call attention to the fact that nothing has been done to replace our city flagpole. At a very small outlay, a new pole could be provided and Old Glory would again float over the city. Is there no one in the Common Council to champion the cause?

REFORMER FOR GOVERNOR.

The gigantic political machine in Pennsylvania, built by the late Senator Quay, is all out of gear as a result of the repeated assault made on it by the friends of good government. The finishing touches in a supreme effort to put it out of commission for good will be struck when Mayor Weaver is nominated for Governor. He is the "traitor" to the cause of "addition, division and silence," who has pursued the crooked politicians unrelentingly from the time that he deserted the rotten combination a few years ago. With him in the gubernatorial chair, it is safe to predict that the prisons will who do not have the wisdom to seek a "change of climate."

WHY NOT DEBATE IT?

Following somewhat the example of Senator Hillery in Morris county, Assemblyman Perkins waxes indignant over the attack made by the Colby forces on the record of the regulars in the 1906 Legislature. In the Morris county case, Senator Colby has promptly accepted a challenge for a debate. As yet Mr. Perkins has issued no "defi," although under the circumstances it is up to him to do so. In some parts there is much grumbling over Union county's record in the Legislature and the only way to find out whether there is any real merit in the complaints is for the representatives to meet the Colbyites in public debate.

FOLLOWING PLAINFIELD.

Since Plainfield led the way a couple of years ago, the movement for high license as a means of elevating and more effectually regulating the liquor business has become quite fashionable. The latest to take a step in that direction is Rahway, where the retail license fee has been raised to $500. Some of the members wanted to make it double that figure, the same as it is here, but as the fee was only $250 it will be admitted that the excise board has done mighty well as it is.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.

In the appointment of Frederic H. Andrews as a member of the Union County Board for the Equalization of Taxes, Governor Stokes has honored the people of Plainfield and at the same time given fresh evidence of his avowed declaration that he will appoint only good men to office. The appointee is both able and conscientious and his selection does not savor of practical politics, which unfortunately is so frequently the case in this and other counties.

Ferdinand Rockefellow, of the borough, who received an injury at the freight house a few days ago, and who is now stopping at the home of his mother on West Second street, is rapidly convalescing. He will be able to leave the house soon.

QUALIFYING ROUND FOR WOMEN'S TOURNEY

FIRST DAY'S PLAY OF THS METROPOLITAN GOLF ASSOCIATION.

Miss Georgianna Bishop, of the Brooklawn Country, Club, a former national woman champion, led the field in the qualifying round of the seventh annual championship of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association over the links of the Englewood Golf Club yesterday. She returned a score of 93 for the eighteen holes.

Of the thirty-five entries there were Miss Margaret Goddard, who finished first with Miss Mabel Barber, of Englewood, in the first eight, with a tie score or 137, and Miss Leila Cruikshank, who finished last in the second eight with a score of 136, in qualifying for the championship rounds.

Contestants qualified in four eights, the first for the championship cup. Under the circumstances, Miss Bishop's 93 was creditable, and compares favorably with any score returned in past metropolitan championships. To see Mrs. Charles T. Stout drive would give one the impression that the Metropolitan Golf Association champion is in a class by herself. Her out play was the same as Miss Bishop's, but coming home she made two costly mistakes with her irons, besides throwing away any number of puts.

One of the features of this year's tourney was the number of new faces. Several of the contestants in the qualifying round were trying their luck for the first time.

In the play today for those of the third eight Miss Cruikshank is paired with Miss Graham and in the fourth eight Miss Margaret Goddard is paired with Miss C. Langley.

PRIZE BARKERS TONIGHT

IT'S A GREAT ORDER

Founded But 24 Years Ago and Now a Potent Factor in America—

Organized Here 5 Years Ago.

Final arrangements were made by the committee in charge, for the Carnival booming of the Knights of Columbus tonight. The members and their friends will turn out in full force, and whoop things up. It is a safe prediction that the grounds will be full of bustle and loose money tonight.

The council will be accompanied by a full brass band. There will be no parade to the grounds, but the band will be used to add liveliness to the general proceedings. Sixty or more barkers and ticket-sellers will uphold the reputation of the Knights as boomers, and unattached members will look hard for ways to spend their money. The Knights have a lot of friends and most of them are expected to come out to the grounds tonight with their purse-strings flying loose.

The Knights of Columbus, which is perhaps the most prominent of the Roman Catholic fraternities in this country, was founded in New Haven, Conn., and incorporated under the laws of the State of Connecticut March 29, 1882. Its existence is due to the efforts of the late Rev. Father McGiveny and five or six of the prominent Catholic men of New Haven, who undertook to band together the Catholic men of their city and State for social and fraternal advancement, to act as an arm to the church in keeping young men true to the faith of their fathers and to their obligations as American citizens.

For some years the order was confined to the New England States but at length found its way to New York, from whence is spread like wildfire throughout the length and breadth of the land, until now it is firmly entrenched in every State in the Union, in the Philippines, in Porto Rico, in Mexico, and in every province in Canada. It has about 1,200 councils, and the membership of the order is in the neighborhood of 200,000. The working principles are Charity, Unity, Brotherly Love and Patriotism. It is a distinctively American order, and exists only in the New World, the heritage of the great Columbus. The national convention will be held at New Haven next month, during which time the new $500,000 headquarters of the Supreme Council will be dedicated.

The order of the Knights of Columbus was introduced in this State in November, 1895, by the institution of Jersey City Council, No. 137. Councils in Newark, Hoboken, Orange, Paterson, Elizabeth, New Brunswick and Passaic followed the example of Jersey City in a short time and from the single council eleven years ago with a membership of 50, the order has in the state today 42 councils and over 6,000 members.

Among these 42 councils, Watchung, No. 552, of this city, is without a peer. Since its institution on January 9th, 1901, its progress and expansion has been unceasing. Celebrated among the councils for the excellence of its discipline and for the attention to the many details of successful fraternal life, it stands at the present time a model council.

At the ceremonies of institution held in the Babcock building in 1901 the young council entertained six knights from all parts of the State. At the conclusion of the work on that occasion the visitors were loud in their praise of the caliber of the membership and of the self-evident enthusiasm of the body. John A. O'Keefe was the first Grand Knight and served in that capacity for two years. He was followed by Alfred E. La Porte, who filled the office for three terms.

The present Grand Knight is Arthur A. Cannon, who is ably assisted by the following board of officers: Deputy grand knight, Timothy J. Meaney; chancellor, Frank T. McInerney; warden, Wilbur H. Schaefer; financial secretary, John J. Hines; recorder, Michael T. Moynihan; treasurer, Florence S. McCarthy; advocate, Francis J. Blatz; physician, Dr. William C. Boone; chaplain, Rev. James T. Delehanty; inside guard, John J. Carty; outside guard, Robert McCormick; trustees, John C. Traynor, John J. Kenney, Patrick Traynor; organist, Joseph Noonan.

The fire in the Babcock building destroyed the entire belongings of the council but they were replaced with even a finer outfit. After the fire the lodge room in the Coward building were used for a time, but the quarters becoming too small the council leased its present quarters in the Vanderveer building for a term of years. This suite of rooms has been fitted in a sumptuous manner and is considered one of the finest lodge rooms in the State.

The council took an active part in the establishing the fund to found the chair of Secular History at the Catholic University in Washington, D. C. Its local benefactions have been numerous but always in a quiet way as notoriety in this regard is distasteful to the council. Its social affairs have been uniformally successful, whether they took the form of ladies' night, a clam bake, a smoker or simply the regular semi-monthly meeting, the result is always the same, a closer fraternal union of its members or an evening of pleasure to those non-members.

More recent history perhaps needs no comment as it is still fresh in the minds of the public, and that is the remarkable showing made by the council and its friends at the Knight of Columbus night each year at the carnival. After a heavy rain all day and well into the evening, leaving the grounds in a cold damp condition, the council determined in spite of the weather to make that night a noted one; took possession of the grounds and the result was one of the best nights of the week. Congratulations from all sides poured in on the council for the magnificent showing in face of adverse circumstance.

ELOPED IN AUTO; MARRIED BY NEGRO.

Colored Parson Tied the Knot Before Irate Parents' Auto Arrived.

Edward Flynn's lunch-wagon at Elizabeth and Rahway avenues, Elizabeth, was the scene of a romance last last night. A couple occupying an automobile approached the lunch-wagon and inquired of Mr. Flynn where they could find a minister, intimating that they wanted to get married.

Before Mr. Flynn could answer, a diminutive colored man, giving his name as John Gaines, stepped forward and said he was a minister of the gospel and was ready for business. After a hasty consultation between the man and woman, the latter finally consented and the wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Gaines, the witnesses being Edward Flynn and John Sheridan.

The woman gave her name as Miss Beatrice Grierson and the groom that of Lloyd Smith. They did not tell their residence, but from certain things heard it is believed that they came from Rutherford. Immediately after the ceremony the couple made a hasty escape from Elizabeth. A few minutes later another automobile approached the lunch-wagon carrying an aged couple, supposed to be parents of the girl. They were very much excited and inquired of Mr. Flynn whether he had seen a young couple, answering the description of the one which stopped there only a short time before. He said that he did and without asking any further questions started off in pursuit of the young married couple. It is not known whether they found their daughter or not.

Sunday-School Conference.

The officers and teachers of the Sunday-school of Marconnier chapel met last night at the home of A. C. Bechstein, of Park avenue. The pastor, Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, together with Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, and other workers from this church, also attended and joined in a discussion of plans for the summer work. After the conference refreshments were served. Dr. Schenck and the other Plainfield workers were taken to their homes in an auto by Mr. Bechstein's son.

Freeholders Meet to Receive Bids.

A joint meeting of the Freeholders from Union and Somesset counties was held at the Hotel Iroquois this afternoon to receive bids for the reconstruction of the Leland avenue bridge. It is the intention of the Freeholders to use most of the material in the old West End avenue bridge at Leland avenue.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The house was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." "Can't you talk to him, and tell him better?"

"I could. I know it all by heart—all the things to say to a man on the downward path. Heaven knows I've heard them often enough, but I'd feel ashamed to talk that way to Uncle Peter. If he were my son, now, I'd cut off his allowance and send him back to make something of himself, like Sile Hightee with little Hennery; but I'm afraid all I can do is to watch him and see that he doesn't marry one of those little pink-silk chorus girls, or like a policeman, or anything."

"You're carryin' on the same way yourself," ventured his mother.

"That's different," replied her perspicacious son.

Uncle Peter had refused to live at the Hightower after three days in that splendid and populous caravansary.

"It suits me well enough," he explained to Percival, "but I have to look after Billy Brue, and this ain't any place for Billy. You see Billy ain't city broke yet. Look at him now over there, the way he goes around butting into strangers. He does that way because he's all the time looking down at his new patent leather shoes—first pair he ever had. He'll be plumb stoop-shouldered if he don't hurry up and get the new kicked off of 'em. I'll have to get him a nice warm box-stall in some place that ain't so much on the band-wagon as this one. The ceilings here are too high fur Billy. And I found him shootin' craps with the bell boy this mornin'. The boy thinks Billy, bein' from the west, is a stage robber, or somethin' like he reads about in the Cap' Collier libr'ries, and follows him around every chance he gets. And Billy laps up too many of them little striped drinks; and them French-cooked dishes ain't so good fur him, either. He caught on to the bill of fare right away. Now he won't order anything but them allas—them dishes that has 'a la' something or other after 'em," he explained, when Percival looked puzzled. "He knows they'll always be something all fussed up with red, white and blue gravy, and a little paper bouquet stuck into 'em. I never knew Billy was such a fancy eater before."

So Uncle Peter and his charge had established themselves in an old-fashioned but very comfortable hotel down on one of the squares, a dingy monument to the time when life had been less hurried. Uncle Peter had stayed there 30 years before, and he found the place unchanged. The carpets and hangings were a bit faded, but the rooms were generously broad, the chairs, as the old man remarked, were "made to sit in," and the cuisine was held, by a few knowing old epicures who still frequented the place, to be superior even to that of the more pretentious Hightower. The service, it is true, was apt to be slow. Strangers who chanced in to order a meal not infrequently became enraged, and left before their food came, trailing plain short words of extreme dissatisfaction behind them as they went. But the elect knew that these delays betokened the presence of an artistic conscience in the kitchen, and that the food was worth tarrying for. "They know how to make you come back hungry for some more the next day," said Uncle Peter Bines.

From this headquarters the old man went forth to join in the diversions of his grandson. And here he kept a watchful eye upon the uncertain Billy Brue; at least approximately. Between them, his days and nights were occupied to crowding. But Uncle Peter had already put in some hard winters, and was not wanting in fortitude.

Billy Brue was a sore trouble to the old man. "I jest can't keep him off the streets nights," was his chief complaint. By day Billy Brue walked the streets in a decent, orderly trance of bewilderment. He was properly puzzled and amazed by many strange matters. He never could find out what was "going on" to bring so many folks into town. They all hurried somewhere constantly, but he was never able to reach the center of excitement. Nor did he ever learn how anyone could reach those high clothes lines, strung 40 feet above ground between the backs of houses; nor how there could be "so many shows in town, all on one night;" nor why you should get so many good things to eat by merely buying a "slug of whisky;" nor why a thousand people weren't run over in Broadway each 24 hours.

At night, Billy Brue ceased to be the astounded alien, and, as Percival said Dr. Von Herzlich would say, "began to mingle and cooperate with his environment." In the course of this process he fell into adventures, some of them, perhaps, unedifying. But it may be told that his silver watch with the braided leather fob was stolen from him the second night out; also that the following week, in a Twenty-ninth street saloon, he accepted the hospitality of an affable stranger, who had often been in Montana City. His explanation of subsequent events was entirely satisfactory, at least, from the time that he returned to consciousness of them.

"I only had about $30 in my clothes," he told Percival, "but what made me so darned hot, he took my breastpin, too, made out of the first nugget ever found in the Early Bird mine over Silver Bow way. Gee! when I woke up I couldn't tell where I was. This cop that found me in a hallway, he says I must have been give a dose of Peter. I says, "All right—I'm here to go against all the games,' I says, 'but pass me when the Peter comes around agin,' I says. And he says Peter was knockout drops. Say, honestly, I didn't know my own name till I had a chanst to look me over. The clothes and my hands looked like I'd seen 'em before, somehow—and then I come to myself."

After this adventure, Uncle Peter would caution him of an evening:

"Now, Billy, don't stay out late. If you ain't been gone through by 11, just hand what you got on you over to the first man you meet—none of 'em'll ask you any questions—and then pike fur home. The later at night it gets in New York the harder it is fur strangers to stay alive. You're all right in Wardner or in Hellandgone, Billy, but in this here camp you're jest a tender little bed of pansies by the wayside, and these New Yorkers are terrible careless where they step after dark."

PERKINS MAKES DEFENSE

Union County Assemblyman Upholds the Work of the Regulars.

ANSWERS REFORMERS

Although the subject of equal taxation was fully explained in detail Monday night at a meeting of the Summit Board of Trade at Odd Fellows' Hall, in that city, there was a discussion, seemingly as vital to the interests of the people of Summit, which was not anticipated by the committee of the board who had the meeting in charge. It was in the nature of a reply to the strictures of the Colby-Fagan-Record forces which had lately invaded the town and scattered seeds of discontent in the ranks of the Republican party, and was made by Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, leader of the majority in the recent Legislature.

After Mr. Muchmore had introduced Mr. Van Duyne as the first speaker and the latter had dealt on the subject of equal taxation in the light in individual responsibility versus bossism, Assemblyman Perkins stepped upon the platform. He had a large suit case with him, in which he carried the documentary evidence to prove the assertions he made. Mr. Perkins traced the growth of equal taxation, which he said was a matter of evolution. It was not a new thing by any means. The Democrats in their platform for years past had advocated it, but the Republicans did the work.

Suddenly Mr. Perkins dropped the subject of taxation and proceeded to tell his hearers something about the workings of the recent Legislature and of his own record in Trenton. He defended the Hillery act, saying it was the result of the commission appointed by the Governor in 1895, and that theoretically it was a good thing, but was repealed because of public sentiment.

"Now, as to the talk about corporation influences in the Legislature," continued the Assemblyman, "I want to say right here that no railroad representative ever came to me with a dollar, nor was I asked by a corporation to vote for this or that measure. I have a record in Trenton which I am proud of, and I want it known to the citizens of Summit that no boss or machine every attempted to control me."

"As leader of the majority of the House in 1906 Legislature, I say there was never a better body of men inside the legislative halls of Trenton. Every man was true to his convictions and voted according to the dictates of his conscience. There was no such corporate influence there, as has been reported. Some people will think that is not so, and I know some people who are now running around the State saying it is not so.

"It's a shame the way the newspapers criticise the Legislature. Those men acted fairly and squarely and every man is ready to stand before the public upon his record. I say that the Republican party has carried out every pledge. There are a good many people shouting for equal taxation and they don't want it. They want their neighbors assessed high, but as for themselves they are looking for as low a rate as they can get. That is human nature. I am not here to defend the railroads, but I want to say that if the railroads are taxed too high it is wrong."

BOOM AT THE CARNIVAL

Knights of Columbus Make Things Hum All Over the Grounds.

MONEY—THICK CROWD

New Phrase Sprung by the Carnovaliers—Doctors to Examine the Double-Bodied Freak Today.

Under the stimulus of the Knights of Columbus spirit, boom times came back to the Carnival last night. There was almost as big a crowd as on Saturday night, and for the first time this week the grounds took on an air of hustle and overflowing prosperity.

The Knights proved again, what they had already demonstrated last year, that they knew how to enliven things. Also that they knew how to spend money and had a lot of friends who would never be accused of having tightwad tendencies.

The members of the council turned out in full force, with the Liberty Brass Band. They didn't parade to the grounds, but the band gave them greeting at the headquarters tent as they gathered for their credentials and megaphones, and then started on a steady round of the attractions. The band did a lot to draw crowds within range of the barkers' siren appeal.

The working Knights were on hand by 7 o'clock and a half-hour later they were posted on duty and ready for the crowd. The latter started to come at 8 and it kept acoming with enthusing regularity after that. All the shows did a big business, and settling up time at headquarters was marked by the sound of thickly falling money.

The barkers and ticket men from the lodge were as follows:

Albert Traynor, Richard Birmingham, Thomas F. Hughes, Anthony Martel, Edward Harding, James Forristel, John Dineen, Thomas Quinn, John Slogan, Michael Higgins, M. B. Caffrey, M. J. Regan, James Saverd, John McNally, W. Schaffer, Thomas Dunphy, B. Hanrahan, T. J. Meaney, John Connelly, T. Parent, James Hurley, David Doyle, M. J. Keefe, P. J. Connolly, J. Clark, J. Cavanaugh, C. J. Ward, J. Hurley, J. McCaffery, W. F. Daley, Peter Smith, F. J. McInerney, P. Sullivan, M. Gallagher, W. J. Schaefer, E. J. Harding, J. King, Daniel Dugan, J. Reinhart, P. Hines, J. McNally, T. J. Meaney, C. McDonough, P. Parent, David Doyle, Robert McCormack, John Conway, T. Carty, Jr., Thomas Carty and John Carty.

The boomers were marshalled by the following committee, the executive wing of the Committee of Fifty organized to arrange for the Carnival night: A. A. Cannon, G. P. Kiely, C. J. Ward, Dr. A. K. Brennan, J. J. Kenney, H. P. Greenwood, T. Gough, Den Galbraith, W. J. O'Keefe, Robert McCormack and F. J. Blatz.

The Carnival store opened last night for the first time, under the direction of A. E. Force, of the White Store. It did a big business, and promises to be one of the three biggest money-makers on the grounds. A set of harness and a rubber-tired runabout were in the store last night, but nobody got the letter calling for them. Other big things will be in the stock from time to time, and each of them will go to someone.

A Carnival catch-word phrase was started on the grounds last night. "Take me, Bill, to the Vaudeville," somebody heard a girl say to her escort, and the lyrical appeal tickled him. He passed it on, and pretty soon it was planted firmly in the Carnival patter.

The first matinee was run yesterday. There was a good-sized attendance and the shows that were opened did a lively business.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock a party of physicians will come to the grounds to examine Libbera, the double-bodied man. D. A. H. Dundon, who arranged the examination, has provided an interpreter to enable the medical men to converse with the freak, who does not talk English well.

The Elks will have charge of the grounds tonight. The sign of the antlers is the sign of push and prosperity usually, and a swift pace is likely to be imparted to Carnival doings tonight.

Continental Chapter's Final Meeting.

Continental Chapter, D. A. R., has concluded its meetings for the past winter and spring, the last one being held at the home of Mrs. D. P. Hall. A report from the recent entertainment was presented and showed the affair to have been most satisfactory. Miss Dietrich, the delegate to the Continental Congress, was unable to be present, but sent a very interesting report.

—The Sesame Club met this morning at the home of Mrs. A. C. Nickerson on Kensington avenue.

COLORED VOTERS JOIN THE COLBY MOVEMENT

DR. ANDERSON CHOSEN HEAD OF NEW INDEPENDENT REPUBLICAN CLUB.

In response to an invitation a number of independent colored Republican voters gathered at Thos. Bower's place, 152 E. Front street, last night and formed the Independent Republican Club, along the lines of the Colby movement. Loyalty to the principles of independence in thought and action at primaries and elections was the keynote of the meeting and it was openly declared and agreed that in the future there shall be no buying and sell of votes; that a man shall be permitted to vote according to the dictates of his own conscience. Bossism was denounced in severe terms and it was decided to do all that is possible to rid the city, county and State of anyone who attempted to pose as a boss.

It was planned to form similar clubs throughout Union county and to band all of the colored viters together in one strong organization. The local club selected these officers last night:

President, Dr. J. C. Anderson; vice-president, William Dempsey; secretary, William Brown; executive committee, Richard B. Norwood, chairman; Charles Sheldon, vice-chairman; James Babbitt, William Jeter, Thomas Bowser, A. S. Venable, Winfield Monroe. There persons represent the various wards and others will be selected at a meeting to be held at the same place Thursday night, June 7, when all of the committees will be chosen and definite plans adopted for organizing clubs throughout the county.

E. J. PHILLIPS' ACTION AGAINST P. S. C. BLOCKED.

Important Witness Not Available and Plaintiff's Lawyer Agrees to Non-Suit.

Edward J. Phillips' suit for $200 against the Public Service Corporation, for damage done to his automobile in a collision in Dunellen several months ago, was dismissed without a hearing in Justice Hand's court this morning. The non-suit was agreed to by L. A. Clement, lawyer for the plaintiff.

Phillips claimed compensation for damage done to his auto by a wagon. He contended that the horse attached to the wagon was frightened by a trolley car, and so forced the rig into collision with the automobile.

Mr. Clement was unable to proceed with the case because an important witness was not available. He will start the action again.

John A. Bernhard, counsel for the P. S. C., and Claim Adjuster Church, with a batch of witnesses, were in court prepared to fight the case.

RAISED ORGAN MONEY.

Miss Flora Kirch Surprised Springdale Pastor and Congregation.

Through the work of Miss Flora Kirch, one of its members, the Springdale M. E. church has received a new organ. Miss Kirch is well known here and her friends in this city helped her get the instrument.

On her own initiative and without telling any other member of the church about it, Miss Kirch went among her many friends and the merchants of this city and Bound Brook, and raised the money for the organ. Its presentation last Sunday came as a great surprise to the pastor and congregation. The latter gave her a rising vote of thanks. Miss Kirch is a sister of W. H. Kirch, of the borough.

Clarence Butler Injured.

Clarence Butler, of Steiner place, the borough, is detained at the General Hospital, Elizabeth, with a fractured ankle. Butler is a carpenter employed by the New Jersey Central. This morning he was trying to jump the dividing fence between the tracks to catch a train for Jersey City, when he slipped and fell and fractured his ankle. He was removed to the hospital at Elizabeth, where he will remain for some time.

Baby Still at Hospital.

The four weeks' old colored baby boy which was left at the hospital Monday night is still at the hospital, no decision having been made yet as to his disposition. It will probably be up to the city to care for him, unless the parents can be found.

Homeless Infant Will Be Adopted.

The four weeks' old black baby boy left at Muhlenberg Hospital Monday night, has been removed to the Industrial Home on West Front street. It is understood that Mrs. Kennedy, of West Fourth street, will adopt the infant.

PLAINFIELDER KILLS HIMSELF IN BUFFALO

EDWARD GILSON, PRIVATE, CO. B., 9TH U. S. INFANTRY A SUICIDE.

Edward Gilson, of this city, a private in Co. B, Ninth U. S. Infantry, committed suicide at Buffalo, N. Y., this morning. He blew off the top of his head with a service rifle while in the guard house at Fort Porter. Death was instantaneous.

Gilson was forty years of age and was unmarried. He has been in the army for several years. Lately, it is reported, he has been brooding over troubles but is was not supposed that he contemplated taking his life.

It is said that just a few moments before, Gilson was chatting with a guard. Suddenly he grabbed a gun and pointed the muzzle to his right temple. Before the guard could interfere, the Plainfielder had fired, the first shot taking effect.

CONSCIENCE-STRICKEN AUTOIST.

Returned Baseball Bat and Ball He Stole from Boys.

New Providence, May 24.—An unidentified automobilist committed a rather mean petty theft here a short time ago, but showed that he had a conscience by returning the stolen goods. Leo Kaemmerer and Edmond Henbest, about ten years old, were playing ball in the road just before dark in front of their homes on Springfield avenue, when an automobile came along just after Edmond had batted the ball to Leo. The ball struck the wheel of the machine and loosened a spoke. It was an accident, but the driver of the automobile became angry. He stopped the machine, turned around and came back to where the boys were still playing.

"That's a nice thing to do, to try to break the spokes out of my machine. I'll fix you," he said. He then jumped out of the automobile and ran for the boys. They dropped the ball and bat and ran toward the house, where Mrs. Kaemmerer stood inside the gate. They reached her safely, and the angry automobilist, baffled, went back toward his machine. But before he reached it he saw the abandoned bat and ball. Stooping to pick them up he shouted angirly, "You won't use this bat and ball to break up any more machines, anyway."

The sequel came a little later, just as it was dark. The boys, who had gone indoors to console themselves over their loss, heard an automobile stop in front of the house. I a moment it drove off again. They ran outside to see what was the matter and there against the front fance was the bat, with the ball on the ground nearby. Conscience-stricken, the driver of the machine had driven back after dark and returned the things that he had stolen.

Vocalist at the Carnival.

George W. Reynolds, New York's favorite baritone singer, has been secured by the Carnival management to sing during the dancing on the big platform each night. He made his first appearance last night and delighted the crowds with several new compositions, among them "Coming Home from Coney Isle," "Let Me Write What I Dare Not Tell," "Milo" and "The Indians Along Broadway." He will be on hand for the remainder of the week and will give new songs each night.

Handshake Breaks a Finger.

Bound Brook, May 24.—The pleasure of meeting his former schoolmate and chum, after not seeing him for nearly eighteen years, was given expression by a handshake of Frank Linewhite, of New Brunswick, to George Conlon, who resides near here, Sunday. The grip was so tight that the second finger was broken and the index finger dislocated on Conlon's right hand. The two men had not seen each other since the days when they both sat together in the little schoolhouse near here.

COMMUTERS WANT RELIEF

Complaints Made Against Card-Playing Seat Monopoly Nuisance.

TRAINMEN TO BLAME

Those in Charge of Cars Make Revenue Through Having Seats Reserved for Those Who Play Whist.

There is trouble brewing it appears for the devotees of hearts and whist among the commuter set on the Jersey Central Railroad unless something unforseen happens. Card playing is a popular pastime among the smoking car passengers, especially between Somerville, Plainfield and Jersey City. For years it has been the custom of baggage masters and brakemen to turn over seats and reserve them for players who get on at different towns along the line. For the hire of the cards and boards they receive a 10 cent stipend for every game. Plainfield contributes a considerable number to the army of players and it is among the contingent from this city that the trouble started.

When the trains leave the Somerville and Dunellen terminals the seats are turned over with the result that when Plainfield is reached there is very little, if any, sitting room left for passengers who do not play cards. There has been in force an unwritten law which has been rigidly adhered to with very few violations, that it is quite off-color for any commuter to occupy these seats that are reserved, and as a consequence no small number of commuters have been obliged to stand up all the way to Jersey City.

During the past few months there has been a feeling of dissatisfaction growing among the latter contingent with the result that the "unwritten law" has been disobeyed rather frequently of late, much to the disgust of the commuters who play whist. Several sets have been broken up by the "outraged" commuter who has taken it upon himself to provide means of enjoying a seat, regardless of the feelings of the card player.

This week the non-players, who have declared themselves unwilling to stand up to New York any longer, started a crusade on the New York Express which is made up at Dunellen leaving that place at 7.14 a. m. and departing from Plainfield at 7.25 o'clock, which carries a large number of Plainfielders to business every morning. The "standers," a part of whom get on west of Plainfield, have been turning the seats over, which has on two or three occasions resulted in some pretty heated arguments. Yesterday the train official in charge of the first smoker inaugurated a scheme which he thought would save his income from the card games, which were threatened. At Dunellen he delegated passengers getting off in Plainfield, on guard in the seats, who would remain on watch until the card players got aboard in Plainfield and got their seats. These guards refused to allow the seats to be turned over and by their actions incensed the feelings of a number of the non-players.

The result of this episode has resulted in the filing of complaints and protests with General Passenger Agent C. M. Burt. It is now reported that Mr. Burt will take drastic measures to prevent the continuance of this practice, and to accomplish his purpose it may mean the abandonment of card playing on all trains. The above conditions also prevail on other commuter trains.

A Daily Press reporter called up Mr. Burt last evening to ascertain his views on the matter but was unable to do so as he is absent from home and will not return until Friday.

Mr. Wilmerding An Usher.

A. Clinton Wilmerding, of Netherwood, was one of the ushers yesterday at the marriage of Miss Sara Frances Jenner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Jenner, to Dr. Egmar Hansen, both of New York. The ceremony took place at the Protestant Epispocal Church of the Epiphany at Lexington avenue and Thirty-fifth street.

Home Tots at Carnival.

Through the generosity of Henry L. Hall, of Netherwoodfi the twenty or more children at the Children's Home spent last night at the Carnival. He paid their fares to the grounds and took them to the circus, the Punch and Judy show and the other attractions that little people enjoy.

Mrs. Lusardi's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Clotilda Lusardi, who died at her home on West Front street, yesterday, will be held from St. Mary's church tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock and at the home half an hour earlier. Interment will be in the Holy Sepulchre cemetery, Newark.

BRIDGE CONTRACTS ARE HANDED OUT

JOHN C. COOPER AND MAGNUS THE SUCCESSFUL BIDDERS.

At a joint meeting of the freeholders from Union and Somerset counties, held at the Hotel Iroquois, yesterday afternoon, contracts were awarded for the rebuilding of the Leland avenue bridge over Green brook. It is the intention to use some of the best of the material from the West End avenue bridge, now torn down, for the Leland avenue structure.

John C. Cooper got the contract for the mason work at $6.24 per cubic yard, amounting in all to $873.60. Other bids on this work were Serrell Construction Company, $1,150; Magnus Johnson, $6.50 per cubic yard. The contract for theiron work was awarded to Magnus Johnson for $562. Mr. Johnson represents William Farrier. The work is to be completed by July 1, and will include besides the mason and iron work, repainting and other minor details which will make it in every respect a first-class bridge.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT TO BE HELD AT PATERSON.

Past Department Commander Smith and Other Plainfielders to Attend.

Past Department Commander, William C. Smith, of Grandview avenue, together with other members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., are planning to attend the annual department encampment to be held at Paterson on June 14 and 15. Great preparations are being made by the people of Paterson to give the veterans a hearty reception and the encampments promises to be one of the best in the history of the organization.

The big parade of the veterans will take place the first day of the encampment and will be reviewed by Major O. O. Howard, Brig. Gen. Frederick D. Grant and other military notables, besides the city and State officials. The city will be elaborately decorated, the adornment to include several electric arches erected at various places in the streets.

On the evening of June 14 a campfire will take place in the State armory at Paterson, which, it is expected, will surpass any ever held in the department of New Jersey. An elaborate banquet will be served, a splendid programme of music will be rendered and prominent guests will make speeches. The regular business of the encampment will be transacted on June 15. The reports will show that the department is prosperous, though, of course, owing to the advanced age of the veterans and the thinning of the ranks by death, no increase in membership can be shown.

It is expected that Comrade Atkinson, of Elizabeth, who was assistant adjutant general under Department Commander Atwood, of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., of this city, will be elected department commander.

In connection with the G. A. R. encampment, the Women's Relief Corps will hold its annual convention.

Judge Atwater announced that he would announce the time in a day or two.

C. M. Dolliver's Victory.

A decision has just been rendered in the Prerogative Court by Vice Ordinary Bergen in the estate of Jonathan Moore, formerly of Somerset county, sustaining the will and dismissing the appeal of George M. Waldron. Horace Codington, of Somerville, represented the appellant, and Theodore C. English, of Elizabeth, the executors, and Charles M. Dolliver, of this city, the legatees under the will. Argument was had in the matter last week, the Vice Ordinary filing his conclusions almost immediately, sustaining the will.

Miss Ada Van Doren, of North avenue, was one of those hurt in the trolley crash on West Fourth street Monday night. She was thrown down, but at the time she thought her bruises were slight. Next day, however, the effects of the shock manifested themselves, and she has suffered considerable since then.

COL. COLLINS NAMES DR. W. K. BROWNING

GIVEN RANK OF CAPTAIN AS ASSISTANT SURGEON.

Under the provisions of the new Dick bill, which recently became a law, there have been many changes in the National Guard of the State. Lieutenant W. Kempton Brown, of Co. K, who has been an assistant surgeon of the Second Regiment, has been given the rank of captain, and Commissary Sergeant Edgar Pearsall, also of Co. K, has been given the rank of second lieutenant. The appointments were made by Colonel Dennis F. Collis.

Much indignation has been expressed by military men, because Caleb T. Houston was not named as commissary of the local battalion. Charles W. Stark, who received the appointment, is not a member of the National Guard.

The appointment was made over the head of Mr. Houston, who for 25 years has served faithfully as a member of the State militia. He has an applicant for the position and was recommended by the leading military officers of the State.

All the appointments were made as expected save the one of battalion commissary of the local companies. Mr. Houston made application for the position some time ago, being advised to do so by his superior officers. He enlisted as a private in the National Guard February 3, 1883, five years before Colonel Collins became a guardsman. Mr. Houston was gradually promoted and he reached Company A. He resigned May 12, 1905, because of business.

Mr. Houston again enlisted July 5, 1905, as a private. Since then he has been given the rank of corporal. Some guardsmen said that he may receive an appointment for another position.

Captain Gordon began his military career as first lieutenant and battalion assistant surgeon October 10, 1901.

FORD WILL SHOW IT IS EASY TO LEAVE JAIL.

Handcuff Man to Give a Demonstration for Chief Kiely at Headquarters.

Don Ford, the handcuff expert, who has been mystifying the Carnival crowds by getting his hands free of tightly-locked nippers and chains, wants to demonstrate for Chief of Police Kiely how easy it is for him to get out of jail. He says he will engage to get out of a locked cell, after having been handcuffed inside, within a half-hour, and he has asked the Chief to let him demonstrate that he can do it.

The Chief is willing to make the test. Ford is expected at headquarters this afternoon to make arrangements for the demonstration.

He offers to go into the cell stripped, with his hands locked in a pair of the Chief's own handcuffs. Ford says he will not slip the cuffs from his wrists, but open the locks. He says he will pick the cell door lock in a jiffy, no matter what's its make.

"If he will do what he says he can, he will give me a shock," said the Chief this morning. "I want to see him make the test."

City officials and a few friends of the Chief will be invited to witness the demonstration.

WITNESS OVER EIGHTY.

Aged Bennett Britton Gives Testimony in a Landlord-Tenant Suit.

Kussel Sachar won his suit against Samuel Klein for possession of the premises at 682 West Third street, in Justice Hand's court yesterday afternoon. The suit hinged on the character of Klein's lease. He claimed to be a yearly tenant and Sachar contended that his tenancy was monthly. The weight of evidence was all against the tenant, and the court ruled for Sachar.

One of the witnesses for Sachar was Bennett Britton, who is well on toward ninety. He sold the property recently to Sachar. Britton made an admirable witness.

The proposed reception will probably be held early in September, and the event will mark the inauguration of the new season's work.

FATAL TROLLEY CRASH

VICTIM, CHAS. CASHEN

Car 1934 of the Elizabeth-Plainfield line, bowling along East Second street toward this city, at a high rate of speed at 5:30 yesterday afternoon, crashed into a stone wagon at Hunter avenue, killing the driver, Charles Cashen, almost instantly, and injuring both horses. The victim was hurled from his seat and the fender of the car struck him in the abdomen, almost disemboweling him. He was dead when the car was backed away and County Physician Westcott, who reached the scene shortly afterward, said he had lived hardly a minute after being hit. Motorman Albert Adriance and Conductor Thos. Beck gave the official their version of the accident and were released on their own recognizance.

Cashen had resided in this city all his life until a short time ago when he entered the employ of William Lee at Scotch Plains, carting stone from the Cook quarry on the mountains to points along the trolley line. He and several other teamsters had been engaged in this work yesterday afternoon, between Farley and Hunter avenues. They concluded dumping loads and started back East Second street just as car 1934 came in sight. Two of the drivers sent their teams across the tracks into Hunter avenue but Cashen kept on as though he was not going to turn until after the trolley passed. This is what Adriance believed and he did not shut off the power.

Without any warning, the driver suddenly swung his team directly in front of the car and it was impossible to avert a collision. The heavy wagon was struck squarely in the middle and everything piled together in a confused heap, the horses kicking and struggling to escape. Cashen was seen to throw up his hands and go down beneath the car and it was gotten back as soon as possible. The body was taken to one side of the road and later removed to Cole's undertaking rooms.

Cashen was forty-three years old and was widely known in this vicinity. He was unmarried and leaves one sister, Mrs. William Murphy, of West Fifth street, and a brother, James Cashen, of East Sixth street.

The funeral will be held at St. Mary's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

YOUNG PIANO PUPILS DISPLAY MUCH SKILL.

Frances Rittenhouse and Muriel Collins Surprise Large Audience at Miss Whitney's Studio.

A large and interested audience filled the studios of Miss May Vincent Whitney yesterday afternoon to listen to a piano recital given by Frances Rittenhouse and Muriel Collins, assisted by Mrs. S. D. Collins, soprano. The playing of these young girls seemed to create considerable wonder and amazement and the attentive listeners appreciated the ability of a high order which the players displayed. They have been trained entirely by Miss Whitney from the beginning of their musical study and she feels justly proud of them. They are earnest conscientious pupils of much ability whose playing is permeated by a really intelligent personality. The beautiful songs contributed by Mrs. Collins were pleasing. Other musicales will be given during the next few weeks. The programme follows:

"Serenade in D," Chaminade; "Etude du Style," Ravina, Muriel Collins; "Valse Noble," Saar; "To a Water Lily," MacDowell, Frances Rittenhouse; "The Mourner," Franz; "The Sweet Flower," Vander Stucken, Mrs. Collins; "Preambule," Bach; "The Two Larks," Leschetizsky, Muriel Collins; "Impromptu in B flat," Schubert, Frances Rittenhouse; "Andante," Beethoven, Muriel Collins; "Scottish Tone Picture," MacDowell; "The Chase," Rheinberger, Frances Rittenhouse; "Sleep Well Thou Sweet Angel," Abt; "What Is That to You?" Walbridge, Mrs. Collins; "Polenez in B," Paderewski, Muriel Collins; "Rondo Brilliant," Weber, Frances Rittenhouse. Second piano accompaniment by Miss May Vincent Whitney.

LANDLORD OUSTS COURT.

Metuchen Recorder, in Midst of Suit, Forced to Quit His Office.

Metuchen, May 24.—The anti-auto speeder crusade inaugurated here by Marshal Enos Fouratt, who has a chart system for ascertaining whether the big machines break the law, led to all kinds of complications during the last two days. The borough recorder is the Rev. S. B. D. Prickitt, a retired Methodist minister. Most of the auto arrests came in Sunday and the recorder, much against his will, had to hold court to put on the fines. He did so in the Council chambers in Robins' Hall.

In the midst of the session of the recorder's court, in came Nate Robins, proprietor of the hall, saying that the Rev. Mr. Prickitt couldn't uphold justice there any longer unless he paid rent. The recorder calmly took up his law books and marched the constable and his prisoner, G. W. Rector, a New York restaurant man, to a substitute court room in another building, announcing where his future headquarters would be found.

"Yes," said Mr. Robins, "but who is going to pay me the back rent?"

The first man to get into the clutches of the Metuchen officers was E. E. Smathers, a famous racing man, owner of Major Delmar. He was running thirty-four miles an hour, which cost him $15. E. H. Garry ran thirty-two miles an hour and paid Metuchen $15 for so doing. M. Brill, of the firm of Brill Brothers, ran twenty-four miles an hour. He disputed this statement, but when told he could be fined $50 for not showing a number, he agreed to pay the $50 fine demanded of him. Joseph P. Prince, of Brooklyn, added $15 to Recorder Prickitt's kitty. Charles Kaye, of 110 West 119th street, New York city, was fined $15, but could only locate $5 in his pockets or in the $3,000 automobile. The recorder let him off for the $5. Rector, the restaurant man, came next, and he, too, paid $15.

BRIDGE BLOCKS TRAFFIC.

Middlesex Freeholders Receive a Complaint from the War Department.

New Brunswick, May 24.—The hope that soon the Amboy bridge was to be opened to travel is again doomed to disappointment. A special meeting of the County Board of Freeholders was called yesterday and it was understood the bridge was to be accepted, taken out of the contractors' hands and opened to travel. There are complications with the War Department, because of the protest of manufacturers with plants along the river, above the bridge.

They claim the present timber trestle construction obstructs the channel. They have petitioned that the board be compelled to tear out the trestle construction near the channel and replace it with steel spans. The War Department has approved the request. Because of this and because of the legal problems involving the contracts already awarded, the solicitor advised against any action.

—The North Plainfield High School Alumni Association is making arrangements for its annual dance and reception to the graduating class. The tickets can now be secured at Armstrong's drug store.

EVA BOOTH DENIES GRAFT IN ARMY.

Salvation Army Commander Answers Criticism Made at Charities Congress.

New York, May 24.—A reply issued by Commander Eva Booth, of the Salvation Army, to statements said to have been made recently by Edwin D. Solenberger, general manager of the Associated Charities of Minneapolis, in a paper read before the thirty-third National Congress of Charities and Correction, in Philadelphia, says the declaration that "the Salvation Army relief work, as carried on through its homes, lodging houses and other agencies, is poorly administered, and that the so-called work of the army is largely subservient to financial interest," is unjust and untrue. Miss Booth says:

"Our rescue homes are a model to the world. In many localities these rescue homes constantly care for cases handed over to them by the associated charities, and in the city of New York its rescue homes have taken direct from the city hospitals with the city ambulances poor, unfortunate mothers and their babes, and have looked after them and their infants without a single cent of financial grant from the city for their support.

"The Salvation Army property accumulated in various countries is held under the laws of these countries in trust for such purposes, and no one, either leader or worker, could pervert any such property to their personal ends or devise or bequeath it to others. In this country the army is incorporated as a religious and charitable organization, and the books of its finance are examined by a public accountant.

"The cleanliness of our lodging houses has received the praise of many health boards in various large cities.

"It is absolutely untrue that General Booth holds all property and funds of the Salvation Army in trust in America. General Booth is not even a trustee of the Salvation Army corporation. Over ten years ago, at the invitation of General Booth, a special government commission in England thoroughly investigated all financial reports and accounts of the Salvation Army, found them to be correct in every particular and commended the work to the public for being so wisely directed."

BURIED IN SANDSLIDE.

Jamesburg Man Still Had Hold of Wheelbarrow When Corpse Was Unearthed.

Jamesburg, May 24.—John Conarty, aged 55, an employee of the Jamesburg Sand Company, was killed by a sandslide in the company's pit yesterday. He was wheeling a barrow through the pit when several tons of sand loosened and fell upon him.

Other workmen saw the slide, but did not know exactly where their companion was. After digging about for three hours they found his dead body, the head of which was only a foot below the surface of the sand. The body was held upright by the sand, the hands still holding the grips of the wheelbarrow. Conarty had been smothered. Dr. J. C. Shinn had the body removed to the man's home. Conarty leaves a widow and several children.

BERNARDSVILLE WOMEN PROTEST TO SCHOOL BOARD.

They Are Indignant Over the Dismissal of Principal Schock.

Bernardsville, May 24.—Reflecting the indignation that has been aroused throughout the entire community by the recent summary and apparently unjustified action of the Board of Education relative to the dismissal of Professor James T. Shock, principal of the Bernardsville Public School, the women of the village held a meeting in the rooms of the public library. The object of the gathering was to protest in emphatic terms against the decision of the board, and to insist upon a rescinding of it. The meeting was organized by the election of Mrs. H. C. Rowell as chairman, and Mrs. M. M. Mitchell as secretary.

Through a desire to bring out a full expression of sentiment as to the character of the issue that it agitating the minds of the residents who are deeply interested in the educational welfare of the township, spirited addresses were made by a number of women. At the conclusion of the speeches, Mrs. M. M. Mitchell, Mrs. Frank S. Cobb, Mrs. J. H. Rainsbury and Mrs. Alexander K. Brookins were appointed a committee to draft resolutions expressing the sense of the meeting, copies of which were to be sent to the Board of Education and Professor Schock.

The resolutions, in part, were as follows:

"Whereas, Professor James T. Schock's work during the past year, as principal of the Bernardsville Public School, has been most efficient, not only to the parents of the pupils under his charge, but also to the majority of the board, be it

"Resolved, That the Board of Education of Bernards Township be asked to reconsider its action in the recent meeting in which they voted against re-engaging Professor James T. Schock as principal of the Bernardsville school for the coming year."

This is the committee appointed to circulate petition, throughout the village, urging the Board of Education to retain Professor Schock for another year: Mrs. A. K. Brookins, Mrs. John E. McMichael, Mrs. James H. Rainsbury, Mrs. S. Conklin, Mrs. William Dauner and Mrs. Fred Prout. Frederic P. Olcott, donor of the new schoolhouse and grounds to the township of Bernards, drove from his country estate to the meeting at the public library, for the purpose of heading one of the petitions.

COURT'S ODD SENTENCE.

Woman Found Drunk Is Ordered to Deposit $25 in Savings Bank.

Police Justice Bray had before him yesterday in the Orange, Police Court Maggie Dunkeld, thirty-six years old, who was brought in by Policeman Brennan on a charge of drunkenness.

The woman had just left her place of employment in Summit, and had $34 with her when searched at the police station. The money was produced in court, and as Maggie was still a little the worse for liquor Justice Bray told her she must put $25 of it in the savings bank after she had paid her fine of $3. This the woman at last promised to do, and she was released on that understanding.

An hour later she reappeared at the police station with a new savings bank deposit book showing $25 to her credit. She seemed grateful for the Magistrates suggestion.

PENALTY OF GALLANTRY.

Woman in Whose Interest Man Cut Wrist Bound Up Wound.

Frank Witherspoon, a native of Tennessee, now living at No. 112 Broad street, Bloomfield, N. J., was on his way to Manhattan yesterday via the Lackawanna Railroad when he saw a young woman trying to open a car window.

Her efforts were fruitless and Witherspoon went to her aid. He opened the window, but in doing so jammed his hand through the pane, cutting an artery in his wrist. The wound bled profusely.

The young woman was equal to the occasion and bound up the bleeding wrist with her handkerchief. When Witherspoon reached Manhattan he went to a hospital and had the wound sewed up by a surgeon. He then returned home and will be unable to go to business for some time.

—Miss Kittie Bodine has resigned her position at Woodhull & Martin's store and will soon enter the training school for nurses at Muhlenberg Hospital.

COLUMBUS CELEBRATION ENJOINED.

Member of Society Says Money Can Be Used Only for Sick Benefits.

Paterson, May 24.—An injunction prevented the Christopher Columbus Society of Clifton from celebrating yesterday the anniversary of the death of the famous discoverer. It was decided by the society to have religious services in the Clifton Catholic churches and to have a parade led by a brass band. Clestino Patierno, a member of the society, objected. He declared that the religious services could not be held under the auspices of the society because it was plainly stated in the bylaws that religious matters could not be discussed. He also took the stand that the rules of the society prevented the expenditure of money for any purpose other than sick benefits, and therefore it was not in order to spend money for a brass band.

The society was inclined to pay no attention to the objecting member when the question came up at a meeting a few days ago, and went ahead with its arrangements. Meanwhile Patierno consulted Henry Marelli, a lawyer, who caused an injunction to be issued, and the members of the society were dumbfounded when the document was served on them. All the plans were changed and a quiet observance in honor of Columbus took place.

MAY SUE FOR TELEPHONES.

Subscribers for Service Who Failed to Get Instruments.

New York, May 24.—A batch of suits will probably be entered against the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company by residents of Jersey City. The company a few months ago, when the fact was heralded that an opposition company would enter the city, sent out a corps of canvassers with attractive offers, and they made many contracts. A few days ago the company announced that it had reached the limit of its capacity and would put in no more telephones. It dismissed its staff of canvassers.

Many of those who had been persuaded by the canvassers were among those on the waiting list, and demands have been made that the company put in the telephones on the terms and conditions agreed on. The company has refused, and legal action will be taken to compel it to put in the telephones.

The rival company has had a rough road to travel. Its application has been pending for months and its sincerity and financial backing has been assailed. The new company has made an earnest fight, but the opposition has been bitter and it is doubtful if the franchise will be granted.

"LITTLE VICE IN JERSEY CITY."

Police Commissioners Complete Investigation—No Complaints.

The Jersey City Police Commissioners completed yesterday afternoon their investigation of the Jersey City department and found nothing wrong. No complainants appeared, and Chief Murphy was recalled and the captains were interrogated. They reported that the city was in an excellent condition and comparatively free from vice. As an illustration of the absence of crime, it was shown that during the last year only three watches had been stolen by pickpockets.

Chief Murphy said that under the existing tour of duty, the men do eighty-six hours' duty, patrol and reserve, in ten days. The Chief said that the cleaning of streets is done by the double quick time method. He advised that the city employ its own street cleaners. While Captain Nugent was on the stand Corporation Attorney Carey asked about burglaries in the Greenville district, and Captain Nugent replied, "There hasn't been one since you moved away from Greenville."

WILL BUILD CAPITOL WING.

Lewis Lawton & Son, of Trenton, Get the Contract for $82,997.

Trenton, May 24.—The State House Commission, at its meeting at noon yesterday, awarded to Lewis Lawton & Son, of this city, for $82,997, the contract for building the new wing to the State house, for which the Legislature appropriated $100,000. The figures of the lowest bidder represent a saving of $6,993 over the former lowest bidder, William Johnson, of this city. The bidders yesterday were the same as last week. Under the direction of State Charities Commissioner Wight, the specifications were so changed as to bring the cost of erecting and furnishing the wing within the appropriation.

The Lawton bid last week was $92,250. William Johnson's bid yesterday was $84,390, as against $89,990 at the former bidding. James W. Lanning bid $88,000 yesterday and last week his bid was $103,000. C. W. Kafer's bid yesterday was $88,896, as against $96,994 last week.

Addition to General's Staff.

Trenton, May 24.—Captain Wm. H. Libbey, a professor in Princeton University, was made assistant inspector general of rifle practice yesterday afternoon, with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He becomes a member of General Spencer's staff. The staff now consists, besides Col. Libbey, of Colonels Charles A. Read, Richard B. Reading and Alfred T. Holley.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Plainfield People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills comes quietly—mysteriously,

But nature warns you.

Notice the kidney secretions.

See if the color is unhealthy—

If there are settlings and sediment,

Passages too frequent, scanty, painful.

It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills,

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.

Doan's have done great work in Plainfield.

Mrs. J. C. Manchester, of 120 Lafayette place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I was a sufferer from kidney and bladder troubles for a long time, and doctored with physicians for same, each time without being cured. In July, 1905, I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and made up my mind to get a box at Randolph's drug store and give them a trial. I did so, and with good results, as the treatment regulated the kidneys and got the bladder into a proper condition. If this cure proves to be a permanent one, as I have every reason to believe it will, I will always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Danger Ahead.

It Is Only a Fool Who Pays No Attention to Danger Signals.

Thousands Die Needlessly Yearly.

In every human system as on every railway there are danger signals, the neglect of which often leads to the most terrible consequences.

Neglect of Nature's danger signals causes more deaths yearly than most people suppose.

And it is such a shame, for the signals are so plain that no sensible person can possibly misunderstand them.

Consumption kills more people than any other disease.

Consumption most often follows a neglected cold.

Persons who catch cold easily or who find it difficult to shake off a cold are neglecting important danger signals and sending out repeated invitations to Consumption. Piso's Cure for Consumption will cure any cough or cold with a rapidity and certainty that will surprise those who have never used it.

There are other danger signals, equally important, that no sensible person can afford to neglect. The steady loss of weight without apparent cause, slight chills or chilly feelings, occasional night sweats, a drawn look to the face, capricious appetite, a sense of feebleness, shortness of breath on slight exertion, and a dry, harsh skin. These would not be present unless something was radically wrong, and nine times out of ten it is the lungs.

Piso's Cure has stood the test of 50 years and has cured case after case of Consumption in its earlier stages and for every case that it has cured it has prevented thousands. This is a fact that was proven in the Superior Court of Cincinnati, under oath, by a multitude of witnesses, people of all classes and all professions and from every part of the United States.

This marvelous testimony is the most absolute proof that can be had that Piso's is not only a cure for Consumption but the safest and best cough remedy the world has ever seen. Go to your druggist and get a bottle for 25c. Send for a free copy of "How Consumptives Ought to Live." The Piso Co., 198 Piso Bldg., Warren, Pa.

SIGNS APPROPRIATIONS.

Governor Approves Many Other Measures and Resolutions.

Trenton, May 24.—The Governor signed yesterday the Annual and Supplemental Appropriation bills, authorizing expenditures of $5,626,788.60, and also the following measures and resolutions:

House Bill No. 517; provides for a commission to codify laws relating to police courts.

Joint Resolution No. 4, by Mr. Barber; providing for a commission to inquire into the possibility of devising an act by which there can be a sharing of profits between municipalities and public utility corporations, as recommended in the Governor's message, and bears directly upon the question of municipal ownership without its disadvantages.

Joint Resolution No. 9, by Senator Hutchinson; provides for a commission to investigate the condition of municipalities, with a view of securing a simplicity, uniformity and constitutionality of laws bearing on municipal government.

Joint Resolution No. 19, by Senator Hillery; provides for a commission to investigate the subject of municipal ownership, and states that, in view of the man conflicting measures on the subject introduced at the recent session and the light that will be shed on the subject by investigations now on foot, postponement of further legislation, for the sake of securing uniformity of laws, is deemed advisable until the next regular session.

Joint Resolution No. 16, by Senator Hillery; provides for the investigation of the sale of riparian lands.

Doesn't Want Curfew Law.

Hackettstown, May 24.—A lengthy business meeting of the Common Council was held in the municipal building last night. In the matter of crushed stone for street use, it was decided to again advertise for bids. The Ordinance Committee, in behalf of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, presented an ordinance refarding the curfew law, as it exists in many towns. After much discussion it was not admitted to first reading, and it was decided unconstitutional, the local charter not granting or specifying the council power to pass such an ordinance. It was further voted not to give it further consideration.

ELKS' NIGHT AT CARNIVAL.

Plainfield's proud drove of Elks will be on the Carnival trail tonight and there will be lots of fun for what promises to be a record-breaking crowd. There is not a disappointing attraction among the thirty-six varieties shown under as many tents. If you can't afford to take in all the shows, just "listen to the band"—and the original cries from the chorus of the "Best People On Earth."

RAHWAY'S CURFEW LAW.

Rahway proposes to protect the youth of that city and with that end in view has enacted a "curfew law." No child under sixteen years of age will be permitted on the streets, unless accompanied by a parent or guardian, after 9 o'clock at night. The curfew hour in the summer months will be 9 o'clock and in the winter one hour earlier. It might be well for our own Common Council to consider the advisability of passing a similar ordinance.

MUTUAL ICE PLANT.

A short time ago a well-disposed citizen suggested in these columns that people of Plainfield organize a mutual ice company, the purpose being to thwart the alleged combination of dealers from "roasting" the consumers. Practically on the same lines he proposed, the West Hudson Business Men's Association is interesting the people of Kearny, Harrison and East Newark, its scheme being to build an independent ice plant. It is proposed to erect a complete plant, costing from $50,000 to $60,000. The estimated output of such a plant would be from thirty to sixty tons daily. Stock would be issued at $10 a share and no one person would be allowed to hold more than 100 shares. Circulars setting forth the proposition in detail have been sent to every resident of the three communities.

RECORD WANTS DRYDEN'S BERTH.

That the Colbyites purpose to launch their campaign without unnecessary delay is evidencey by the announcement of George L. Record today that he is a candidate for United State Senator. The text of his lengthy statement can be summed up in a very few words, for "Down with the bosses" is the burden of his song throughout. In thus "taking time by the forelock," the Jersey City reform leader shows that he "will fight it out on that line if it takes all summer."

Senator Dryden doesn't need to announce his candidacy for it is quite plan that he will not give up the berth without a fight. He will be supported by the united regular Republican forces throughout the State, provided he is not compelled to make way for Governor Stokes, who it is said has been flirting with the leaders on both sides of the party camp with the evident intention of becoming New Jersey's junior member in the upper house at Washington.

Horseplay Caused Death.

Horseplay caused the death of Leo Pedersen, nine years old, at his home, 419 Ogden avenue, Jersey City. The boy was playing "Cops and robbers" on Tuesday night, and Pedersen was one of the robbers. A stave was used on young Pedersen, and one of the blows, a hard one, hit him on the head. The boy expired yesterday morning.

Poisonous Potcheese.

As a result of eating potcheese, Mr. and Mrs. George Burdick and their six small children, of No. 209 Camden street, Newark, were taken violently ill at their home early yesterday morning. A physician was summoned, and, after working over the family for more than an hour, pronounced all out of danger.

G. L. RECORD SEEKS U. S. SENATORSHIP

COLBYITE ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY TO SUCCEED JOHN F. DRYDEN.

George L. Record, of Jersey City, at noon today announced his candidacy to succeed John L. Dryden, of Newark, as United States Senator. He is a co-worker with State Senator Colby and Mayor Fagan in the reform movement.

In a statement issued by him, Mr. Record says incidentally:

"I have decided to become a Republican candidate for United States Senator. If elected I shall act as a Republican. I shall support every act looking to the maintenance or adoption of the principles of the Republican party as set forth in the last national Republican platform. Within the party, I shall be a Roosevelt Republican.

"Bay making the contest, I hope to make perfectly clear and distinct the fact that the fight is on to a finish against machine and corporation rule in the Republican party, and for the control of that party by the voters thereof. I hope by my candidacy to force every Republican legislative candidate to declare openly, in advance of the primaries, for whom he intends to vote for United States Senator. I hope to arouse a public interest in this campaign which will compel the passage of a law giving the people a right to express their preference at primaries or elections for United States Senator. I hope by my candidacy to put an end to the practice, in New ersey, of electing to this high office men mainly because of their wealth or corporate financial backing. I hope by this fight to increase the attendance of the party voters at the primaries, so that the machine everywhere shall be compelled to fight in the open, which means in effect that its importance as a legitimate political force will be made clear to the public. In addition to these reasons there is another. There is now shaping up in the United States, in my judgment, one of the greatest political contests in the history of the country. It is becoming plain that there is great peril to our institutions in the huge fortunes and aggregations of capital in the hands of the few, which are characteristic of our day, and in the influence which these exercise over the railroads, our national highways. President Roosevelt has recently pointed out this danger. Thoughtful men everywhere preceive it. In some form or other the attempt to remedy this and similar evils is bound to shape our politics in the future. It is the old, old question of special privilege in a new form. The doctrine of the square deal is but an expression of this feeling."

JERSEY INSURANCE PROBERS PREPARE

Senate Committee to Investigate Methods Employed by Companies Dong Business.

Trenton, May 24.—The Senate Committee appointed last winter to investigate and report on the methods employed by the insurance companies doing business in this State met at the State house Tuesday and made partial arrangements for the inquiry. The members of the committee are the members of the Senate Judiciary Committee of last winter's Senate. They are Senator Hillery, of Morris; Senator Wakelee, of Bergen, and Senator Minturn, of Hudson. Mr. Wakelee was unable to be present, but he authorized Senator Hillery to act for him.

The committee named William H. Corbin, of ersey City, as its chief counsel; Scott Snyder, a newspaper man, as clerk; Mayor Gnichtel, of this city, as stenographer, and Capt. John F. Lovett as sergeant-at-arms. Another meeting will be held Friday in Mr. Corbin's office in ersey City at which the time final arrangements for the hearings will be made.

The sessions of the investigation are to be open to the public. The first meeting will be held in the office of the State Commissioner of Banking and Insurance at the State house, during which laws and records will be gone over. Other meetings will probably be held in Newark or Jersey City, those places being more convenient for the committeemen and nearer to the offices of the insurance companies to be investigated.

The cost of the investigation will be borne by the State. The hearings are likely to consume considerable time, probably several months.

By Tom Muir.

John Daly, of West Front street, is home for a brief vacation after a very successful season ahead of Vance & Sullivan's attractions. In the early part he blazed the way for "How Baxter Butted In" but at the first of the year was transferred to "The Burglar's Daughter." Both shows did splendid business all along the route. Mr. Daly will remain with the same firm the coming season.

A man who enters the amusement field as a life occupation must have versatility galore and the fact has been demonstrated by Manager Counihan since the Carnival opened. He volunteered his services and has "barked" for some attraction every night. He doubled box office receipts each time and the management has notified him that he can't be spared a night while the big enterprise lasts. Though it is very hard work, "Bill" enjoys it and forgets the hoarseness of his throat in the thought that "its all for a good cause."

Gus Hill, always up to the minute, will produce a new piece next season, called "Around the Clock." The advance agent will be styled the pendulum and will have both a second-man and a 24-hour man. Local managers are assured that they will all be on time. The production will be a cuckoo and ought to strike public fancy and put the wise ones ticking. The hands have been hired and the cast will be the real works.

Edward Renton, who has successfully managed the Trent theatre at Trenton, the past three seasons, has tendered his resignation. His successor has not yet been appointed.

It is curious that our word "deadhead" comes from the free admission tickets of ancient Rome. These ivory tickets, set with a "death's head" can still be seen in the museum of Naples.

RECOMMENDS UNION OF PRESBYTERIANS.

Synod at Greenville, S. C., Takes Favorable Action.

Greenville, S. C., May 24.—The special committee or thirteen representing each synod in the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, yesterday presented to the general assembly, which is in session here, a majority report recommending federation of the Southern Presbyterian churches with other branches of that denomination.

The report will likely be adopted by the general assembly, and it is thought to be the beginning of the union of the Presbyterian churches in America. Rev. A. J. McKelvey is chairman of the special committee.

Street Railway's Request Granted.

Perth Amboy, May 24.—An ordinance granting the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Raritan River Street Railway Company permission to extend its tracks on Water street 100 feet in each direction from Smith street was introduced at the meeting of City Council Monday night and passed on its first reading. The company wants to lay tracks to enable it to turn its large cars, which are to be used this summer. The ordinance provides that a telford macadam pavement shall be laid from curb to curb in Water street and, from May 1 to October 1 each year, the streets through which cars run shall be sprinkled so that the dust shall be laid.

New Auto Route a Success.

Elizabeth, May 24.—A successful trial trip was made Monday afternoon by an auto car of the recently incorporated East Jersey Motor and Transportation Company, which intends running passenger auto cars between Elizabeth, Rahway and Carteret. The start was made from the courthouse. Those in the car were John P. Winans, Clarence Winans, George W. Bauer and Justice of the Peace W. H. Donaldson, of Linden; Mayor Furber, A. S. Kirstein, Herman Gries, Aaron Gries and Sidney Harris, of Rahway.

FRANCHISE TAX BILL SIGNED BY GOVERNOR.

Measure Not That for Which Colby Men Fought Hard, But the Substitute of Committee.

Governor Stokes yesterday approved the committee substitute for house bill 94, the Galvin measure, increasing the tax on franchise from 2 per cent., as now fixed by the Voorhees law, to 5 per cent. per annum. The substitute bill, now made a law, increases the tax at a graduated rate, as follows:

For 1906 the rate will be 2½ per cent.; 1907, 3 per cent; 1908, 3½ per cent.; 1909, 4 per cent.; 1910, 4½ per cent.; 1911, and annually thereafter, 5 per cent., all to be calculated on the gross receipts.

The new law is entitled: An act for the taxation of the property and franchises of street railroad corporations using or occupying public streets, highways, roads, lanes or other public places in this State.

Section 1 provides: "All the property, real and personal, and franchises of street railroad corporations which have acquired or may hereafter acquire authority or permission from this State, or from any taxing district or municipality therein, and which have, or may hereafter have, the right to use or occupy and are occupying streets, highways, roads, lanes or public places in this State, shall hereafter be valued, assessed and taxed as hereinafter provided."

The law provides that the State board of assessors shall annually ascertain and apportion the franchise tax assessed aginst any street railroad corporation among the various taxing districts in which the corporation is operating street railroads, in proportion to the value of the property located in the respective districts. All such franchise taxes are to become due and payable at the time and place and when and where other taxes are payable in each taxing district. The franchise taxes are to be collected the same as the other taxes.

This new law is the outcome of the fight for an increase in the franchise tax, which was inaugurated in the Assembly by the Colby faction, led by Assemblyman Martin, of Essex county. Very early in the session Mr. Martin introduced a bill providing for the assessment and taxation of franchises at local rates, for the benefit of the municipalities. The Colbyites made a hot fight for this measure, but it was sent to the judiciary committee headed by Assemblyman Perkins, the regular Republican leader, and was never permitted to see the light of day.

Later Assemblyman Galvin, Boss Dickinson's "Me-to" of Hudson county, introduced bill 94. This provided for a sweeping increase to five per cent. at once. This hit the corporations too hard, and the State Republican ring would not stand for it. But the ring had to do something in order to make a showing in the campaign this fall, so the committee substitute was introduced and jammed through.

Broker, Who Dropped His Wallet, Recovers All but About $10.

Washington, N. J., May 24.—John W. Sine, a local broker, had a long chase after his money Saturday, and two small boys of Washington had a good time while they stayed with the money. Mr. Sine went into one of the small rooms near his office, in the Opera House building, and lost his wallet. It was found by three small boys, Albert Scribner, fourteen years old; Earl Morgan, twelve years, and Joseph Kries, ten years. Scribner divided the money in the wallet, amounting to $88—Kries $21 and Morgan $23, Scribner keeping the balance for himself.

The Kries boy took the money home and told his mother. She promptly informed George Kries, the father, and he at once went to Mr. Sine and returned the money wiven his boy. The latter also told how the rest of the money had been divided. The other two boys, it was discovered, had purchased return tickets to Dover. Mr. Sine went to Dover on the next train and gave the chief of police a description of the boys, the latter soon being found.

The boys had given the money to two older boys, who were also located. Mr. Sine lost about $10 all told.

Will Demolish Old Church.

Elizabeth, May 24.—Old St. Patrick's church, at Elizabethport, the cornerstone of which was laid in September, 1857, will be torn down next week and on the site will be erected a large building, which will be used as a parish house, a high school and a hall for meetings. The old church has not been used since 1898, when the new $700,000 church was so far completed that services could be held in the basement. There will be a big open-air festival held on July 4 at the Star Athletic Club baseball grounds, Elizabethport, to raise funds to go toward the erection of the proposed new parish house.

Found Boy's Body.

Ruba Regan, a boatman, found the body of a boy afloat in the river off the Erie ferries, Jersey City, yesterday afternoon, and towed it to the foot of Morris street, that city. The lad was about fourteen years old, four feet five inches tall, light complexion and wore a striped knickerbocker suit and gold stick pin in his tie. The body had been in the water about ten days.

LOOKS LIKE LANNING?

Federal Court Judge Favored as Dixon's Successor.

Speculation has already commenced as to who will be appointed by Governor Stokes as the successor of the late Jonathan Dixon on the New Jersey Supreme Court bench. The position pays a salary of $10,000 a year.

It is likely that the claims of South Jersey will have to be considered in filling the vacancy. As constituted at present but one justice of the Supreme Court comes from the section of New Jersey south of Trenton. That is Justice Garrison of Merchantville. The personnel of the court is very largely in favor of extreme North Jersey. Chief Justice Gummere and Justice Swayze live in Newark, Justice Garretson and Justice Pitney hail from Morristown, Justice Fort resides in East Orange and the home of Justice Hendrickson is in Red Bank. The late Justice Dixon resided in Jersey City.

Justice Alfred Reed resides near this city, and might, therefore, be classed with Justice Garrison as belonging to South Jersey. But even then South Jersey feels that it has been discriminated against in the matter of the appointment of the justices.

One name prominently mentioned in connection with the vacancy has been that of former Justice Gilbert Collins, of Jersey City, but it is practically a certainty that he would not accept the appointment. Only a little over two years ago Mr. Collins resigned from this bench to devote his time to the practice of law. His reason for resigning was that he could not afford to retain the position at the salary, which then was $9,000. It is understood that former Justice Collins is guaranteed a salary of $20,000 as a member of the firm of Collins & Corbin, one of the leading law firms of the State.

Another name mentioned has been that of Judge William M. Lanning, of Trenton, who presides in the United States District Court. It is believed that Governor Stokes would think well of Judge Lanning as a candidate for this vacancy, but it is not known whether Judge Lanning would accept the appointment. His salary as United States district judge is $6,000 and he has a life tenure.

Two South Jersey men have been mentioned as available timber for the place. One is former Judge E. Ambler Armstrong, of Camden, now a member of the State Board of Equalization of Taxes. His salary as a member of the Board is $3,500 a year and no doubt he would look with great favor upon a proposition to elevate him to the Supreme Court bench.

David O. Watkins, State Commissioner of banking and Insurance, has been suggested for the vacancy. He is a friend of Governor Stokes and his reputation as a good lawyer is urged as a claim for consideration in connection with the Supreme Court justiceship. His present salary is $6,000 a year.

He was born in Baden, Germany, and had lived in Elizabeth sixty years, and became wealthy in the meat business. Two years ago he went to Germany on a pleasude trip and married a widow, who survives him. Mr. Bauer's first wife died several years ago. He leaves two daughters—Mrs. William Robins, of Auburn, Ind., and Mrs. Luther H. Hane, of Elizabeth.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

June 17: "Our Accounting"—Eccl. xi, 9; Ezek. xviii. 20-28; Matt. xii, 36-42; Rev. xx, 11-15.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

In whatever way it may be pictured it is a very solemn truth from which we cannot escape that we bear the consequences of our acts.

Some one has said, "We sow a deed and reap a habit; sow a habit and reap a character; sow a character and reap a destiny."

It is quite common to make excuse for the wrongdoing of the young by saying: "Oh, he is sowing his wild oats now. He will settle down by and by." As if wild oats ever yielded any harvest but the wildest kind of misery.

Not all the evil consequences of wrongdoing are immediately apparent. But he who thinks an evil deed goes unnoticed and may escape its just penalty is self deceived. Its harvest may not appear for years, but as surely as time goes on and God lives the result will fall on his head who did the evil and may also in its course curse many others, for it is a dire fact that "each sin destroys more Edens than our own."

"The most abandoned own that others if abandoned are undone." It is only when we come to treat our own case that we expect any exemption from the law of cause and effect and hope to escape the legitimate consequences of our acts.

If the accounting was only in body it would be bad enough, but it is a truth that our deeds, whether good or bad, have a wondrous effect on the mind and soul. We do not ourselves see the quiet transformation which is continually in progress within us. Perhaps we never come to fully realize how much we have changed in a few years, but the difference between what we were and are is a matter of common knowledge to those with whom we associate. They see the process going on, and yet how powerless they are to prevent it.

Have you not seen a young person just entering life to whom you have been greatly attracted by some admirable qualities. You have seen a change come gradually over the once frank, generous nature. Some evil influence at work inside has insidiously wrought a change in the whole nature. Some ambition awakened has drawn all powers under its control until self seeking has replaced every generous impulse, and the man of middle age sorely disappoints the expectations you had of the young fellow in his teens at the beginning of his career.

How many disappointments you have met in the friends of your early years. You may be yet in your teens, but I venture the assertion that you have not been five years associating with young people of your own age without having seen some fond anticipations wrecked in the friends you have had.

It does not necessarily follow that you have been deceived in others or have been unskillful in reading character. Some trouble does lie here, but it is also a fact that the good and evil are always in rapid development in us.

You are surprised to find such admirable qualities in that young man whom you had not followed closely for a year or so. He is really quite a man. Well, he has grown. That is all. You are shocked at the peevishness and crossness of that girl friend whom you have not seen for a year past. The fact is she has grown cross and irritable since you parted.

Well, how are you growing? That is the chief question. Are you nobler, purer, sweeter, more patient, firmer, gentler, more courteous, more Christ-like and lovable than last year? If so, that is well. Keep it up. Grow. Your day of accounting is now and here, to-day, tomorrow—all days until the final accounting to the Master at the great day.

No Defeat.

There can be no defeat to a faithful soul. There must be final disaster for the man who is untrue to his best self. Beat, then, now, beat with a mighty energy, your charge most gloriously! For the man who is true to the present has been true to his best, and the soul that wins the new ground immediately before it makes life a triumph. Just as the seed holds within it the oak that is to be, so your present motive is the promise and the possibility of what you are to become. Put out of your thought just now the past, whatever it may hold; let go even the future with its golden dream and its high ideal, and concentrate your soul just now in this burning, present moment.—Rev. Ozora S. Davis, D. D.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE.

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality; causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 27.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—John Williams and missions to the south seas.—Ps. xcvii, 1-12.

Isa. lx, 9, contains this prophecy: "Surely the isles shall wait for me, and the ships of Tarshish first to bring thy sons from afar, their silver and their gold with them, unto the name of the Lord thy God and to the Holy One of Israel, because he hath glorified thee." In the Ninety-seventh Psalm the psalmist declares, "The Lord reigneth; let the earth rejoice; let the multitude of the isles rejoice." The Scriptural intimation seems to be that the islands of the sea will especially rejoice in the salvation offered in Jesus Christ. All history confirms this inference. Island missions have been most successful. Paul's first missionary work was on the island of Cyprus, and it was successful. In later Christian history we have an illustrious illustration of this fact in the conversion of the British islands to Christianity and their steadfast adherence to the Christian faith. In the story of modern missions there are further corroborations in Madagascar, the Philippine Islands, the New Hebrides under the ministry of the sainted John G. Paton and in the south sea islands.

The missionary hero of the south sea islands was John Williams. He was born near London June 29, 1796. At the age of fourteen he was apprenticed to an ironmonger, and, although he manifested great love and skill for mechanics, at the age of twenty he offered himself to the London Missionary society as a missionary. He was accepted, and, after being especially trained, he was ordained and with his wife sailed for the south sea islands in November, 1816. But twenty years of age, he was willing in the Master's cause to give up a calling that appealed to him and go hundreds of miles away from home for the privilege of preaching the gospel to the ignorant and dangerous inhabitants of the south sea islands. Such a consecration could not but be blessed of God. His success was remarkable. He visited various islands and made many converts. He translated the Scriptures into the languages of the people. Being in poor health, he returned to England in 1833, where he remained for several years, during which time those among whom he had labored were still on his heart and mind. He translated the New Testament into the language of one of the islands, raised $20,000 for a missionary ship, prepared plans for a college and wrote a history of his missionary labors. In 1838 he and his wife embarked again for his missionary field, taking ten other missionaries with them. On a trip to the New Hebrides in 1839 he suffered martyrdom for the cause of Christ. The inhabitants being cannibals only a few of the bones of his body were found by his friends. But his work remained as a testimonial to himself and an inspiration to all who know his history.

The life of John Williams in connection with the south sea island mission work should be a great inspiration to all young Christians especially. At twenty years of age he had faith and zeal and courage and in a most self denying manner gave himself and his all to Christ. "What are we doing for Jesus?" Opportunities in abundance lie about us. Are we taking advantage of them and, above all, are we to the extent of our ability doing all we can to win not only the islands of the sea, but the world, for Christ?

Junior Work In Europe.

There are eighteen Junior societies in Germany. The monthly Junior paper, Der Kinderbund, has a circulation of 1,800 a month.

Great Britain has 1,500 Junior societies, 200 of which are in London. They have flower services, sending the flowers to the slums; egg services, with texts written on the eggs, which are afterward distributed among the sick and aged; toy services, harvest services, a coal meeting, fruit services, etc. One Junior society by means of a farthing fund provided a cot in the Children's Country Holiday home at Clacton. Another sends letters, toys and flowers regularly to cripples.

There are twenty Junior societies in Spain. Switzerland has two in Geneva, and Turkey four. The Junior society in connection with the Bethania association in Budapest, Hungary, after two years' work became an intermediate society, and some of the members have started a new Junior society. Austria, Bulgaria, Denmark, Holland and Norway are taking steps to organize Junior societies, but at present the younger and older young people are together in the same society of Christian Endeavor.

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

Notwithstanding which, Mr. Brue continued to behave uniformly in a manner to make all judicious persons grieve. His place of supreme delight was the Hightower. Its marble splendors, its myriad lights, the throngs of men and women in evening dress, made for him a scene of unfailing fascination. The evenings when he was invited to sit in the cafe with Uncle Peter and Percival made memories long to be cherished.

He spent such an evening there at the end of their first month in New York. Half a dozen of Percival's friends sat at the table with them from time to time. There had been young Beverly Van Arsdel, who, Percival disclosed, was heir to all the Van Arsdel millions, and no end of a swell. And there was big, handsome Eddie Arledge, whose father had treated him shabbily. These two young gentlemen spoke freely about the inferiority of many things "on this side"—as they denominated this glorious Land of Freedom—of many things from horses to wine. The country was rapidly becoming, they agreed, no place for a gentleman to live. Eddie Arledge confessed that, from motives of economy, he had been beguiled into purchasing an American claret.

"I fancied, you know," he explained to Uncle Peter, "that it might do for an ordinary luncheon claret, but on my sacred honor, the stuff is villainous. Now you'll agree with me, Mr. Bines, I dare say, that a Bordeaux of even recent vintage is vastly superior to the very best so-called American claret."

Whereupon Beverly Van Arsdel having said: "To be sure—fancy an American Burgundy, now! or a Chablis!" Uncle Peter betrayed the first sign of irritation Percival had detected since his coming.

"Well, you see, young men, we're not much on vintages in Montana. Whisky is mostly our drink—whisky and spring water—and if our whisky is strong, it's good enough. When we want to test a new barrel, we inject three drops of it into a jack-rabbit, and if he doesn't lick a bulldog in six seconds, we turn down the goods. That's as far's our education has ever gone in vintages."

It sounded like the old Uncle Peter, but he was afterward so good-natured that Percival concluded the irritation could have been but momentary.

CHAPTER XX.

UNCLE PETER BINES THREATENS TO RAISE SOMETHING.

Uncle Peter and Billy Brue left the Hightower at midnight. Billy Brue wanted to walk down to their hotel, on the plea that they might see a fight or a fire "or something." He never ceased to feel cheated when he was obliged to ride in New York. But Uncle Peter insisted on the cab.

"Say, Uncle Peter," he said, as they rode down, "I got a good notion to get me one of them first-part suits—like the minstrels wear in the grand first part, you know—only I'd never be able to git on to the track right without a hostler to harness me and see to all the buckles and cinch the straps right. They're mighty fine, though."

Finding Uncle Peter uncommunicative, he mused during the remainder of the ride, envying the careless ease with which Percival and his friends, and even Uncle Peter, wore the prescribed evening regalia of gentlemen, and yearning for the distinguished effect of its black and white elegance upon himself.

They went to their connecting rooms, and Billy Brue regretfully sought his bed, marveling how free people in a town like New York could ever bring themselves to waste time in sleep. As he dozed off, he could hear the slow, measured tread of Uncle Peter pacing the floor in the next room.

He was awakened by hearing his name called. Uncle Peter stood in a flood of light at the door of his room. He was fully dressed.

"Awake, Billy?"

"Is it gittin'-up time?"

The old man came into the room and lighted a gas jet. He looked at his watch.

"No; only a quarter to four. I ain't been to bed yet."

Billy Brue sat up and rubbed his eyes.

"Rheumatiz again, Uncle Peter?"

"No; I been thinkin', Billy. How do you like the game?"

He began to pace the floor again from one room to the other.

"What game?" Billy Brue had encountered a number in New York.

"This whole game—livin' in New York."

Mr. Brue became judicial.

"It's a good game as long as you got money to buy chips. I'd hate like darnation to go broke here. All the pay-claims have been located, I guess."

"I doubt it's bein' a good game any time, Billy. I been actin' as kind of a lookout now fur about 40 days and 40 nights, and the chances is all in favor of the house. You don't even get half your money on the high card when the splits come."

Billy Brue pondered this sentiment. It was not his own.

"The United States of America is all right, Billy."

This was safe ground.

"Sure!" His mind reverted to the evening just past. "Of course there was a couple of Clarences in high collars there to-night that made out like they was throwin' it down; but they ain't the whole thing, not by a long shot."

"Yes, and that young shrimp that was talkin' about 'vintages' and 'trouserings.'" The old man paused in his walk.

"What are 'trouserings,' Billy?"

Mr. Brue had not looked into shop windows day after day without enlarging his knowledge.

"Trouserings," he proclaimed, rather importantly, "is the cloth they make pants out of."

"Oh! is that all? I didn't know but it might be some new kind of duds. And that fellow don't ever get up till 11 o'clock a. m. I don't reckon I would myself if I didn't have anything but trouserings and vintages to worry about. And that Van Arsdel boy!"

"Say!" said Billy, with enthusiasm, "I never thought I'd be even in the same room with one of that family, 'less I prized open the door with a jimmy."

"Well, who's he? My father knew his grandfather when he kep' tavern over on the Raritan river, and his grandmother!—this shrimp's grandmother!—she tended bar."

"Gee!"

"Yes, they kep' tavern, and the old lady passed the rum bottle over the bar, and took in the greasy money. This here fellow, now, couldn't make an honest livin' like that, I bet you. He's like a dog breeder would say—got the pedigree, but not the points."

Mr. Brue emitted a high, throaty giggle.

"But they ain't all like that here, Uncle Peter. Say, you come out with me some night jest in your workin' clothes. I can show you people all right that won't ask to see your union card. Say, on the dead, Uncle Peter, I wish you'd come. There's a lady perfessor in a dime museum right down here on Fourteenth street that eats fire and juggles the big snakes—say, she's got a complexion—"

"There's enough like that kind, though," interrupted Uncle Peter. "I could take a double-barrel shotgun up to that hotel and get nine with each barrel around in them hallways; the shot wouldn't have to be rammed, either; 'twouldn't have to scatter so blamed much."

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

EXPANSION OF HAPGOODS.

A change that is significant of the growth of Hapgoods, the national organization of brain brokers, took place this month when the home offices of the company were removed from the fifth floor of the Mutual Reserve Building, at the corner of Broadway and Duane street, New York, to much more commodious quarters on the first floor of the same building. Access to the offices may be had at 309 Broadway as heretofore or one door below at 305-307 Broadway, where a flight of steps leads directly to the main reception and waiting room. On the Duane street side and at the Broadway entrance there are large, handsome Hapgoods signs in blue and gold which cannot fail to attract attention.

Not only has Hapgoods expanded in the United States until it operates offices in twelve cities, but an English organization has been started with all foreign countries for its field. This company is Hapgoods Limited, a duly registered British corporation, under the management of an English board of directors thoroughly experienced in the business methods of Great Britain, Ireland and the Colonies. It is already in successful operation with well equipped offices in Temple Bar House, 23-28 Fleet street, London, E. C. and is being extremely well received. It is expected that branch offices will soon be opened in the principal cities such as Glasgow, Manchester, Birmingham and Belfast and that Canadian branches will be established in Montreal and other cities. The British public is beginning to appreciate American business men and their methods and is very quick to take up an idea of unquestioned merit.

Narrowly Escapes Being Killed.

Glen Gardner, May 24.—George Calvin Burr, of this place, had a narrow escape from being crushed to death a few days ago. He is employed by Trimmer & Apgar, lumbermen, hauling logs to their sawmill near Charlestown, and while thus engaged the wagon, on which a large log was being carted, upset, and Mr. Burr was pinned underneath the log, and held a prisoner until help arrived and he was released. No bones were broken, but his leg was badly bruised, and he was otherwise injured.

Name Bryan for 1908.

Lima, O., May 24.—William Jennings Bryan was indorsed for President here Tuesday by the Democratic Judicial Convention of sixteen counties of Northwestern Ohio. The resolutions, which were adopted with cheering, declare that Bryan would have been renominated and elected in 1904 had the trusts not stolen the nomination from him, and that the National Democracy will nominate him in 1908 by acclamation.

P. H. S. BOYS SCHEDULE

Five Good Games to be Played Before the Season Closes.

NEWARK ON MONDAY

Chat from All Along the Line Gleaned By Fozzy in a Day's Travels Among the Fans.

There are five remaining games scheduled by the Plainfield High School team. On Saturday morning it will play the Borough High School boys on Crescent Oval and on Monday at the same place one of the best games of the season will be played with Newark High School. On Saturday, May 26, the team will play Rutgers Prep. at New Brunswick and during the following week there will be another game with Rahway High School. The season will close on Saturday morning, June 9, on Crescent Oval with a game with the nine from the Trenton State Normal School. Owing to a fractured rib, due to an accident in the North Plainfield High School game, Paul Brakeley will not be able to play for awhile.

Dear Philip, if you can only do this three years hence when you will be pitching for New York in Pittsburg or Chicago, your name will be emblazoned in ten inch red type on the metropolitan sporting 'wuxtras.

Big rumors are floating around town about the Westfield lineup Saturday. The most bulky one perhaps appears to be the one that says Linderman and Farmer, the Ridgewood battery, will be in the points for the Plainfields.

Elizabeth fans certainly swelled up as big as balloons over the tenninning game last Sunday with the misfitted team representing the New York Americans.

Short Stop Hartmann, of the Paterson delegation, was accompanied to town by a big flashy diamond which adorned one of his hands, and a vain imagination. The latter we shall criticise. When the first Paterson man walked to the plate Mr. Hartmann yelled out, "Oh don't mind that kid pitcher, he's only from the high school," and sundry other remarks of a similar character. Hartmann also went to bat four times during the game against the "kid pitcher" and made an inglorious impression on those who heard him make his remarks, by crimping the breeze three times in vain attempts to hit the ball.

Billy Kiester, of the Jerseys, was put on the bench three weeks ago to regain his batting eye. He has got it. In his first game against Montreal Monday he smashed out five hits, one a single and a quartette of two baggers. Handford, in the same game, swatted the ball safely four times, one of the hits being a home run.

The Boston American League team, composed of what is called "star players" up to and including yesterday lost nineteen consecutive games. What would Plainfield fans say to this should the same thing occur here? The answer can be read in the stars without difficulty.

Somerville opened up with a defeat Saturday which was a great disappointment to the fans. A Somerville commuter said on the train last night that he would start in going to see games again if a series could be arranged with Plainfield.

Manager Charles Nichols, of the Westfield Baseball Club, declares that he is coming to Plainfield on Saturday fully determined to win. He has made a few changes in his lineup to strengthen his team and a glance at the players show that he has made good selections. He declares that the nine that will appear at Crescent Oval on Saturday is much stronger than any that has appeared for him this year and he assures all lovers of the game a first-class exhibition.

A big crowd of rooters from Westfield will accompany the team and it will certainly look like an old-time Plainfield-Westfield battle. "Phil." Smith will be used on the slab by Manager Daab and he will be opposed by Levy, the strong twirler for Westfield. Westfield's lineup is as follows:

Eickler, lf; Cambell, 2b; Sweeney, 1b; McGee, ss; O'Mare, 3b; Levy, p; Ginger, rf; Middleton, cf; Leery, c; Melker, extra.

N. P. H. S. WAS SLOW; AND RAHWAY TOOK GAME.

Winners Were Lively and Batted Peacock Without Much Effort.

The Rahway High School nine defeated the North Plainfield High School team, yesterday afternoon, 9 to 3. The game was played at Rahway.

The borough boys did not make a strong bid for the game. They were sluggish in the field, and did not bat well. On the other hand, Rahway was lively, and touched up Peacock freely.

L. W. Gavett Chosen for Big Race.

Plainfield will probably be represented at the Harvard-Cornell boat race on the St. Charles River, on Friday, as Leonard W. Gavett, son of Street Commissioner and Mrs. A. J. Gavett, of West Fifth street, who is a sophomore at Cornell, has been chosen by Coach Courtney to row No. 5 on the 'varsity crew in that race at Cambridge. Gavett has been a very consistent worker on the crew, and was one of the strongest oars in the winning freshmen crew at Poughkeepsie last June. It seems assured that Gavett will also sit in the Cornell 'varsity shell at the Poughkeepsie race next month.

TWO MARRIED WOMEN MISSING FROM HOME.

Mrs. William Oast, of Summit and Pa terson avenues, Jersey City, and her daughter, Mrs. Julian Howell, of South street, have been missing since Monday, and their husbands have been unable to find any trace of them.

Mrs. Howells husband is a son of Police Sergeant Thomas Howell of the Central Avenue Station. Mrs. Oast's husband is a prominent business man. Mrs. Howell has her three-year-old son with her.

It is believed that mother and daughter have gone to Buffalo, as they had told friends they were sick of Jersey City and would like a home in Buffalo. Husband and father Oast is anxious to find his daughter. Howell says he don't care whether he ever sees his wife again, but he wants to get back his little boy.

He reported the disappearance of his wife and mother-in-law to the police with the request that they try to find them so that he might get the child.

PARK'S GOLF SCHEDULE

Club's Belated Announcement of Lists, Contests and Prizes.

SEVERAL CUPS OFFERED

Cups the Award in President's, Club, Independence Day, Memorial Day, Labor Day, and Other Tournaments.

The golf committee of the Park Golf Club announces its schedule of events for the season, which will be opened on Saturday. As in previous years there will be the weekly competition for the President's and Park Golf Club cups. This event has always excited considerable interest and rivalry and this year will be no exception.

Six players must compete for scores to count. Eighteen holes medal play. In the play for the President's cup competitors must play together and names must be registered with the time upon entry book before starting in order to qualify. The player having the greatest number of points to his credit at the close of the season shall become the holder of the cup for one year. The cup must be won three times by the same player to become his permanent property. Handicaps will be adjusted every week based on a net score of ninety. Players making a net score of more than this number will have one-third of the excess added to their handicap for the next contest, and those making a net score of less than ninety, will have one-third of the difference deducted from their handicap; provided that not more than three strokes shall be added to any player's handicap between one contest and the next one. Winners of points will also have deducted from their handicap for the next contest as many strokes as they have scored points in the last competition. No more than thirty strokes for eighteen holes will be allowed to any competitor.

While the competition for the President's cup is a handicap event, that for the Park Golf Club cup will be a scratch event. Six players must compete for scores to count at eighteen holes medal play. The conditions of play and of holding the cup are the same as those governing play for the President's cup. Scores for both trophies will count without separate entry.

On Memorial Day morning there will be a men's handicap ball sweepstakes starting at 9 o'clock. Entrance fee will be one standard golf ball, eighteen holes, medal play. The player making the lowest net score will take fifty per cent., second thirty per cent. and third twenty per cent. of total number of balls contributed. In the afternoon there will be a men's handicap play for the holiday cup, starting at 2 o'clock. Eighteen holes, medal play. Winner to have permanent possession of the cup.

These events have been arranged for Monday, September 3, Labor Day: Morning and afternoon. Men's handicap ball sweepstakes, medal play, eighteen holes. The contestants may play thirty-six holes, the best selected eighteen holes to count, provided first eighteen holes are started before 11 o'clock in the morning. If thirty-six holes are played the contestants may take the best score made on each hole in either round. Entrance fee one standard golf ball. Player making the lowest net score to take fifty per cent., second thirty per cent. and third twenty per cent. of the total number of balls contributed. In the afternoon there will also be a long distance approaching and putting ball sweepstakes, scratch contest, for men only. Entrance fee one standard golf ball and the division to be made the same as in the other event.

For Election Day, November 6, the morning and afternoon events will be announced later. The Golf Committee reserves the right to change the method of handicapping whenever in its judgment it may seem desirable. Contests are open to all members and associate members unless otherwise specified. Handicaps if not already allotted may be obtained on application to the Golf Committee. Special competitions will be announced by the committee from time to time. The Golf Committee comprises Charles A. Reed, Charles B. Morse and Nelson A. Miller.

Boy's Poisoning a Mystery.

Flemington, May 24.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Frederick Baumgartner, Jr., who died from poisoning on Saturday, only deepened the mystery. The boy is said to have swallowed a quantity of disinfectant while alone in his room. The post-mortem examination showed that the lining of the stomach was destroyed, while the mouth showed no caustic action. The jury was unable to decide whether the poison was "self-administered or administered by the hands of another person or persons."

CAPT. PEDRICK INSPECTOR OF THE SECOND BRIGADE.

Has Rank of Lieutenant Colonel in Accordance With Appointment Made by Gen. Gilmore.

Captain William E. Pedrick, commander of Company D, Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., has been appointed inspector of the Second Brigade with the rank of lieutenant colonel. Gen. Quincy O'M. Gilmore announced the appointment yesterday morning.

The appointment meets with the hearty approval of military men, as Captain Pedrick is one of the most experienced officers in the State. The new military law makes the office to which Captain Pedrick has been named.

The new lieutenant colonel was first lieutenant in Company I, Fourth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers. He was in command of the company most of his period of service during the Spanish-American war.

Captain Pedrick began his military career February 15, 1889, when he enlisted as a private in Company B, Seventh Regiment. He was made sergeant November 10, 1891. uly 6, 1894, he was appointed one the non-commissioned staff of the Second Regiment, serving in the capacity of battalion sergeant major.

In June, 1900, Captain Pedrick organized Company D, Second Regiment. It was through his faithful service the company has reached its present efficient standing. He resigned from the captaincy of the company April 21, 1904, because of his business duties. He was, however, re-elected to his former office September 21, 1905.

Captain Pedrick told a reporter last evening that the appointment came as a complete surprise to him. He had not even heard a rumor of the appointment until yesterday.

The First Baptist church held a regular monthly business meeting, last night, at which time several new members were received for baptism.

ELKS AT THE CARNIVAL

Antlered Host Boomed Things In Lively Fashion Last Night.

SOME NEW BARK-TRICKS

Freeholder Wilbur and J. A. Wilson Add Frills to the Pot-Pourri of Noise—Circus Seats Increased.

Weather not far from just right and the presence of the Elks, drew a big crowd to the Hospital Carnival last night. By 8 o'clock there were close to 2,000 people on the grounds and an hour later the figures were going up by the carload. The attendance was not quite up to that of the night before, but the attractions did a lot of business, and the management officially declared that the boom inaugurated by the Knights of Columbus was still on.

The Elks worked hard and lured much money to the coffers of the committee. Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbul, backed by Councilman Buxton, did great service with variegated howls before the vaudeville tent. J. A. Wilson, at Maj. Maze Edwards' curio tent, invented a new crowd drawer, a howl full of fuzzy sounds. It drew business, and frightened a horse on Fourth street into running away.

This is the list of antlered workers:

Roy Radford, Ralph Bache, Andrew Jennings, John Cose, Thomas Muir, John A. Bullard, Alex. Findlay, Fred Sanford, S. P. T. Wilbur, Herbert Buxton, John Auten, Marcus Hoyt, A. I. Smalley, H. B. McDonald, John Bowman, John Conway, John Slevin, George Johnston, J. A. Wilson, Walter McNaughton, B. F. Boose, H. G. Dunbar, W. H. Rogers, William Counihan, L. B. Woolston, Walter Apgar, Philip Jahn and Edward M. Van Buren.

The Carnival postoffice, where the orders and the Carnival store must be purchased, did a lively business. Deliveries at the store will begin next Monday, and some big prizes will thrill the purchasers of the "letters."

To meet the demands of the crowds that have been pressing about the circus tent, the management put in extra seats last night. The circus has been playing to packed tents at every performance ever since the Carnival opened. It is the biggest 10 cents' worth of circus that anybody ever had a chance to get anywhere, and the crowds caught on to the fact very soon. It takes an hour and fifteen minutes, from the time the first clown comes tumbling in, to give the show, and only two performance a night have been possible. Next week the programme will be entirely changed. The time will be rearranged so that three shows a night may be given. The circus-goer that misses this week's show loses a treat.

"Things are going right," said Chairman Fisk last night. "All we want now is weather. Give us warm, pleasant evenings and we will make two barrels of money for the hospital.

The purchasers of the following books of Carnival tickets have been awarded extra books under the offer made at at beginning of the affair:

Five-dollar books, Nos. 22 and 45; dollar books, Nos. 10, 23, 32, 37, 40, 44, 51, 65, 69, 102, 115, 121, 140, 150, 200, 220, 260, 261, 293.

DOCTORS EXAMINE FREAK.

Dr. Endicott Says He Could Cut Libbera's Extra Body Off.

Libbera, the double-bodied freak in Maze Edwards' curio show at the Carnival, was examined by a party of physicians yesterday afternoon. The examination was made in the hospital tent, at 4 o'clock.

Fourteen doctors were in the party, including Drs. Endicott and Ellis W. Hedges, surgeons of wide experience. Libbera was stripped to the waist, and the doctors carefully examined the malformation. It was agreed that the second body was a growth and might be removed.

"I'd like to perform that operation," said Dr. Endicott. "I believe I could cut it away without killing the patient."

The interpreter brought along by Dr. Dundon, who arranged the examination, translated that for the freak. Libbera raised his eyebrows and shrugged his shoulders.

"What will I do then?" he asked. "Work?"

MRS. HALL GOES TO MOTHER'S CELEBRATION

JULIA WARD HOWE WILL BE EIGHTY-SEVEN ON SUNDAY.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Madison avenue, has gone to Boston to attend the celebration of the eighty-seventh birthday of her mother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, author of "The Battle-Hymn of the Republic." The anniversary will fall on Sunday, and on this account and because of Mrs. Howe's great age, the observance will be quiet.

Mrs. Howe, in spite of her age, still writes considerable, and even lectures occasionally. Her articles, which deal, for the most part, with questions in woman's realm, are still virile and unmarked by signs of decay in the strong mentality that made Mrs. Howe one of the foremost women of the country early in her life.

Laura E. Richards, author of "Captain January," a daughter; and Henry Marion Hall, L. L. D., professor of metallurgy in the Columbia School of Mines, will be at the celebration. Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott, who writes under the name of Maud Howe, is in Spain with her husband, who is painting a large picture there. Mrs. Howe has a son-in-law in Greece, Michael Anagnos, widower of Julia Howe, who was unable to come to the reunion.

HANDCUFF MAN GETS AWAY FROM CITY JAIL.

Ford Slips Out of Cell In Which He Was Hand- and Ankle-cuffed.

Don Ford, the man who does tricks with handcuffs at the Carnival, shook Chief of Police Kiely's faith in "bracelets" and cell locks yesterday afternoon. Ford gave a demonstration of his skill at headquarters for the benefit of the chief and the newspapers. The chief says he saw it; the newspapers didn't, but they take the chief's word for it.

Charles J. Fisk, chairman of the Carnival committee, was at headquarters and he told a reporter about it. Ford was first stripped to his original covering. Then he was handcuffed, chains were snapped about his ankles, and he was locked in a cell. His clothes were locked in another cell.

Then the chief and the other witnesses went outside in the office and sat down to await developments. In twenty minutes the telephone bell rang, and Mr. Ford's voice floated over the wire.

"Those locks are a cinch," he informed the chief, "and the one on your back door is as easy to get through as a piece of cheese. I'm at a newspaper office; meet me on the corner and buy something. It's on you."

The chief says he found the bracelets and the anklets on the floor of Ford's cell, but Ford and Ford's clothes were missing.

Last night Ford had a big bulletin outside his tent, telling the populace all about it. The populace saw, read, wondered and went in to see the marvel at 10 cents per see.

Religions of the East.

Arthur C. Maclay, of West Eighth street, who was for twenty years a missionary in Japan, will deliver a lecture on comparative religion before the Men's Association of Trinity Reformed church, Thursday night, June 7. His subject will be "The Cosmic Philosophies of the Far East; a Study of Shintoism, Confucianism and Buddhism." Mr. Maclay is thoroughly posted on the subject, and his discourse will be scholarly and authoritative.

Blank applications for membership in the Equal Taxation League, the Colbyite organization in this county, have been received in quantities by Judge Runyon, the president. They will be distributed to the members, and electors who desire to join the organization may secure them from any member. Applications will be acted upon at the next meeting of the League.

No Adjourned Meeting.

It has been decided not to hold an adjourned meeting of the Common Council this month, as the deferred business is not of so much importance but that it can wait until the regular meeting on Monday, June 4.

First Communion.

At the 10:30 o'clock mass at St. Joseph's church in Manning avenue, Sunday morning, there will be holy communion and a large number of persons will take their first communion. Father Miller will officiate.

DEWEY PARK SOLD TO A NEW YORK OPERATOR

GETS S. D. DRAKE'S OLD PROPERTY FOR $28,000 FROM POLHEMUS.

A big real estate transfer took place in New Brunswick yesterday afternoon, when the property near Dunellen known as Dewey Park, belonging to Peter G. Polhemus, of that city, was sold to John L. Douglass and wife, of New York city. The title was passed yesterday and the consideration was $28,000.

The property is one of the most beautiful sections of land in this part of the county. It contains between seven and eight hundred building lots. The new owner, who is a real estate speculator with an office at 90 Wall street, intends to boom the lots as soon as possible, as they are attractively situated for residence purposes.

The land originally belonged to Silas Dewey Drake, the founder of Lincoln, before passing into the hands of Mr. Polhemus.

POUNDED THE SAMARITAN.

McElroy Didn't Want to Be Taken Home by His Friend.

George Nolan ran across his friend, James McElroy, with a jag on last night, and took him under his wing on the homeward way. McElroy didn't want to go, and at Washington and Second streets, he turned on the Good Samaritan and clinched for a breakaway. Nolan insisted on holding the erring one fast, and a lively scrap ensued. Special Officer John Alberts saw the fight and placed both men under arrest.

In court this morning, Judge Runyon scored McElroy and fined him $5 or twenty days. Sentence was suspended on Nolan.

Dobbins, Mrs. Andrew Cox, Miss May E. Howlett, Mrs. M. Winter and a number of young women assisted.

FIRE CHIEFS TO MEET HERE NEXT MONTH

STATE ORGANIZATION DECIDES ON PLAINFIELD AS CONVENTION PLACE.

The New Jersey State Fire Chiefs, the organization composed of the heads of the departments throughout the State, have decided to hold their semi-annual meeting in this city on June 12. The final arrangements were made by Chief Doane and Chief John Stagg, of Paterson, yesterday.

Chief Stagg is president of the organization and he will have charge of the gathering. It is thought about forty members will be in attendance in all and they will meet in Exempt Firemens Hall on Park avenue. Chief Doane has no especial plan for the entertainment of the visitors but it is possible that one of the local associations interested in fire department matters will uphold Plainfield's reputation for "doing the right thing."

NEW SPARRING PARTNER.

Al Kaufman, of California, Will Join Fitz in Training.

Al Kaufman, the California heavyweight, will come here from New York this afternoon, to join "Bob" Fitzsimmons at his place in West Dunellen and train with him. Kaufman is a clever boxer and has worked with all the big fellows. He will work with Fitz for the rest of the training period.

The fight with Burns is pretty close now, and Fitz has increased his pace. The battle at Philadelphia will take place the afternoon of Decoration Day. Fitz is confident of the outcome. He says he is fit to meet the best of them, and has no doubt that he will get the decision over Burns, and regain the title, with ease.

OPENING TOMORROW.

The Crescent Grocery and Meat Market to Give Souvenirs to Visitors.

The Crescent Grocery and Meat Market at Watchung avenue and East Fourth street, has been greatly enlarged and handsomely decorated and will reopen tomorrow with an entire new stock of groceries, meats and provisions. The management will endeavor to serve the public with the best goods at the lowest possible market prices and its delivery wagons will carry orders to any part of the city.

Some especially good bargains will be the feature of the opening tomorrow and in addition every visitor to the store will receive a souvenir.

Tennis Tourney Tomorrow.

The championship tournaments of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association for men's doubles and women's singles will be held on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club, commencing tomorrow and continuing until Memorial Day. The play in men's doubles will commence tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock and will be continued on Wednesday, May 30. Play in women's singles will commence on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock and on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The finals in both events will be played Wednesday afternoon. The entries will close at 8 o'clock tonight with T. M. Day, at 740 Carlton avenue, at which time and place the drawings will be made.

Tomorrow on the Links.

There will be plenty of golfing on local courses tomorrow . The Park Golf Club will open its active season with initial play for the President's and Park Golf Club cups and the event will be made a noteworthy one. At the Plainfield Country Club there will be the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup. Besides there will be the qualifying rounds, scratch and consolation scratch cup, play beginning at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. There will also be the clock golf contest for women. Several events at the Westfield Golf Club will attract many players.

Children's Home Rechartered.

The Plainfield Children's Home Association, which was operating under a defective charter until last winter, when the Legislature passed a new bill correcting it, was chartered in the office of the secretary of State, yesterday. The registered office of the association is given as North Plainfield, where the Home is located. Among the names of the trustees appearing are Mrs. L. W. Serrell, Mrs. David Rogers and Mrs. William A. Woodruff.

Mr. Manning Back.

General Secretary J. H. Manning, of the Y. M. C. A., is back at his desk after a week's trip to Atlantic City and Philadelphia, for his health. He was much benefitted by the rest.

—Neuman Brothers will have an especially large assortment of fruits and vegetables tomorrow. Don't fail to see it before ordering the supplies for Sunday's dinner.

GRACE M. E. FESTIVAL GETS BIG PATRONAGE

FIRST NIGHT ATTENDANCE INDICATES A VERY SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR.

A combination of heat and large attendance made the strawberry and ice cream festival at Grace M. E. church, last night, a big success. It was conducted by the Ladies' Aid Society and the members had hardly looked for the patronage that came, the Carnival, of course, being a counter attraction. The church was thronged all evening and all the articles at the booths and counters sold readily.

Thirty children from the Sunday-school furnished the entertainment, arranged by Miss Carroll and Mrs. Harry Cannon, and it was considered one of the most unique that has yet been conducted in the church. The Queen of the May, represented by Miss Gladys Brokaw, was there with her subjects, the Daisies, the Buttercups, the Roses and the Violets, all of whom sang and recited. The throne was a beautiful bower of flowers. When the children wound the May-pole, it was done so neatly and with such pretty effect that the audience applauded enthusiastically.

In addition to the strawberries and ice cream, home-made cake and candy was sold, and lemonade was dispensed. All the booths and tables were finely decorated, flowers being used with an attractive effect. The lemonade booth was covered with them, set off by greens, and the candy and cake tables were conspicuous in the same way. The whole effect was striking and the visitors were enthusiastic in their praise of the taste displayed by the decorating committee.

The sale will be continued tonight and the programme in its entirety will be repeated.

"PHIL." SMITH PICKED TO SERVE THE SPHERE.

School Boy to Be in the Box Against Westfield Tomorrow Afternoon.

The baseball fan who thinks that Plainfield will have an easy time and a walkover with Westfield on Crescent Oval, tomorrow afternoon, have several guesses coming to them. Manager Nicholas has declared that he is coming to town to take a scalp and he will make every effort to do so. In the lineup of his aggregation of ball tossers will be seen several stars. Levy, who has been occupying the box for Westfield, is rated as one of the best in the Metropolitan district, and he can be depended upon to fool the Plainfield batters. The other positions are filled with players of recognized ability and they will make Manager Daab's aggregation hustle to win.

Manager Daab will pick "Phil." Smith to oppose the Westfield batsmen on the slab. "Phil." has been pitching first-class ball and he is sure to hold his own with such support as has been given him. On Wednesday Smith went to Trenton with the Amsterdams, of New York, and pitched against Dick Smith's fast bunch. He won his game by a score of 8 to 6. Ray Egner opposed him, but the Mercer county twirler had nothing on the Plainfield boy.

Tomorrow's game will be called at 3:45 o'clock and all the fans are assured that they will witness a good fast game. The Westfield team will be accompanied by a large number of "rooters" who will cheer their players on to victory. Charles Denman, it is said, will lead the crowd.

Fire in Durlach Building.

A quantity of old straw and bedding in one of the deserted Durlach apartments on Watchung avenue caught fire shortly before noon today and resulted in the Headquarters apparatus being called out. A stream from the chemical engine put an end to the flames in a few minutes. It is not known how the blaze started. The buildings are owned by Alex Kane and are to be torn down.

To See the Sights.

A fine view of the carnival grounds as well as the surrounding country is possible from the top of the toboggan slide and those who do not care to enjoy the exhilirating ride down the incline are permitted to make a trip to the top for the same price charged for a ride.

A Reduced Rate Drunk.

The price of a drunk has been reduced in the borough. Mayor Smalley made it $2 for Mark Noone, last night, but advised him that the market is unsteady and is apt to rise at any time. Noone paid up and advised the court that one was enough for him.

Freeman—Daniel.

Invitations have been sent out by Edwin Moore Daniel to the marriage of his daughter, Genevieve, to Arthur Fraleigh Freeman on Thursday afternoon, June 14, at 5 o'clock, in the Crescent Avenue church.

BOOM HALL FOR MAYOR

Friends Suggest Netherwood Man For Municipality's Highest Office.

EXECUTIVE ABILITY

Mr. Hall Is Head of Large Corporation—Identified With Local Institutions and Is Prominent Socially.

Friends of Henry L. Hall, of Netherwood, have brought his name forward in connection with the Republican nomination for the mayoralty next fall. He is to be pushed for the nomination, it is understood, without regard to what other candidates may be suggested from different quarters.

Mr. Hall is regarded as one of the best types of clean-cut young men of proved business and executive ability, who have come to be looked upon as the most desirable timber for municipal offices. Mr. Hall has not been approached regarding his candidacy, and probably has had no hint of the boom his friends have started, but the latter feel certain that he will not shy away from the duty of accepting the nomination if the honor should be conferred upon him.

Mr. Hall is well known among the substantial citizens of the city. He is president of the New York Steamfitting Company, a large corporation, and a business man of proved ability, with an enviable reputation for executive capacity and brains. He is prominent in the social life of this city, and has done many things that mark the philanthropist. In philanthrophy, it is well to mention, he does not work with a brass band and an advertising contract.

Mr. Hall moved to this city about seven years ago, from Fanwood. He takes an active interest in civic affairs.

"It is not believed that any objection will be found to Mr. Hall as a candidate from any quarter," said one of his friends this morning. "So far as the organization is concerned, there is no doubt of his Republicanism, and the unattached Republicans know him to be a man with a rigid code of ethics and a strong spirit of independence."

MRS. H. AUGUSTA SCHUYLER.

Passed Away Last Evening After an Illness of Four Weeks.

Mrs. H. Augusta Schuyler died last evening at her residence on East Seventh street after an illness of four weeks. She was the daughter of the late Andrew D. and Elizabeth Ayres Mellick. She and her daughter, Miss Sarah E. Schuyler, and sister, Miss Mary A. Mellick, have made their home in Plainfield together for the last twenty years. Mrs. Schuyler's one son, V. R. Schuyler, is located in Alabama in the coal and coke business.

Other members of Mrs. Schuyler's immediate family are two sisters, Mrs. L. D. Bulkley, of New York city, and Mrs. Joseph Tweedy, of Texas; also one brother, Councilman George P. Mellick, of East Seventh street.

Mrs. Schuyler had a great many warm friends who will be grieved to hear of her death.

Sewer Plans Discussed.

Engineer George Pierson, Counsellor Charles A. Reed and the borough committee on sewers held a conference, last night, relative to the proposition to install a sewer system in North Plainfield. The plans were discussed at some length but no action was taken as a further meeting is to be held tonight. It is possible that a date will be set for a public hearing.

CURRENT TOPICS IN MOTOR CIRCLES.

Summer Tours Are Interesting New Jersey Automobilists—Some of the Plans.

In anticipation of the passage of the act permitting the manufacture of "denatured" alcohol free, automobile manufacturers are preparing to meet the new conditions with a car that will use the new fuel instead of gasoline. For several weeks Henry Ford, a Detroit manufacturer has been conducting experiments to determine the best type of carburetter or mixing valve for vaporizing alcohol for internal combustion motors. Exhaustive horsepower tests have also been made. Mr. Ford states that in the case of the six-cylinder type of motor, the average gasoline test of which is fifty-two horsepower, as high as sixty horsepower was obtained in several tests with alcohol as fuel.

It is announced that the development of the six-cylinder type of automobile has made it possible to do away with the cranking operation. The cranks being set at 120 degrees instead of 170, as in a four-cylinder motor, the ability of a six-cylinder motor to start on the spark is not dependent on its liability of stopping exactly between compressions. At all times, in this new type of motor, one piston is in the proper position to receive its impulse, so that it is only necessary to have the spark advance lever in the "slow" position and close the switch. If there is a charge of explosive mixture in the cylinders, the motor will invariably start.

The report that the Automobile Club of France will neither nominate nor indorse a French team for the Vanderbilt Cup Race has been affirmed. The club will not stand in the way of French manufacturers making nominations for the contest, however. The action of the French club is based on the claim that any race confined to national teams of a equal number would not give just representation to France in view of that country's claim that it leads the world in the automobile industry.

Entries for the various tests to be run in connection with the open air show and carnival at Empire City track next week closed last Thursday night. About seventy-five nominations were made.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Robert Fitzsimmons' lion, Senator, got loose Wednesday afternoon, but he didn't leave the place. One of the links in his chain broke, and he ambled over the place to the other side of the house where Mr. Fitzsimmons stood. His owner was startled by Senator's unexpected appearance, but had no trouble in tying him up again. Later Mr. Fitzsimmons went to Paxton Van Arsdale's shop and welded the chain himself.

Miss Elizabeth Herlich has been confined to her home for several days with a sore foot. A big splinter ran into the member while she was trying to hold her place in the shifting crowd on a New York ferryboat early in the week.

Miss Iva Dayton was severely shaken up in the trolley crash in Plainfield Monday night. She was unable to work for two days and still feels the effects of her injuries.

Mrs. Frank Fletcher is suffering from severe bruises and shock, the result of a fall from a ladder a few days ago while housecleaning.

Mrs. Fowler Vail and Miss Edna Vail went to Rockport Wednesday, to visit Mrs. Vail's parents, both of whom are ill.

A brass band and a big sign advertising the Plainfield Carnival went through the borough yesterday.

Victory for Dr. Van Dyke.

Des Moines, Ia., May 25.—After less than one hours' discussion over the details of procedure the committee on forms and services scored a victory Wednesday afternoon by securing the adoption of its reports by the Presbyterian General Assembly. Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, who had charge of the preparation of the prayer book which involved so much controversy, was warmly congratulated. The assembly yesterday voted the foreign mission board $1,500,000. The assembly also adopted a resolution condemning the Mormons and polygamy. King James' version of the Bible will stand The assembly refused the importune congress to stop the granting of lands to Lutherans and Catholics.

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE P. P. A.

Now that the Plainfield Protective Association has accomplished its aim in securing a reduction in the prices for gas and electricity, it can well afford to direct its attention to other matters of public consideration. There are half a dozen things which need attention at this time. Among them is the much mooted question of disposal of garbage. That such work should be under municipal control is the general opinion. A public disposal system would be beneficial both from a sanitary and a pecuniary standpoint. It has been found so in many other cities and there is no reason to suspect that Plainfield would prove any exception to the rule.

Another proposition of prime importance which the Protective Association should take up, is the "spite-house" nuisance. Months have come and months have gone, but not a single step has been taken by the Common Council to properly protect the owners of large estates from this contemptible form of blackmail. There have been any number of pie-crust promises but the people have waited in vain for a good stiff ordinance which will rid the city of this kind of hold-up for all time.

We respectfully submit these two propositions for the consideration of our public spirited citizens banded together as the Plainfield Protective Association.

RECORD UNMASKED.

The prediction of the regular organization men that George L. Record, of Jersey City, only joined the reform movement for what he could get out of it appears to be coming true. They said—and they know him well—that Record wanted to be United States Senator and that sooner or later he would announce his candidacy.

Now that he has come out in the open, it will be interesting to note how soon he will have the good sense to withdraw. Few people have much respect for the man who is an active church worker simply because it helps his business. Neither have they regard for the man who shouts "reform" in order to get a good fat office.

Mr. Record may be able to secure the support of reform leagues in some places, but knowing the calibre of the men it's quite safe to predict that his candidacy will not receive the approval of the Union County League for Equal Taxation.

Mr. Record can best show his unselfish loyalty to the cause of reform by speedily withdrawing the announcement of his candidacy for office.

MAYOR HENRY L. HALL?

Friends of Henry L. Hall—and he has many—have suggested his name for the mayoralty. That he would be a worthy candidate no one will deny. In fact the only objection that has been heard is that as a rule he is out of the city during the day and that the duties of the office are such as to require the presence of the incumbent in town at all times. Be as it may, there could be no better selection. He is endowed with an extra degree of good hard common sense and pronounced executive ability and would lend that dignity to the office that has characterized it in times past.

SHOW THEM A GOOD TIME.

New Jersey's fire chiefs have arranged to hold their annual convention in this city next month. According to Chief Doane no plans have been made for the entertainment of the members of the organization. Here's a chance for our people to uphold the city's reputation for hospitality.

One word to the man of means—don't forget the Carnival.

MR. FOWLER'S BANK LOAN MEASURE UP.

House Committee Heard Further Views of Bankers from Leading Cities.

Washington, May 25.—Congressman Fowler's Committee on Banking and Currency gave a hearing Wednesday afternoon to a large delegation of men representing the clearing-houses in eight or ten of the larger cities of the country, on Mr. Fowler's bill to allow national banks to loan up to one-tenth of their capital and surplus to one person. The bill passed the House early in April, and was favorably reported to the Senate, with an amendment, on May 1. The delegation has already had a hearing in support of the bill by the Senate Committee on Finance, and, while not deeming it necessary to bring any more influence to bear upon the House committee, the House having passed the bill several weeks ago, the delegation thought it best to "make assurance doubly sure," and not let the bill fail because of apparent indiffeence on the part of its supporters.

As amended by Chairman Aldrich's committee, the bill provides that "the total liabilities to any association, of any person, or of any company, corporation, or firm, for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of a company or firm the liabilities of the several members thereof, shall at no time extend one-tenth part of the amount of the capital stock of such associations actually paid in and unimpaired, and one-tenth part of its unimpaired surplus fund.

"But the discount of bills of exchange drawn in good faith on actually existing values and the discount of commercial or business paper actually owned by the person negotiating the same shall not be considered as money borrowed."

The Senate Committee amended the bill by striking out before the last sentence the words: "Provided, however, that the total of such liabilities shall in no event exceed twenty per centum of the capital stock of the association."

Congressman Howell has secured a pension for Charles Soden, of Freehold, at the rate of $10 a month.

Congressman Wood has also secured pensions as follows: For Foster W. Van Kirk, of Princeton, at the rate of $12 a month, and for Michael A. Welch, of Trenton, at the rate of $8 a month.

Mr. Wood has also secured the establishment of a rural free delivery route at Glen Gardner, Hunterdon county, to take effect August 1.

Senator Dryden has filed a petition from A. R. Shattuck, of New York, and Congressman Howell one from the Middlesex County Board of Agriculture, asking for free denaturized alcohol.

At a farewell class banquet, given by the graduating class of the George Washington University law school, Donald C. McLean, secretary to Senator Kean, was presented with a beautiful silver mounted gavel, suitably engraved, which he prizes most highly. The class presented three such gavels to the members of the class who have held the position of class president for one year during the college course.

Visitors to the capital from New Jersey are: W. S. Jackson, former postmaster at Belmar; T. D. Webb and Myron Harris, Orange; F. C. Geiger, Orange; Mrs. L. J. Phoebus, Atlantic City; Mrs. E. V. Connet and maid and Mrs. Chulenot, South Orange.

JUSTICE DIXON LAID IN TOMB.

Body of Late Supreme Court Member Taken to New Brunswick for Interment.

New Brunswick, May 24.—The body of Supreme Court Justice Dixon, who died Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert Post, of Englewood, was brought to this city, yesterday afternoon, on the train that arrived here at 2.37 o'clock. A special car, attached to the train, was filled with members of the family and relatives only, as it had been announced that the interment would be at the convenience of the family.

Before the body of the late jurist was removed from the home of his son, Warren Dixon, in Jersey City, yesterday, there was a short service and prayer, conducted by Rev. Dr. Charles Herr. Mr. Herr accompanied the family to this city.

When the train arrived there were carriages ready here, and the funeral party went immediately to Elmwood Cemetery, where the body, after a short commital service by Dr. Herr, was placed in the receiving vault. The family will secure a burial plot in the cemetery, where final interment will be made.

The bodies of the late jurist's father and mother, and a daughter, who died several years ago, are now interred in the Dixon plot in Willowwood cemetery. Later, however, they will probably be removed to Elmwood cemetery.

Jersey City, May 25.—The funeral services for Justice Jonathan Dixon, of the Supreme Court, were conducted Wednesday night at 483 Jersey avenue by Rev. Dr. Charles Herr. The courts suspended business yesterday to permit the judges and lawyers to assemble in Justice Dixon's courtroom, which was draped in mourning. They adopted resolutions of condolence. They attended the funeral services in a body.

The honorary pallbearers were William J. Magie, chancellor; William S. Gummere, chief justice; Charles Garrison, Francis J. Swayze, Gilbert Collins, E. F. C. Young, Frank I. Vanderbeck, Bennet Van Syckel, Alfred Reed, A. Q. Garretson, William H. Vredenburgh, Mahlon Pitney, former Governor Franklin Murphy and Judge Henry W. Bookstaver, of New York.

ORDERS ISSUED FOR GUARDS' RIFLE PRACTICE.

General orders No. 6, in regard to rifle practice, have just been issued from the division headquarters of the National Guard of New Jersey and are as follows:

1. Upon the recommendation of the inspector general of rifle practice, the following instructions for rifle practice for the season of 1906 will be complied with:

2. The camp of instruction in rifle practice will, pursuant to general orders No. 7, office adjutant general, Trenton, May 7, 1906, continue from May 1, 1906, to September 30, 1906.

3. The inspector general of rifle practice may assign dates, during the period named in paragraph 2, on which all officers and men will be permitted practice at their own expense. On arriving at Seat iGrt, they will report to the officer in command of the range to be subject to his orders until excused or dismissed.

4. Ammunition will be issued by the quartermaster general upon the requisition of the inspector general of rifle practice.

5. Officers will be given an opportunity to qualify with the revolver at times when their services are not required to command and instruct the men, but in no case will officers be allowed on the revolver range while any of their company are still practicing on the rifle range.

6. Officers detailed for duty at the camp of instruction in rifle practice must be fully posted in their duties as instructors, and have qualified as sharpshooters.

7. Special attention is hereby called to section 38, general orders No. 5, office adjutant general, Trenton, April 8, 1903. Surgeons must remain on duty at all times while any of their command is on the range.

8. Sixty-five per cent. of the strength of each organization must have reported on the range for rifle practice during the season. Organizations falling below this minimum will be reported to the division commander by the inspector general of rifle practice "as having ceased to be useful" (par. 19, G. O. No. 2, office Adjutant general, March 26, 1900).

9. It is directed that all rifle practice, if possible, be had while the several organizations are in camp.

10. Application for assignments of companies to practice while troops are in camp will be made by the commanding officers through the channels to the inspector general of rifle practice prior to the date of the arrival of the troops in camp.

11. The inspector general of rifle practice will, according to the range facilities, subdivide the time of each organization in camp, so that all will have an opportunity to practice.

12. Companies ordered to the rifle range will be relieved of all other drills and camp duties until all practice of such companies is finished.

By command of Major General Wanser.

THOMAS S. CHAMBERS,
Assistant Adjutant General.

CARD PLAYERS CAUSE LITTLE ANNOYANCE

INCONVENIENCE EXPERIENCED ONLY ON ONE TRAIN SAYS COMMUTER.

Frank W. Weed does not agree with those who have lodged complaints against the alleged card-playing seat monopolizer. He takes the position that the only inconvenience caused other commuters is on the 7:55 train.

The following letter has been received from Mr. Weed:

Editor, The Daily Press:

Refering to the item in your valued paper of last evenings' issue, regarding the card playing on trains, would say that I am not a card player, but at least I know right from wrong, and I would like to see the matter place before the public and the railroad officials in the proper light. You are evidently very much misinformed in regard to commuters being forced to stand up all the way to Jersey City as a result of the card players monopolizing the bulk of the space, and I would further state that about the only train leaving Plainfield in the morning, on which the passengers experience much inconvenience, is the train which leaves here at 7:55 a. m. This train comes all the way through from Flemington and makes all stops to Netherwood, and as it is a very popular hour for the people who have to get to business at 9 o'clock, it naturally is pretty well crowded.

I have occasion to use every train from here to New York, between the 6:02 and 11 o'clock trains in the morning, that is, I have no set time for leaving the city, and hence I have an opportunity to sit up and take notice to the doings of the card players.

It is a very common occurrence to see a passenger walk into a smoking car containing only four or five other passengers, and if he sees a seat turned over for the regular commuters who do play cards, to deliberately turn the seat over as a matter of the purest kind of spite and malice, and to the exclusion of the card players. This I have observed, happens more frequently on the train leaving here at 8:46 a. m., but I have seen it repeatedly done on the other ones, and is a contemptable trick. This particular train is made up at Dunellen and carries two smoking cars and there is more room than is really needed as far as Elizabeth.

Some of the commuters are satisfied with nothing short of a sleeping berth, and it is not hard to imagine that these are the ones who are foremost in the rush to stop the enjoyment of others, simply because they cannot find enjoyment in cards themselves.

I think that the majority of your readers will bear me out in the statement that outside of the 7:55 a .m. train, that we can travel to New York in comfort on practically all other trains.

If any of your readers doubt the truth of the foregoing, and will take the trouble of making an investigation, I am sure that they will find little room for complaint from annoyance by the card players.

Knowing your paper to be a fair-minded sheet, and that you are always ready to hear both sides of a story, I would ask that you give this letter a little of your valuable space, and I feel safe in saying that I voice the sentiment of more than myself.

Thanking you in advance, I am,

Yours very truly,
FRANK W. WEED.

THINK THEY HAVE THE KISSER OF GIRLS.

Orange Police Arrest Man, and Pupils Shriek as He Is Shown to Them.

The Orange Police Station looked yesterday afternoon like a school playground during recess time. About sixty girls, ranging in age from twelve to sixteen, were there to identify George Stoyan, twenty-four years old, who was arrested earlier in the day by Chief of Police Washer and Detective John Drabell. When Stoyan was led forth some of the girls shrieked and hid behind their school teachers, who came with them.

Stoyan lives at No. 260 High street, Orange, and the police have been trying to catch him for nearly a year. He is charged with hugging and kissing girls on their way to and from school, and complaints have come in right along.

Maggie O'Brien pointed him out yesterday morning to Chief Washer at High and White streets. The Chief started for the man just as he was getting aboard a trolley car. Stoyan dodged around the car and ran up Cleveland street. The private carriage of Thomas M. Cusack was bowling along Cleveland street. The Chief stopped it, jumped aboard, and the coachman, whipping his horses, started after the fugitive.

The chase led over four blocks, and the man bolted into a hallway next to the plumbing shop of Milne & Platt, on Main street. The Chief lost him. Later he and Drabell learned that there was a dark garret upstairs, and, making a search, they found Stoyan there.

He will be given a hearing to-day.

CLOSE GIVES UP FIGHT.

Contestant for Sheriff's Office Will Let Proceedings Drop.

Asbury Park, May 25.—Charles E. Close has given up the contest for the office of sheriff of Monmouth county. The decision was reached at a conference held in Freehold this week that no victory could be gained by carrying the case by quo warranto proceedings to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Close was the Democratic candidate for sheriff last November. He was defeated on the face of the returns and his Republican opponent, C. Asa Francis, was sworn in. The presence of alleged illegally marked ballots in the boxes prompted Mr. Close to apply for a recount, which was granted.

Justice Hendrickson presided at the recount. He decided that some of the ballots were purposely marked and enough were rejected to give Close a majority. Justice Hendrickson gave a certificate of election to Close, but Attorney General McCarter ruled that the Democratic contestant's only redress was a review by the Supreme court through quo warranto proceedings.

Everybody will want to get one of these pictures. They are worth a dollar apiece, and can be secured exclusively with The Philadelphia Sunday Press June 3d. Deadly Flobert Again.

East Orange, May 25.—Surgeons at the Orange Memorial Hospital Wednesday afternoon performed an operation on John Hill, thirteen years old, of No. 511 North Fourth street, Newark, who was brought to the hospital Tuesday night shot through both legs near the hip. The boy will recover unless blood poisoning sets in. The deadly Flobert rifle did the trick. The accident occurred late Tuesday afternoon, and, though the East Orange police knew of it, they kept the story from the reporters and made no investigation until yesterday. The boy who did the shooting was found by a newspaper reporter yesterday. All the boys, Hill included, agree that the shooting was accidental.

Pastor As Umpire.

Paterson, May 25.—The Rev. D. Stuart Hamilton, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church, who was chosen umpire of the special arbitration committee to decide the question as to whether or not the master painters of Paterson had the right to work collectively on a job during the strike of the journeymen painters, decided that the master painters could not work on any job collectively as journeymen under the terms of the agreement existing between the two organizations, and be considered fair men by the trades unions.

Luck of a Mummer.

Eureka Springs, Ark., May 25.—Joseph Coffman, member of a stock company, and Mrs. Wilma Harris, widow of Charles W. G. Harris, owner of several cotton plantations, were married at the bride's home here Tuesday afternoon. The pair met for the first time a week ago, when the theatrical company came here to play a two-weeks' engagement.

A noted physician of Pittsburg, Pa., in a recent letter to Dr. Oidman says:

"In your prescription known as 'Pepsoids' you have given the medical world the greatest and most valued discovery in medicine of the present century. You have at last solved the problem that has baffled the skill of the best physicians of recent times, how to cure permanently all Acute or Chronic Stomach Diseases known as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach and Digestive Weakness. I have used your prescription, 'Pepsoids,' in hundreds of cases without a single failure. I attribute the success of your treatment mainly to the fact that the disease germs of the stomach cannot resist Pepsoids. Your theory that most Stomach Diseases are brought about by multitudes of nefarious disease-breeding germs must be correct, judging from the remarkable results attained from the use of your 'Pepsoids.' I consider 'Pepsoids' the best and most valuable remedy yet discovered, for the treatment of stubborn stomach ailments."

Pepsoids cure Dyspepsia and all Stomach Diseases, in a new way, by repairing the wornout lining of the Stomach and at the same time, destroy all disease-breeding germs. Dyspepsia and the worst forms of Stomach Disorders once cured in this way never returns.

David Warfield has played Herr Von Barwig in "The Music Master," in New York more than 500 times. The half-thousandth performance by the popular Belasco star was celebrated at the Bijou theatre, New York, on Tuesday last, March 6th. The theatre was tastefully decorated, a bower of fragrant flowers against a background of flags. A number of distinguished personages were present. It was a memorable night in every way. Mr. Warfield and his colleagues, imbued with the spirit of the occasion, threw themselves into their work with unusual vigor, and it is doubtful whether a better performance of "The Music Master" ever was given. Speeches were made by Mr. Belasco and Mr. Warfield, and there was a reception on the stage after the fall of the final curtain. There is no lessening of interest in this sympathetic play. It will run in New York until hot weather makes it impossible to continue any longer, and its third year in the metropolis will begin in September.

Blanche Bates is maintaining her splendid record in the new Belasco play "The Girl of the Golden West" at the Belasco Theatre, where her strong acting and the strength and art of the play have made this attraction the most successful of the year's new productions.

"The Darling of the Gods," with Percy Haswell as Yo San and Robert T. Haines, as Kara, is playing a most successful season throughout the country.

"The Girl of the Golden West," with Miss Blanche Bates as the "Girl," is filling the Belasco theatre, New York, to the doors every night. Tickets are bought four weeks in advance, as they must be if one intends to get a seat at all.

The last two weeks of "A Society Circus," which has enjoyed such a phenonemenal run at the New York Hippodrome, are announced. To insure the comfort of their patrons, Thompson & Dundy have put into operation the great $100,000 refrigerating plant, the only one in use in the theatrical world and one which, if necessary, can send the temperature down to the freezing point in the big auditorium. The Hippodrome is at present the coolest place in town—a fact which is appreciated by the big audience, which twice daily fill the playhouse. On the night of Decoration Day (May 30), the three hundredth performance of the production will occur. eNw circus acts have been added to the arenic tournament for the closing performances. The oteher wonderful features of the programme, including the great chorus; the magnificent ballet; the plunging horses and Court of the Golden Fountains, continue to amaze and delight. Matinees are given daily.

Fell From Mountain.

Paterson, May 25.—Leonard Harrington, son of A. H. Harrington, a wealthy wholesale grocer of Frederick, Md., was found yesterday morning in a dazed condition in front of a public school. He told a policeman that he was waiting to get into the hospital. Harrington said he had fallen off the Garret Mountain. Letters in his possession confirmed the statement as to his identitiy. Recorder Noonberg sent the man to St. Joseph's Hospital. It is believed that he has been wandering through the country for weeks.

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"Oh, well, them society sports—there's got to be some of them—"

"Yes, and the way they make 'em reminds me of what Dal Mutzig tells about the time they started Pasco. 'What you fellows makin' a town here fur?' Dal says he asked 'em, and he says they says: 'Well, why not? The land ain't good fur anything else, is it?' they says. That's the way with these shrimps; they ain't good fur anything else. There's that Arledge, the lad that keeps his mouth hangin' open all the time he's lookin' at you—he'll catch cold in his works, first thing he knows—with his gold monogram on his cigarettes."

"He said he was poor," urged Billy, who had been rather taken with the ease of Arledge's manner.

"Fine, big, handsome fellow, ain't he? Strong as an ox, active and perfectly healthy, ain't he? Well, he's a pill! But his old man must 'a' been on to him. Here, here's a piece in the paper about that fine big strappin' giant—it's partly what got me to thinkin' to-night, so I couldn't sleep. Just listen to this," and Uncle Peter read:

"E. Wadsworth Arledge, son of the late James Townsend Arledge, of the dry goods firm of Arledge & Jackson, presented a long affidavit to Justice Dutcher, of the supreme court, yesterday, to show why his income of $6,000 a year from his father's estate should not be abridged to pay a debt of $489.32. Henry T. Gotleib, a grocer, who obtained a judgment for that amount against him in 1895, and has been unable to collect, asked the court to enjoin Judge Henley P. Manderson, and the Union Fidelity Trust company, as executors of the Arledge estate, from paying Mr. Arledge his full income until the debt has been discharged. Gotleib contended that Arledge could sustain the reduction required.

"James T. Arledge died about two years ago, leaving an estate of about $3,000,000. He had disapproved of the marriage of his son and evinced his displeasure in his will. The son had married Flora Florenza, an actress. To the son was given an income of $6,000 a year for life. The rest of the estate went to the testator's widow for life, and then to charity.

"'I have been brought up in idleness, under the idea that I was to inherit a large estate. I have never acquired any business habits so as to fit me to acquire property, or to make me take care of it.

"'I have never been in business, except many years ago, when I was a boy, when I was for a short time employed in one of the stores owned by my father. For many years prior to my father's death I was not employed, but lived on a liberal allowance made to me by him. I am a married man, and in addition to my wife have a family of two children to support from my income.

"'All our friends are persons of wealth and of high social standing, and we are compelled to spend money in entertaining the many friends who entertain us. I am a member of many expensive clubs. I have absolutely no income except the allowance I receive from my father's estate, and the same is barely sufficient to support my family.

"'I have received no technical or scientific education, fitting me for any business or profession, and should I be deprived of any portion of my income I will be plunged in debt anew.'

"The court reserved decision."

"You hear that, Billy? The court reserved decision. Mr. Arledge has to buy so many gold cigarettes and vintages and trouserings, and belong to so many clubs, that he wants the court to help him chouse a poor grocer out of his money. Say, Billy, that judge could fine me for contempt of court, right now, fur reservin' his decision. You bet Mr. Arledge would 'a' got my decision right hot on the griddle. I'd 'a' told him: 'You're the meanest kind of a crook I ever heard of fur wantin' to lie down on your fat back and whine out of payin' fur the grub you put in your big gander paunch,' I'd tell him, 'and now you march to the lock-up till you can look honest folks in the face,' I'd tell him. Say, Billy, some crooks are worse than others. Take Nate Leverson out there. Nate set up night and day for six years inventin' a process fur sweatin' gold into ore; finally he gets it; how he does it, nobody knows, but he sweat gold 18 inches into the solid rock. The first few holes he salted he gets rid of all right, then of course they catch him, and Nate's doin' time now. But say, I got respect fur Nate since readin' that piece. There's a good deal of a man about him, or about any common burglar or sneak thief, compared to this duck. They take chances, say nothin' of the hard work they do. This fellow won't take a chance and won't work a day. Billy, that's the meanest specimen of crook I ever run against, bar none, and that crook is produced and tolerated in a place that's said to be the center of 'culture and refinement and practical achievement.' Billy, he's a pill!"

"That's right," said Billy Brue, promptly throwing the recalcitrant Arledge overboard.

"But it ain't none of my business. What I do spleen again, is havin' a grandson of mine livin' in a community where a man that'll act like that is actually let in their houses by honest folks. Think of a son of Daniel J. Bines treatin' folks like that as if they was his equals. Say, Dan'l had a line of faults, all right—but, by God! he'd a trammed ore fur two twenty-five a day any time in his life rather'n not pay a dollar he owed. And think of this lad making his bed in this kind of a place where men are brought up to them ways; and that name; think of a husky, two-fisted boy like him letting himself be called by a measly little gum-drop name like Percival, when he's got a right to be called Pete. And he's right in with 'em. He'd be just as bad—give him a little time; and Pishy engaged to a damned fortune-hunting Englishman into the bargain. It's all Higbee said it was, only it goes double. Say, Billy, I been thinkin' this over all night."

"'Tis mighty worryin', ain't it, Uncle Peter?"

"And I got it thought out."

"Sure, you must 'a' got it down to cases."

"Billy, listen now. There's a fellow down in Wall street. His name is Shepler, Rulon Shepler. He's most the biggest man down there."

"Sure! I heard of him."

"Listen. I'm goin' to bed now. I can sleep since I got my mind made up. But I want to see Shepler in private to-morrow. Don't wake me up in the morning. But get up yourself, and go find his office—look in a directory, then ask a policeman. Shepler's a busy man. You tell the clerk or whoever holds you up that Mr. Peter Bines wants an appointment with Mr. Shepler as soon as he can make it—Mr. Peter Bines, of Montana City. Be there by 9:30 so's to get him as soon as he comes. He knows me; tell him I want to see him on business soon as possible, and find out when he can give me time. And don't you say to anyone else that I ever seen him or sent you there. Understand? Don't ever say a word to anyone. Remember, now, be there at 9:30, and don't let any clerk put you off, and ask him what hour'll be convenient for him. Now get what sleep's comin' to you. It's five o'clock."

At noon Billy Brue returned to the hotel to find Uncle Peter finishing a hearty breakfast.

"I found him all right, Uncle Peter. The lookout acted suspicious, but I saw the main guy himself come out of a door—like I'd seen his picture in the papers, so I just called to him and said: 'Mr. Peter Bines wants to see you,' like that. He took me right into his office, and I told him what you said, and he'll be ready for you at two o'clock. He knows mines, all right, out our way, don't he?—and he crowded a handful of these tin-foil cigars on to me, and acted real sociable. Told me to drop in any time. Say, he'd run purty high in the yellow stuff all right."

"At two o'clock, you say?"

"Yes."

Why not come in and talk with us? If you owe a little back rent or grocery bill or the doctor or coal man, or you need money for rent in advance, it might possibly be an advantage to get a small loan, say $10, $25 or possibly $50, of us, and then pay it back in small amounts, either weekly or monthly, to suit your convenience. We loan from $10 up—any sum—any time. The possession of household goods, piano, or horse and wagon, are sufficient evidence of your ability to pay. A postal will bring us to your door.

WESTFIELDS TOMORROW

Fast Team From Mt. Ararat Will Face the County Champions Tomorrow.

"LINDY'S" CALL DOWN

Equitable Company Insists That Star Twirler Deal Fair With Club Manager—Other Gossip.

The Westfield team looks pretty strong. Bob Middleton, of Star fame, will be in his accustomed place in center garden. Middleton is the only Elizabeth player that holds a place on the Sunday champions and is he considered one of the best fielders in the business.

There are a few grafters in the baseball profession. Linderman, the former Hoboken pitcher, has long been considered the king of them all but it now looks that in the future he will be compelled to do business on the square. Early this season he accepted $100 advance money to play with Manager Hussey's Ridgewood team at a salary of $60 per game. Two weeks ago he forgot this agreement and upon payment of $200 from Brady's Coney Island Club he deserted the Ridgewoods. Manager Hussey called the pitcher's attention to the fact that he repudiated his ward and contract but Linderman refused to listen and passed the matter off by laughing. The result is that Manager Hussey appealed to the Equitable Assurance Company where Linderman is employed for the return of his $100. Hussey presented some strong evidence to the insurance people which showed Linderman's methods of business dealings with baseball managers in the past. The result is that the Equitable Assurance Company has given Linderman the choice of returning the $100 to Hussey or relinquishing his position with the company. This action indicates that the Equitable has no use for grafters, even of the baseball variety.

Reports from Somerville papers indicate that the Somerville team is strengthening up for real business by signing Driscoll for first base and Bassford to play in the outfield.

Driscoll is a good man if Manager Conklin can hold him. It is natural for "Dave" to butt in and one of his first suggestions will be to get a team that will clean up Plainfield. It is to be hoped that Driscoll can bring this about—a series between the two towns.

George "Oates" McVoy, one of the star outfielders of the Orange Field Club aggregation, has signed with the Imperial team, of Garwood, which is a member of the Union County League.

Jimmy Beisel is out of his Matawan berth. Jimmy started out in the coastline team by winning his game, but club politics interfered, and he lost his job. Beisel is in good condition and would like to hook on with a fast team.

Manager Daab's team in Hoboken Sunday will go up against the strong Waterbury Connecticut League team. Four former members of the Newark Eastern League team are with the Watchmakers, Swander, O'Hagan, Thackara and O'Neill.

The P. H. S. baseball team will play the N. P. H. S. team on Crescent Oval tomorrow morning.

Manager Henry Pound, of the P. H. S., has refused a date with Drake School, of Newark, because they are all filled.

This will be the lineup of the Scotch Plains team in its game tomorrow at Scotch Plains, against the Somerset A. C., of this city: Johnston, p; Frentz, 1b; H. Craig, ss; Millier, lf; Vanderbilt and Fitzgerald, rf; L. Mooney, c; Schermback, 2b; Albert, 3b; Colley, cf.

Choir Boys' Team Matched.

The baseball nine of Grace church choir, of Orange, will play the choir team of the Holy Cross church at the cricket field tomorrow morning at 10:30. The boys of Holy Cross will make their first public appearance in the new uniforms of gray and maroon which were recently presented them by a parishioner. After the game the two nines will be entertained at lunch by the rector. Considerable interest in manifested in the game to be played as neither team has been defeated this season, the Holy Cross boys having won four straight games, the Orange boys three.

Baseball Card Design.

A specially designed cover for the score-card issued by the Plainfield Baseball Association will be sold at the game between Plainfield and Westfield, tomorrow. The design was drawn by City Judge William N. Runyon, president of the association, and is a clever piece of work. It represents the champions of Union county, 1906, and surrounding the centre-piece appear baseball players in silhouette style.

Plainfield Golfers Beaten.

In the first round play for the third eight, Women's Metropolitan Golf Association championship at Englewood on Wednesday, Miss Bertha Graham, North Jersey, beat Miss Leila Cruikshank, Plainfield, 6 up and 4 to play and in the first round for the fourth eight, Miss E. Langley, Baltusrol, beat Miss Margaret Goddard, Plainfield, 1 up.

Miss Goddard Wins Queen's Cup.

Miss Margaret Goddard won the one-day tournament for the Queen's Birthday cup at the Plainfield Country Club, yesterday. She returned a score of 107, 11—96. There were two other contestants that posted their scores: Miss Leila Cruikshank, 119, 18—101; Miss Maud VanBoskerck, 109, 8—101.

Music at Clubhouse.

L. G. Timpson, chairman of the house committee at the Plainfield Country Club, has arranged to have music at the clubhouse tomorrow afternoon and evening.

In Need of Revision.

The pastor of a leading Boston church announces the subjects of his sermons on a large bulletin-board prepared by the sexton. One Sunday recently the evening sermon was to be on "Hell." Passers-by were a good deal startled to note that the lower part of the bulletin-board had on it these words in large and fiery red letters:

Funeral of Trolley Victim.

The funeral of Charles Cashen, the victim of the trolley car-wagon collision on East Second street, Wednesday afternoon, was held at St. Mary's church this morning. Rev. Father Delehanty said the mass in the presence of a large gathering of friends. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall bearers being Joseph and John Cashen, Martin Muldowney, Stephen Murphy, Frank Mague and John Mara.

Prize for Draft Horses.

One of the local classes at the coming horse show under the auspices of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club, is for "single draft horses, suitable for trucking or carting to be shown in hand." Plainfield is justly proud of the many fine heavy teams in this city and it is expected that there will be a large entry list in this class. Entry blanks and prize lists can be obtained at the Casino. Entries will close on Thursday, May 31.

Choir Boys to Give a Concert.

THE SPIRIT OF THE ORIENT.

The richness of our Library, for all Special Reading Courses, is illustrated by the number of books which the Library contains from the Annotated Bibliography on Japan, China and India, recommended by Knox for the Chautauquan Home Reading Course.

Japan.

Bacon, A. M.—Japanese girls and women.

By far the best account, though rose colored, of its topic.

Though written more than twenty years ago, this remains the best book by a traveler.

Chamberlain, B. H.—Things Japanese.

The best summary with a brief paragraph upon all topics of interest by the man who is the highest authority.

Griffis, W. E.—Mikado's empire.

A good popular account of the mythology, history and customs.

Gulick, S. L.—Evolution of the Japanese.

Full of interesting and acute observation.

Knox, G. W.—Japanese life in town and country.

As the author has lived many years in Japan, he writes not as tourist or transient resident, but as a close observer of daily Japanese life.

Mitford, A. B. F.—Tales of old Japan.

A delightful account of the old Japan which passed away with the coming of foreigners.

China.

Dubois, H. C.—Dragon, image and demon; or, the three religions of China.

Gives an account of the mythology, idolatry and demonolatry of the Chinese.

Best study of the Boxer troubles and the siege of Pekin.

Smith, A. H.—Chinese characteristics.

An exceedingly acute and brilliant study of people, somewhat too severe in its judgments.

Smith, A. H.—Villiage life in China.

Williams, S. W.—Middle kingdom. 2v.

India.

Barth, A.—Religions of India: Vedic religions: Brahamism, Buddism, Jainism, Hinduism.

Hunter, W. W.—Indian empire: its peoples, history and products.

Note. Although the Library does not contain all the books recommended by Dr. Knox on India, it does contain many others which are probably equally as good.

VENUS AND MARS.

The circling planets in the sky—
'Tis thought they are inhabited;
Their people's plane of thought is high,
Much different from ours, 'tis said.

And when we take a thoughtful view
Of all the distant worlds up there,
Men wonder what the people do;
The women wonder what they wear. —Puck.

Pipes o' Pan.

"Don't you like to hear the wind whistling through the wood?" asked the poetical one.

"Well," replied the practical one, "if I'm out in the forest I do; but if the wood is made up into a $2 flute, I can't say that I do."—Yonkers Statesman.

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS.

The following letter was presented and read:

Westfield, N. J., April 6, 1906.

The Board of Chosen Freeholders—

Gentlemen: My father, before he died, requested me to write to you and say that he has thought of you all many times during his illness, and the feeling that you all were his friends gave him great comfort. He told me several times during the last week that he had never been associated with a body of men that had used him better, or that he thought more of, than he did of the men comprising the Board of Freeholders.

In addition to the message father sends you, I desire to thank you all for the many pleasant hours you have helped my father spend since he has been associated with you.

Yours truly, J. R. Connoly.

On motion of Freeholder Robison, received and placed on file.

From J. T. MacMurray, city clerk, Plainfield, N. J., as follows:

Plainfield, N. J., April 4, 1906.

Gentlemen: At a meeting of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, held April 2, a resolution was adopted of which the following is a copy:

Resolved, That the city clerk be requested to communicate with the county officials of Union and Somerset counties, requesting them to confer with the committee on streets and sewers with a view to having Green Brook cleared out, and deepened and widened, where necessary, extending from Scotch Plains to such point in the city of Plainfield and borough of North Plainfield as may be deemed necessary.

J. T. MacMurray, City Clerk.

On motion of Freeholder Woodruff, received and referred to the members of the board from the city of Plainfield.

From Olin. D. Sickley, township clerk of Springfield, as follows:

Springfield, N. J., April 28, 1906.

Mr. Rusling Ryno, clerk board of Freeholders—

Dear Sir: At the last meeting of the township committee of the township of Springfield the clerk was directed to request the Board of Freeholders to widen the bridge at both ends at Van Winkle stream near the residence of Dr. Stiles. The committee would respectfully request that you lay this communication before the board at the next meeting.

Very truly yours,

Olin D. Sickley, township clerk.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, received and referred to Freeholder Meisel of Springfield township.

From Wm. Flemer, of Springfield, N. J., as follows:

Springfield, N. J., April 28, 1906.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County, New Jersey—

Gentlemen: I have been informed that it is your intention to widen the bridge over Van Winkle Brook, Springfield, N. J., on the north side, and would be glad to have you treat the south side the same, thereby making the bridge the full width of the road.

Should be pleased to hear from you in this matter.

Respectfully yours,

Wm. Flemer, M. C. B.

On motion of Freeholder Robison, received and referred to Freeholder Meisel of Springfield township.

From Dr. J. A. Stites, of Springfield, N. J., as follows:

Springfield, N. J., April 30, 1906.

Gentlemen: I have notified the township of committee Springfield that I will not allow them to remove the sidewalk in front of my property, nor will I allow them to touch any of my trees nor trespass on my property for any cause whatever. I now notify you to the same effect, so in case you should widen the bridge over Van Winkle creek on Morris avenue, I will not allow you to touch my property nor trespass on my ground.

I am, Very truly yours,

Dr. J. H. Stites, per J. H. S.

On motion of Freeholder Robison, received and referred to Freeholder Meisel of Springfield township.

The following petition was presented and read:

Whereas, The residents of the Borough of Roselle Park, owning property or having their residences on Westfield avenue, a county road running through their borough, or contiguous thereto, have suffered for a long time much discomfort in their homes and are subjected to considerable annoyance while walking along the avenue, as well as danger of infectious diseases, by reason of the continual dense volumes of dust raised by automobiles and other traffic on said avenue, which is constantly increasing; Therefore, We, the undersigned, such property owners and residents, respectfully petition your honorable body to take such measure by application of crude oil, or otherwise, as may seem to your honorable body best calculated to immediately alleviate the conditions above described.

Alfred Atkins, Emery L. Lellebridge, Chas. E. Stone, and seventy-three others.

On motion of Freeholder Woodruff, received and laid over for future consideration.

The following communication was presented and read:

Elizabeth, N. J., May 3, 1906.

Gentlemen: I would respectfully call your attention to the culvert under Centenial avenue, near the property formerly of Alfred Winans, now owned by me.

The culvert has been stopped for a long time and by reason of this, land has been overflown with water, which is now becoming stagnant and the same is detrimental to health. I would respectfully ask that the same be attended to.

Julia Alward.

The petitioner being present was granted permission to be heard and stated in part that the situation as complained of had caused her great inconvenience and some damage; it was also unhealthful, and she claimed, had not received proper consideration at the hands of the local authorities.

Freeholder Adams said that the culvert as complained of was located in Cranford, and he would have the matter attended to, so far as the county was concerned, as soon as possible.

On motion of Freeholder Woodruff, it was ordered that the matter be referred to Freeholder Adams, and the board of health of Cranford township.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By the committee on Picton street bridge, Westfield, as follows:

Elizabeth, N. J., May 3, 1906.

Your committee apointed to examine the condition of the Picton street bridge, Westfield, would respectfully report having examined the same and find that said Picton street has been widened and improved and that the present bridge extends only to about the center of the flag walk.

We therefore recommend that said bridge be extended to the side lines on the street on each side at a cost not to exceed $350. M. M. Scudder, John V. Cady, E. K. Adams, Committee.

Freeholder Krouse moved that the report be received and recommendations adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

By the committee on Leland avenue bridge in Plainfield, as follows:

Elizabeth, N. J., May 3, 1906.

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed to examine the condition of the Leland avenue bridge over Green Brook, between the counties of Union and Somerset, Plainfield, would report having visited the same, in company with County Engineer Hubbard, and find the present structure to be an old wooden truss bridge which is so badly decayed, that one of the trusses is entirely rotted away and the bridge held in place and made passable, only by reason of the bracing placed under the center of the same last fall.

In our opinion the bridge is exceedingly unsafe and should be replaced at once. We therefore recommend that, Somerset county, concurring, the iron superstructure of the present bridge over West End avenue, Plainfield (which is about to be replaced by a concrete steel arch bridge) be re-erected on this site on new abutments at a total cost not to exceed $1,500, or $750, to the county. S. P. T. Wilbur, Geo. B. Cladek, John Robison, Geo. H. Kline, Committee, F. J. Hubbard, county engineer.

Freeholder Gruener moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

By the committee on Scott avenue bridge, in Plainfield, as follows:

Elizabeth, N. J., May 3, 1906.

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed to examine the condition of the Scott avenue bridge, Plainfield, would report having visited the bridge and carefully examined the same finding that the wooden stringers and plank covering are badly rotted and in need of renewal or replacing with a permanent cover; in addition to this we find that the capacity of this bridge is inadequate to carry the water in time of heavy rain. The two bridges above this on the same stream are each of 12 foot span, and the next one below has a span of 17 feet, while this bridge has a span of only nine and two-tenths feet. We therefore recommend that one new abutment wall be constructed for this bridge, widening same to a clear space of fourteen feet, and that whole be covered with "I" beams and brick arches at a cost not exceeding $1,200. S. P. T. Wilbur, W. A. Westphal, Geo. B. Cladek, John Robison, Geo. H. Kline, Committee.

Freeholder Gruener moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

By the committee on line bridge, Elwood, Summit, N. J., as follows:

Gentlemen: Your committee in conjunction with a committee from Morris county board of Freeholders have examined the bridge over the Passaic River, at Elwood Station, and find said bridge in an unsafe condition requiring immediate attention, and we respectfully offer the following recommendation.

Resolved, That a new plate girder and iron beam and concrete floored bridge, with center piers be built at an expense to Union county not to exceed $3,000.

(Signed)—W. H. Swain, John F. Wahl, John V. Cady, Committee.

Frreholder Woodruff moved that the report be received and resolution therein contained adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

LITERARY.

The solemnity and marvellous coloring of a Jerusalem sunset are so exquisitely reproduced in the June Century, from studies in oil by Corwin Knapp Linson, that it would seem as if the art of reproduction could go on further. The artist has written, to accompany his pictures, a brief description of the semi-tropical sky, "a vision of prismatic light holding carnival in the air." The June Century is a travel number. There is an account, by Wladyslaw T. Benda, of "Tatra," a mountainous region between Galicia and Hungary. There are word and picture memories of the charming river Marne from its source to Paris by Elizabeth Robins Pennell and Joseph Pennell. Harry Stillwell Edwards, author of "The Two Runaways," writes of "The Negro and the South," an optimistic, and, for a Southerner, an unusual, view of the black man in America. Another of Camille Gronkowski's papers on the historic palaces of Paris deals with the Elysee Palace, the official home of the French President; and Ernst von Hesse Wartegg describes with interesting detail the wonderful Alpine trolley partly completed to the Jungfrau peak. In this number also begins the new serial by Anne Warner, creator of the inimitable Susan Clegg. "Seeing France With Uncle John" is the title; and the first chapters promise that Uncle John will prove to be a creation full of humor. Some of the short stories—there are several of them—also have the travel spirit.

The June Lippincott's opens with "Two in a Fog," a complete novelette of compelling interest by William H. Babcock. This is a story of love and adventure around the oyster-beds of Chespeake Bay, a field which has not been overworked by the fictionist and which abounds in material ripe to his hand. "Two in a Fog" opens in a fog and closes in a fog—yet its quality of humor is bright enough to penetrate even the atmosphere that has made London famous. Mr. Babcock's books "The Tower of Wye" and "Fort Kent Manor" met with much success and theih implied promise is amply fulfilled in this new novel.

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." PARADE AT TENTED CITY

Redmen Come Down In Costume Burning Red Fire and Whooping.

MAKE IT LIVELY NIGHT

Big Crowd Out and Plenty of Money Spent All Over the Grounds —Two Searchlights.

The Red Men had charge of the Carnival last night, and they kept the boom-times going. They turned out in large numbers and a big crowd was on the grounds ready to be turned into hospital benefactors.

The Red Men came to the grounds on parade. They had 200 men in line, sixty of whom were in Indian costume, with faces painted and warhoops gurgling in their throts. Besides the Meantonoms and Wetumphah Tribesmen, there were delegations from the Cranford and Westfield tribes.

The tribes met at Wetumpkah's meeting room, and started out for the grounds at 8 o'clock. Preceding the sixty Redmen in costume rode Chief Longfeather, of the Indian Village, on horseback, and the rest of the Indians at the Carnival, on a pretty float representing a forest scene, with tepee and other familiar Indian touches in evidence.

After the parade through town, the Redmen marched over the Carnival grounds, redfire burning and warwhoops sounding. Andrew J. Stilglitz led the line as prophet.

When their turn about the grounds was over, braves in costume were hustled to the different attractions, where they did great work. The crowd was in a spending mood, and big business marked the night. The Indian barkers and ticket sellers were: Mr. Leichentritt, Charles Holstein, John Green, J. J. Leahy, S. C. Montross, Max Monosen, M. A. Leahy, Michael O'Shea, Charles Keller, A. E. Willard, Eugene Wilcox, Peter Connor, H. W. Cooke, William Kuhn, G. Riff, W. F. Mehl, Thomas Kunzman, Asa Pope, Tony Kuklenski, Thomas Jones, Harvey Price, Augustus Redpath, J. McCue, P. McDermott, E. A. Price, Jacob A. Foss, Richard Scott, Cormick Caulfield, Frank Clark, John Snyder, Christopher Wahrbach and Benjamin Farbman.

Another searchlight was working on the grounds last night. When their shafts conveyed on the sky there was almost light enough to be seen a score of miles.

The Juniors will have charge of the grounds tonight and all three of the councils will be represented on the attractions.

GRACE FESTIVAL CLOSES.

The Affair Proves a Social and Financial Success.

The strawberry and ice cream festival at Grace M. E. Church was concluded last night, having proved a decided success, socially and financially. The attendance was equal to that at the opening and all the articles sold well. The programme was repeated exactly as it had been given the previous night and was greatly enjoyed. The various committees that had charge of the tables during the festival were as follows:

Entertainment, Miss Alice Carroll and Mrs. Henry Cannon; candy, Mrs. Charles Force, Miss Grace Carroll, Mrs. R. D. Merrill, Mrs. W. M. Alling, Miss Belle Lunger, Miss Della Voehl; cake, Mrs. A. B. C. Few Seats Left.

Practically all of the private boxes have been sold for the horse show, June 7, 8 and 9, and there are a few parking spaces and reserved seats left which must be spoken for at an early date by those who desire them. A large number of out-of-town people have purchased private boxes and the assemblage promises to be a distinguished one.

SENIOR PLAY RECEIVING FINISHING TOUCHES

PLOT OF PLAY "THE NEPHEW AS UNCLE" VERY INTRICATE.

All arrangements have been completed for the annual senior play at the P. H. S., "The Nephew as Uncle," to be given on Tuesday night in the school auditorium.

The hero, Francis Doisigney, taken by S. B. Howe, Jr., of the Faculty, has shot his lieutenant. But he resembles his uncle, Col. Dorsigney, taken by George Rittenhouse; so he decides to make use of his uncle's form and thus escape detection. The colonel has a beautiful daughter, Sophie, Miss Bertha Hill, and young Dorsigney loves her.

On arriving at his uncle's home he finds that Sophie is to be married to a man, Formenil, Howard Freeman; so instigated by his valet, Champagnia, Arthur Whitney, young Dorsigney decides to act the part of his uncle and give his consent to Sophie to marry young Dorsigney, the man of her choice. This is only the beginning of complications, which come to a climax, when the real colonel returns home and finds his daughter about to marry his nephew without his consent. However everything ends happily and a good love story will be presented to those who witness the performance Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. A dress rehearsal will be given Monday evening.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT PUPIL RECITAL

MISS EMMONS PROVIDES DELIGHTFUL PROGRAMME FOR MUSIC LOVERS.

Before an audience that tested the seating capacity of the Casino, the pupils of Miss Aimee Louis Emmons gave a highly creditable exhibition of their ability last night. It was the third annual affair and the work of the pupils was a deserved compliment to the thorough and efficient teaching of Miss Emmons, which is well recognized.

The programme was opened with a dance of the roses, arranged by Miss Emmons, in which these young women took part: The Misses Brown, Englehardt, Peacock, McClintock, Schwed, Hill, Fowler, Emmons, Woolley, Strader and Roberts. This was followed by these recitations: "When the Minister Comes to Tea," Miss Ruth Weinberger; "The Violet's Victory," Miss Ethel Neumann; "The Troublesome Caller," Miss Thelma Curtis. A very pretty "Wood Nymph Dance" was given by Miss Jessica Hill, and part first of the programme closed with a recitation, "The Colonel's Experiment," by Miss Arline Brown, and a piano selection, "Valse Mystique," by Miss Myra Emmons.

Part second was opened with recitations, "When I'm Grown Up," Miss Marguerite Woolston and Miss Alice Peacock, and "The Village Seamstress," by Miss Kathleen Peacock; followed with a wand drill, arranged by Miss Emmons and given by the Misses Woolston, Peacock, Weinberger, Schwed and McClintock. Other recitations were "How Ceely Won the Cake," Miss Florence Fowler; "Playing Bluebeard," Miss Helen Roberts and Miss Madeline Strader; "Polly's Surprise Party," Miss Helen Woolley.

At the conclusion of this part an amusing number was a sketch, "Madame De Portment's School," with two scenes. The parts and those who took them were "Madame," Miss Hill; "Mabel Frolics," Miss Englehardt; "Gertrude Smiles," Miss Fowler; "May Friskey," Miss Maud Emmons; "Jennie Slow," Miss Kathleen Peacock; "Bridget," Miss Brown." Miss Myra Emmons then rendered on the piano "Valse de Concert."

In part third there were these recitations: "The Little Shepherdess," Miss Bernice McClintock; "Courting Under Difficulties," Miss Ida Englehardt, and following was a dumbell drill, arranged by Miss Emmons and given by the Misses Neumann, Curtis, Woolley, Strader and Roberts. Another recitation, "A Little Girl's Wish," by Miss Elsa Schwed, preceded the last number on the programme, "The Holy City," sung by Elmer D. Cutting and acted in pantomime by the Misses Fowler, Peacock, Englehardt, Brown, Kathleen Peacock and Maude Emmons.

Everyone taking part in the programme was accorded hearty applause and besides they received a profusion of flowers from parents and admiring friends. Following the entertainment there was a dance. Miss Myra Emmons was the efficient accompanist during the evening and Mortimer Slater operated the calcium lights.

LEES LOSES DAMAGE SUIT

Jury Returns in Short Time With Verdict of No Cause For Action.

NO NOTICE OF APPEAL

Plaintiff Asked $20,000 of Dr. Wickman for Alleged Improper Treatment in Applying Plaster Cast.

After remaining out less than three hours, the jury in the Lees-Wickman damage suit in the Somerset court, yesterday afternoon, returned with a verdict of no cause for action. It caused some surprise as in a previous trial Lees was awarded $780, but so far no appeal has been filed by counsel for the defense. Lees sued Dr. Wickman for $20,000 for alleged improper treatment in applying a plaster cast for spinal curvature. The testimony was taken before Justice Abram Q. Garretson and was concluded at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The entire taking of testimony yesterday was devoted to the defense. After several witnesses had been on the stand, Dr. Albert Wickman, the defendant, took the stand in his own behalf. He said that he had been a practicing pyhsician since 1894, that he was a graduate of the University of New York and that he had been consulting physician for several hospitals. He had had rather an extended experience in plaster work. Had about a dozen cases of this kind every year.

The plaintiff came to his office, he said, on March 3, 1903, suffering from spinal curvature. He informed the doctor he had been worse the year past and was getting so he was unable to do anything; went around with great difficulty, especially as the day advanced.

The boy wanted to have a plaster cast put on, but said he was poor, Dr. Wickman averred, and the latter told him he would like to help him and would charge nothing for his services if the plaintiff would pay for the dressing and material and for the services of two attending physicians, who would be necessary to help. He said he warned Lees the cast was troublesome to apply, would perhaps cause a great deal of soreness and annoyance, and that if he applied it the plaintiff must remain quiet until he got used to it.

The defendant said he explained to Lees that under the arms the jacket would be most liable to cause trouble, and that if it did he would simply have to cut it out at the armpits. Then the doctor went on and described the applying of the plaster cast, and in conclusion declared it had been put on properly, and in accordance with the practice in such cases. He said it was in no way the cause of the plaintiff being in a worse condition, if he is, than when he came to his office.

Drs. John C. Houston and Josiah Crane, of Newark, who assisted Dr. Wickman in applying the cast, corroborated him in detail, and also said that if the plaintiff's condition was worse it was not due to the operation.

Drs. Edward J. Ill, William H. Hicks and Sidney A. Twinch, of Newark; P. J. Zeglio and Albert W. Bebout, of Plainfield, and John P. Hecht, of Somerville, testified that the treatment of the plaintiff was in accord with the practice in cases of a similar nature.

The young women will sell tickets at the various attractions, dressed in the colors of the college, and the young men students will do the barking. During the afternoon and evening, Paul Munter, the world's champion touch typewriting expert, will exhibit at the Business College tent. His work is remarkable for its swiftness.

SEWERS AGAIN DISCUSSED

Borough Council Defers Calling a Public Hearing to Continue Investigation.

MR. OSGOOD'S ADVICE

Declares Councilmen Should be Thoroughly Conversant with Facts and Figures to Meet Questions.

The members of the borough Council gathered at the council chambers last night, ostensibly for the purpose of holding a meeting to discuss the sewer project, but in reality the subject was talked over only in an informal way. Engineer Pierson was not present and most of the time was devoted to carefully going over the last report he submitted, this detailing the plan for an independent plant.

Joseph O. Osgood, the New Jersey Central's chief engineer, who has given the council much advice in its investigations, attended the conference and pointed out what he considered important details in Mr. Pierson's findings. To some of these he took exception and declared that in some respects he was very much out of the way, while in other points his explanations were not clear enough. Mr. Osgood advised the council to delve further in the subject of cost of materials, cost of pumping station and such matters before submitting any figures to the tax payers at a public meeting.

"If you ask the citizens to gather," said Mr. Osgood, "in order that you might tell them what you have decided upon and what a sewer system is going to cost them, you will find them exercising their privilege of asking questions. Unless you are thoroughly familiar with every point and have every little item of expense at your finger tips and can back it up with facts, not merely guesswork, you will find yourselves in a peculiar position. The people want to know and had ought to know, fully and clearly, what they are going to spend."

Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed was in attendance and also suggested that the council wait a little longer before calling a public meeting. He carefully compared the estimated cost of an independent plant and also connecting with the Plainfield beds and said that the later proposition should be given further consideration. His views were agreed to by Mayor Smalley and the councilmen and no action was taken toward asking the citizens to act. In the meantime, Engineer Pierson will revise his report and will detail the figures as suggested by Mr. Osgood.

PORTRAIT AND LETTER OF L. V. F. RANDOLPH IN TOKYO PAPER.

The International Review, published at Tokyo, one of the leading magazines of Japan, contains the portrait of former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, president of the New York Consolidated Exchange. "Having introduced you to my exchange;—whose members enjoyed your address, it will give my great pleasure to examine your magazine when it arrives. I hardly know what description of our exchange I can send. I shall, however, mail you a copy of my last annual report, and, also the photograph of myself for which you ask. * * * I trust that you will be successful in your efforts to introduce foreign capital into your country. I am reading with the greatest interest books written about Japan, and especially those written by Japanese authors.

"I know that as a gentleman of education you are interested in university work, and I shall enclose here a copy of a portion of a speech which I recently made at an anniversary dinner. It will give me much pleasure to hear from you at your convenience."

BIG EXHIBITORS COMING TO LOCAL HORSE SHOW

C. W. WATSON AND J. A. HARRIMAN WILL MAKE ENTRIES.

Those in charge of the third annual horse show to be held June 7, 8 and 9, under the auspices of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club, have received word that J. A. Harriman and C. W. Watson will be among the prominent horsemen who will exhibit their thoroughbred stock in this city. They will bring their horses here from the Philadelphia show, which precedes the Plainfield show by a few days.

The feature of the horse show at Baltimore on Thursday was the picturesque arrival of Mr. Harriman by special train and automobile and the contest between his horse, "Laughing Water," and "Lord Baltimore," owned by C. W. Watson, for the challenge cup for gig horses. The event was for a $1,000 cup, as well as a medal, and both men had their hearts on victory.

Mr. Harriman found at noon on Wednesday that an important business engagement kept him in New York until too late to catch a regular train. It was one of the rules of the contest that the owner must drive his horse. Mr. Harriman chartered a special train and went from New York to Baltimore in record time. At the railroad station in Baltimore he was met by a speedy automobile. He reached the show grounds, out in Baltimore county just twenty minutes before it was time for his horse to go on the tankbark. He drove his beautiful brown mare, "Laughing Water," but "Lord Baltimore" was in better form and won the blue ribbon.

WERE THEY CUT OR DID SOMEONE THROW ACID?

TALE OF THE CONCESSIONAIRE WHO WANTED A REVOLVER PERMIT.

One of the concessionaires at the Carnival came into police headquarters this morning with a serious expression and a bundle.

"Chief," he said, "I want protection for my wife. Somebody is seeking to harm her. Last night, on the ground, acid was thrown on her clothes. Look here—"

He unrolled the bundle and disclosed a silk shirtwaist, spangled, and a skirt, plain and undecorated. The skirt had little slits in it, and the waist had two small holes. The slits were surrounded by stains, the holes were not.

"Look at those holes," said the concessionaire.

The chief looked closely. "Cut," he said briefly.

"What about those stains?" asked the concessionaire, holding up the skirt. He looked hurt for some reason.

The chief looked. "Ink," he said. The concessionaire sighed.

"How could anybody cut those holes?" he protested. "Say, chief, I want a permit for my wife to carry a revolver."

"What for—to shoot somebody?"

"That's what. My wife's got an enemy."

"We'll look out for the enemy," said the chief soothingly. "My men carry all the revolvers needed around here."

The concessionaire looked hurt again. And with another sigh, he wrapped up the waist, spangled, and the skirt, plain and unfrilled, and went away.

May Re-open Mountain Inn.

There is a possibility that Mountain Park Inn, where Dr. Groszmann's school of atypical children has been located for two years, will be re-opened as a summer resort. A friend of Charles Vail, of Valley Center, said yesterday that he was figuring on the proposition. Nothing definite can be said in regard to the matter yet, but developments, it is said, are to be looked for soon.

MR. HALL CONSIDERING

Surprised to Learn That Friends Mention Him For Mayoralty.

SURVEYING SITUATION

Not Ready to Talk Yet, He Says, and Matter Is Too Serious To Discuss Offhand.

Henry L. Hall, of Netherwood, is thinking about the mayoralty boom sprung by some of his friends yesterday. Thinking, but not speaking.

A Daily Press reporter tried to get Mr. Hall to speak of it last night, but he smiled a negative. He admitted that he was thinking about it, but he would not talk of it.

"Not at this time," he said, deprecatingly. "The thing has come out of a clear sky for me, and I want to see what is in it before I begin talking. It is too serious a matter to dismiss flippantly, and I have no knowledge of what it all really means on which to base a formal statement. The use of my name is a complete surprise to me. I have never been spoken to by any of my friends, and I hadn't even the remodest idea that such an idea was in any one's head."

The reporter saw Mr. Hall at the carnival. While they were talking Mayor Buckle and Chief Kiely approached. Both greeted Mr. Hall with wide smiles.

"How are you, Mr. Mayor," said the chief, laughing.

Mr. Hall smiled in answer.

"I see your handsome face in the Press tonight," said the Mayor jovially.

"You don't seem to be jealous, Mayor," observed a bystander.

"There is none of that in my composition," said the Mayor.

"No, I don't believe there is," said Mr. Hall with sudden seriousness, and he nodded cordially at the Mayor as he and the chief went on up the grounds.

A FAREWELL RECEPTION.

Enjoyable Affair Given in Honor of Robert Hendry, of Scotland.

In honor of his intending return to Scotland after a three months' local visit, Robert Hendry, brother of Thomas and Nathaniel Hendry, of the West End, was given a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, of Essex street, last night. Thirty-five friends were in attendance and a most enjoyable time was had. Vocal and instrumental music were feature and a supper was served in conclusion.

During the evening, Mr. Hendry was presented by David Bowden with a silver-mounted walking stick, the gift of friends, and Donald McInnes made a second presentation of a handsome pictorial book of New York and Plainfield scenes. In both instances Mr. Hendry made a fitting response. During his stay in Plainfield, he became widely acquainted and he goes back home leaving many warm friends.

Probation Officer Not Here.

Capt. Irwin, the probation officer who comes up from Elizabeth every Saturday to look over the naughty small boys at police headquarters, was unable to keep his appointment with the small probationers this morning. The usual batch was on hand, and Chief Kiely heard their reports. David Friedman, the worst of the lot, had a new black mark registered against him. He cut a hole in one of the tents at the Carnival this week. Capt. Irwin will have something to say to David next Saturday.

Women Plan for Memorial Day.

The Women's Relief Corps met last night and discussed plans for its part in the Memorial Day celebration. The women, as usual, has arranged to have a chorus of children at Reform Hall to sing patriotic songs, and they will also make bouquets of flowers to be used for decorating the graves of dead soldiers. After the public exercises in Reform Hall Memorial Day afternoon the women will entertain the children in the basement of the hall.

Local Bar Association.

Plainfield lawyers are seriously considering the formation of a local bar association in that city in order that a law library and other professional facilities may be established nearer their offices than is now the case. The headquarters of the county bar association are in Elizabeth, too far, the Plainfielders say, to benefit others than the lawyers of the county seat.—Union County Standard.

The destinies of the Barnum & Bailey circus are hereafter to be guided by three men. The late James A. Bailey's place as managing director has been filled by George O. Starr, one of the best known showmen in the world who has been connected with the Barnum forces for many years. Charles R. Hutchinson and Fred B. Hutchinson, nephews of the late Mr. Bailey, are to be associate director and ricetor and genereal treasurer respectively. Mr. Starr is the originator of "The Dip of Death" and similar spectatcles and first suggested taking the Barnum & Bailey show to Europe, and undertaking that proved a triumph.

Reginald DeKoven, the composer of the new romantic light opera "The Student King," entered a New York cafe one afternoon and ordered his luncheon, when he noticed that the waiter was lingering as if to say something.

"Well, what is it?" asked the composer, looking up from his paper.

"Beg pardon, sir," said the garcon, "but do you remember me?"

"Can't say that I do."

"Well, sir, I used to sing in one of your companies."

"Oh, yes," responded DeKoven, after a survey of the waiter's countenance. "I remember you now. You had a part in 'Foxy Quiller.'"

"Yes, sir. I suppose, sir, you're surprised to see me now as a waiter."

"Not at all," replied DeKoven; "I heard you sing."

Mr. Clint G. Ford who has been identified with the very foremost dramatic attractions, including Gillet's "Secret Service Co.," "David Harum," "The Clansman," etc., has this to say of Newbro's Herpicide:

"For years I was annoyed with dandruff and itching of the scalp, all due to my twenty years of theatrical life with its incumbent "make-up" and wig wearing. At times the itching of the scalp was intense. All remedies failed me until I tried Herpicide, and I soon found that it was giving wonderful results. The itching and also the dandruff entirely ceased and my hair resumed its natural life and vigor.

There is no question in my mind about the reality of the dandruff germ, and I unhesitatingly recommend Herpicide to my friends in the profession."

(Signed) CLINT G. FORD.

THEATRICAL FOLK
USE AND RECOMMEND

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Extravagant claims for toilet remedies do not influence theatrical people, because long experience enables them to discriminate intelligently. They demand merit and will rarely use a preparation that is not actually worth as much or more than it costs in dollars and cents

Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and by actual test does more good than all other hair remedies combined. This accounts for its popularity in theatrical circles.

"Queen Roselle" writes of Newbro's Herpicide

"I take pleasure in announcing the very satisfactory results I have had from the use of Newbro's Herpicide. My hair was falling out so rapidly that I was afraid I would lose it all. A friend advised Herpicide, and after using it faithfully my hair stopped falling out, the dandruff disappeared and my hair is now very soft and glossy.

"I would like to see every lady of the profession try Herpicide, for I am confident that they would be delighted with it."

(Signed) QUEEN ROSELLE.

"In sheer delight the housewife smiles,
Her brushes weep and wail the while.
For they are now dethroned and old,

THE LAST VESTIGE

The blacking brush must now go the way of all old fashioned household utensils. It is a breeder of microbes, and consequently in well regulated households should become a thing of the past. The gas range makes this possible, for it needs no blacking. A soft, oiled cloth keeps it in good condition. Order a range to-day. Prices $9.50 to $15.00. $2.00 down; $2.00 a month. CONFIRMED PROOF.

Residents of Plainfield Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Plainfield, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Plainfield kidney sufferers.

S. C. Conklin, of 134 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I was suffering from aches and pains in my side, back and hips. My kidneys did not work as they should, and as far as I could learn from physicians I was in very bad shape with my kidneys and bladder. I was casting about for a cure but nothing I did helped me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at L. W. Randolph's pharmacy. I took three boxes and they cured me. I gave a statement at that time telling what this remedy did for me and I am glad to repeat the praise I gave Doan's Kidney Pills at that time."

Black Court Mourning.

Journalism has been defined as an "intelligent anticipation of events;" illustrated journalism must take care lest it merits the definition of an "intelligent imagination of what might have been put was not." We were thrilled lately by an admirable picture of the Emperor Menelik mourning by the bier of his faithful servant Ras Makonnen. From a correspondent of the Standard we learn that Ras Makonnen died at a village one day's march from Harrar, when on a journey to visit the Emperor. That he died about 4 in the morning and was buried apparently within two hours. There is a serious discrepancy to be cleared up between the mere writer and the artist.—London Globe.

Three good men have been mentioned for the mayoralty and any one of them would make an excellent choice. The three are Leslie M. Daniel, Henry L. Hall and George P. Mellick. There is hardly any doubt that any of them could not be prevailed upon to become a candidate provided he is given assurance that the nomination was regularly tendered on behalf of the Republican party.

The Daily Press would like to have the co-operation of the Jr. O. U. A. M. in the effort to have Old Glory wave again from the city pole at the head of Park avenue. There was never any good reason for taking it down, for had any part of it become defective repairs could have been made at a small cost. The Jr. O. U. A. M. can certainly do effective work in convincing the city fathers that the Stars and Stripes should be restored at the mast-head of the city pole.

RE-ENGAGE PRINCIPAL WHOM THEY DISMISSED.

Members of the Bernardsville Board of Education Reconsider the Action They Had Taken.

Bernardsville, May 26.—At an adjourned meeting of the Board of Education last night, John J. Foley, a local member of that body, moved for a reconsideration of the board's action in connection with the dismissal of James T. Schock, principal of the Bernardsville public school. This was carried and the board immediately and unanimously voted to re-engage the professor for another year at a salary of $1,500 a year.

Resolutions adopted at recent mass-meetings of the men and women, together with petitions by practically everybody in this section, including a petition containing the names of all the High School members, were presented to the board and by it ordered to be placed on file. The action of the board in reinstating Professor Schock brought forth loud and prolonged applause from those in attendance.

The president of the board, John T. Reeve, appointed a committee of three to wait upon Professor Schock to request that he appear. When he did so, a few minutes later, he was greeted with an ovation that lasted several minutes. He made a few remarks and the meeting adjourned.

Sees Hope for Democracy.

The extraordinary activity of the Colby faction in organizing county leagues throughout the State for the avowed purpose of defeating the old Republican ringsters gives promise that something will soon shake political circles and causes outside observers to wonder that straight Democrats have not already lined up to fight for the principles which experience gives them faith to believe are true and must prevail. Times at last makes all things even, events now indicate a bad breaking up of the G. O. P. and the forthcoming return to power of the Democratic party, whereof Hons. William J. Keys, Samuel S. Childs and others in Somerset are worthy leaders, all of whom have the confidence and support of the State Centre-Record. —Bound Brook State-Centre Record.

Elizabeth Woman Accuses Another.

Elizabeth, May 26.—A warrant was issued yesterday by Police Justice Mahon for the arrest of Catherine Skanah, who is accused by Mary Workabeck, of Bayway, of obtaining $50 from her under false pretenses by selling a small building to which, it is alleged, Mrs. Skanah had no claim. There will be a hearing in the case in police court.

GOV. STOKES BELIEVER IN WORTH OF PUBLICITY.

Vetoes Bill That Provides for Curtailment of Criticism of Public Officials.

Trenton, May 26.—Gov. Stokes vetoed yesterday Senator Minturn's bill which required that the name and address of the author and printer must appear at the foot of any circular, handbill, booklet or poster which contains a charge of official misconduct, &c., under penalty of a fine of $500 or imprisonment for six months. In his veto the Governor says:

"This bill is vetoed because its language is too broad for the object contemplated. 'Malfeasance in office and official misconduct' are proper subjects for criticism in public officials or candidates for office. Such criticism should be permitted without involving the printer, and in most cases the author thereof.

"Under such a law the letters of Junius and similar contributions to literature would have been and would be impossible. I would sign an act that limited the prohibition to charges which under the laws of the State would, if untrue, subject the writer to civil suit or criminal presecution for libel."

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The entertainment consisting of recitations, plays and music rendered last night in Washington Hall by local and outside talent was highly pleasing to a large audience. Much credit is due to all concerned for the pleasure afforded.

It is considered that it is about time that some fines were gathered in from the speedy automobilists who pass through our streets every day, regardless of the safety of others who may have some rights on the streets.

A committee appointed by the local camp of P. O. S. of A. will decorate the graves of soldiers on Decoration Day, some of whom were laid to rest in the South Plainfield cemetery and others at Plainfield.

Many of our citizens who are grateful for the professional services of Dr. W. J. Nelson shared in congratulatory expressions to the doctor and Mrs. Nelson on their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Regular services will be held at the Baptist church tomorrow, preaching by a stranger from Orange county, N. Y.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD BAPTISTS' ENTERTAINMENT

GOOD PROGRAMME PRESENTED BY PEOPLE OF THAT VILLAGE.

An entertainment for the benefit of the South Plainfield Baptist church was given in Washington Hall, that place, last night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, of which Mrs. Peter Johnson is the president. The attendance was large and the entertainment a success. A piano and banjo duett by Miss Clara Heaten, of Newark, and John Linaberry, opened the programme, followed with an umbrella drill by a number of children, trained by Miss Mildred Johnson. After a selection by the male quartette from the Plainfield High School, a short play was presented entitled "Thirty Minues for Refreshments." The characters:

"Downley P. Smith," colored servant, Monroe Pyatt; "Old Maid," Miss Florence Johnson; "Mrs. Foxton," Miss Clara Heaton; "Mr. Foxton," John Linaberry; "Waiting Maid," Miss Mildred Johnson; "Major Pepper," Leroy Clawson.

Miss Gladys Thorn sang "Life of a Doll," and Miss Mildred Johnson recited "Leap Year Mishaps," and the male quartette sang another selection. The programme concluded with a short play entitled "Jumbo Jum." These were the characters: "Mr. Gobbleten,' Phil. Smith; "Mrs. Gobbleten," Miss Clara Heaten; "Hannah," Miss Mildred Johnson; "Adelaide," Miss Florence Johnson; "Henry Merrill," John Linaberry; "Lawyer Cheatem," Leroy Clawson; "Jumbo Jum," Monroe Pyatt; laborers, Robert Horn, Jr., Earl Darlington and Raymond Payne.

—Fred L. H. Sims, managing director for the Siche Gas Company, (limited) of Toronto, Canada, is in Plainfield looking over the local business of the company.

ELIZABETH INTERESTED IN MUNICIPAL FIGHTING

EXPERTS WILL REPORT ON THE MATTER AT NEXT COUNCIL MEETING.

Elizabeth, May 26.—City Council, at its next meeting will hear the report of the experts, employed by the city to inquire into the practicability of maintaining and operating a municipally owned electric lighting plant here. The cost, according to the report of T. P. Runyon, representing the firm of consulting engineers, Runyon & Carey, will be $165,250. It will cost $25,484 a year for operating expenses. Such a plant, according to Mr. Runyon, can be made to pay the city considerably. Elizabeth now pays $36,000 a year for street lighting.

The Public Service Corporation has heretofore been supplying this city with electric light and power from the power-house of the United Electric Company. Its contract will expire on September 1. Last fall Councilman Edward Nugent, representing the Eighth ward, offered a resolution in city council, which was adopted, asking that the city counsel, James C. Connolly, draft a bill for presentation to the State Legislature which would enable this city to construct a municipal electric lighting plant. The bill was prepared and handed to Assemblyman Edward K. Tucker, a Colby man, for presentation. The bill passed the House, but through some unknown influences which were brought to bear upon it, together with several other similar bills, it was last on the last day of the Senate's session, and the bill was never passed in that branch of the Legislature, and the city is still without power to act on this matter. Assemblyman Tucker is at a loss to understand why his bill was never passed in the Senate, and he intends making this fact a prominent feature of his campaign in Union county this fall. The Colby followers in this city are preparing to take the matter up, and it is probable that this fight will be brought prominently to the front this year in the Colby campaign.

Not to be brooked by machine politicians, Councilman Nugent preceeded with his preparations for the establishment of a public lighting plant, and, when the Public Service Corporation heard of his having employed expert testimony, the price of electric lighting and power was suddenly dropped in this city with a vague promise that there would be further reductions.

The report says, in part:

"The plant for which we are furnishing an estimate is capable of supplying current for street lighting and for public building lighting purposes, and is not such a plant as we would advise installing if it were intended to embark at once in the commercial field.

"The estimate includes underground construction on Broad street from Grove street to Newark avenue, and thence on Newark avenue to North avenue, and also on Elizabeth avenue from the power-house to Broad street.

"The cost of operation is made up of the following items, interest on investment, depreciation of plant, taxes, maintenance of plant. The first amounts to $6,610; the second, or depreciation of plant, or about $7,900, or at a rate of 4.63; third, or taxes, at $2.91, the rate for the last ten years, according to the report, $924; cost of labor, $8,000; coal, waste, oil, etc., for 500 lights, $5,460; repairs, $300 per year; for power-house items and $1,000 annually for aerial systems, supplies, per 500 arc lights, $1,375; and superintendence, about $750 per year. The fixed charges would therefore amount to $25,484, or a cost of $62.-79 per lamp, with 500 of them in service. The city pays about $36,000 a year for street lighting."

The committe which now has the matter in hand is the joint committee on finance and street lighting composed of John S. Sauer, chairman; John K. English, Edward Nugent, James Walker, William P. Mackenzie and Owen Farrelly.

Exchange "Antis" Ticket.

At a caucus yesterday afternoon of members of the Produce Exchange, those present being friends of the administration, the following opposition ticket, which supercedes the one made up on Monday, was nominated: For president, Ernest Pfarrius; vice president, C. A. King; treasurer, E. C. Rice; trustee of guarantee fund, E. G. Burgess; members of board of managers, James Barber, William Knight, W. H. Smith, C. C. Rubins, A. J. Toomey and S. L. Finley. Grenville Perrin, the present president, was named for that office on the opposition ticket on Monday, and D. D. Allerton for vice president. Both declined their nominations, and Messrs. Pfarrius and King have been chosen in their places. Mr. Rice, named yesterday for treasurer, was the nominee for that office on the original opposition ticket. The only change in the list of S. L. Finley for John Gledhill. There have been no alterations in the "regular," or "reform," ticket, headed by ex-Congressman Douglas as the candidate for president. The annual election will be held on June 4.

A Daring Horsewoman.

One of the most thrilling and fascinating scenes ever witnessed on an American stage, the plunging horses in Thompson & Dundy's Hippodrome, charmed a party of Plainfielders yesterday afternoon. Leading a band of gypsies, Miss Adele von Ohl, of this city, one of the most daring young horsewomen in the world, plunges into an immense tank of water, the others following in quick succession. Miss von Ohl is the only woman in the band and her nervy act makes the big house resound with plaudits. After the show, Miss von Ohl visited the box occupied by the Plainfielders and received deserving praise for her performance.

STATE'S PROGRESS IN SEVENTY-TWO YEARS

PRESENT JERSEY COMPARED WITH THAT WHEN VROOM WAS GOVERNOR.

J. M. Herbert, of Mercer county, has an interesting historical relic. It is a copy of the message of Governor Peter D. Vroom to the Legislature, and is dated "Trenton, October 29, 1834." It presents facts which, when compared with present-day conditions in New Jersey, show in a graphic way the progress made by the State in 72 years. The document contains eight pages, and is yellow with age. The last message of Governor Stokes contained 44 pages.

It is addressed: "To the legislative council and general assembly of the State of New Jersey." The opening paragraph refers to the "favor of a benignant Providence," and closes with the reference: "Except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain." Governor Vroom said then: "I laying before you an exposition of the affairs o fthe State, as it is my duty to do, I have nothing very special or interesting to communicate."

There is a reference to the agreement or treaty entered into by this State and New York, and which the message says was then in force. "It is a matter of congratulation," continues Governor Vroom, "that his delicate controversy has, at length, been honorably and advantageously adjusted."

The present State prison was then nearly completion. In view of the present opinion that the structure is years behind the times and the old portions almost uninhabitable, it is interesting to note that Governor Vroom referred to it in the following language: "I doubt not that our prison will be the most perfect in design and execution in the United States." Then the number of prisoners was 114. Yesterday the prisoners confined there numbered 1,233, besides 400 in the Rahway reformatory. Governor Vroom reported that the prison for the previous year came within $51.68 of paying the entire cost of its maintenance, including the cost of the transportation of the prisoners.

The balance in the State treasury was reported to be $4,906.25. Governor Stokes, in his message to the last Legislature, reported that the balance in the treasury was $2,858,-398.13.

Governor Vroom said the amount of the school fund was $230,881.64. Then he said: "This fund must increase very slowly under existing circumstances. It requires nearly all its interest, to be added to the tax on banks, to make up the sum of $20,-000, appropriated and paid annually in support of common schools." State Comptroller Morgan in his report for 1905 showed that the school fund amounted to $4,436,430.12. The amount the State will this year appropriate for the support of the schools will be $1,110,419.85.

The message gave the public school system a tremendous rap. Governor Vroom said: "As to our common schools. In the aggregate they are confessedly inferior to those of some of our sister states. The branches taught are the most ordinary; the mere elements of information, and they are often taught very defectively. There is no uniformity in the mode or system of instruction, nor is there even an approximation to it. Many of the our teachers are not well qualified in point of intelligence, and some, it is feared, are not well fitted to form the morals of our youth. They are not well compensated, and the business of teaching in our common schools is far from being as respectable in public estimation as it should be."

This sounds strange today when the schools of New Jersey rank among the best in the land; when the graduates of the Normal school are in great demand everywhere; and when the State school exhibit at St. Louis was awarded numerous gold medals.

His Publishers.

The great foreign novelist and his wife had been three or four days in this country. Already they were wearing smoked glasses to rest their eyes while reading the scarlet headlines over their goings-out and comings-in.

"This is outrageous!" exclaimed the wife of the great foreign novelist as she crushed the newspaper in her hand and hurled it across the room.

"To what does m'dam refer?" asked her husband.

"Why, it is of the m'sieur le publisher. Was he not to have had it in the papers of America within three days that I am not my husband's wife? It would of our next book sell many thousands. But see; here comes the next of editions. I have not doubt it is printed in this."

And she hurried away to intercept the newsboy and learn if their tardy publisher had redeemed himself—Judge.

LITERARY NOTES.

Scribner's Magazine for June opens with a plea for "The Larger Training of the American Army," by Capt. T. Bentley Mott, U. S. A., who was for six years military attache at Paris, and had during that time every opportunity to observe the armies of England, France, Germany and Russia. Captain Mott shows that our army is scattered through more than one hundred small posts, and that no officer has an opportunity to command more than a regiment of men. Captain Mott advocates the establishing of large concentration posts, after the manner of Aldershot, where 30,000 men are all the time under training. The article is in line with recent recommendations of the President. A charming nature article by Frank M. Chapman, the well-known ornithologist, gives his impressions of "English Bird Life," with pictures from his own photographs. More of E. S. Curtis' wonderful collection of Indian photographs, which he has been six years in taking, are given in an article by him on "The Tribes of the Northwest Plains." These are thenomad tribes, the Indians who lived on the chase, and whose wealth and prosperity came entirely from the herds of buffalo. Mr. Curtis presents a striking portrait of Red Cloud, ninety years of age, blind and decepit.

The crusade of the magazines against national and individual crookedness, and what it has really accomplished, are summed up concisely by Samuel Merwin in Success Magazine for une. The magazines, he says, in response to letters of appeal from their readers, have gone after the facts to aid the plain citizen to see his duty as a voter. In their victories for municipal and corporate decency, Folk in Missouri, Weaver in Philadelphia and Hughes in New York have had as their active allies and supporters the live magazines of the country. Certain of the reactionaries, seeing the filth, would let it lie. It has been the policy of the magazines to rake up the muck and throw it out. A leading article in the June Success Magazine is "The Tillmann of the Armchair," by W. A. Lewis, a trenchant summing up of Senator Tillman. Mr. Tillman has come to the front amazingly in the past few months, and this character sketch is a strong and faithful portrait of this rugged intellectual giant. In "The Human Side of Business" Arthur Warren sketches in entertaining guise the peculiar conditions surrounding the conduct of a great corporation, and emphasizes the demand for the organizing talent, which is so rare in business men. A description of the more intimate side of the character of Miss Ethel Barrymore is given by Gertrude Vivian, in her story of an interview with that charming actress.

How did it feel to live through the San Francisco earthquake and fire? —to watch men die, and buildings shrivel in the flames? James Hopper, the brilliant short-story writer, tells the story in the June Everybody's. You should read it. It is the one sensitively realized, accurately truthful, powerfully phrased description of the great catastrophe that has been published. It is the human side of the disaster that Mr. Hopper tells, and he tells it at first hand. His story will live in literature. Everybody's also publishes the latest pictures of the destroyed city, sketched a few days before the earthquake by Vernon Howe Bailey, whose series of drawings of American cities have aroused so much admiration. Bucket-shops are one of our greatest national evils. Merrill A. Teague, who has made a special personal investigation of this matter, begins in this number a series of stirring revelations under the heading "Bucket-shops Sharks." Thousands of honest, hard-working men are yearly preyed upon, robbed of their earnings, plunged into tragedy.

Caluclating Man.

"In don't like young Dr. Oprates," remarked the timid young thing.

"No? And why?"

"The other evening he called, and by and by he squeezed my hand and said something sentimental, and just as I was trying to look demure and to blush I discovered that he had his finger on my pulse to see whether or not I was really affected by his attentions."—Judge.

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"And what's his number?"

"Gee, I forgot; I can tell you, though. You go down Broadway to that old church—say, Uncle Peter, there's folks in that buryin' ground been dead over 200 years, if you can go by their gravestones. Gee! I didn't s'pose anybody'd been dead that long—then you turn down the gulch right opposite, until you come to the Vandevere building, a few rods down on the left. Shepler's there. Git into the bucket and go up to the second level, and you'll find him in the left-hand back stope—his name's on the door in gold letters."

"All right. And look here, Billy, keep your head shut about all I said last night about anything. Don't you ever let on to a soul that I ain't stuck on this place and its people—no matter what I do."

"Sure not! What are you going to do, Uncle Peter?"

The old man's jaws were set for some seconds in a way to make Billy Brue suspect he might be suffering from cramp. It seemed, however, that he had merely been thinking intently. Presently he said:

"I'm goin' to raise hell, Billy."

"Sure!" said Mr. Brue—approvingly on general principles. "Sure! Why not?"

CHAPTER XXI.

UNCLE PETER INSPIRES HIS GRANDSON TO WORTHY AMBITION.

On three successive days the old man held lengthy interviews with Shepler in the latter's private office. At the close of the third day's interview Shepler sent for Relpin, of the brokerage firm of Relpin & Hendricks. A few days after this Uncle Peter said to Percival one morning:

"I want to have a talk with you, son."

"All right, Uncle Peter," was the cheerful answer. He suspected the old man might at last be going to preach a bit, since for a week past he had been rather less expansive. He resolved to listen with good grace to any homilies that might issue. He took his suspicion to be confirmed when Uncle Peter began:

HE BEGAN TO WORK.

"You folks been cuttin' a pretty wide swath here in New York."

"That's so, Uncle Peter—wider than we could have cut in Montana City."

"Been spendin' money purty free for a year."

"Yes; you need money here."

"I reckon you can't say about how much, now?"

"Oh, I shouldn't wonder," Percival answered, going over to the escritoire and taking out some folded sheets and several check books. "Of course, I haven't it all here, but I have the bulk of it. Let me figure a little."

He began to work with a pencil on a sheet of paper. He was busy almost half an hour, while Uncle Peter smoked in silence.

"It struck me the other night we might have been getting a little near to the limit, so I figured a bit then, too, and I guess this will give you some idea of it. Of course this isn't all mine; it includes ma's and Psyche's. Sis has been a mark for every bridge player between the Battery and the Bronx, and the way ma has been plunging on her indigent poor is a caution—she certainly does hold the large golden medal for amateur cross-country philanthropy. Now here's a rough expense account—of course only approximate, except some of the items I happened to have." Uncle Peter took the statement and studied it carefully.

Paid Hightower Hotel	$42,983 75
Keep of horses, and extra horse and carriage hire	5,628 50
Chartering steam yacht Viluca three months	24,000 00
Expenses running yacht	46,850 28
W. U. Telegraph Company	32 65
Incidentals	882,763 90
Total	$1,002,259 08

His sharp old eyes ran up and down the column of figures. Something among the items seemed to annoy him.

"Looking at those 'incidentals?' I took those from the check books. They are pretty heavy."

"It's an outrage!" exclaimed the old man, indignantly, "that there $32.50 to the telegraph company. How's it come you didn't have a Western Union frank this year? I s'posed you had one. They sent me mine."

"Oh, well, they didn't send me one, and I didn't bother to ask for it," the young man answered in a tone of relief. "Of course the expenses have been pretty heavy, coming here strangers as we did. Now, another year—"

"Oh, that ain't anything. Of course you got to spend money. I see one of them high-toned gents that died the other day said a gentleman couldn't possibly get along on less'n $2,000 a day and expenses. I'm glad to see you ain't cut under the limit none—you got right into his class jest like you'd always lived here, didn't you? But, now, I been kind of lookin' over the ground since I come here, and it's struck me you ain't been gettin' enough for your money. You've spent free, but the goods ain't been delivered. I'm talkin' about yourself. Both your ma and Pishy has got more out of it than you have. Why, your ma gets her name in the papers as a philanthropist along with that—how do the papers call her?—'the well-known club woman'—that Mrs. Helen Wyot Lamson that always has her name spelled out in full? Your ma is getting public recognition fur her money, and look at Pishy. What's she gone and done while you been laxin' about? Why, she's got engaged to a lord, or just as good. Look at the prospects she's got! She'll enter the aristocracy of England and have a title. But look at you! Really, son, I'm ashamed of you. People over there'll be sayin' 'Lady What-s-her-name? Oh, yes! She has got a brother, but he don't amount to shucks—he ain't much more'n a three-spot. He can't do anything but play bank and drink like a fish. He's throwed away his opportunities'—that's what them dukes and counts will be sayin' about you behind your back."

"Well, of course, he wouldn't be much in Montana City, but he's all right in his place, and he seems to be healthy. What knocks me is how he ever got all them freckles. He never come by 'em honestly, I bet. He must 'a' got caught in an explosion of freckles some time. But that ain't neither here nor there. He has the goods and Pish'll get 'em delivered. She's got something to show fur her dust. But what you got to show? Not a blamed thing but a lot of stubs in a check book, and a little fat. Now I ain't makin' any kick. I got no right to; but I do hate to see you leadin' this life of idleness and dissipation when you might be makin' something of yourself. Your pa was quite a man. He left his mark out there in that western country. Now you're here settled in the east among big people, with a barrel of money and fine chances to do something, and you're jest layin' down on the family name. You wouldn't think near so much of your pa if he'd laid down before his time and your own children will always have to say: 'Poor pa—he had a good heart, but he never could amount to anything more'n a three-spot; he didn't have any stuff in him,' they'll be sayin'. Now, on the level, you don't want to go through life bein' just known as a good thing and easy money, do you?"

"Why, of course not, Uncle Peter; only I had to look around some at first—for a year or so."

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

PASSING OF PRINCETON'S FAMOUS LANDMARK.

New Owners to Take Possession of Old Nassau Hotel July 1—Price Paid Was $155,000.

Princeton, May 26.—The biggest real estate deal ever consummated at Princeton was closed Saturday night, when the old historic Nassau hotel was purchased by H. C. Bunn, Princetons curator. The price paid was $155,000. Bunn represents a number of graduates and New York business men. A. D. Cook, the proprietor, will close the house June 14, immediately after commencement, and a stock company will take possession July 1. The present purpose, it is believed, is to conduct one-half as a hotel and the other as a dormitory.

The Nassau hotel has had an interesting history. It was first established about 1800, and was named after Nassau college, the old name of Princeton university. It is located on Nassau street, directly opposite the college campus, and has always been a favorite hostelry with the students and graduates of the university, as well as with the visitors to town.

Numerous changes in proprietors and management has occurred during the many years of its existence, and from a comparatively insignificant structure it has grown to a large and well-equipped hotel. The property has a frontage on Nassau street of 88 feet and is 200 feet in depth, and the building is 88 by 100, three stories high and built of brick. A. D. Cook has owned an interest in the property since the early seventies, and took active management in 1881.

There is much speculation as to what steps will be taken by the university or others to provide hotel accommodations for the 1,000 visitors who periodically flood the town. It is rumored that Princeton inn will be much enlarged, and another rumor is that a large new hotel is projected. It is certain that some measure will be necessary before the next college year begins.

The old hotel has provided for many famous and distinguished people. An interesting feature of the old house is the grill room, where Princeton students have congregated for generations to quench their thirsts in spring and make merry in the long winter evenings.

About the walls are nailed numerous table tops carved with the initials of hundreds of students, many athletic heros and many men whose names are today great in the country's honor rolls. There also are carved the names of long-forgotten clubs and the series of 100 victories on football and baseball fields, and on the running track. The loss of this meeting place will be great to the undergraduates and to the many old graduates who come back as visitors and look for the old landmarks.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

John Philip Sousa's new military comic opera, "The Free Lance," is making an immense hit at the New Amsterdam theatre. Klaw & Erlanger are responsible for the production, elaborately staged with beautiful scenery and costumes, and Harry B. Smith, the well known librettist, stands sponsor for the book and lyrics. The verdict of the critics in Springfield, Hartford and Philadelphia is that Mr. Sousa has never composed more brilliant and catchy music. Mr. Smith has never written a more comic story and Klaw & Erlanger have never made a more artistic production. A notable feature is made of a male chorus of 50 voices which greatly aids in the rendering of Mr. Sousa's spirited martial music, especially his new march number, "On to Victory," the finale of the first act. This is considered a worthy successor to "The Washington Post" march and "The Stars and Stripes Forever." "The Free Lance" is a genuine comic opera. It is staged in two acts. The locale of the first act is the court of the Emperor of Braggadocia, who is devoted to art and is a bankrupt. He is so aesthetic that even his army is composed of Amazons. To replenish his coffers he plans a marriage between his daughter, Princess Yolande, and Prince Florian, the son of the Duke of Graftiana. The Duke, who also is bankrupt, hopes, through this union, to refill his purse. The Princess and Prince, who have never met, fly to escape marriage, and both Emperor and Duke, in desperation, compel Siegmund Lump, a goatherd, and Griselda, a goosegirl, to become substitutes, each thinking to deceive the other. Siegmund and Griselda are really husband and wife. Siegmund is a descendant of Samson and has been leader of a band of brigands. He has lost his hair and with his strength and bravery and his band has deserted him. Both Emperor and Duke discover that each is bankrupt and war is declared. Siegmund becomes general of the army of Graftiana and Griselda the commander of the Amazons of Braggadocia.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. VanZandt, of Madison avenue, were recent visitors at East Millstone.

Miss Justina Smith, of Duer street, was one of the passengers injured in the trolley accident on West Fourth street, early in the week, but she did not give her name. Miss Smith received injuries to her back.

PLAINFIELD Y. M. C. A'S WINNING BASKETBALL TOSSERS

The Plainfield Y. M. C. A. basketball team has just closed one of the most successful seasons in its history under the management of Dr. W. Kempton Browning and Captain Harry Scull. It won fifteen out of the twenty games played, defeating the best teams in New Jersey and the Metropolitan district. It defeated Maxwell House two out of three games, Atlantic Boat Club two out of three, the Parthions, Twenty-six Ward New York, New Brunswick and Rahway.

The games lost were by very narrow margins. All but one, with Montclair, were lost on fouls. The last game with Orange was lost by three points, three fouls being called on the Plainfield five inside of two required twenty minutes over-play to decide the score. In the game with the Newark Y. M. C. A. it took the first half to get use to the floor. In the second half the Plainfielders doubled the score, and lost by two points.

The team was composed of Harry Scull, captain and centre; Ray Smith and Harry Thompson, forwards; Fred Leary and Fred Letson, guards; Edward Neal, Christopher Utzinger and "Ted" Gavett were substitutes. The team was very fortunate in having Charles B. Morse as referee.

A valuable addition to the team was a woman's auxiliary comprising Mrs. W. Kempton Browning, Mrs. Kenneth Robbie, Miss Margaret Cramer, Miss Helen Cora Barbour, Miss Wills and Mrs. Fred Letson who served refreshments after each game on the home court.

The prospects for next season are bright as the same team will represent the association. It is hoped to get even with Newark, Orange and Montclair for the defeats of this season. The season has also been one of the best financially in the history of the association, even though the expenses have been doubled by the class of teams brought here. Two exhibition games were played when a sufficient amount of money was made to purchase new Jerseys and sweaters for the team.

FOZZY'S BASEBALL CHAT

Phil. Smith's performance against the mighty Ray Egner, of the Trenton Stars, is worthy of attention and only goes to show that the youngster has got the real stuff that makes the right kind of a twirler. Before the game was completed the Trenton rooters proclaimed him to be Christy Mathewson the Second.

An excellent baseball menu is prepared and ready to serve up on Decoration Day. It will be a double-jointed bargain for two admissions, the initial performance being at 10:30 a. m. and the matinee at 3:45 p. m.

The opponents of the Plainfields will be the All Nationals, managed by Jack McGrath, the former Westfield player. Individually it is the strongest combination to face the locals so far this season. Each player on the team is a good 'un and several of them having faces familiar to all local fans.

The stellar attraction with the team of course is Hank Mathewson, brother of the renowned Christy Mathewson. The kid was taken south on the training trip of the New Yorks and was found to be not quite ripe for National League cross fire and decided to allow him to gain more experience by playing on McGrath's team during the week days. Mathewson will be assisted by Metcalf on the slab in one of the games.

As catcher for the team will be the only "Paddy" Cotter, of Westfield fame. He needs no introduction to a Plainfield baseball crowd and will be on hand with his foul-fly exterminating fluid, and a brand new green sweater.

Next in the batting order comes Courtney, of the Cedars, who covered third cushion for Plainfield three seasons ago when George Johnston was at the helm. Slugger McGoey, another former Plainfielder, now playing Sunday with the Manhattans, will be in left garden. This season he is hitting the ball harder than ever. He has heard of Phil. Smith and is anxious to size the curve phenomena from South Plainfield up.

Of much importance on the team will be George Mallen. He has recovered from his attack of Charley Horse and lame back and is once again playing fast and snappy ball. There is no need to say but that he will do his best to defeat Plainfield. Donahue, the Brooklyn cop, who appeared here last season with the All Nationals, will cover the initial bag. His last visit to town will be remembered by the fans who seen him play and heard him coach. He is just as funny as ever and will be heard from throughout the game. He is just as talkative as our esteemed friend Mr. Monroe, the slick culled artist.

Mack will cover short stop and Gorman, the hard hitting Newburgh player, will be in right field. Hoag, the fast infielder of the Ridgewoods, will cover second bag.

With this combination of fast players no better attraction can be secured for a holiday. Manager Daab is desirous of winning both games but he should be satisfied in breaking even.

Somerville fans are really tickled to death over the acquisition of Dave Driscoll. They have a perfect right to be as he is one of the best first basemen in the biz.

Nat Strong is beginning to find himself in a peck of trouble over the attempt of the Inter-State Baseball Association to freeze him out of the game. He should have been exiled years back.

Manager Nicholas declares that he is coming to town this afternoon with one object in view and that is to win the game. If he fails to land it he will be a much dissatisfied individual.

TENNIS.

The Twentieth Century Dramatic Club, colored, has completed its tennis courts at Plainfield avenue and West Fourth street.

This schedule has been issued by the tennis committee of the Park Club: Men's doubles, May 30; mixed doubles, July 4; team match at the Plainfield Country Club, July 28. For the men's singles, club championship, Henry A. McGee has offered a cup, and Edwin S. Hooley has offered cups for the women's singles, club championship and junior championship. The results will be decided by round robin play in each tournament, beginning June 1.

GOLF.

William West, '08, has been chosen captain of the Princeton 'Varsity golf team for next season.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the "pro" at the Plainfield Country Club, made the course in seventy this week. The young player is in great form and is sure to make a fine record this season.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

There will be a six round bout at the Marlborough Athletic Club, 332-334 West 44th street, New York, on Monday night, between Gus. Ruhlin and Sandy Ferguson. In addition there will be four other bouts, or twenty-six rounds of boxing. The affair is under the management of Bob Anderson.

After the Bass.

The bass season opened this week, and a number of local fishermen have gone after the plump beauties, with varying luck. "Spiel" Welsh, Clarence Thorn and Clarence Huff were the most fortunate of the lot. They landed twenty between them.

GREAT DAY AT CARNIVAL

Big Crowds and Business, Afternoon and Evening, Gladden Management.

JUNIORS DO GOOD WORK

On Hand Early and Busy From the Start—William Counihan Works a Brand New Game.

Attendance and receipts at the Carnival reached their highest figures Saturday. The matinee was as lively as any of the nights that preceded it and the evening was the biggest of the eight.

The attendance in teh afternoon was about 6,000. Women and children were in the majority, but men were not wanting in large numbers. The attractions were manned by volunteers. For the most part the workers were machinists, who saw that help was needed and promptly rendered it. They kept things moving in lively fashion and the committeemen at headquarters' tent spoke gratefully of them in the evening.

The night attendance was at least 8,000. The crowd came early and by nine o'clock the grounds were so full of people that walking without bumping into other strollers was almost impossible and all the tents were filled at that. Every show was going by 8 o'clock, and the increase in receipts was helped materially by the early start.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. had charge of the grounds at night, and they made glad the hearts of the management by the promptness with which they appeared on the scene, in readiness for work, and the way they stirred things up after starting in. Members of all the four councils, Benevolent, Somerset, Franklin and Plainfield, were on the attractions, and the members who did not work were on the grounds in force, with large slices of their salaries branded "M. H." to show where the money belonged.

The barkers and ticket sellers were: J. H. Lawler, J. M. Scull, William La Tourette, C. F. Windham, Frank Whitely, Theodore Lister, C. J. Newman, William Burtis, F. G. Welsh, G. W. Harvey, H. F. Miller, H. C. Runyon, A. D. Honeyman, John E. Naylor, Frank Platts, C. R. Staats, F. G. Wikoff, John Morton, William Carlyle Firstbrook, Cornelius Perrine, W. C. Walker, A. D. Thorn, C. F. Hulit, Arthur Dow, E. E. Nelson, Fred L. Soper, G. F. Watts, Roy Maurer, P. G. Hansen, A. G. Adams, H. G. Adams, S. J. Robinson, Wm. R. Van Sickle, Lester C. R. Dunham, George B. Cratsley, E. G. Wilson, David Rocefellow, Allen Franchand, Everett Eastham, Frank H. Pond, G. V. Drake and A. E. Maurer.

William Counihan, who has been hustling on the grounds since the carnival began with the resourcefulness of a Connecticut Yankee, to the glory and profit of the affair, sprung a new money-making wrinkle Saturday night. He picked up somewhere a trick lock that can only be opened by the insertion of a coin, and he ran up and down the grounds snapping it on buttonholes of friends and acquaintances and the friends of the friends, and all of them had to drop in coins for the benefit of the hospital to get rid of the decoration.

If the weather does not interfere, the great Carnival store will begin deliveries tonight. Big prizes have been drawn, it is said, and there is likely to be much regret among the faint-hearted who have not yet purchased a stamp at the Carnival Post Office.

Will Deliver Anniversary Address.

Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at the Greene Avenue Bautist church, of Brooklyn, on Sunday, June 7, the occasion being the May anniversary of all the Sunday-schools of Brooklyn.

CARNIVAL PARADE AN ANNUAL AFFAIR

TALK OF OFFERING PRIZES FOR MOST RIDICULOUS COSTUMES.

The decided "hit" made by the parade given in connection with the carnival has led to plans for holding one each year. Affairs of this kind are common in nearby cities, especially on holidays, and the readiness with which Plainfield merchants and others entered into the spirit of the occasion greatly encouraged Mr. Fisk, who originated plans for the procession. With suitable prizes as an incentive, efforts would be made to get all manner of rigs and costumes and the result would be an affair worth coming miles to see. Next year Mr. Fisk and his associates will start in early and the parade will be one of the biggest features of the carnival.

In the one that opened the carnival there were many handsomely decorated floats and not a few comical entries. One of the most striking of the latter was Edwin S. Hooley's rig, drawn by little "Teko," the Italian burro, and holding "Dutch" VanNest, an undersized driver. It attracted a great deal of attention and was awarded first prize by the judges. The Daily Press secured a snap-shot of it and produces it today to show those who missed seeing how comical it was. The pictures was taken as the parade was passing down Park avenue near Front street, the young man in front being Harry Noble, "Teko's" regular attendant.

VICTIM OF A ROOT DOCTOR BEFORE THE CITY JUDGE

TALE OF DARK PRACTICES TOLD BY HAROLD HILL IN COURT.

Harold Hill, colored, seventeen years old, was arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning, under a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by his wife, a colored girl of his own age.

Harold told the magistrate that the whole trouble grew out of the dark practices of a root doctor from Passaic. He says a gay Lothario who has been seeking to part him from his wife hired the cunjer man to come here and stir up the spirits against Harold. The cunjer man filled a bottle with potent roots and buried it under Harold's stoop, and Harold's hard luck became distressing. He got sick and his wife took to finding fault, and nobody but Harold himself can understand what he has passed through. Moved to desperation, he told the judge, he has hired a friend, who is something of a cunjer man, to get the bottle out. Harold himself wouldn't touch it for anything.

"Harold, are you a Southerner?" asked the judge.

"No, sir, I was born in Trenton."

"I thought only the Southern negroes believed in conjuring," said the judge.

"I didn't use to believe it," said Harold, "but I got to now. This here root doctor has been doin' things, sure. If he was to lay any more roots against me I'd just about die."

The magistrate thought Harold had suffered enough, and suspended sentence.

BITTEN BY A COPPERHEAD

In Handling Deadly Reptile John Ellingham All But Loses His Life.

NOW AT THE HOSPITAL

Promptness In Securing Whiskey Offset the Poison—Arm and Side Badly Swollen.

In exhibiting a large copper-head snake, which he had captured on the mountains, to several men in Brown & Hill's barber shop, Saturday night, John Ellingham, engineer at the Watchung Water Company's plant, was almost fatally bitten. Prompt action on his own part in drinking whiskey as an antidote and his quick removal to Muhlenberg Hospital is probably all that saved him, a sting from a reptile of this species generally causing death inside of twenty minutes when treatment is not to be had. Physicians have worked over him since his admittance and it was only today that he was placed out of danger.

Ellingham comes from the northern part of the State where snakes are plentiful and he has never looked upon them as things to be feared. Since entering the employ of the water company, whose plant is located on Mountain avenue, he has frequently captured different kinds of reptiles and played with them for the amusement of onlookers. While at the Carnival one night last week, he engaged in conversation with the young woman snake charmer at one of the attractions and she spoke of wanting some more "pets." She told Ellingham she would pay him well for any he caught and he set about getting some. He caught several of a harmless variety and sold them to her and Saturday he nabbed the copper-head, she having made an offer of $4 for a good specimen.

He placed it in a box and started for the Carnival but on the way dropped into Brown & Hill's. Patrons asked what he had in the box and when he told them it held a snake, they asked to see it. Ellingham pulled it out and was exhibiting the writhing thing by holding it just back of the head with one hand. He allowed his fingers to get too far down, giving the reptile more play then he realized, and it suddenly sank its fangs in the back of his hand. Without getting excited, he shifted his grasp to prevent it striking again and then placed it back in the box. Hurrying across the street to the Kensington bar, he called for whiskey and after swallowing a large quantity, went to Armstrong's pharmacy. The druggist did what he could to prevent the spread of the poison and from there Ellingham proceeded to Dr. Zeglio's office in a cab. The physician realized the man's danger and when he had given temporary treatment had him sent to the hospital.

By the time Ellingham reached the institution, the arm was badly swollen from the hand to the shoulder. The poison afterward crept down his side and the doctors had to work against the danger of its reaching his heart. Notwithstanding the pain he suffered and the gravity of his position, Ellingham clung to the snake and even had the box taken to the hospital with him.

He is forty years old and unmarried.

NEGRO WAIF'S MOTHER.

Nineteen-Year-Old Girl Abandoned the Black Baby at Hospital.

The police have discovered the mother of the colored infant found on the steps of Muhlenberg Hospital last week. She is Martha Harvey, 19 years old, a servant. Detective McCarthy arrested her yesterday afternoon in Fanwood.

Inquiries among the colored people disclosed the trail that led to the young woman. She asknowledges the child, and will be arraigned for a preliminary hearing, on a charge of abandonment, before Justice Mosher this afternoon.

The father of the child will be arrested if the police can locate him.

School Not To Be Inn.

Dr. Groszmann, head of the school for atypical children at Watchung Crest, said today that he knew absolutely nothing of any plan to reconvert the school into Mountain Park Inn during the summer. Dr. Groszmann is the owner of the property. Nothing had been said to him, and he had no intention of making the school into a hotel.

BOARD PICKS HILLERY

State Senate Leader Chosen to Speak at North Plainfield Commencement.

MR. COLBY DECLINED

Hillery, of Morris county, has accepted the invitation extended by the North Plainfield Board of Education to make the address at the commencement exercises of the Borough High Schools. The exercises will be held on Friday night, June 15, at the Y. M. C. A. Senator Hilliery, it will be remembered, was one of the speakers at the last Board of Trade banquet at the Casino. He was chairman of the Senate Commission which drafted the new tax law.

The Senator from Morris county immediately accepted the invitation, saying that it would afford him much pleasude to speak in this city. Mr. Hilliery is very active in State affairs.

COUNTY TAX BOARD GETS DOWN TO WORK.

Started in Today After Organizing On Saturday.

The Union County Tax Board being sworn in by Charles N. Codding, of Westfield, deputy clerk of the Supreme Court, organized on Saturday in the ante-room of the Board of Freeholders in the county court house, by electing Caleb C. Pollard president and Thomas C. Hanna, of this city, clerk. The salary of the clerk was fixed at $100 a month. The other members of the board are Frederic H. Andrews, of this city, and Mulford M. Scudder, of Westfield, the latter a Democrat.

The county board being particularly anxious to get to work, Mr. Codding yesterday procurred several of the blank certificates in Trenton and then called on the three members of the board separately, administering teh oath, after which the certificates were filed at Trenton, as required by law.

This morning President Pollard introduced Commissioner Andrews to the Elizabeth Board of Assessors in session at Elizabeth. Mr. Andrews made a few remarks in which he impressed upon each assessor the importance of assessing at true value. He remarked that any assessor failing to do so would be dismissed, and likewise if any member of the county board failed in his duty he would be liable to dismissal by the Governor. The county board will probably visit Summit tomorrow and meet the assessors there. The board will have its headquarters in one of the rooms of the county court house.

SERMON ON PATRIOTISM

Rev. A. C. Mc Crea Lauds America in Addressing Civil War Veterans.

SCOTT POST PRESENT

Preservation of Union Quite as Important As Freedom of the Slave Declared First M. E. Church Pastor.

The preservation of this country as a nation was the keynote of an address given by Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, before Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., last night. That he said he considered quite as important as the freedom of the black man through the struggles of the Civil War. He declared that had not the rebellion been suppressed America would not have had a free government, for England would have been only too glad to step in and take a hand in running the country. "Because of the victories in the days of '76 and '61," he declared, "we have a goodly heritage." The speaker stated that patriotism is closely associated with religion and every man who loves God should be a patriot.

Mr. McCrea mentioned briefly the story of the forefathers. He paid tribute to the Psalmist, the warrior of old, who was continually singing the praises of God for what He had done for Israel's army.

"In my analysis of patriotism I would first mention love of land in which we live, its broad expanse and natural beauty as well as its resources. I was not old enough to enlist in the Civil War, but my father and two uncles did serve and I am glad to have a part by inheritance in the struggle for freedom. I shall never forget my visits to the battlefield at Gettysburg. Any young man who goes there and studies what was done will appreciate his heritage.

"In the second place, I would consider the love of the government under which we live. We think it has been and is one of the best governments yet formed, but we will continue to look for improvements and become a Democracy in the true sense of the word.

"Thirdly, we should glory in our free institutions, the opportunity given every man to exercise himself to the fullest of his ability without hindrance from no one. Where is there a land where so much is given free for the betterment of the people as it is in this glorious country?

"Then we have a heritage in our noble manhood. We have a history as a nation for which every American can be justly proud. The noblest men and principles underlie our great heritage. The great privileges we enjoy today are the inheritance of those who have gone before us."

In conclusion Mr. McCrea spoke particularly of Washington and mentioned several traits of his character, such as his love of home, love of mankind and his bravery. Mr. McCrea referred to the fact that this week the veterans will visit sacred places and strew flowers over the graves of the departed soldier and he hoped that as long as flowers bloom that Memorial Day would be observed and that the choicest flowers be placed on the graves of the dead soldier as a mark of affect for his great service to this country.

During the service the vested choir sang special selections, including patriotic anthems.

Miss Stephanie Clark, a teacher in the Plainfield Public Schools, who was one of the first white persons born in the Congo Free State, her parents now being missionaries there, gave a talk before the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church, last night, on the subject, "Life in the Congo Free State." The talk abounded in a recital of exciting incidents of the time she lived there.

Miss White also told an interesting story of the missionary work her parents have been and are still doing and the many conversions as a result of the religious effort being made in the Congo Free State. She exhibited many curios of the country.

JULIA WARD HOWE AT EIGHTY SEVEN

WENT TO CHURCH IN THE MORNING AND RECEIVED IN AFTERNOON.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe was eighty-seven years old yesterday. At her home, No. 241 Beacon street, Boston, surrounded by the members of her family, she received floral tokens from all over the country. In the afternoon for two hours many friends called on her. She appeared to be in good health and excellent spirits.

Three of her children—Prof. H. M. Howe, of New York; Mrs. Laura E. Richards, of Orange, and Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of this city—were present and also two of her grandchildren—Mrs. Carlton Shaw and Miss Rosalind Richards—and a grandniece, Miss Elizabeth Chanler, of eNw York. Mrs. Howe's eldest daughter, Mrs. Maude Howe Elliott, who is in Spain, cabled congratulations.

Mrs. Howe went to the Church of the Disciples in the morning.

Notable among the floral gifts were those from the Greek and Italian societies of Boston. Dr. Howe fought with the Greeks in their struggle for independence, and Mrs. Howe has been an ardent champion of the Greeks all her life. Both she and her husband were also deeply interested in the Italian struggle for liberty.

CARNIVAL IS DUE TO HIM

Charles J. Fisk Originator and Promoter of the Most Successful Enterprise.

HIS TIRELESS EFFORTS

Former Mayor, Man of Means, Gives His Valuable Time to Affair—"Painfield's First Citizen."

The first week of Plainfield's second annual hospital Carnival closed Saturday night with many tired but happy workers. Attendances had been good every night and barring Monday and Tuesday, which were disagreeably chilly, the patronage was all that could be expected. No one was a bit more tired than former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, the promoter of the enterprise, but he wore "the smile that won't come off." His home has seen him but seldom in the past two or three weeks and a full night's sleep is an unknown quantity, yet his determination to make this carnival "the best ever" has caused him to lose sight of the fact.

Mr. Fisk's work in connection with the enterprise begins long before a tent or building goes up on the grounds and he is still at it when everything has been taken away. This year he has been almost twice as busy, as in addition to getting things in shape for the show, he planned and carried out the carnival parade that started the ball rolling one week ago Saturday. As everyone knows who saw it, this was a great success and will be repeated each year.

Mr. Fisk arranged all the details and his only assistant in executing them was Major Maze Edwards. It has never been his policy to shine in the "limelight" and he did not intend to get in the procession himself but circumstances compelled him. Members of his family appeared with a handsome brake drawn by three horses and he was hustled to a seat in front before he knew what it was all about. He is shown in the accompanying cut to the right of the driver.

There is still a week of the carnival itself ahead of Mr. Fisk and lots of work after it but he faces the outlook with expectant pleasure. Nothing tires him that is for sweet charity's sake and doing something for Muhlenberg Hospital is one of his chief recreations. He has been hailed as "Plainfield's first citizen" and a dissenting voice to that title is yet to be heard.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Judge Clark had a busy day Saturday. John Miller paid $5.75, pleading guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct preferred by Mrs. Mary Munroe. "Count" VanNess also had troubles which needed the aid of the law to untangle. The "Count" had John Moore, a motorman on the Elizabeth trolley line, haled before the court to answer to a charge of trespass and coercion. The "Count" claimed that Moore had been trying to get men employed by him to leave, making a business of hunting the men up while at work on his property. When the "Count" remonstrated with him he threatened to shove the "Count's" face back and do him other bodily harm. Moore was put under bonds to keep the peace and warned to keep away from the "Count's" property.

It took the local ball team and the Somersets, of Plainfield, ten innings to decide their game here Saturday afternoon, the home team finally winning by the score of 6 to 5. The game itself was as pretty a contest as one could desire, the Somersets putting up a brilliant game, being outpointed by the home team in but one inning, the fifth, when by bunching their hits and through the kindly assistance of errors on the part of the visitors, the locals brought four runs across the rubber. The attendance at the game is gradually increasing and if the club keeps up local interest in the game will be revived here. The home team has not lost a single game yet this season.

Frank Ciffo, a resident of the Italian colony on Hunter avenue, appeared before Judge Clark Saturday and asked that a search warrant be served upon his father-in-law, Guisippe Garbaldi. Ciffo claimed his wife, of only a few weeks, was being concealed and kept from him by the father, the bride being detained against her will. The court granted the warrant and an officer was sent to the colony to make a search for Mrs. Ciffo. The old gentleman, fearing the vengeance of the law more than the wrath of his son-in-law, gave the girl up without trouble, much to the disgust of about 100 Italians who had gathered expecting trouble.

The fire companies will turn out as usual Wednesday morning to assist in decorating the graves of the soldiers buried here. The fire laddies will meet the delegation from the Winfield Scott Post at the trolley, Park and Westfield avenues, about 8:30. A line of march, headed by drum corps, will be formed and march to the cemetery where the exercises of the day will be held.

Saturday night was Junior night at the Carnival. The local members of the order, besides many others from here were out in force. This is the last week of the Carnival. If you have not been you should go this week. If you went last week go again, as the programme has been entirely changed at all the attractions.

Wouldn't Westfield surprise you?

MARY A. BROWN—Telephone 377-L—218 W. SECOND ST

It took Manager Daab's team fourteen innings Saturday to take the game at Crescent Oval. While Phil. Smith carried off the honors in the box, still the support given Levy, of the Westfields, at critical stages of the game was snappy and proved to be a surprise to the Plainfield fans.

The baseball cranks will enjoy two games Decoration Day. In the morning the Laurels, of Bound Brook, will try conclusions with the home team. In the afternoon at 3:30 the married men will be on hand to try their mettle on the diamond.

Even the muddy streets could not keep some of the automobile drivers in yesterday. Well, the flying mud was better for a change than the usual cloud of dust which follows in their wake of a clear Sunday.

Decoration Day exercises will be held tomorrow afternoon at the school. A pleasing programme appropriate to Memorial Day has been arranged.

The rain yesterday dampened the enthusiasm of the Sunday baseball crank, as he was unable to witness his usual game.

The members of the B. Y. P. U. met last night in the church parlors.

STARTLING INCREASE IN INSANITY IN STATE.

Applejack to Blame for Disastrous Effects in Some Cases, Charities Commissioner Hears.

Trenton, May 26.—The startling statement that insanity is increasing in New Jersey by leaps and bounds was made Thursday by T. L. McConnell, superintendent of the Atlantic County Asylum. Excessive liquor drinking, he said, was largely responsible for filling the State's institutions.

Mr. McConnell made his assertion at a conference of the executive heads of the corrective and charitable institutions of New Jersey with George B. Wight, State commissioner of charities.

"Jersey lightning," Mr. McConnell said, "seemed to have a disastrous effect on Jersey people, especially in the southern section of the State, where the increase in insanity was particularly noticeable.

A committee was appointed to investigate the subject of degeneracy in New Jersey, with a view to having the Legislature act on its suggestions. Definite arrangements for a more intelligent management of the State's correctional and charitable institutions were also discussed.

It was shown Thursday that the insane dependents in New Jersey have increased 1,800 per cent. in the past fifty years, and during the past fifteen years the increase has been at least 66 2-3 per cent. This condition of things makes it necessary, in the opinion of the advisory board, to investigate the situation carefully.

THREATS ARE MADE OF HARM TO THREE WOMEN.

Morristown, May 28.—Misses Henrietta, Frances and Angelina Fisher, living at Beaver Run, near Hamburg, have received a letter demanding the payment of $250, threatening the burning of their barns and the abduction of Beatrice Van Fleet, a niece, who has made her home with her aunts all her life.

The letter was found yesterday morning between the window screen and the window in the kitchen by the Misses Fishers' nephew, Charles Van Fleet. It was partly written and partly printed upon a piece of an old paper bag and was as follows:

"Enemies, beware. You have money. Put at the farther end of —— on the twenty-sixth of this month 250 dollars. If you don't we will burn all your barns and take you daughter (niece) for ranson till you do cash up. We can tell if it is watched. Don't forget the 26th. We mean biz. She will be got when alone. Don't forget the barn, beware."

The strangest part of the letter is that it does not indicate the place the money is to be left. The letter has been placed in the hands of the authorities.

CRUSHED BY HEAVY WAGON.

Hunterdon County Farmer Likely to Die of Injuries Received.

Glen Gardner, May 28.—Joseph Peoplesdorph, about sixty-five years old, a farmer residing on the outskirts of this village, met with a serious accident last week which may cost him his life. He was engaged by Road Commissioner Tunison, with several other men, carting gravel and dirt from the old abandoned stone cracker to the streets, and in descending a steep hill near the railroad crossing the brake rope broke, throwing Mr. Peoplesdorph from the wagon. The wheels of the heavily loaded wagon passed over his chest.

The other teamsters ran to his assistance and Dr. Hunt was summoned. The injured man was taken to his home in a carriage, when it was found that four of his ribs had been broken loose from his backbone, two of them penetrating his left lung. His back, too, was badly injured. He was also badly hurt about the head and shoulders, and his fingers cut and bruised.

SLIM REFORM AUDIENCE.

Mayor Fagan, of City Jersey, and Corporation Counseil Record went to Bayonne last night to establish a branch of the Colby-Fagan-Record organization, or Reform League. The meeting was held in Henderson's Hall, but not more than thirty-five men listened to the speeches.

Mr. Record and the Mayor made a short address. They attributed the small attendance to the hot night and promised to organize a branch club in every district of the city within the next few months.

Mrs. W. E. Bolton, of Montreal, Canada, is visiting her mother, Mrs. William K. McClure, of Crescent avenue.

Dr. Alfred E. Emmel, of New York, spent Sunday at the home of his uncle, Reuben Knox, of Rockview avenue.

Mrs. Charles W. Runyon, of the New Madison, who has been visiting her relatives in Philadelphia, has returned home.

The Misses Caperon, of Fire Creek, W. Va., are visiting their grandparents, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Chambliss, of Central avenue.

Dr. Sydney E. Titsworth, who has been graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, spent Saturday in town with relatives and friends. He will soon leave for Bridgeport, Conn., where he has been appointed house physician at one of the large hospitals.

NOTED ENGINEER DEAD.

Garrett Van Iderstine Had Won Renown for Intrepid Acts.

Funeral services were held last night at his late home, No. 65 South street, Newark, for Garrett Van Iderstine, a noted sea-faring engineer, who died Tuesday night at the age of sixty-eight.

Mr. Van Iderstine was a native of Passaic. During the Civil War he was chief engineer of the government ship Flambeau, and saw some lively service in the Gulf of Mexico.

When some years later he was chief engineer of the ship Seguaranca of the Brazilian Mail Line a fire started between decks, and at the point of his pistol he held the panic-stricken crew in subjection till they had saved the ship. For that the company presented him a testimonial, engraved by the Tiffany Company, and a $300 watch.

During the Brazilian war he was commissioned to run the warship Nictheroy from New York, when she had been purchased by the Brazilian Government, to Rio de Janeiro. On her deck was the largest dynamite gun in the world at the time. The ship had to run the gantlet of the rebel war vessels. At the end of his three months' service the Brazilian Government made him a gift of $7,000 in gold.

Hoboken to Fight White Plague.

Hoboken, May 26.—In face of the big increase in deaths from tuberculosis the local health board through the efforts of Dr. E. T. Steadman has declared war against the white plague. A special ordinance to accomplish this purpose is being drawn for presentation at the next meeting of the authorities. The main text of the ordinance provides that all houses be fumigated, repapered and dealt with in a sanitary manner after a death or after an afflicted person may move from the place.

JOHN WHITE, OF SINGER FACTORY, THINKS HE IS HEIR OF RICH MAN.

John W. White, an employe of the Singer factory, living on Port avenue near Fourth street, Elizabeth, has prospects of becoming part heir to an estate of $500,000 left by Patrick White, who died in the Mansion House, Hicks street, Brooklyn, on May 2. The dead man left no will, and his estate is now in the hands of Public Administer Charles M. Bristow. The Elizabeth man claims that he is a nephew of the deceased White. He has placed the matter in the hands of a local lawyer, who is negotiating with Mr. Bristow.

John White read recently of the death of Patrick White. It occurred to him that it might be an uncle of his. When later facts were given out White felt sure the dead man was his uncle. Patrick White left Ireland when he was 20 years old. He became a contractor and grew rich. For a time he lived in Baltimore, but a few years before his death he lived in Brooklyn.

White, of Elizabeth, never knew the contractor personally, but he says his father, John White, used to correspond with him from Ireland. He states that numerous letters were received in Ireland from Patrick White by his father. White can trace his family back to his grandfather and grandmother, and the facts correspond with what is known of the late contractor. He himself never had any correspondence with the uncle, for the latter kept aloof, remained a bachelor, and was somewhat hermitlike in his ways. But White knew all the time that he had an uncle living in this country who had become rich through contracting.

If it is established that White is the nephew of the contractor, three sisters of White, in Elizabeth, will share in the estate. Altogether there would have been six heirs whom White knows of, and one is dead. White has a mother yet living in Ireland, who, he says, used to speak about her husband's brother getting along well in the United States. She has letters which Patrick White wrote to her husband when the brothers corresponded.

An interesting feature of the effort to locate the heirs of White is that any number of people have registered themselves as such without the slightest evidence of relationship. Mr. Bristow said that 150 had applied for the inheritance as heirs of White. Some knew nothing at all about White, and others made flimsy attempts to establish some connection with the dead contractor.

TROLLEY TO THE CEMETERY.

Elizabethans Want Line Built Under an Old Ordinance.

Elizabeth, May 28.—During the attempt of a number of property owners living in the extreme northeastern section of the city to secure a trolley line from the present northern terminus of the Jefferson avenue line to the Mt. Olivet Cemetery, on the Newark-Elizabeth city line, the discovery was made here yesterday than on June 24, 1890, the City Council granted the Union County Street Railway Company, which was the name formerly of the Third street horse car line, a perpetual franchise to operate and maintain a street railway line from Jefferson avenue and North avenue to the entrance of the Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

There is no trolley road passing within a quarter of a mile of the main entrance of this, the only Catholic cemetery in the vicinity, and since the discovery has been made several petitions are being circulated among the various Catholic congregations here and among property owners residing in that rapidly growing section of the city, praying City Council either to compel the trolley company to extend its line, which it is now rebuilding on Jecerson avenue, or to forfeit its franchise rights on that right of way.

The Public Service Corporation was urged to extend the road, but Frank Bergen, its counsel, in reply, said in part:

"I do not think our people would take kindly to the idea of making the extension now, as there is not a foot of street railway in Elizabeth that is not run at a loss, except the Broad street and Elizabeth avenue lines."

INSURANCE PROBERS MEET.

Senators Hillery, Wakelee and Minturn, the commitee of the New Jersey Senate that is to investigate the insurance companies doing business in that State, held yesterday an informal meeting at the office in Jersey City of its chief counsel, William H. Corbin.

The Senators conferred several hours with Mr. Corbin behind closed doors. All that was given out for publication was that the first meeting of the committee would be held next Friday, at the State House, Trenton, N. J.

An assistant counsel and several assistant clerks and subpoena-servers are to be appointed. The committee, it was said, would not make their appointments until after its Trenton meeting.

BOROUGH BALL NINE WON

It Defeated P. H. S. For First Time in Many Years.

THE SCORE WAS 7 TO 5

Peacock in Rare Form—Errors by Plainfield High Were Disastrous—To Play Rubber Game.

Ragged fielding coupled with inability to hit Peacock's delivery at critical times lost the game for game for Plainfield High School Saturday morning on Crescent oval against the North Plainfield High School nine, by a score of 7 to 5. The victory is a big one in the eyes of the boroughites as it is the first athletic contest which the city team has lost to the North Plainfielders in many years.

Plainfield High School never showed such a poor fielding during the season as it did on Saturday, this being true especially in the case of Van Deventer and Captain Davis, the latter overthrowing third base in the sixth inning when the bases were full. This poor throw scored three runs for the borough team, and was in great measure due to the defeat of Plainfield High School. This gave the boroughites a big lead, and though Plainfield High School cut it down somewhat, they were unable to score enough runs to win or even tie the score.

Peacock for the borough nine never showed better form, and he was for the most part supported in excellent style by his team-mates. Plainfield High School could only gauge his delivery for six hits, but when they had men on base, Peacock refused to let them hit, and seemed then to be at his best. He fanned out 14 of the Plainfield High School batsmen. "Turk" Webster caught Peacock faultlessly and he himself proved to be the best batsman for North Plainfield High School. Dunning, on first, for the borough boys, accepted many chances without an error.

"Stu" Freeman pitched for Plainfield High School and had he had "decent" support would easily have won for he allowed the borough boys but four hits and he struck ten of them out. His opponents did not earn a run, but those runs that they scored were due to nine large errors by Plainfield High School.

The city boys showed great daring in running bases, but though they were superior in this department, the hits were never forthcoming to score the runs. Captain Davis gauged Peacock's delivery better than the rest of his mates. Clyde Doane played right-field in the absence of Brakeley, who is out of the game because of a broken rib. Doane made a good showing, throwing out two men at the plate from deep right field, and securing a hit and a run in the fifth inning.

This game leaves the series with a game to the credit of each of the contestants. The rubber game for the city scholastic championship will be played on Friday afternoon, June 8, and it promises to be a corker. Plainfield High School will line-up against Newark High School this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock on Crescent oval.

Former Sheriff William T. Kirk held his hand out of the window of a Jersey Central smoking car on his way home from New York Friday night, to flick the ashes from his cigar. Before he could draw it in again his hand struck against a bridge. It was badly lacerated and bruised. At Westfield, where he is making his home temporarily, Mr. Kirk had the hand dressed by a doctor. He will be unable to use it for several days. He could not tell just what bridge figured in the accident; it was somewhere near the Eighth street station.

FOURTEEN INNING GAME

Westfield Nine Puts Up a Stiff Fight For Victory.

BARELY NOSED OUT

Gruelling Duel Between Smith and Levy, in Which Speedy Youngster Shows Splendid Skill and Endurance.

It took Plainfield fourteen innings to defeat the new Westfield team Saturday afternoon, and the ending was very ticklish into the bargain. It was the prettiest, most hotly contested battle that has ever taken place between Plainfield and Westfield, and probably the best game ever played on the Oval.

Everything that goes to make up a hair-raising struggle figured in the contest—splendid pitching, brilliant fielding and thrilling crises. Smith pitched a remarkable game. In the fourteen innings he was touched for only five hits, and he struck out seventeen men. He kept his head and his strength throughout, and seemed just as good in the fourteenth inning as he was at the start. Levy pitched good ball, but he was not as much of a puzzle as Smith. His performance was very little below that of Smith, however, and though the locals got fourteen hits, they found it an almost unsolvable problem to bunch the safeties. Every man got a hit, Bertwhistle landing three, and Leonard, Brogan and Curley two apiece.

Scoring started in the first inning. Eichler, first up, got his base on balls, and Sweeney hit to left-center for two bases, Eichler sprinting in. McGee struck out, but Kenah sacrificed Sweeney to third with a hit to the pitcher's box, and the runner scored on Brogan's low throw of Campbell's grounder. Levy got to first on Henriques' error, but Geiger went out on three strikes.

Plainfield got one of the two runs back in their half. Bertwhistle hit to right field and stole second. Brogan beat out a bunt, Bertwhistle going to third. Brogan was forced at second, Henriques making the first stop on fielder's choice. Reardon hit a high one to center and a muff let Bertwhistle in. Leonard and Curley were easy outs.

In the second, with two out, Bertwhistle got his second hit, and came in on the two-bagger with which Brogan followed him. Henriques made the third out with a fly to left.

From then until the fourteenth the struggle was a clinch-and-hold-fast struggle between the two nines. Both pitchers were splendidly supported. The Westfield infield worked like a machine, and time after time batters and runners were mowed down by snappy throws. Plainfield starred just as brilliantly. Curley and Heffron did exceptionally swift work, the quick little shortstop making a startling one-hand catch of a liner on the run, and the fielder pulled down a screeching fly after a remarkable sprint.

In the fourteenth Kenah made first on Curley's fumble and made second on the pass. He went to third on Campbell's sacrifice, and scored on Curley's juggle of Levy's grounder. Levy was caught at first, however, and Geiger struck out.

Henriques opened Plainfield's half by popping to short, but Reardon hit to left, and went to third on Leonard's sharp hit to right. Reardon loafed off third and drew a throw. He made on duck and scored on Mack's muff of Seery's throw. Leonard made third in the excitement, and came in on Heffron's Texas leaguer that didn't look any too safe until it hit the ground.

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was.

Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." A TALE OF THE THIRD GENERATION

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"Well, if you need to look any more, then your eyes ain't right. That's my say. I ain't askin' you to go west. I don't expect that!"

Percival brightened.

"But I am tryin' to nag you into doin' something here. People can say what they want to about you," he continued, stubbornly, as one who confesses the most arrant bigotry, "but I know you have got some brains, some ability—I really believe you got a whole lot—and you got the means to take your place right at the top. You can head 'em all in this country or any other. Now what you ought to do, you ought to take your place in the world of finance—put your mind on it night and day—swing out—get action—and set the ball to rolling. Your pa was a big man in the west, and there ain't any reason as I can see of why you can't be just as big a man in proportion here. People can talk all they want to about your bein' just a dub—I won't believe 'em. And there's London. You ain't been ambitious enough. Get a down-hill pull on New York, and then branch out. Be a man of affairs like your pa, and like that fellow Shepler. Let's be somebody. If Montana City was too small fur us, that's no reason why New York should be too big."

Percival had walked the floor in deep attention to the old man's words.

"You've got me right, Uncle Peter," he said at last. "And you're right about what I ought to do. I've often thought I'd go into some of these big operations here. But for one thing I was afraid of what you'd say. And then, I didn't know the game very well. But I see I ought to do something. You're dead right."

"And we need more money too," urged the old man. "I was reading a piece the other day about the big fortunes in New York. Why, we ain't one, two, three, with the dinky little twelve or thirteen millions we could swing. You don't want to be a piker, do you? If you go in the game at all, play her open and high. Make 'em take the ceiling off. You can just as well get into the hundred million class as not, and I know it. They needn't talk to me—I know you have got some brains. If you was to go in now it would keep you straight and busy, and take you out of this pin-head class that only spends their pa's money."

"You're all right, Uncle Peter! I certainly did need you to come along right now and set me straight. You founded the fortune, pa trebled it, and now I'll get to work and roll it up like a big snowball."

"That's the talk. Get into the hundred million class, and show these wise folks you got something in you besides hot air, like the savin' is. Then they won't always be askin' who your pa was—they'll be wantin' to know who you are, by Cripes! Then you can have the biggest steam yacht afloat, two or three of 'em, and the best house in New York, and palaces over in England; and Pish'll be able to hold up her head in company over there. You can finance that proposition right up to the nines."

"By Jove! but you're right. You're a wonder, Uncle Peter. And that reminds me—"

He stopped in his walk.

"I gave it hardly any thought at the time, but now it looks bigger than a mountain. I know just the things to start in on systematically. Now don't breathe a word of this, but there's a big deal on in Consolidated Copper. I happened on to the fact in a queer way the other night. There's a broker I've known downtown—fellow by the name of Relpin. Met him last summer. He does most of Shepler's business; he's supposed to be closer to Shepler and know more about the inside of his deals than any man in the street. Well, I ran across Relpin down in the cafe the other night and he was wearing one of those gents' nobby three-button souses. Nothing would do but I should dine with him, so I did. It was the night you and the folks went to the opera with the Oldakers. Relpin was full of lovely talk and dark hints about a rise in copper stock, and another rise in Western Trolley, and a bigger rise than either of them in Union Cordage. How that fellow can do Shepler's business and drink the stuff that makes you talk I don't see. Anyway he said—and you can bet what he says goes—that the Consolidated is going to control the world's supply of copper inside of three months, and the stock is bound to kite, and so are these other two stocks; Shepler's back of all three. The insiders are buying up now, slowly and cautiously, so as not to start any boom prematurely. Consolidated is 110 now, and it'll be up to 150 by April at the latest. The others may go beyond that. I wasn't looking for the game at the time, so I didn't give it any thought, but now, you see, there's our chance. We'll plunge in those three lines before they start to rise, and be in on the ground floor."

"Now don't you be rash! That Shepler's old enough to suck eggs and hide the shells. I heard a man say the other day copper was none too good at 110."

"Exactly. You can hear anything you're looking to hear, down there. But I tell you this was straight. Don't you suppose Shepler knows what he's about?—there's a boy that won't be peddling shoe laces and gum-drops off one of these neat little bosom trays—not for eighty-five or ninety thousand years yet—and Relpin, even if he was drunk, knows Shepler's deals like you know Skiplap. They'll bear the stocks as they can while they're buying up. I wouldn't be surprised if the next Consolidated dividend was reduced. That would send her down a few points and throw more stock on the market. Meantime, they're quietly workin' to get control of the European mines—and as to Western Trolley and Union Cordage—say, Relpin actually got to crying—they're so good—he had one of those loving ones, the kind where you want to be good to every one in the world. I'm surprised he didn't get into a sandwich sign and patrol Broadway, giving those tips to everybody."

"Course, we're on a proposition now that you know more about it than I do; you certainly do take right hold at once—that was your pa's way, too. Daniel J. could look farther ahead in a minute than most men could in a year. I got to trust you wholly in these matters, and I know I can do it, too. I got confidence in you, no matter what other people say. They don't know you like I do. And if there's any other things you know about fur sure—"

"Well, there's Burman. He's plunging in corn now. His father has staked him, and he swears he can't lose. He was after me to put aside a million. Of course if he does win out it would be big money."

"Well, son I can't advise you none—except I know you have got a head on you, no matter how people talk. You know about this end of the game, and 'll have to be led entirely by you. If you think Burman's got a good proposition, why, there ain't anything like gettin' action all along the layout, from ace down to seven-spot and back to the king card."

"That's the talk. I'll see Relpin today or to-morrow. I'll bet he tries to hedge on what he said. But I got him too straight—let a drunken man alone for telling the truth when he's got it in him. We'll start in buying at once."

"It does sound good. I must say you take hold of it considerable like Dan'l J. would 'a' done—and use my money jest like your own. I do want to see you takin' your place where you belong. This life of idleness you been leadin'—one continual potlatch the whole time—it wa'n't doin' you a bit of good."

We'll get action, don't you worry. Now let's have lunch downstairs, and then go for a drive. It's too fine a day to stay in."

Percival confessed to his mother that night that he had wronged Uncle Peter.

"That old boy is all right yet," he said, with deep conviction. "Don't make any mistake there. He has bigger ideas than I gave him credit for. I suggested branching out here in a business way, to-day, and the old fellow got right in line. If anybody tells you that old Petie Bines hasn't got the leaves of his little calendar torn off right up to date you just feel wise inside, and see what odds are posted on it!"

CRESCENT OVAL COMMENT

The Westfields deserve credit in putting up the exhibition they did. It has been demonstrated that they are no team to be trifled with. The game has aroused the old time enthusiasm and Manager Daab should lose no time in giving the Mt. Ararat aggregation a return game.

Captain Leonard should inject a little base running spirit among the players. There was some bad mix-ups and failures Saturday.

Heffron missed a hard chance and followed this up by nailing one twice as hard. One thing Heff never bunt on the third strike again. This is a swift league out here and we play according to present day rules.

There wasn't a kick throughout the game on Umpire's Merrity's decisions. The game was a corker from start to finish and was featured with the old time baseball religion.

Mayor Smalley was jubilant over the result and declared it was the best game he ever saw. There are others who voiced the same opinion.

P. Smith, of South Plainfield, again did nobly.

Jimmy Montross is being tried out by the Auburn, N. Y., team of the Penna-New York league.

Pitching for Princeton against Harvard Saturday, George Heyniger, of this city, won a great victory by shutting Harvard out by the score of 5 to 0.

LOCAL CHOIR BOYS WIN.

Holy Cross Lads Trounce Orange Choristers 20 to 10.

The game between the Grace church choir nine, of Orange, and the choir team of Holy Cross church Saturday morning resulted in a victory for Holy Cross by a score of 20 to 10. After the game the opposing teams and several friends from Orange were entertained by the rector of Holy Cross at The Homstead. Thirty-two sat down to the luncheon.

Brief speeches were made by Choirmaster Grant, of Orange, and Rev. Mr. Warner. The former spoke on the value of choir work and sports in developing life long friendships; the latter dwelt on the importance of true sportsmanship as an incentive to fair mindedness and honesty among boys.

TORNADO HITS JERSEY.

Elizabeth, May 28.—A tornado swept over a part of Union Township, N. J., yesterday afternoon, leaving destruction in its path. The whirling cloud first made its appearance near the historic Connecticut Farms Presbyterian church, where yesterday was celebrated the centennial anniversary of the Sunday-school. People were hastening to attend the services at the time, and many were thrown into a panic. The tornado blew a window out of Daniel Leonard's house, split in two an adjoining barn, and uprooted a number of apple trees in his orchard. It passed within less than seventy-five yards of the old church, then rose in the air, only to descend again on the Johnson estate, adjoining Morris avenue, where it cut a swath 300 feet long by 150 feet wide through a grove of big trees, some of them more than a century old and nearly three feet in diameter. It snapped off the trunks of some as if they were pipestems and tore other trees up by the roots.

No Setting for Jewels.

PROTECTION FOR BALL MANAGERS

LEADING CLUBS DECLARE WAR AGAINST STRONG-SCHLICHTER SYNDICATE.

With the object of protecting themselves from unscrupulous managers and contract jumpers, the managers of all of the leading independent baseball teams in and around New York have organized the Inter-State Baseball Managers' Association. The officers are William Rafter, sporting editor of the Brooklyn Standard Union, president, and Joseph P. Reydel, manager of the Loughlin Oval team, secretary. Among the managers who have affiliated with the new organization are those of the following clubs: Hoboken, St. Johns, Cedars, Ridgewoods, Cuban X-Giants, Havana, Cuban Stars, St. Michaels, Loughlin Lyceum, Elizabeth Stars, All Nationals, Amsterdams, Poughkeepsie, Pottstown, Paterson, Xavier, Trenton, Perth Amboy, Philadelphia Quaker Giants, Central Islips and others.

The organization is the result of the unreasonable demands and practices of the syndicate engineered by Nat Strong, of New York, and Walter Schlichter, of Philadelphia. This combination won the enmity of the independent managers by stealing players, repudiating contracts and demanding outrageous guarantees for their clubs. The managers got together and determined to cut loose from the syndicate and as a result none of the clubs in the Inter-State Association will play with teams under the management of the syndicate. By the arrangement Strong and Schlichter will find it a difficult matter to secure games, and those interested in the organization, declare that it will eventually freeze Nat Strong out of independent baseball matters. His methods of doing business for the past few years have made him extremely unpopular with players and managers alike.

The Coney Island team, owned and controlled by William Brady, the theatrical promoter, is not a member of the association. It will be remembered that three weeks ago big inducements were made to the Ridgewood players to desert Manager Hussey, which they did to a man. The games for Coney Island are being booked by the Strong and Schlichter combination, and to offset the move of the Inter-State magnates, Strong declares that he will bring the Tri-State clubs from Pennsylvania to play Sunday games, which will prove a rather expensive venture it is believed. The other clubs, including the Philadelphia Giants, Murray Hills, Royal Giants, will play between themselves on New York and Brooklyn diamonds if grounds can be secured.

At the meeting of the Inter-State Association this week Pitcher Lindeman, formerly of Hoboken, was blacklisted. Lindeman accepted a $100 bonus from Manager Hussey of the Ridgewoods before the season opened to play on his team throughout the season at a salary of $60 a game. When he quit Ridgewood he accepted another bonus of $200 to play with Brady's Coney Island team and refused to return the $100 to Hussey. The grafting methods of Lindeman were presented to his employers, the Equitable Assurance Company, who gave him the alternative of refunding the bonus money paid by Hussey, or to resign his position with the company. This was a staggering blow to the ex-Hoboken player, who holds the record for contract breaking among semi-professional ball playing managers, and it is safe to say he will "cough" up to Hussey in preference to losing his job.

The Inter-State Association will be conducted on the same lines as the Illinois Association. The club making the best record, or winning the biggest percentage of its games during the season will be presented with a silver cup, the contest starting with games played last Sunday. The winers of the cup, at the close of the season, will play a series for the national semi-professional championship with the champion Illinois team.

A Considerate Daughter.

A certain young man told his best girl the other night that if she didn't marry him he'd get a rope and hang himself right in front of her house.

"Oh! please don't do it, Harry," she said. "You know father has always said he doesn't want you hanging 'round here."—Illustrated Bits.

R., assisted by the Women's Relief Corps, as well as Co. K, the members of which organization will parade with the veterans of '61.

The Post will assemble at headquarters on East Front street, tomorrow morning at 7.30 o'clock and proceed cemeteries and decorate all graves of soldiers. Past Commander C. B. G. A. R. Parade.

The comrades will report back to headquarters at 9:30 o'clock, prepared for parade. The line will form on East Front street, right resting on Watchung avenue. At 10 o'clock the parade will move as follows: Through East Front street to Watchung avenue, to Chatham street, North Plainfield; to Presbyterian cemetery, where services will be held and graves decorated; thence through Chatham street to Somerset street, to Front street, to Plainfield avenue, to Evergreen cemetery, where services will be held and graves decorated; thence to West Fifth street, to Park avenue, to Front street, to Post headquarters and dismiss. Liberty Band, in charge of Dr. Berg, will furnish the music in the parade and Co. K will act as the escort to the veterans.

In the afternoon at 1:45 o'clock the veterans will re-assemble at Post headquarters and march to Reform Hall, where public Memorial services will be held at 2:30 o'clock. Colonel Mason W. Tyler will be the orator of the day. The exercises will include the usual programme, the reading of President Lincoln's address at Gettysburg, the services in memory of the unknown dead, together with the singing of patriotic songs by a chorus of school children and selections by the band. The public is invited to attend these services.

Plainfield has two games scheduled at Crescent Oval, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. The All-Nationals will be the card.

DR. HUGHES CHOSEN SCHOOL PHYSICIAN

GIVEN DR. BUCHANAN'S PLACE BY NORTH PLAINFIELD BOARD.

The North Plainfield Board of Education at its meeting last night appointed Dr. Fred Hughes school physician in place of Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, who has held the position for several years. The appointment is for one year and when the time arrived to elect a school physician, Dr. Hughes was the only one placed in nomination and he received the unanimous vote of the board. Dr. Hughes has been practicing in the borough and city for several years. He will enter upon his duties July 1.

The board discussed the question of acquiring the Gulick property back of the Somerset street school, and it is believed that a definite report will be made at the next meeting. The board is anxious to get this property so that some proposed improvements can be made about the school grounds.

AUTO TOURING PARTY IS DRIVEN TO COVER.

Trip Being Made In Seven Machines Stopped By Heavy Rains.

Miss Jessie Maxey, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Berger, T. Warren Berger, M. Russell Berger, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. George Costello, N. T. Folwell, Donald Folwell, Charles McDonald, William Milnes were among an auto party of twenty-five Philadelphians that stopped in Plainfield yesterday. Owing to the heavy rain those whose names are mentioned registered at the Hotel Kensington, the others continuing on their journey to Morristown. The party left Philadelphia Sunday afternoon in seven autos. The trip included Asbury Park, from which place the party started yesterday morning.

A stop of an hour and a half was made at Old Bridge for dinner and it was 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon when the seven autos rolled up in front of the Hotel Kensington. The rain was falling in torrents and nine members of the party decided to remain here until the rain let up. The remainder of the party started for Morristown, where they will wait until the arrival of their friends from Plainfield. The journey will then be continued through New York State. The autoists are well stocked with provisions for a trip of a couple of weeks. Owing to the wet and muddy condition of the roads poor time was made between Philadelphia and this city. Most of the machines are forty-five horse-power.

Bayonne Carnival Opens.

While several thousand persons cheered Mayor Garven last evening opened the two weeks carnival in Bayonne, for the benefit of the City Hospital. The Mayor attended with the Common Council and delivered a speech. There was a parade of local and out-of-town Elks and Eagles, who freely patronized the various attractions. The carnival grounds were made as bright as day by 3,000 electric lights. The Fourth Regiment, N. G. N. J., will parade tomorrow, which will be observed as military day.

May Meet Sunday Evenings.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of Trinity Reformed church, will take a vote of its members next Monday evening to ascertain the wish of the majority for changing the regular meeting night from Monday evening to Sunday evening, preceding the preaching service, and there is evidently a majority ready to vote for the change and give it a three months' trial to ascertain whether the attendance will increase or decrease with the change.

Plainfield Fighter Arrested.

Following the McGovern-Britt fight at Madison Square Garden, last night, the principals and also those in three preliminary bouts, were placed under arrest. Among the latter was a pugilist who gave his name as David Henry, of 222 West Second street, Plainfield. Henry is a machinist who works in one of the local machine shops and does fighting on the side. He was bailed out for appearance later. He came to this city from New Brunswick.

Library to Close.

The circulating department at the Public library will be closed tomorrow, as the day is a legal holiday. Those desiring reading matter over the holiday should call at the library this afternoon, not later than 5:30 o'clock. The reading room will be open from 2 until 6 tomorrow afternoon, with a library assistant in attendance to answer all questions or look up information.

"OUR VILLAGE" IN 1845

Sixty Years Ago Plainfield Contained 1500 People and Seven Stores.

TALE OF HISTORIAN

Three Hundred Dwellings—Seven Churches—In Westfield Township.

Sixty years ago the man who came to this section looking for Plainfield was directed to "a thriving village in Westfield township." Nowadays, that looks somewhat like putting the cart before the horse, but it was a straight enough direction in 1845. It may be something of a shock to the earnest young real estate operators who are booming the city now to learn it, but Plainfield actually was once but a small and modest jewel in the crown of Westfield township.

Since then Westfield township has shrunk and Plainfield has grown. An old history of New Jersey published about 1845, which a Daily Press reporter found on a bookshelf at the home of R. E. Coriell, of Fairview avenue, yesterday, indicates how much the city has advanced from its small estate in three-score years.

There were only seven stores in Plainfield in 1845. The manufacture of clothing and hats was an important part of the village business life, there being no less than eight clothing and six hat manufactories. There were two wheelwrights, five blacksmiths, two grist and three saw mills. It had a mutual insurance company, established in 1832. Two fire engines were stationed in the town. There were two boarding schools, a seminary and "The Plainfield Family School."

The inhabitants numbered nearly 1,500, and the village contained 300 dwellings. There were seven churches, one Presbyterian, two Baptist, one Seventh-Day Baptist, two Friends' and one Methodist.

They liked the looks of Plainfield even then. The historian says the village was "beautifully situated on Green brook," and "the country around is rich, well cultivated and healthy."

He liked the people, too. "The society is moral, religious, and ambitious of improvement," he says. How a community of that sort could escape waxing great and prosperous is hard to understand.

The historian tells of the town's beginning, as follows:

"The first frame building in Plainfield was erected in 1735, at which period there were but a few scattered log huts and Indian wigwams. In 1750, the first grist mill was built, and in 1760 the first school house. In 1788, the first meeting house was erected by the Friends. In 1808, the first hat manufactory was established. The first Baptist church was erected in 1818; the Rev. Jacob Randolph was pastor eight years, when he died. Rev. Daniel T. Hill was settled as pastor in 1828; he remained until his resignation in 1839, when he was succeeded by Rev. Simeon J. Drake."

The historian was an appreciative man. He winds up his history of early Plainfield with: "The Presbyterian society have laid out a beautiful cemetery near the town." The cemetery has changed some since then. It is still beautiful enough, but it has moved much closer to town.

The history gives a paragraph to Scotch Plains:

"Scotch Plains, so named from having been settled by Scotch emigrants, about 1684, is a rich agricultural vicinity, in the west part of the township, where there is a Baptist church. This church (says Benedict in the History of the Baptists) is the branch of the ancient one in Piscataway, and was onstituted in 1747, with fifteen members. The first pastor was Rev. Benjamin Miller, a native of the place. He was ordained in 1748, and continued as pastor until his death in 1781. He is said to have been a wild youth, but met with a sudden and surprising change under a sermon of the celebrated Gilbert Tennent. Rev. William Vanhorn was settled in 1785, and died in 1807, and was succeeded by Rev. Thomas Brown, of Newark. From this church originated James Manning, D. D., the first president of Brown University. Westfield gets a very scant mention. "It is a neat village, consisting of about 30 or 40 dwellings," says the historian, "in the vicinity of which is a Presbyterian church," and he hasn't anything much else to give the home of baseball rooting and Randolph Perkins.

Among the guests registered over Sunday at the Victoria Hotel, Asbury Park, were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Freeman, of Plainfield.

Mrs. Lee, of New York, and the Misses Easton, of Morristown, are spending a few days with Mrs. W. C. Leek, of East Fifth street.

WORK CAR SCARES HORSE.

Animal Ran Away Throwing One of Two Occupants from Rig.

Becoming frightened at one of the trolley company's work cars, a horse belonging to Woolston & Buckle ran away on Watchung avenue at the head of North this morning. The driver, Howard Woolston, leaped from his seat at the first move made by the animal and tried to get to its head, but missed. Henry Woodland, who was also in the rig, was thrown out and badly jarred. He was sent home and a physician examined him but found no serious hurts.

The runaway swung into West Second street and then into the driveway that leads to the rear of Woolston & Buckle's store, where it stopped. A hood over the front part of the wagon was ripped off and it was slightly damaged elsewhere.

DISTRICT COURT A FACT

William Newcorn Appointed to the Judgeship by the Governor.

ONE COURT DAY A WEEK

Council Chamber Will Probably Be the Home of the Tribunal—Jurisdiction of the Justices Curtailed.

Former Assemblyman William Newcorn was appointed judge of the newly-created district court of this city by Governor Stokes yesterday. He will receive his commission and proceed with the establishment of the court in a few days.

Judge Newcorn received the appointment on Senator Ackerman's recommendation. He was endorsed by the Republican organization, through County Chairman Frank H. Smith, and by the lawyers of the city. City Judge William N. Runyon, leader of the Union County League for Equal Taxation, the Colbyite organization, sent to Senator Ackerman a very warm endorsement of Mr. Newcorn, when the Senator made the usual inquiries before laying his recommendation before the Governor.

Judge Newcorn heard of his appointment from Chairman Smith this morning before he reached his office. The news of the appointment rapidly spread among the lawyers of the city and they dropped into the office or called on the telephone all through the forenoon to offer congratulations. The new judge was frankly pleased over the appointment, and expressed his gratification.

The appointment having been made, it is now up to the Common Council to furnish a suitable court room. It has been suggested that the Council Chamber be used, and it is fairly certain it will be. The room now is not used during the day, and there are no night sessions of the court. The place is almost ideal for the purpose, and Judge Newcorn would undoubtedly be pleased with its selection. The matter will be taken up at once by the Finance Committee of the Council, of which Mr. Daniel is chairman.

Court will be held one day a week, to begin with. Should the business increase enough to make it necessary another court day will be established.

Judge Newcorn said this morning that it was a little too early to talk of the appointment of clerk and sergeant-at-arms. Constable John Manley wants the job as sergeant and is pushing his application energetically. He is circulating a petition for the appointment. Constable Peter Weaver is a receptive candidate, and those on the inside intimate that he is the slated appointee. He is popular among the lawyers, and as a Civil War veteran he has a certain standing that lends strength to his candidacy.

By his elevation to the bench, Judge Newcorn is cut off from practice in district courts. Practice in other courts he will continue, and the judicial work will not check his legal activities appreciably.

In connection with the creation of the new court a question concerning the jurisdiction of the justices in actions pending before them when Judge Newcorn qualifies has arisen. Under the statute the justices cease to have power over civil cases in any city where a district court is established, and the new court will be legally in existence as soon as Judge Newcorn takes the oath. It would appear from the law that all local actions not then finished in justices' courts will be null and void and must be recommenced in the district court.

Although the justices are constitutional officers and may not be legislated out of office, it is the function of the Legislature to decide the extent of their activities. By the law establishing the district court here they are curtailed considerably so far as Plainfield cases go. They may continue to hear civil cases from other places in the county, but none in which the litigants are Plainfielders.

Dr. Villiers Will Speak.

Rev. Dr. Villiers, formerly of Indianapolis, but now pastor of the Peddie Memorial Baptist church, Newark, will make the evening address at the meeting of the East New Jersey Baptist Association, to be held at the New Market Baptist church, on June 5. There will be morning and afternoon sessions also. Large delegations are expected to attend from the local Baptist churches.

Reunion of 26th N. J. Vols.

The annual reunion of the Twenty-sixth N. J. Vols., will be held in Newark, on Tuesday afternoon, June 5. Captain M. C. Dobbins, of Co. D, that regiment, is the only Plainfield member, and he expects to attend.

—Neuman Brothers' store will be closed all day tomorrow.

DISTRIBUTES HALF MILLION AS MORAL OBLIGATION

Mr. Hooley's Generous Deed Three Years After Legal Settlement Had Been Made.

ASSUMED OLD DEBTS

North Plainfielder Pays Up Every Penny of Indebtedness of Firm of Which He Was a Member.

Edwin S. Hooley, of North Plainfield, now the head of the stock exchange firm of Hooley, Learned & Co., has kept his promise and squared up all of his indebtedness, having mailed to his creditors on Saturday checks which aggregated more than $1,000,000. Soon after the failure of the firm of Edwin S. Hooley & Co., on July 27, 1903, Mr. Hooley settled with his creditors for fifty cents on the dollar, but he then declared that he would eventually settle dollar for dollar with interest. This he has done, the checks that were sent out on Saturday, being for the remaining 50 per cent, and included interest at 6 per cent.

When Mr. Hooley was questioned about the matter by a representative for The Daily Press, he said that it was one which he did not care to discuss and begged to be excused.

Mr. Hooley failed about the time when Talbot J. Taylor & Co., and W. L. Snow & Co. went under. The firm was overloaded with Evansville and Terre Haute and Des Moines and Fort Dodge stock. Mr. Hooley took over the liabilities of the firm, and in December of the same year he made the agreement with his creditors that gave him the opportunity to resume business. Mr. Hooley and his new firm have been successful in dealing in copper, and it is generally understood in Wall street that the firm handles Thomas F. Lawson's business in New York.

An intimate friend of Mr. Hooley in speaking of the settlement said "Every hair in his head is an honest one, and I can speak with authority for I have know him since a boy."

MAKING GRAIN ELEVATOR OF A PART OF ICE PLANT

ONE OF HYGEIA BUILDINGS BEING CONVERTED BY GROCERY CONCERN.

Plans have been put into execution by the Dunham Grocery Company for the conversion of a part of the smaller building of the Hygeia Ice Company plant into a grain elevator.

Work has been commenced, and will be pushed rapidly to completion. Two bins for the storage of the grain will be built, each measuring about 50 feet by 40 feet.

The elevator is being made out of a portion of a building used by the ice company for offices and a storage house. The Hygeia people will still have their offices in part of the structure. In the part given over to the new use, the grocery company will have their grain office.

MOTHERLY WOMAN GOT DRUNK.

Julia Flynn, Gray-Haired and Kind-Hearted, Escapes Punishment.

Mrs. Julia Flynn, elderly and motherly, wandered into police headquarters last evening, with a jag that was young and vigorous. Sergeant Frederickson put her away in a cell for safekeeping, along with a little chimney swallow that she carried in a small market basket. She said she picked the bird up on the road.

She washed her face, and combed her grap hair decently back on her head before going into the courtroom this morning, and made a nice impression on Judge Runyon. Her salvation from judicial wrath was assured when he learned about the swallow. Sentence was suspended, and Mrs. Julia went away with the rescued bird. She said she lived over the mountains, but wouldn't tell just where.

Dancing Platform at the Carnival Made Into a New Feature.

The dancing platform at the Carnival is to be made over into a concert garden. The floor was so badly warped by last night's rain as to be useless for dancing, and Mr. Fisk decided to convert it into a new attraction.

The work will be done this afternoon, and the pleasure seekers on the grounds tonight will find a new nook in which a pass a pleasant fifteen minutes. Chairs and tables will be placed about the garden, and drinks will be served.

The great attraction of the place will be the appearance of Ed. J. Brown's celebrated Eureka trio. The trio have a high standing in New York, and have performed at Casino affairs and sang at the Charity Ball. They will appear every matinee and night his week.

RAIN CHECKED CARNIVAL.

Nothing But Moisture On the Show Grounds Last Night.

The weather had the Carnival grounds all to itself last night. The tents and the booths dripped in dismal darkness and the shows showed not.

Tonight, by the grace of the weather man, things will be different. The Knights Templar will have charge of the attractions, and valiantly will seek to outdo the other hosts that have tilted against the great dragon Tightwad on that field.

New bills will be offered in all the shows. The vaudeville show has another lively programme, and the circus has some brand new features in ring work. New songs and gags and business will mark the minstrel show. The Carnival store deliveries will begin tonight. If you hold a letter on the store bring it to the counter early.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Popular Science Monthly for June contains the following articles: "Concerning Variations in Animals and Plants," by President David Starr Jordan; "The Human Side of the Indian," by Dr. Alexander F. Chamberlain; "The Fresh-water Fishes of South and Middle America," by Professor C. H. Eigenmann; "Facts About Nostrums," by Dr. Horatio Wood, Jr.; "Times and Places of Earthquakes," by Professor H. H. Turner; "Radio-activity and Volcanos," by Major C. E. Dutton; "An Eclipse Expedition to Spain," by Dr. A. S. Mitchell; "The Spanish American Type," by Gustave Michaud; "The Earthquake on the California Coast;" "The Engineering Building of New York City;" "The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching."

Thus indeed, in little more than a score of years, has the desert blossomed, in Fresno county, into the land of the raisin vine, and thus is explained in part the wonderful change observed by the old lady who was astonished to find a city where, thirty-five years ago, all there was in sight could have been purchased for a song. Fresno, the county-seat and commercial metropolis with a population nearing the twenty-thousand mark, has been made largely of raisins. From that center are distributed yearly 4,500 cars loads with raisins and billed to all parts of the United States and Canada. —Henry Hawson in Sunset Magazine for April.

The Red Book Magazine for June has as its leading story, a tale by Rowland Thomas entieled, "The King's Handy Man." Mr. Thomas knows well his South Seas and the present story is proof of that knowledge. A story of commercial law "The Asphyxiation of the Gas Combine," by William Hamilton Osborne. A semi-circus story with an elephant as the leading character is "Fetters of Brass," by Leo Westmeath Crane and a bit of deliciously unctuous dialect is contributed by Wilbur D. Nesbit in "O'Tunder's Peace Conference." Other contributors of varied and excellent short fiction to the Red Book Magazine for June are: Edna Kingsley Wallace, Margaret G. Fawcett, Hugh Pendexter, Norvell Harrison, George Allen England, Porter Emerson Browne, Julia Truitt Bishop and A. M. Chisholm. As usual the June issue is opened with a group of art portraits of twenty-eight beautiful women on the stage.

The children of these Indians know the canoe, and they know how to use it, and if you go to Temagami this summer they will paddle your canoe in their own superb way. They will be the best guides you ever had. Students who camp in summer along the Temagami lakes are able to do two years' work in one. Finest of fishing and hunting. Easy of access by the Grand Trunk Railway System. For information and beautiful descriptive publication sent free apply to F. P. Dwyer, 290 Broadway, New York.

Nose Blowers

Man's Natural Impulse Is To Aid Nature—Not to Fight Against It.

What do you do when you have a bad cold in your head or severe catarrh and your head is all stopped up?

You blow your nose, don't you? Why? Because it gives you relief and rids you of foul secretion not otherwise removable.

When you have a cold on your bronchial tubes or lungs the same state of affairs exists. You cannot "blow" your lungs. Nature has provided for all that. She "blows" them for you.

How? By a cough. She thus rids your lungs of that poisonous matter that would do incalculable harm if left there to ferment, irritate and poison these delicate tissues. Most "Cough Syrups" are based upon the mistaken principle of "stop that cough." They deaden and narcotize the lungs with drugs as Opium, Morphine, Cocaine, etc., and do more harm than good.

To stop a cough is all right, but there is a proper way to do it and it can be done without deadening the lungs and putting to sleep the very safeguard that Nature is making use of. Tone, heal and soothe the lungs, remove the cause of the cough and the cough will get well of its own accord.

It is in this way that Piso's Cure for Consumption acts and that it does so and is furthermore free from every trace of opium and all derivatives of opium was proven by a multitude of witnesses in our vindication trial before the Superior Court of Cincinnati, where pirates sought to steal our name and reputation and trade upon them.

Let us send you a copy of our free book, "How Consumptives Ought to Live." Write today. The Piso Co., 198 Piso Building, Warren, Pa. Piso's Cure for Consumption is for sale at every drug store and costs but 25c. a bottle. Every father, every mother should have it in the house all the time.

Her brushes weep and wail the while.
For they are now dethroned and old,

THE LAST VESTIGE

The blacking brush must now go the way of all old fashioned household utensils. It is a breeder of microbes, and consequently in well regulated households should become a thing of the past. The gas range makes this possible, for it needs no blacking. A soft, oiled cloth keeps it in good condition. Order a range to-day. Prices $9.50 to $15.00. $2.00 down; $2.00 a month. CADMUS BROS., Norh and Watchung Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

TIME RIPE FOR M. G. A. RULING.

Golf Officials Will Probably Insert New Eligibility Clause in the Constitution.

The officials of the Metropolitan Golf Association will undoubtedly take action in several matters ere another championship rolls round. They now realize that the time is ripe to make a ruling which will provide that a person to be eligible for an M. G. A. championship should be a resident as well as a member of some club in the district.

When Eben M. Byers stood two up on Jerome D. Travers at the end of the morning round, the gallery had visions of the trophy going to Pittsburg. "All is well that ends well," though, Travers eventually winning out by three up and one to play, after one of the greatest up-hill finishes ever seen in this country. But the M. G. A. championship is for Metropolitan District golfers and if it is to mean anything the ruling should be changed.

Another matter that provoked no end of comment on Saturday was the manner in which the final was played. All through the tournament many of the golfers had been going to St. Andrew's on an 8:32 a. m. special. On Saturday Travers was at the club bright and early, being on hand even before the special, and ready to start on his thirty-six-hole effort. No stated time had been set for the start, and Byers, suiting his own convenience, did not reach the club until nearly 11 o'clock.

To be sure, Byers was violating no rule, and while it may be customary to start late in Great Britain, where the Pittsburg golfer has spent considerable time of late years, it is not the way tournaments are run in this country. Travers chafed at the two hours' wait. At the national championship in the United States it is customary to start matches at appointed hours. The lesson learned on Saturday may induce the M. G. A. to do likewise.

There were two scratch men in the eighteen-hole Metropolitan Golf Association handicap on Saturday. One was Walter J. Travis; the new one, H. H. Burdick. The latter entered from the Dunwoodie Golf Club and expected a handicap of fifteen strokes. It seems that Leighton Calkins, the M. G. A. secretary, had not received Burdick's handicap rating from his home club and according to the new ruling Burdick had to play from scratch, or not at all.

Although he was in no way at fault, Burdick saw the logic of the rule, and with true sportsmanship spirit decided to play. He made a 95. This is the first case of its kind on record, and it may serve as a hint to club handicappers to be more careful in the future.

A Real Corset Cover.

A new invention that hides ugly lines, without spoiling the natural contour, is a corset cover made by the Charles R. De Bevoise Company, 227 High street, Newark. There are corsets and corsets, but the best of them will not serve their purpose with the close-fitting gowns of the season if not effectively disguised. The costume of today must not wrinkle, and yet if it permits the top, back and bottom lines of the under garments to show in outline, the effect is spoiled. To prevent this a simple and ingenious innovation in corset covers has been invented. It is known as the De Bevoise Brassiere. It fits so snugly over the corset that all the ridges disappear and a desirable contour is shown. The cover is lace-trimmed, slightly boned and has an eyeletted tab in front, which only a woman can appreciate to the full. It is worn with charming effect under the sheerest lingeries waists, and gives a smart, well-dressed appearance.

Borough Board of Education Meets.

The borough Board of Education, at its regular meeting, last night, completed all arrangements for the annual commencement exercises on June 15. They will be held in Y. M. C. A. hall and as stated yesterday, the address will be made by Senator Hillery. In executive session, the members discussed the purchase of the property at Vine street and Park place, but no action was taken.

Plainfield, N. J., May 29, 1906.

A MAN FOR DIOGENES.

In these days when dishonorable practises permeate every channel of business activity and when good morals are so often flung to the winds in order to accomplish sharp dealings, it is indeed surprising to hear of a man parting with his riches to make payments where there is no legal obligation whatever. Greater is the surprise to the general public when such a noble deed is done in Wall street, where "rule or ruin" seems to be an accepted principle.

Edwin S. Hooley, one of North Plainfield's most valuable citizens, is the man who rose above business customs to discharge a moral obligation. To do so he parted with a half million dollars. When his firm was driven to the wall three years ago, Mr. Hooley manfully took his medicine. He assumed all the liabilities and effected a settlement of fifty cents on the dollar. At the same time, he told a few friends that he proposed to go beyond the path of legal duty to satisfy his conscience.

Three years after the crash came, Mr. Hooney, stronger than ever in the financial world, makes good his word. He pays the other fifty cents and adds interest. That's the kind of a man, whose wife, children, fellow-townspeople and business associates have every reason to be proud of for his acts show a character far above the common run.

STEPPING BACKWARDS?

A year ago, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, a scholar, addressed the graduates of the North Plainfield High School. This year, Thomas J. Hillery, a politician, will be the speaker.

"Tom" Hanna will make a capable secretary to the Union County Board for the Equalization of Taxes and the members will have no occasion to find fault with their own selection.

Tomorrow being Memorial Day, there will be no issue of The Daily Press.

Politics in Union.

"There is less chance," thinks the Trenton Times, "for the Colbyites to elect three Assemblymen in Union county next November than there is for the Republicans to carry Hunterdon county." A year ago The Times would doubtless have said the same thing about the Colbyites in Essex county. But Colb y won, at the primaries and at the election, and the Colby reform movement has spread with phenomenal rapidity ever since that time. In Union county the most popular candidate for Assemblyman is Everard K. Tucker, because he had the courage and the independence to stand by the Colby reform principles. Tillman, of Rahway, was thought to be something of a reformer, but he stuck by the "regulars," right or wrong, through thick and thin, with such desperate tenacity that he is now suspected of having had his eye on some good, fat appointment, which he feared he might lose if he showed any leanings toward reform. As for Leader Perkins, of Westfield, there is already such a strong public sentiment against him, because of his weak-kneed subserviency to the machine and the corporation interests, that if he gets the nomination he will be cut from Summit to Rahway and from the Staten Island Sound to the Somerset county line. Union county gives promise of some stupendous surprises next fall, and the "regulars" are already shaking in their boots.—Newark News.

DECORATION DAY.

A nation again breathes its honors to those
Who under the greensward in death's sleep repose;
Who cheerfully thought it was worthy to give
Their lives that in union their country might live.

From hillside and valley, from mountain and plain;
From palace and cot, loyal men came again;
The peaceful vocations of every-day life
Were changed in a moment to warfare and strife.

The tenderest links that 'round us have grown,
The dead comrades prized in homes of their own,
But they left every loving and earth-clinging tie,
To do but their duty and nobly to die.

And today o'er this broad land their comrades who passed
Through the fierce fires of battle, to come home at last,
Do assemble to pay one more tribute of worth
To the heroes who sleep beneath the green earth.

As survivors lay May flowers on each soldier's grave,
They will think how they died as true men and brave;
And sacred, sweet mem'ries in hearts shall find room
When the flowers on their graves no longer shall bloom.

Standing then on the spot where old comrades are laid,
Think again of the self-sacrifice they displayed;
And repeat by these flowers with their sweet scented breath,
That remembrance still makes them immortal in death.

Nor should we forget those in prison who died,
With no loving hands min'stering there by their side;
Nor those who were missing, whom love cannot trace,
To weep o'er the spot of their last resting place.

In graves lone and flowerless they're sleeping today
In the bright sunny Southland, unknown do they lay;
But sometime and somewhere, when life's work is o'er,
We hope for reunion where war is no more.

All honor to those, too, who've died since the war;
The crippled, diseased, showing many a scar.
In mem'ry's fond tablets, their names we enshrine
And love, with the flowers, on their mounds interwine.

Give no thought then at this time of creed or of sect,
But freshen each grave with the flowers of respect:
For they are old comrades through days that are past,
And their deeds are remembered while living shall last.

May the purpose for which all have gathered today,
Grow brighter and stronger as years pass away,
'Till it clusters in loyal hearts fragrant and deep,
Sweet as flowers we have brought this memorial to keep.

A MILLION MORE 'PHONES.

More Than Five Billion Calls a Year —San Francisco Was Best Equipped.

Washington, May 29.—Over a million more telephones were in use in the United States at the beginning of 1905 than two years before, according to a report just issues by the census office. In round numbers there were 2,315,000 in the country at the end of 1902 and 3,400,000 at the beginning of 1905. That this country is far ahead of Europe is told by figures showing Europe's entire equipment January 1, 1905, to have been less than 1,500,000—less than half the number in the United States.

There were over 5,000,000,000 'phone calls in 1902, of which nearly 121,000,000 were "long distance." Ohio led in the number of messages, although there were more "long distance" messages over Pennsylvania telephones than in any other State. San Francisco, with a telephone for each nine persons, was the best equipped city.

The report speaks of the effect of the telephone in reducing or checking the amount of telegraph business. It says the rates of the two systems for medium distances do not differ greatly, and for very long distances they are overwhelmingly in favor of the telegraph, if the message be taken as a unit. But, if the number of words exchanged be taken into account, as well as the time required for getting into communication, the telegraph is at a disadvantage.

But Bryan Declined.

EXCITING NIGHT FOR BOUND BROOK VAMPS.

Gallantry But Vainly They Fought, and a Garden Hose Defeated Them.

The wild alarm of a fire bell sounded Sunday night, and all Bound Brook turned out to see the vamps conquer a blaze in Leigh Bache's home.

"Smoke's comin' somewheres up Beechwood avenue!" exclaimed the man who sounded the alarm. "Soon as I seen it I rung the bell."

"Come on, what's the matter, you fellers! Want the town to burn up!" yelled a hatless man, running up to the headquarters of Eureka Hose Company No. 1.

"Hustle!" cried the Chief. "Here, you," to a red-headed man, "why don't you grab the rope?"

"Some one's got my helmet," objected the auburn-locked one. "I ain't goin' t' run with no machine less'n I git my helmet."

"Drat your helmet!" yelled the Chief.

It was "drated" and the glossy hose-cart rattled behind a dozen galloping heroes util on East street, going slower and slower. It finally stuck in the mud.

"Want a lift?" yelled Earl Englesbee, prancing by in his auto.

"Sure," cried the Chief, and in a moment more the hose-cart, fastened to teh auto, rose out of the mud bank like a skyrocket and sailed through the air for a couple of hundred feet before it touched ground. The firemen were left far in the rear. About fifteen feet of rope had been paid out and the apparatus swung back and forth over the entire road, nearly upsetting several times. Rubber coats, helmets, axes and lanterns fell off, and the trailing firemen had to stop and pick them up.

"Don't stop!" yelled the Chief.

Round corners the auto-propelled hose-cart went, the excitement increasing every minute.

"Come on, boys, it's quite a blaze!" yelled the Chief as he saw a little smoke over the trees.

Crossing the bridge on Union avenue the cart swerved and just missed crashing through the guard rail and falling into the water. Another lamp fell off, more rubber coats and helmets were scattered over the road.

At last the auto and the hose-cart stopped at a hydrant near the fire. A panting vamp ran up to the auto.

"Hey!" he cried. "Lost—wrench; can't—turn—hydrant on! Lend us—conkeywrench, will you?"

Rummaging in the auto, Englesbee found a spanner. The fireman rushed back with it, the hose was unreeled, attached to the hydrant and the water was about to be turned on.

"Hold up!" cried the Chief.

"What's the matter?" asked the vamp with the wrench.

"Fire's out!" replied the Chief. "They doused it with a garden hose before we got here. Take up and go home."

"If we'd got there soner we'd had chance to use our hose," growled the Chief after it was all over. "Now, I suppose, we'll have to wait another six months before we have a whack at a blaze. We need horses, that's what we need!"

WASHINGTON, N. J., FACES THE SEWERAGE QUESTION.

Residents Greatly Interested in the Matter, Which Will Be Discussed June 8.

Washington, N. J., May 29.—The sewerage question is now being brought prominently before the residents of this place as a result of the meeting at the opera house Friday night. The meeting was called in order to discuss the need and advisability of a sewerage system. At present there are only small private sewers and the cesspools and vaults are considered dangerous by the Board of Health. Dr. C. M. Williams was selected as chairman of the public meeting and George W. Miller secretary.

Speeches were made by Dr. F. P. McKinstay, Councilman Archie Lance, Mayor R. M. Petty, Oscar Jeffery and others. The need of an up-to-date system of sewerage was plainly shown, but it was thought best to have the taxpayers acquainted with the cost, needs and most advisable system for the borough.

Some preliminary work in regard to surveys, etc., has already been done, and a map, showing the various streets, prepared. The engineer made an encouraging report, as the location of Washington will not require many deep excavations. The engineer at the time of his report to the Common Council several months ago thought a good system could be installed for $50,000.

It was decided at the meeting to have a committee of five appointed to correspond with practical men in other towns that have sewerage systems and have such men come here and give talks, and thus get the value of others' experience in that line. Another meeting will be held June 8 at the opera house. The committee is composed of the following representative residents: Oscar Jeffery, Archie Lance, R. M. Petty, Dr. F. P. McKinstay and D. V. Wyckoff.

Harrisburg, May 29.—Chief Roderick, of the State Department of Mines, has issued an abstract from his annual report for 1905, giving figures on anthracite and bituminous coal.

The total number of anthracite tons mined was 62,441,134 for market, and 6,359,280 tons for steam and heat at the collieries; 1,420,140 tons were sold to local dealers or used by employes.

HOW HIS SALARY WAS INCREASED.

Colored Clergyman Got a Pointer From the Secretary of the Elizabethtown Water Company.

A certain colored clergyman in Elizabeth, after paying his water bill last week, while engaged in conversation with the ever-affable secretary of the water company, got an inspiration for a sermon. It happened this way:

"Do you know, Mr. Whelan," said the doctor to the genial secretary, "that as water comes from heaven free, no charge should be made for it?

"That is quite true," rejoined the water company's secretary, "you are not compelled to pay for water that comes down to us from above. You are at perfect liberty to take a pail and fill it anywhere along the river. For this nobody will attempt to make you pay. Water in the river is as free as the air we breathe."

"I know, sah," continued the divine, "that the water is free, sah, I should have to walk a long distance to procure it in that way. Besides, it would be very inconvenient and laborous for me to go after water in that manner."

"Well, doctor," added the secretary, "unless you pay our company for the water we furnish, I see no other way in which you can obtain it. Our company goes to great expense in boring into the depths of the earth to obtain a supply of pure water, and has to put in costly machinery to raise it to the surface and then force it through pipes into the houses of our patrons. The water is free, doctor, and all the charge we make is for the pumping."

"You have, sah, given me a valuable idea," responded the doctor; "I never before regarded the matter in that light. I shall, sah, avail myself of the new revelation and preach a sermon on the subject of things that are free."

The next Sunday morning, the doctor, after reading from the Scriptures, commenced his remarks by saying:

"Brethren, the Gospel, like water, is free, but you must pay something for my pumping it into you." Then the doctor narrated the incident that occurred in the water company's office, and the application was so forcibly and eloquently elucidated in the course of his sermon that the congregation has since decided to increase his salary.—Elizabeth Leader.

BEGGED IN TEARS IN COURT FOR CHILD.

"Better She Should Never Know She Had a Mother," Was Stern Judge's Reply.

At the close of a divorce suit brought before Vice-Chancellor Pitney, at Newark, yesterday, by John H. Wilson, of Jersey City, and after Mrs. Nellie Thompson, of Jersey City, had testified that the wife, Loretta, had admitted to her that she had passed as the wife of another man than Wilson in New York, Mrs. Wilson took the stand and admitted the charge. Then, in tears, she begged the court for the custody of her four-year-old daughter, a pretty child, who was in court with her father. The Vice-Chancellor gave the child to the father, with this remark:

"It is beter that she should never see or never even know she had a mother."

Both parents wept while the court was deciding the question. After he had made his ruling, the old Vice-Chancellor called the little one to him, lifted her upon his knee and talked kindly to her, and was rewarded with a kiss.

In his testimony Wilson told how, after the daughter had once before been placed in his care by the court, Mrs. Wilson had abducted her, but had been compelled by the court to surrender the child.

SHE FELLED WIFE-BEATER.

Mrs. Merkle Turned Upon Brutal Husband with a Water-Bottle.

The worm turned in Philip Merkle's home, No. 298 Camden street, Newark, Sunday.

Merkle has been in the habit of getting drunk and beating his usually submissive wife. Saturday he drove her and her children from home. Taking the little ones to her sister, in Brooklyn, the wife returned to her husband Sunday. He knocked her down and then got a razor.

When Mrs. Merkle saw her frenzied husband approaching with the razor she sprang up, seized a water bottle and felled him with it. He was taken to the City Hospital unconscious.

When Judge Sweeney heard Mrs. Merkle's story and obtained corroboration from neighbors, he remarked that Merkle had received no more than he merited. A complaint of atrocious assault and battery was entered against him.

VEAL POISONS FAMILY.

Union Township Residents Ate Meat Supposed to Be Tainted.

Elizabeth, May 29.—The family of M. M. Williams, of Union township, partook of veal Saturday afternoon that, it is said, was tainted, and, as a result, his wife, his eighteen-month-old daughter and a cousin, a lad eleven years old, whose home is in Orange, but who was on a visit to his relatives, were all poisoned. Mrs. Williams, it is said, did not partake of the veal, and, consequently, was not affected.

Other speakers will follow, taking subjects appropriate to the occasion. One of the important features of the day will be a sword contest between the Irish volunteer champion, J. W. Dillon, vice-president of Seton Hall College, and Samuel Macdonald, a member of Newark Aerie, No. 44. The eulogy was delivered by Colonel D. F. Collins, of the local aerie. President T. Foster Callahan presided. The theatre was crowded to the doors. Six members died during the past year.

Dragged by Newark Auto.

Trenton, May 29.—Run down by an automobile belonging to H. L. Harrison, of Newark, Sebel Petroni, a street cart employee, was frightfully lacerated by being dragged nearly a block over the macadam highway. He also suffered several bad scalp wounds and other injuries. Mr. Harrison took him to a hospital and promised to return and pay the bills.

Drinks Poison to End Life.

MEN ARE POWERLESS

To Fight Against Disease Unless They Strike at the Underlying Cause.

To treat Dandruff, and Falling Hair, with irritants or oils on which a parasitic germ will prosper, is like scooping water from the ocean to prevent the tide from rising.

You must kill the Dandruff Germ.

Newbro's Herpicide does this because it is specially made to do that very thing.

When the germ is removed, the hair has no choice but to resume healthy growth and beauty.

"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

CARE OF JEWELS.

Many American women possess the value of a king's ransom locked within their jewel case.

The possession of such priceless articles is a constant source of worry unless the proper precautions are taken to insure their safe keeping.

To enjoy any peace the owner of valuable jewelry must:

First, send it to the jeweler every six months.

Second, keep the most valuable things in the bank, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Third, having a routine for removing and putting away jewels.

Fourth, have a distinct receptacle for each ornament, so that an empty space tells at once if it is missing.

Fifth, insure all valuables against theft.

Sixth, if a loss is discovered and an advertisement printed, offer a sufficient reward.

It is not only thieves one has to guard against for the protection of their jewels, but the valuables themselves require constant attention.

Large and heavy stones must be looked at frequently by a jeweler or the setting becomes loosened and the stone falls out and is lost.

Turquoise must never be allowed to touch soap or grease, though Orientals sometimes say it improves them to lie for an hour or so in clear, cold water.

Pearls need wearing, and to improve the condition of their skin nothing is better than to place them in a tumbler of sea water, and put the tumbler in the sun.

People suffering from certain diseases must never wear pearls. They have been known when set in a ring to perish down to their settings. Those taking certain drugs must lay their pearls aside for the time, or they will discolor.

When arriving at a hotel the best thing to do is to give all jewels, money and valuables at once into the keeping of the manager.

If jewels are properly cared for they should be thoroughly examined by an expert every six months to make sure that the setting, the pins, and the fastenings are in good order.

It is a dangerous place to pack valuables in a small hand bag unless that bag is fastened to the wrist or waist, for nothing is easier to forget than a little bag when hurrying to catch a train.

When removing a wrap it is advisable to take notice that brooches are not unclasped. Valuable jewels are often unfastened by the contact of an outer garment.

LOVE IN REAL LIFE.

If a novelist ended a story the way a real life love story has ended in Providence, R. I., the women would say, "How unnatural." Twenty years ago W. R. Smith married an 18-year-old girl. He was 53 years old at the time. They have now two grown up children and Mrs. Smith has fallen in love with a young man by the name of Alexander Estay. Mr. Smith instead of making a fuss over it talked it over with his wife and her lover. He said he was 73 years old and wanted a home; that if they were bound to love each other he would secure a divorce, but wanted to make his home with them. They agreed and all live in the same house. The father is devoted to his children and his wife is devoted to her new husband.

A Boston love story, which has found its way into the papers tells how Grover Cleveland White, 18 years old, was engaged to Juinette Swanson. The two quarrelled and Juinette talked sassy to him. Her mother took his part and besides that her mother cooked his meals, mended his clothes and washed and ironed for him. He has married the mother. She is 42 years old, but her young husband says she does not look more than 25.—Atchison Globe.

DRYING THE HAIR.

More important, perhaps, than the washing is the drying of the hair, says the Brooklyn Times. This should be done with warm, soft towels. Never use Turkish towels, as they are very apt to tangle the hair and catch it in their meshes, thus putting it out. They are more apt also to leave lint on the head than are towels with a smooth surface. Always dry your hair, if possible, in the sun, as this gives a gloss and sheen than can be obtained in no other way. Let the direct rays shine upon it, and never put it up until it is as dry as before you washed it. In drying the hair it is well to grasp it by the ends and shake it, as in this way the moisture is more quickly evaporated.

SETTLING THE COFFEE.

Few persons are left who use egg for settling boiled coffee. Boiled coffee, by the way, is a misnomer, for no good coffee is ever boiled. It is brought only to the boiling point and checked there. But the so called coffee, a term which distinguishes it from the drip kind, settles itself without any difficulty if handled gently and left to stand a couple of minutes before pouring. A tablespoon or two of cold water turned in at the last minute is a safeguard, but is seldom, if ever, necessary.

CHAPTER XXII.

CONCERNING CONSOLIDATED COPPER AND PETER BINES AS MATCHMAKERS.

Consolidated Copper at 110. The day after his talk with Uncle Peter, Percival through three different brokers gave orders to buy 10,000 shares.

"I tried to give Relpin an order for 5,000 shares over the telephone," he said to Uncle Peter, "but they're used to those fifty and a hundred thousand dollar orders down in that neighborhood. He seemed to think I was josh-ing him. When I told him I meant it and was ready to take practically all he could buy for the next few weeks or so, I think he fell over in the booth and had to be helped out."

Orders for 20,000 more shares in 1,000 share lots during the next three weeks sent the stock to 115. Yet wise men in the street seemed to fear the stock. They were waiting cautiously for more definite leadings. The plunging of Bines made rather a sensation, and when it became known that his holdings were large and growing almost daily larger, the waning confidence of a speculator here and there would be revived.

At 115 the stock rested again, with few sales recorded. A certain few of the elect regarded this calm as ominous. It was half believed by others that the manipulations of the inner ring would presently advance the stock to a sensational figure, and that the reckless young man from Montana might be acting upon information of a definite character. But among the veteran speculators the feeling was conservative. Before buying they preferred to await some sign that the advance had actually begun. The conservatives were mostly the bald old fellows. Among the illusions that rarely survive a man's hair in Wall street is the one that "sure things" are necessarily sure.

Percival watched Consolidated Copper go back to 110, and bought again —10,000 shares. The price went up two points the day after his orders were placed, and two days later dropped back to 110. The conservatives began to agree with the younger set of speculators, in so far as both now believed that the stock was behaving in an unnatural manner, indicating that "something was doing" —that manipulation behind the scenes was under way to a definite end. The conservatives and the radicals differed as to what this end was. But then, Wall street is nourished almost exclusively upon differences of opinion.

Percival now had accounts with five firms of brokers.

"Relpin," he explained to Uncle Peter, "is a foxy boy. He's foxier than a fox. He not only tried to hedge on what he told me—said he'd been drinking absinthe frappe that day, and it always gets him dreamy—but he actually had the nerve to give me the opposite steer. Of course he knows the deal clear to the center, and Shepler knows that he knows, and he must have been afraid Shepler would suspect he'd been talking. So I only traded a few thousand shares with him. Funny about him, too. I never heard before of his drinking anything to speak of. And there isn't a man in the street comes so near to knowing what the big boys are up to. But we're on the winning cards all right. I get exactly the same information from a dozen confidential sources; some of it I can trace to Relpin, and some of it right to Shepler himself."

"Course I'm leavin' it all to you," answered Uncle Peter; "and I must say I do admire the way you take hold and get things on the move. You don't let any grass grow under your heels. You got a good head fur them things. I can tell by the way you start out—just like your pa fur all the world. I'll feel safe enough about my money as long as you keep your health. If only you got the nerve. I've known men would play a big proposition half through and then get scared and pull out. Your pa wa'n't that way. He could get a proposition right by its handle every time, and they never come any too big fur him; the bigger they was, better he liked 'em. That's the kind of genius I think you got. You ain't afraid to take a chance."

Percival beamed modestly under praise of this sort, which now came to him daily.

"It's good discipline for me, too, Uncle Peter. It's what I needed, something to put my mind on. I needed a new interest in life. You had me down right. I wasn't doing myself a bit of good with nothing to occupy my mind."

"Well, I'm mighty glad you thought up this stock deal. It'll give you good business habits and experience, say nothing of doubling your capital."

"And I've gone in with Burman on his corn deal. He's begun to buy, and he has it cinched this time. He'll be the corn king all right by June 1; don't make any mistake on that. I thought as long as we were plunging so heavy in Western Trolley and Union Cordage, along with the copper, we might as well take the side line of corn. Then we won't have our eggs all in one basket."

"All right, son, all right! I'm—in' you. A corner in corn—a corner in wild oats any day; anything to keep you straight, and doin' something. I don't care how many millions you pile up! I hear the Federal Oil people's back of the copper deal."

"That's right; the oil crowd and Shepler. I had it straight from Relpin that night. They're negotiating now with the Rothschilds to limit the output of the Rio Tinto mines. They'll end by controlling them, and then—well, we'll have a roll of the yellow boys—say, we'll have to lay quiet for a year just to count it."

"Do it good while you're doin' it," urged Uncle Peter, cheerfully. "I rely so much on your judgment, I want you to get action on my stuff, too. I got a couple millions that ought to be workin' harder than they are."

"Good; I didn't think you had so much gambler in you."

"It's fur a worthy purpose, son. And it seems too bad that Pishy can't pull out something with her bit, when it's to be had so easy. From what that spangle-faced beau of hers tells me there's got to be some expensive plumbing done in that castle he gets sawed off on to him."

"We'll let sis in, too," exclaimed her brother, generously, "and ma could use a little more in her business. She's sitting up nights to corner all the Amalgamated Hard-luck on the island. We'll pool issue, and say, we'll make those Federal Oil pikers think we've gnawed a corner off the subtreasury. I'll put an order in for 20,000 more shares to-morrow—among the three stocks. And then we'll have to see about getting all our capital here. We'll need every cent of it that's loose; and maybe we'd better sell off some of those dead-wood stocks."

The 20,000 shares were bought by the following week. 5,000 of them being Consolidated Copper. 10,000 Western Trolley and 5,000 Union Cordage. Consolidated Copper fell off two points upon rumors, traceable to no source, that the company had on hand a large secret supply of copper, and was producing largely in excess of the demand every month.

Percival told Uncle Peter of these rumors, and chuckled with the easy confidence of a man who knows secrets.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

MEMORIAL DAY'S GAME

All Nationals to Play Twice With Union County Champions.

"HANK" IS TO PITCH

Christy's Brother To Be In the Box for Visitors—Phil. Smith to Twirl for Home Team.

If the Plainfield baseball public is desirous of seeing two first-class exhibitions tomorrow a couple of trips to Crescent Oval will suffice the most assiduous of baseball appetites. The All Nationals, the crack semi-professional travelling aggregation of the metropolis, with the much-tooted "Hank" Mathewson, will be the opponents of the Union county champions. The visiting team will include the pick of the Sunday teams playing in Brooklyn and New York. In its efforts to provide good sport for Plainfield the efforts of Manager Daab and the Plainfield Baseball Association should be appreciated by the fans by turning out en masse to see this great double-deck holiday attraction.

The Plainfields are just now playing the fastest kind of ball and have yet to lose their first game. The All National combinaion is the most formidable club yet to face the locals, and with Metcalf and Mathewson in the box, they are tipped a strong proposition. Phil. Smith, who has been pitching phenomenal ball, will twirl one game while Willie Deegan will go on the slab for his first full contest in Plainfield this year.

Among the All Nationals will be seen a number of familiar faces, including the only "Paddy" Cotter, who will be in his accustomed place behind the bat. Courtney, who formerly played third base for Plainfield, will be in his old position, while the hard hitting McGoey will cover left field. George Mallen, known to all the inhabitants of Westfield and Plainfield, will also be present at his old stand in center garden. "Jigs" Donahue, the Brooklyn cop who made the cranks laugh heartily last season by his vaudeville stunts on the coaching lines, is funnier than ever. He will again play first base and try to make home runs. In a nut shell the visitors will present an all-star line up which is hard to be excelled. The morning game will start at 10:30 and the afternoon contest at 3:30 p. m. The batting order of the two teams will be as follows:

All Nationals—Cotter, c; Courtney, 3b; McGoey, lf; Mallen, cf; Donahue, 1b; McGrath, ss; Hoag, 2b; Gorman, rf; Mathewson and Metcalf, pitchers.

In Williamsport, Pa., baseball patriotism runs high. At the end of last season there was a deficit of $6,500. The fans went down into their pockets, paid up, and had enough left to start a team off this season.

Billy Piddington, the catcher of the Dunellen team, wants a try out with the Jersey Central team.

Saturday was a day of extra inning contests, Williams defeating Dartmouth, 1 to 0, in 16 innings; Somerville beating the Lehigh team, of Easton, 3 to 2, 10 innings; New Haven beating Bridgeport, 3 to 2, 18 innings, and Plainfield beating out Westfield, 4 to 3, 14 innings.

Because of their gilt edged game Saturday, Manager Daab has opened negotiations with the Westfields for a second contest on Crescent Oval on June 16.

That Plainfield has a prize twirler in Phil. Smith is plainly to be seen in the last four games he has pitched where he struck out 50 opposing batsmen, an average of 12½ per game. His effectiveness is illustrated very aptly in Saturday's game against Westfield, when there were three balls knocked to the outfield, including the fly that Heffron failed to get. By these performances Smith easily holds the slab record in Plainfield. With a heady catcher like Jack O'Neil to coach him he is bound to develop into a star of the glittering type. Smith fields his position in faultless style and handles the bat well for a beginner in fast company.

McGee, of the Westfields, looks like real good timber judging by the way he handled himself at short. He accepted in all fourteen chances without a flaw. Tommy Barry, the old Westfield third baseman, never played faster than that.

"Warry" MacLaughlin is back in the box again after an enforce absence because of a lame arm. He has won both of the games he has officiated in this season.

Rain brought havoc to baseballdom Sunday, not to say anything of depleted pocketbooks for the players.

The East Millstone team defeated Metuchen on Saturday by a score of 22 to 2. Minford and Overton, of this city, was the battery for the winning team.

The Bound Brook Laurels will play the Scotch Plains team at Scotch Plains tomorrow morning and in the afternoon the 'Plains aggregation will play a game with the married men of that place.

WHERE PROPERTY WILL INCREASE IN VALUE.

THERE are Model Houses being erected on the most beautiful and attractive building sites in the town of Westfield.

A more beautiful picture cannot be conceived than the view from houses now erected, looking in the direction of the Blue Ridge and Watchung Mountains. Nature has done more for this site whose hills and rolling slopes she alone can furnish, than for that of any other land within 25 miles of Greater New York.

We are only beginning to add a few artistic touches to Nature's handiwork. Trees and shrubbery will be planted and in a few years hence the property will be as beautiful as long established parks with their luxuriant foliage.

VETERANS ADDRESS THE CHILDREN OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Memorial Day was celebrated in all the public schools of the city and borough this morning by appropriate exercises. At the Plainfield High School, Rev. Frank Fletcher, of New Market, in charge of a body of veterans, addressed the pupils in an interesting manner. The singing of patriotic songs by the school completed the programme. The auditorium was appropriately decorated with American flags for the occasion.

The different hours and the various schools visited are as follows: Bryant School, 9 o'clock; Stillman School, 11 o'clock, Past Department Commander W. C. Smith in charge; Whittier School, 12 o'clock noon; Washington School, 1:30 o'clock, T. O. RECORD BREAKING CROWD

Carnival Did the Biggest Business of Its Run Yesterday.

GOOD WORK BY P. B. C.

Business College Pupils Boomed Thingse In Lively and Picturesque Style at the Matinee.

All records for attendance were broken at the Carnival last night. There was a full-sized holiday crowd out, and the grounds were thick with pleasure-seekers from early in the evening until after 11 o'clock. General Manager Miller estimated the attendance at 10,000.

It was a big day all around. Although the morning brought no business, the crowd came with a rush after dinner, and the matinee was as lively as most of the nights had been last week. All the attractions did big business.

The pupils of the Plainfield Business College were in charge of the attractions in the afternoon. They did splendid service, and won warm words from the management. The latter was so delighted with their work that a special request for their services at the last matinee on Saturday was made to Principal Herr very soon after they began. They made a picturesque appearance, the girls wearing red mortar-board caps and red sashes, and the young men red college caps, with P. B. C. in white letters on the front of them.

The young people who served are as follows:

Harriet Crannell, Lucy Herlich, Adeline Mernagh, A. H. VanArsdale, Norman A. Wolcott, Philip Miesner, Raymond Terry, Robert Curen, Harry R. Giles, Lewis M. Willis, A. G. Daudt, Georgiana Steele, Ethel B. Young, Mabel Field, Florence Koehler, Helen Tybor, Claude Prall, Joseph G. J. Cubberley, Elsie McCullough, Miss Arnold, M. S. Voorhees, C. H. Conners, A. C. Siedentop, Edith R. Runk, Margaret Debele, Robert Dentz, Fred Pasch, Mary Naylor, Mary A. Baldwin, Anna Mathews, Mary D. Foreman, Lulu Heideloff, Emma L. Sullivan, B. K. Davis, Helen V. Burns, T. J. Broscoe, Charles T. Leland, Jr., Frank Stodd, Jas. R. Harris, Emily Guerrier, Elizabeth Harkins, C. Rittenhouse, L. Kadish, F. Moledozky, William LaTourette, Clara L. Stryker, A. E. Terhune, Herman Klinsman, H. J. Pasch, Alex. D. Galloway, William Arnold, R. A. Parker, J. Parent, Joseph Vanazio, Mary T. Davis, C. Norman Amerman, Herbert E. Gray, M. N. Kenny, John Caulfield, Charles L. P. Smith, May L. Shotwell, Robert Skinner, Daniel MacAfee, Gertrude Davis, Mary Carney, Clyde D. Burgess, Fred Coles, Frank Siedler, Nellie G. Gray, Benjamin Hurwetz, Harry Porter.

The Knights of Columbus were in charge again last night, and they were as active and successful as at their first appearance. The workers included Albert Traynor, John Traynor, A. E. Kenney, William H. Schaeffer, J. V. Caffrey, J. K. Burke, David B. Doyle, John Callahan, George Taylor, Daniel McAfee, A. A. Cannon, D. F. Dugan, James Forristel, John Hurley, James Saverd, P. J. Connolly, J. F. O'Keefe, Richard Birmingham, Peter F. Duffy, John Connolly, John Dineen, Michael Higgins, Michael Regan, J. J. Hines.

New bills are on in all the big shows this week. The circus did a tremendous business last night, and there is no likelihood of a let-up before the end. A new sword-walker, rejoicing in the name of Metora, is at Major Maze Edwards' curio tent. A palmist's tent is an entirely new feature for the week.

David C. Smalley got the first big prize from the Carnival store last night. She drew the set of harness.

Chill winds kept the attendance down Tuesday night, but a crowd of about 3,000 came to the grounds, and gave the barkers and attractions enough business to keep them happy. The Knight Templars were in charge of the attractions, and they hustled things in lively style.

Under the command of Robert Rushmore, twenty of them, clad in their fatigue uniforms, marched to the grounds from their lodge room to the grounds. There were not quite enough of them to fit out the attractions with full compliments of ticket sellers and shouters, but those who did go out and work were fully up to the high mark set by the other organizations.

The Knights on duty included Robert Rushmore, Robert Meeker, A. D. Findlay, Charles Sturtevant, Edward Nelson, Hugh Knox, Clarence Goss, F. J. Pope, Gilbert Fletcher, W. W. Warnock, J. Stephen Higham, W. A. Pinto, George Macintyre, P. H. Macintyre, Harry L. Hall, Asa Collier, Fred W. Butler and S. H. Craig.

Rev. C. E. Dunn, of Philadelphia, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Dunn.

LAY SHAFT CORNERSTONE

CHAS. N. FOWLER SPOKE

Congressman As Orator—Former Governor F. M. Voorhees As Master of Ceremonies.

The cornerstone of the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument at Elizabeth was laid at 11 o'clock yesterday morning by the Grand Lodge of Free Masons of New Jersey. A procession was formed at Masonic Temple, in Broad street, of all the Masonic lodges in Union county, those of this city. Headed by the Grand Lodge and Datter's Band, it marched to Military Square. About seven hundred Free Masons were in line. Ulric Dahlgren Post and Judson Kilpatrick Post, G. A. R., with Camp Sewell, Spanish War Veterans, as guests, also marched to the monument site. The marchers were met at the grandstand by Mayor Berry, the Elizabeth and county officials, the members of the monument association and many invited guests.

The exercises opened with an invocation by the Rev. John V. Ellson, pastor of the East Baptist church, of that city. This was followed by a short address by Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, who presided at the event. Datter's band then played "America." Next came the laying of the stone by Most Worshipful Grand Master Walter Chandler, of Elizabeth, assisted by the officers of the grand lodge. When the work was completed the grand master delivered a brief address. The band then played a medley of patriotic airs.

The oration was delivered by Congressman Charles Newell Fowler, of the 5th District, of New Jersey.

Congressman Fowler reviewed the progress of the country, especially as it pertained to New Jersey. He began with the settlement by the Danes of Bergen county, and then took up the different wars that had brought greatness and power to the country. He praised the soldiers for whose honor Memorial Day had been established as a holiday. Then, speakng of the soldiers, he said:

"Enduring, indeed eternal and universal, as is the influence of their work, it is fit that we meet upon occasions like this, almost a half century removed from the hour of conflict, recount their achievements of valor, and erect this testimonial of our faith in their love of country, self-sacrifice and devotion to the institutions of liberty and self-government. For a few years more the monument here erected will receive the grateful glance of an old soldier, who, tottering by, now and then may linger at its foot to revel in memories of the call to arms, the enlistment, the camp, the march, the battle, the comrades dying on every side, the surrender, the glad news of the Republic sived, the sweet homecoming, the new start in the race of life, the acquaintance of every duty, the willingness to depart and join in the bivouac on the other shore. Soon, too sonn, the sun will have set for the last one of the boys in blue.

"Today the spirit of Abraham Lincoln pervades the whole fatherland. The Confederates still living, and two generations of sons of Confederates, are indeed as grateful as we for the preservation of the Union; indeed as thankful as we that we, not they, won; indeed as proud as we of our true national glory. Our flag of 1861 is indeed their flag of 1906—theirs to defend, at the cost of their last drop of blood.

"The stupendous and gigantic developments in the material world through inventions and discoveries have for the time being overwhelmed all other than commercial considerations; and man, seemingly, has been put in the scales against dollars and cents. The whirlpool of gain is sweeping us from the rock of rectitude; and for the moment all ethical implications seem abandoned.

Meanwhile, through changed conditions, laws once just have become obsolete; statutes granting unfair advantage have been secured through the intrigue of self-interest, and wise and just legislation has been prevented by those enjoying special privileges.

"Indeed, so dulled and debauched is the moral sense of many by mercenary creed, that there is a constant search to find or effort to secure legal authority to do these things which are utterly at variance with ethical right; and that function once called a conscience finds ample approval for its obliquity because, forsooth, it is in accordance with law, though that same law was passed for the special purpose through chicane, cunning and corruption.

"Thus it may often happen that through the forms of law property

GOVERNOR STOPS FIGHT

Fitzsimmons Gets Word That Match is Off When About to Leave for Scene of Battle.

MANY DISAPPOINTED

Postponed Until Next Wednesday—Trying to Get Pennypacker to Let Fight Go.

Because of opposition on the part of Governor Pennypacker, the fight between "Bob" Fitzsimmons and "Tommy" Burns, scheduled to take place before the Tuxedo Club at Essington, near Philadelphia, Tuesday night, was put over until next Wednesday night. The decision to postpone it was reached Tuesday afternoon after a conference between "Tom" O'Rourke, the match-maker, members of the club, and William J. Counihan, Fitzsimmons' representative. Mr. Counihan immediately wired "Bob" and the telegram reached him just as he and his trainers were boarding a train at the North Avenue station.

"That's the fourth time in my career," said the lanky pugilist, "that I've trained for a fight and been disappointed. I'm rather sorry this time as I've worked hard and wanted to have the matter settled."

"Bob" and his men returned to the Dunellen farm and at once started to keep up the training. It is thought by O'Rourke that if the conditions surrounding the fight are made clear to Pennypacker, he will allow it to proceed. If not the matter will be taken before the Supreme Court. The Tuxedo members are positive that all opposition will be removed before Wednesday night and they have continued the sale of tickets. The advance receipts Tuesday afternoon when the postponement was made known had reached $23,000. According to the terms, the fighters are to divide one half the gross amount between them, sixty per cent. going to the winner.

Manager Counihan and a large number of Plainfielders who went to the Quaker City in anticipation of seeing the fight, made the best of the situation and "did the town." They were taken in hand by "Sam" Cunningham, treasurer of the New Plainfield theatre, whose home is in Philadelphia, and William Vail, treasurer of the Grand Opera House, who escorted them to many points of interest. One of the places they visited was the new clubhouse of the Elks, considered the finest in America, where the reception committee entertained them.

HARTRIDGE GRADUATION

Rev. Dr. Raymond Talks on Aims of Education Work at Annual Commencement.

EXERCISES AT CASINO

The commencement exercises of the Hartridge School, held at the Casino at 10:30 o'clock this morning, attracted a large number of parents and friends. The pupils of the school occupied seats near the stage, while the faculty, together with the speaker for the occasion, Rev. Dr. Andrew V. V. Raymond, president of Union College, and Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, who assisted in the exercises, occupied the stage. The exercises, in charge of Miss Hartridge, were opened with Scripture reading and prayer by Dr. Zelie, who afterwards introduced Dr. Raymond. In beginning his address, Dr. Raymond remarked that it was an occasion that lends itself to congratulations, that those present were there to do honor to the graduates on a day which belongs to them. The speaker said that it was on the aims and purpose of educational work that he desired to talk. In part he said:

"The great end of our educational work and the value of it is determined by our relation to life itself. Heresy is the old story of the struggle of the material against the spiritual, the seen against the unseen and when we make this all-important we get into error. What is the great end of life? Is it not its own enlargement which is according to the law of nature. Life is the unfolding of latest energy. The full corn in the ear is the largest expression of its own vitality. The same can be said of man, where life is the largest possible expression of those powers. This brings us to the mystery in life itself. A definition of this might be that life is active correspondence with environment.

"In the plant the one degree of life is the sunlight. In the animal there is the field of activity, a higher degree, but in man we find that intelligent moral consciousness which is still higher and which is determined by the range of sympathies and our capacities. The greatest possible good is to be found in the largest possible development of ourselves.

"A rich man may be a great man by his test, yet in the world he may be small intellectually. On the other hand a man may have little of the material yet enjoy God's great world to a far greater degree. The educated man or woman is a more agreeable companion and this fact is a mark of distinction and gives one the ability to choose the best things and determine the range of life.

"In the beginning every one is free to choose for himself, but as a rule one does not choose the least for the greatest and if our conception of life is right, we rise in our estimate of values. Every day a man gives up the least for the greatest and by our choice is determined our conduct and character. What a man gets for his money is often more important to him and from the way a man uses his money you learn his ideals. The same is true of time. Think of the money and time that is wasted. Again we come to the law of exchange upon which is determined the greatest value.

"Honor is one of God's best gifts to man. It is something that one cannot see, taste or wear and yet it is sacrificed daily for things you can see, taste and touch. We should develop our appreciation of relative values. Take for instance the study of mathematics. We often ask why should girls study them when not one in a thousand use them after leaving school. Yet they call for close logical reasoning and helps to fix the habit of reasoning clearly. It does not require much thought to propose a question, but it takes ability to solve it.

"The same may be said of language. This the art of expression and permits clearness of speech and writing. What do we study language for, especially foreign languages? Some no doubt think that they will be able to converse in these languages, yet I never knew a person to converse in French or German from the instruction givin in school or college. Yet the study of language enriches the mind. The Greeks regarded the study of these objects an absolute necessity, not a luxury, and essential to education, the development of the moral and spiritual nature is the largest thing in the world. It is not enough to teach or demand moral law. This can be made very repulsive. It is the duty to awaken and appreciation of ethical principles.

"This brings us to the question, what kind of a school is the best?

SENIOR PLAY A SUCCESS

Schiller's "The Nephew as Uncle" Was Enthusiastically Received.

DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

S. B. Howe, Jr., Seen in Leading Role—The Star Performers—The Entire Cast Well Trained.

Seldom has an entertainment at the Plainfield High School been greeted so enthusiastically as was the senior play, "The Nephew As Uncle," by Schiller, Tuesday night, in the school auditorium. The house was well filled and the general verdict was that the performance was worthy of all the good things said about it.

The plot was an involved one and it is surprising that the members of the cast took it up as well as they did. The play was in three acts.

The cast as a whole and individually performed excellently. Samuel B. Howe, Jr., of the faculty, and leader of the P. H. C. musical clubs, was seen to advantage, in the role of young Dorsigney.

Individual hits among the students were made by Miss Elizabeth Winter as Mme. Dorsigney, Arthur Whitney as Champagne and Milton St. John as the drunken postillion. Miss Wniter as the aged and impatient Madame, showed an intellectual interpretation of a difficult part and much credit is due to her.

The cast was made up and costumed excellently by New York firms, particularly the French sub-officers, Heaume and Rubenstein.

The cast of characters was:

Col. Dorsigney, the uncle, George M. Rittenhouse; Mme. Dorsigney, Elizabeth Winter; Sophie, Bertha C. Hill; Francis Dorsigney, the nephew, S. B. Howe, Jr.; Mme. Mirville, Louise Kline; Lomeuel, engaged to Sophie, H. F. Freeman; Valcour, Milton St. John; Notary, Hudson Burr; First Officer, Abe H. Rubenstein; Second Officer, Clarence Heaume; Postillion, Milton St. John; Champagne, Arthur Whitney; Jasmin, Robert Rugen.

The class is due in great measure for the success of the affair to the coaches, Miss S. L. Bass and S. B. Howe, Jr., of the faculty, and Miss A. P. Jackson, physical director of the gymnasium. They were the ones who whipped the play into the finished form in which it was presented Tuesday night.

The school orchestra furnished music between the acts.

WILL ADDRESS DOCTORS.

Dr. Groszmann To Speak Before American Academy of Medicine.

The most representative body of American physicians, the American Academy of Medicine, will hold its annual convention at Boston, June 1-4. Among those who will speak is Dr. Maximilian P. E. Groszmann, of Watchung Crest, who has been invited to address the convention on his special work. The title of his paper, which will be read on Monday, June 4, is "The Training of Mentally and Morally Defective Children."

The entire session on that day is devoted to a symposium on the co-operation of physician and educator in the training of children, under the direction of Dr. S. A. Knopf, of New York. As such a co-operation has been cherished dream of Dr. Groszmann for many years past—he was the first one in this country to advocate the establishment of the office of school physicians—this meeting is to him a very gratifying testimony of the correctness of his position.

WATCHUNG CLUB RACES

H. A. Bourne's "Red Light" Again Wins Watchung Cup, But on a Sort of Fluke.

DR. KNOTT'S HORSE 2ND

Plenty of Falls in the Steeplechases With No Serious Results—Farmers' Event Proves Exciting.

Ideal weather conditions and a fast track, coupled with a large attendance, made the Watchung Hunt Club's second annual steeplechase meeting, yesterday afternoon, a highly successful affair. It was held at the Gentlemen's Driving Park and fully 700 enthusiasts from this city, New York, Newark, Elizabeth and other places were present. The meet is to be continued next Saturday afternoon and another large crowd is expected.

There were six events on the card and as a rule they contained excitement in some form or other. Interest centered chiefly in the race for the Watchung cup and it would have been the best of the day but was marred by a mistake on the part of most of the riders. The race was a steeplechase for horses that have been regularly hunted with the Watchung Hunt, to be ridden by members of the club. The course was about two miles and a half over fair hunting country, which meant that barriers in the centre of the track had to be gone over twice before going under the wire. It was believed that every rider so understood but all but two thought that the barriers were to be taken once.

There were eight entries in all and the horses got away in a bunch, remaining so for nearly a mile. Charles W. Fisk, astride "Apple Jack," looked like a sure winner, but he was one of those mistaken about the barriers and swung on the home-stretch too soon. He was followed by Robert R. Howard, of South Orange, on "Boo-Bar;" Chas. D. Freeman, of Colonia, on "Strongheart," and S. Harold Freeman, of Morristown, on "Telephone." This left but two horses to continue on as arranged, H. A. Bourne's "Red Light" and Dr. Knott's "Multum-in-Parvo," the remainder of the eight starters having dropped out. "Red Light" and "Multum-in-Parvo" flew over the ground in a way that brought every spectator to his feet, the former winning out by about two lengths. Of the four that came in too soon, "Apple Jack" was first, "Boo-Bar" second and "Strongheart" third. They were ruled out and the race was awarded "Red Light," thus making the cup Mr. Bourne's property as this horse won the same race last year. It was not made clear yesterday where the mistake was made about the length of the course.

In the other steeplechase events, those for the Middlesex and Hillside cups, there were numerous falls, but no one was hurt. In the Middlesex, "Bacchanal" belonging to Charles Pfizer, Jr., of Bernardsville, lost its jockey and continued around the course, hampering the leaders. It dropped out just before the finish.

The last race on the card, the Hillside, brought out only two entries, "Kersey," belonging to Louis Batjer, of Elizabeth, and "Perion," Charles Pfizer, Jr. This one proved to be more laughable than anything else as first "Kersey" refused to hold to the course, leaving "Perion" to go it alone. When the barriers were reached, "Perion" refused to take them and "Kersey" had a good chance to catch up but went wrong again just as the former got away. Mr. Batjer was forced to dismount and with the judge's consent, a stable boy took his place and finished the "race."

Plenty of amusement was caused by the farmers' race, five furlongs on the track for work horses belonging to farmers in the neighborhood of Plainfield. It was a new thing for these plebian animals and when the start was made, the unusual noises scared most of them to running away. One refused to make the first turn and went crashing through a picket fence into the paddock, throwing the rider. Of the others, a white gelding, "Tom," owned by Joseph S. Darby and ridden by Herbert Terry, and a clean-limbed bay "Bobby," belonging to F. S. Suydam with Fred Stover riding, took the race to themselves and kept together. "Tom" forged ahead at the finish and went under the wire an easy winner. The purse was for $40, of which $10 went to the second and $5 to the third.

The summary of the races was as follows:

First race—Netherwood cup, for ponies fourteen hands three inches and under, about three furlongs on the track; subscription of $10 each, of which sixty per cent. and the cup to the winner, and a forty per cent. to the second horse: First, Katie,

HONORED SOLDIER DEAD

Veterans Decorate the Graves And Hold Memorial Service.

PARADE IN MORNING

Col. Mason W. Tyler Orator of the Day—Chorus of Children a Feature.

Memorial Day was appropriately observed by Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., the Women's Relief Corps and many friends of the two organizations who appreciate the significance of the day. The weather was ideal for the morning parade and a large number of veterans joined in the annual march about the city, visiting the various cemeteries and placing flowers on the graves of the departed soldiers, who died in defence of their country. Throughout the line of march were to be seen many decorations in honor of the veterans.

After the various details visited the various cemeteries throughout Plainfield and vicinity, they returned to headquarters at 9:30 o'clock for the parade which started a half hour later. The line of march as already published in these columns, was followed. Past Commander I. L. McVoy was the marshal of the day, and the veterans had for their escore the members of Co. K, under command of Captain W. B. Martin. There were fifty-five members in line. Liberty Band, of this city, was also in line and furnished the music.

At the North Plainfield cemetery there was the decoration of graves and brief services of the grave of the late Edward C. Morse. From there the parade was continued to the Plainfield Avenue cemetery, where graves were decorated and another brief service held. These services were in charge of the officers of the Post and were very impressive. After the parade the veterans and Co. K were dismissed at Post Headquarters on East Front street.

The Post reassembled at headquarters at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon and proceeded to Reform Hall, where public Memorial Day exercises were held. By order of Commander Preston B. Goodfellow, Past Department Commander William C. Smith was the acting commander for these exercises and was master of ceremonies.

A large chorus choir of children sang patriotic songs under the directions of Dr. J. F. Berg, who was also the director of the Liberty Band, which rendered appropriate selections. There was the impressive service for the "unknown dead," and the reading of Memorial Day orders from National Headquarters, together with the reading of President Lincoln's address at Gettysburg by the adjutant, H. Craig Smith.

The special feature of the exercises was the address by Col. Mason W. Tyler, of this city, who was selected as the orator of the day. He gave an excellent talk, reviewing some of the most important scenes and incidents in connection with the struggles of the Civil War. He spoke of the meritorious work of the well-known commanders, and did not fail to pay just tribute to the rank and file for the honest and devoted services rendered. Col. Tyler also remembered the dead who fell in battle and dwelt at some length on the significance and importance of Memorial Day. The address was listened to intently by a large audience and was greatly enjoyed.

After the exercises the children's chorus was entertained in the basement of Reform Hall by the members of the Women's Relief Corps, who served refreshments. The women also prepared the flowers and bouquets used for decorating the graves and each veteran received a small bouquet in remembrance of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bleecker were at one time residents of this place and have many friends here who will join in the congratulatory occasion. Mrs. Bleecker is a sister of the late Mrs. William C. Buller, of East Front street.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The single men and married men of the Plains played a game of baseball yesterday afternoon to decide the question as to whether or not marriage is a failure. The single men convinced the benedicts that as far as the game of baseball went it was, although the game showed there are exceptions to the rule, that is, the longer a man is married the better he plays the game, but a benedict of only a year or two is still apt to be nervous and should stay out of the game for a while after taking the step. The benedicts lined up with some of the old familiar faces of 8 and 10 years ago, when Scotch Plains was putting up the real article of ball. Some of them now have boys of their own playing the game. Billy Lee at second, Ed. Hand at short, George Johnston in center field, Sam MacCauley behind the bat, John Alberts in the box, all showed that they improve as the cares of matrimony hang on. With the experience of another year or two of the cares and responsibilities of life "Bobby" Guttridge and "Jim" Pope will be in the same class. The single men put up the regular team which has been playing together for several weeks past: Eller, ss; Montross, 3b; Frentz, 1b; Fitzgerald, 2b; Miller, lf; Farley, cf; Ryan, rf; Johnston, p, and Mooney, c. The game, besides proving to be an amusing one, was an interesting contest, as the single men had no walkover although the score shows 8 to 2 in their favor. The benedicts went up in the air in the third and seventh innings and allowed three runs to cross the rubber each inning. Two were scored in their half of the first, but for five innings not a man made the circuit. The benedicts did their scoring in the first and third, S. MacCauley knocking a home run in the first. Anthony Alberts gave general satisfaction as umpire, although the members of the fair sex who were out rooting for the benedicts took exception to several decisions, believing that the fact that a man was willing to endanger life and limb in sliding to base should make safe.

Score by innings:

Single Men	2 0 0 3 0 0 3 0 x—8

A delegation from Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., under command of Post Commander C. B. Stephen, together with delegations from Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company and Bucket and Engine Company, participated in the Memorial Day exercises here yesterday. At 8:30 the local delegations, under command of Comrade William D. Johnston, met the veterans and a drum corps at the trolley crossing, Park avenue. A line of march was formed and to the martial tread of the drum corps the delegations marched to the cemetery, where the graves of the fallen in the dark days of '61 were strewn with flowers. At the conclusion of the exercises the local fire laddies escorted the veterans back to the trolley, after which they were dismissed. The day was most appropriately observed, one very noticeable thing being the number of flags that were flying to the breeze, not only along the line of march but all over town. Every home that possessed "Old Glory" had it out where it could be seen.

The delightful weather yesterday took many out of town on pleasure trips to nearby resorts, all of which opened yesterday. The Hospital Carnival got its share of the local exodus, while the ball games at Crescent Oval and the racing at the Driving Park, Plainfield, also received their share.

The locals defeated the strong Laurels, of Bound Brook, yesterday morning, by the score of 10 to 9. Both teams played a clean, snappy game, with just enough batting to make the game interesting.

Only three more nights of the Carnival. If you have not been there take it in and do your share towards helping the cause.

Miss Sadie Reger entertained Mr. and Mrs. Curtice Smith, of Seaford, L. I., over Decoration Day.

Mrs. M. E. Darby, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with her mother, Mrs. John R. Marsh.

Mrs. William H. Lee has been entertaining relatives from Raritan, N. J.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Thomas Bohl has taken a position as night yard master in the Lehigh Valley station at Jersey City. Mr. Bohl has worked faithfully as night yard master in the Lehigh station for several years and is very glad to get promoted.

The Lehigh Valley coal storage plant has laid off a large number of men on account of lack of orders. About 500,000 tons of coal are stored on the grounds.

A number from here attended the baseball game on Crescent Oval, between Plainfield and the All Nationals, of New York, yesterday afternoon.

The Good Government Club will hold its next meeting in Temperance Hall, Tuesday, June 5. Every citizen is requested to be on hand.

Wilson Day has taken a position as night yard master at the Lehigh Valley Railroad station and will move here from Oak Tree soon.

A large number from here witnessed the races at New Brunswick yesterday.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Commencing on Sunday the Sunday-school of the First Presbyterian church will meet at 10 o'clock in the morning for the summer months. The morning preaching service will begin at 11 o'clock.

The regular monthly meeting of the Young Women's Mission Band will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. This will be the last meeting of the season and every member is urged to be present.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in Trinity Reformed church Sunday morning. Preparatory services will be held tomorrow night in the church. The pastor will be in the church parlors this evening to confer with anyone who may desire to see him.

The Republican Jubilee.

The New Jersey Republicans will have a part in celebrating the half-century anniversary of the first National Republican Convention to be commemorated by a convention of the National Republican League at Philadelphia, June 17. From this State six delegates-at-large and four delegates from each Congressional district, forty-six in all, will be the official representation, and, besides, there will be many loyal Republicans from New Jersey at the gathering. On June 17, 1856, the first National Republican Convention was held in Philadelphia, and nominated John C. Fremont for President. In the election of that year thirty-one States voted, the whole number of electors being 296, of which James Buchanan, Democrat, received 174; Fremont, 109, and Millard Fillmore, the "American Party" candidate, 8. The great issue was human slavery, and the question was the repeal of the "Missouri Compromise," by which the extension of slavery into the territories was restricted. Since 1856 the number of States has increased from thirty-one to forty-five. For fifty years, with the exception of the eight years of Cleveland's administration, the policy of the nation has been controlled by the Republican party, which received its great trust amid disunion and treason, successfully prosecuted the great war for the Union, abolished slavery, built up our magnificent industrial edifice, and brought the nation to a height of prosperity and grandeur that is the wonder of the world.—Elizabeth Journal.

NEWARK'S STORE BEAUTIFUL

Broad, New and Halsey Streets, Newark, N. J.

QUALITY BETTER OR PRICES LOWER THAN IN NEW YORK WITH CHOICE AS GREAT.

GIFTS For The JUNE BRIDE

NO STORE that you know of is so full of gift things from basement to top floor, suitable for brides-to-be, as Newark's Store Beautiful. Everywhere one looks gift things are seen galore—some useful, some ornamental; some combining both the useful and artistic qualities.

Naturally enough, when one desires wedding gifts, they turn to that beautiful division of our great Basement in which are assembled thousands of beautiful pieces of art ware and bric-a-brac—the products of potters in foreign lands as well as the most skilled of our home workers.

That you can find something here—many things in fact—that will simply delight the recipient, must be apparent to all. And it does not matter whether you wish to spend much or little for you will find beautiful things at almost any price, beginning far down in the scale and running to high figures.

Some idea of the scope and magnitude of the collection of the art wares which we exhibit may be gleaned from the information which follows. These are mere hints of what may be found here. We do not attempt to describe in detail the thousands of articles, for, if we did, it would require pages, and you would tire more quickly of reading of them than you will in looking at them.

Come in any day, but if you have gifts to buy you will profit by making an early selection.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF.

Which Is Better — Try An Experiment or Profit by a Plainfield Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment.

Must be proved to be as represented.

The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit.

But the endorsement of friends is.

Now supposing you had a bad back,

A Lame, Weak or Aching one,

Would you experiment on it?

You will read of many so-called cures.

Endorsed by strangers from far-away places.

It's different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony.

Read this case:

Mrs. Julia Molloy, of 740 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Many so-called cures for backache and kidney disease have been taken by me, but no medicine ever stopped my aches and pains until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's pharmacy. I took the pills according to directions, and found before finishing the first box that they were far more healing and brought even more relief from backache than their owners claim for them. I continued with the treatment and was cured, and now do not suffer from aches or pains or kidney troubles."

LITERARY.

National interests have the foremost place in the June Atlantic. The leading article is a vigorous and timely discussion of the questions that are certain to be brought to the front at the coming Hague Conference. It is written by Benjamin F. Trueblood, Secretary of the American Peace Society. The article on the Distribution of Wealth is a masterly exposition of the aristocratic, the socialistic, and the democratic theories on this subject. Socialists will not like it. The Oregon experiment with an equal suffrage referendum, to be tried in June, is the subject of a suggestive article by Frank Foxcroft. He thinks we should "go slow" in tinkering with Constitutional safeguards. Science is represented by Professor See's account of Recent Solar Research, and Professor Daniel's brilliant annual review of Significant Books in Economics and Sociology. J. H. Denison's White Death of the Soul is a protest against the abuse of scientific method.

Following along the line of recent issues, the cover of the June number portrays in colors the famous actress, Sarah Barnhardt. Among the portraits of famous people are those of Bishop Potter, Victor Emanuel, Dowager Duchess of Marlborough, the late James E. Bailey, the King of Circus Men; Jean de Reszke, Bessie Abbott and Jacoby of Grand Opera fame; Elsie Janis, Ida Conquest, Mabel Taliaferro and Virginia Harned of the stage. The color work in this issue is particularly striking and the number contains the second in the series of caricatures, this time Sarah Bernhardt being the subject. The panoramic form has very fine pictures of San Francisco and Vesuvius, both before and after the earthquake. Special subjects of peculiar attraction ar the Times Building, New York; the Wheat Pit in New York, the first photo of this famous place. This number, which is on sale at all news stands, is quite as attractive as the April and May numbers which were said atthe time to be the best issues of the magazine ever published.—Burr Publishing Company, New York.

William Marion Reedy's brilliant review of San Francisco's past, so rich with gaiety and genius, is the principal feature of the National Magazine for June. Myrtle Garrison writes of "The Ruins of Stanford" (with pictures), and Frank Putnam of "Loss and Gain at San Francisco." Ethel Armes contributes a striking study of modern Brazil under the title, "Portugal's gigantic daughter." Charles Warren Stoddard's essay for the month is a very human sketch of "Ar Fin de Siecle Friar." Stoddard in his National essays is writing with all the rich charm that gave his "South Sea Idyls" world-wide celebrity. His strong, dramatic story of his narrow escape from death in the California earthquake will appear in the National for July.

Plainfield, N. J., May 31, 1906.

ANOTHER BLAST OF HOT AIR.

On the eve of his departure for Europe, Dr. Parkhurst has given vent to his usual harangue on the New York police department. For sensationalism the doctor beats the proverbial yellow journal by a mile.

SOUTH JERSEY AFTER PLUMS.

Governor Stokes will probably name a South Jersey man for the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Dixon. That section of the State also wants one of its own selected for the job held by Senator Dryden and the Governor himself is not an unlikely candidate.

TO TEST BISHOPS' BILL.

Just as soon as it goes into effect on July 4, the "Bishops' bill" will be attacked by the Jersey City authorities, who claim that it discriminates in certain respects against that municipality. The sooner its constitutionality is determined the better it will be and the law-abiding public can only hope that the measure will be found to be perfectly sound.

NO DEAD TOWN.

The day seems to have passed when Plainfielders are compelled to go to New York in search of amusement on a holiday. Yesterday for instance the local programme included a carnival with thirty-six tented attractions, afternoon and night; annual steeplechase, exhibiting best hunters in this section of the country, afternoon; baseball games between two crack nines, morning and afternoon; State tennis tourney, for men and women, afternoon, and golf contests for cups on two courses morning and afternoon.

TEN THOUSAND ENJOY CARNIVAL.

According to estimates made by showmen there were 10,000 people on the Carnival grounds last night. That's the exact number at the big horse show in Philadelphia yesterday afternoon. When it is considered that there were many rival attractions during the day, the attendance shows the wisdom of General Chairman Fisk in having planned a twelve-days' run for the event, which closes Saturday night.

HARTRIDGE GRADUATION

It is not the curriculum, the number of teachers or pupils, the bigness or size of the school, but the intellectual attainment of the teachers, the spirit of the school that creates the ideals of a school. The value is determined by the personality of those who teach. Education is a leading and not compulsory act to better things. The teacher who comes down from his high realm of thought and labors patiently with the uneducated and leads them to a higher plane in that larger world which he won for them, gets his reward. Christ came down to earth to lead humanity back to God. We should live that life of friendship with man and fellowship with God."

Following the address diplomas were presented by Dr. Raymond to the three graduates, Miss Dorothy Burke, Miss Grace Otterson and Miss Winifred Rapalje. They also received many beautiful flowers.

Women Drunks Jailed.

Two feminine tanks with long police records were arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning. Annie Marando, arrested at Monroe avenue and Seventh street, was sent to jail for thirty days. Catherine Cahill, arrested at Spooner avenue and Eighth street, got ten days more.

HITFEST FOR HOME NINE

Poured Out 23 Safeties For 19 Runs In the Afternoon Game.

NIX FOR THE VISITORS

All Nationals Easy Marks in Both Games—Tyler, Smith and Deegan in the Box.

The Plainfield nine continued its winning streak yesterday without straining themselves. They found Manager McGrath's All Nationals easy in both games. The visitors were a perfect cinch in the afternoon, the score being 19 to 0. The morning score was 6 to 2. Hank Mathewson, brother of Christy, performed for the New Yorkers in the forenoon.

Considering the varied counter attractions, good sized crowds attended the game. Five hundred rooters turned out for the morning contest, and the grandstand and bleachers were full in the afternoon.

Morning Game.

Plainfield won the morning game by virtue of timely hitting and some careless throwing by the visitors. The All Nationals had Henry Mathewson, brother of the great Christy, in the box, but he did not prove to be a very great enigma. He got a lot of space in the New York papers early in the season, because he went South with the Giants on their training trip, but his fame in the baseball world is out of all proportion to his pitching. He was only fairly effective, and couldn't seem to prevent the batters hitting when hits meant damage. The men back of him increased his troubles by fielding without any snap.

Tyler, who pitched for Columbia two years ago, did good work for the locals. Except in the first inning, when he was a little wild, he had the slugging visitors well in hand.

The All Nationals scored in the first inning on Courtney's hit by pitcher and two outs. The locals got the run back and one to boot in the second after two were out. O'Neil walked, and Tyler followed suit. O'Neil tallied on a wild throw to first by Cotter and Tyler went to third. Bertwhistle, who batted 1,000 per cent., scored Tyler with his opening hit. He went to third on a wild pitch to first, but Brogan was an easy out, second to first.

The All Nationals scored their second tally in the fourth on McGoey's hit to center, a wild return of the ball by Reardon and Mallen's hit to center. Donahue four-flied to Leonard, Mack struck out and Gorman sent a hit liner to Henriques.

In the fifth, Reardon hit to left, went to second and to third on passes and scored on Leonard's infield tap to third, Mike going to second on Courtney's bad throw to first. He came in on a pass by Cotter. After that there was nothing to it but Plainfield.

The score:

Plainfield.

Afternoon Game.

The afternoon game was nothing but a batting bee for the locals. There was nothing to the game but their hitting. The y tore Metcalfe wide open and chased him from the game in the seventh inning, after piling a total of sixteen hits, on him, seven of which were torn off in the sixth. Donahue went in and lasted an inning and a half. McGrath himself went in and took the awful pounding for the rest of the game. The Plainfields got a total of twenty-three hits, and the total was thickly festooned with extra base belts. Jack O'Neil got no less than four two-baggers. He batted 1,000 per cent.

The visitors got no hits at all. Phil Smith pitched five innings and gave them not a smell of a safety, and Deegan, put in to vary the monotony of things for the crowd, followed the youngster's example. Willie distinguished himself by tearing a three-base hit from Metcalfe's delivery. Smith fanned seven men, retiring the side on strike-outs in his last performance. Deegan fanned six.

The suit of Josie Kovalkusky, a servant girl, against H. G. Garrett, of North Plainfield, for $16 alleged to be due as a month's wages, was heard before Justice Snape this morning. The defendant says the girl was hired for $11 a month and got $6 of it on account. The girl denied that she received a cent, and the case resolved itself into a question of veracity. valued in the thousands may be taken with impunity, to which the one appropriating it has no ethical right; while a sharp and cruel penalty awaits another who, with no less a moral right, appropriates a tithe as much.

"However, the innate American spirit, the genius of our institutions, remains pure and unaffected; and, so shocked is the public conscience by these obvious wrongs that the grave danger of the hour is not that we cannot correct them, but lest we may in our fury strike a blow that will seriously check the free play of that will seriously check the free play of that force to which our splendid achievements and unparalleled progress must be attributed—the personal initiative.

Let us keep steadily in view this truth—that whenever we paralyze the motive power of our citizenship and destroy individual enterprise we pauperize our national life. Universal education leads on to individualism leads on to universal prosperity.

The vast, indeed, almost unmeasured, accumulation of wealth now going on in this country may in future annals become only a source of wonderment like the pyramids of Egypt or the Chinese Wall, unless the patriotism of our day shall sanctify and dedicate it to the ends and glory of the Republic. Of what consequence shall it be, except a blight and a corroding curse, if it leads only to profligacy and corruption? Of what advantage and power may it not become in the amelioration and advancement of the American people?"

The shaft and the figure of a soldier, which is nearly completed, will be placed in position on July 1. It will be unveiled and dedicated on Independence Day with a military and civic parade in honor of the occasion.

GOLF CUP COMPETITIONS

E. A. Stevenson, H. D. Hibbard, F. Reinhart and Miss Goddard Win Trophies

SOME LOW SCORES MADE

Day's Play at Park Golf Club—Messrs. Morse and Reed Winners.

Ideal weather with a number of attractions brought out a large field of contestants at the Plainfield Country Club yesterday. The rain earlier in the week put the course in fine condition and low scores were the rule. In addition to the events on the course, there was much social activity about the clubhouse, where music was provided throughout the afternoon, as well as in the evening. The house was appropriately decorated for the day and members and friends were going and coming all day. Those who were not interested in golf found a strong attraction in the tennis tournament under the auspices of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association and this was watched with considerable interest all day.

One of the chief events on the golf course was the play for the Decoration Day cup. This was won by Edward A. Stevenson, with a net score of 71. He also won the first three points for the Golf Committee cup. These scores were posted for the Decoration Day cup:

E. A. Stevenson, 98, 27-71; Arthur Peck, 87, 13-74; L. L. Tweedy, 98, 21-77; Edgar I. Serrell, 83, 6-77; W. D. Riggs, 92, 15-77; A. L. Otterson, 3, 13-80; C. B. Morgan, 80, 0-80; S. D. Lounsberry, 89, 7-82; Thomas R. Van Boskerck, 92, 8-84; S. H. Patterson, 101, 17-84; R. H. Cox, 111, 27-84; Howard Huntington, 102, 13-89; A. E. Barclay, 108, 17-91; E. J. Patterson, 128, 27-101.

The next event of interest was the play for the Golf Committee cup. E. A. Stevenson won first honors, while Arthur Peck finished second with a net score of 74 and S. H. Patterson took the one point with a score of 76. These scores were returned for the cup:

E. A. Stevenson, 98, 27-71; Arthur Peck, 87, 13-74; S. H. Patterson, 93, 17-76; Edgar I. Serrell, 83, 6-77; L. L. Tweedy, 98, 21-77; W. D. Riggs, 92, 15-77; H. D. Hibbard, 83, 5-78; C. B. Morgan, 80, 0-80; F. C. Talmadge, 84, 2-82; C. A. Stover, 92, 10-82; S. D. Lounsbery, 89, 7-82; R. H. Cox, 111, 27-84; G. T. Van Boskerck, 95, 11-84; Howard Huntington, 102, 13-89; A. E. Barclay, 108, 17-91.

In the playoff for the May cup H. W. Beebe beat L. A. Chase 3 up and 1 to play; Henry D. Hibbard beat Edward J. Patterson 7 up and 6 to play, and in the final play Mr. Hibbard won the cup by defeating Mr. Beebe 2 up and 1 to play.

In the final play for the scratch cup, F. C. Jennings beat J. Whitney Baker 7 up and 6 to play; F. O. Reinhart beat C. B. Morgan, 2 up and 1 to play, and F. O. Reinhart won the cup by defeating F. C. Jennings 6 up and 4 to play. Willard Wadsworth won the scratch consolation cup by defeating C. A. Stover 8 up and 6 to play, Wadsworth having previously defeated E. B. Shoemaker and Stover defeated Arthur Murphy 1 up.

The last event was the clock competition for women. This was won by Miss Margaret Goddard with a score of 24. Other scores returned were as follows: Miss Marjorie Fleming, 25; Miss Maud Van Boskerck, 26; Mrs. E. E. Iremonger, 28.

There was a large field at the Park Golf Club yesterday morning and afternoon to compete for the scheduled events and all enjoyed the fine condition of the course. In the morning there was a ball sweepstakes. This was won by Charles B. Morse, who returned a score of 83. J. L. Watson was second with an 87 and Charles A. Reed third with an 89. GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

OPENING OF DREAMLAND.

Dreamland, Coney Island's biggest amusement enterprise, is open for the summer season. Since last season so many improvements have been made and so many changes in the character of the Park that visitors will scarcely be able to recognize it as the Dreamland of last summer. It is said that Senator Reynolds and his associates have spent something in the neighborhood of $500,000 in redecorating and rejuvenating the big amusement enterprise. The original color scheme which gave to it its distinctiveness and the name of "The White City" has been retained but everything will be found bright and new. Some of the most important attractions of last season will again be in evidence, but for most part the minor ones have new and attractive substitutes. Creation, which was one of the big successes of last season, occupies the same space as formerly, but this year many new electrical effects have been added and it will be found to be more attractive than ever. Bostock's animals also occupy the place at the entrance of the grounds, which has been their since the inception of Dreamland. Bostock himself had recently arrived from abroad bringing many new and strange animals and many novelties are promised. The Palm Garden, which last year was a most attractive feature of the park and which was underneath the big tower, has now been raised until it is level with the boardwalk and it is expected that this will increase its popularity with Dreamland visitors. A great free hippdrome will be one of the attractions this summer in which forty horses and as many drivers and riders will participate. There will be chariot races, standing races, jockey races and numerous ring acts in which several prominent European circus performers will take part.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Superior Court of Cincinnati, Hamilton County.

The Piso Company, of Warren Co., Penn. Plaintiff, | Transcript of Evidence.

D. P. Pierce, of lawful age, being by me first duly cautioned and sworn, deposes and says, as follows:

Q. Where do you live? A. I live at Forestville, Chautauqua County, N. Y. Q. What is your age? A. Fifty-eight. Q. What is your business? A. Manufacturing wooden ware. Q. Are you acquainted with the medicine called "Piso's Cure for Consumption?" A. I am. Q. How long have you been acquainted with it as a medicine? A. My first experience with "Piso" was when I had a bad cold, a cold on my lungs, I should think it was just about thirty years ago, and I tried several things in the way of medicine, without much benfit, if any. I finally went to using "Piso" and I got relief by using that and that has been my medicine ever since for any throat trouble, any cough or bronchial trouble. I don't know that I have ever used anything since that time but "Piso." Q. What has been the result of your using the remedy? A. The result has been good, always got relief from using it. Q. To what extent did you usually take it, how many bottle? A. Well, when I first used it, I used up, I presume, five or six bottles right along, and since that, I don't think I ever used so much at a time. Two years ago this present winter, I had the grippe and I got a troublesome cough and I think I used six or eight bottles. Q. What became of your cough? A. I cured it with "Piso" Q. From your experience, what do you consider its value as a medicine for the complaints for which you used it? A. For me, I think it is, or rather it is the best medicine I know anything about. It has been used in our family a good deal. Q. Tell us some of the use of it in your family. A. Well, the first time was back about '70. There was, in our family, my wife and myself, my wife's sister and husband and her three children. It was the family medicine for coughs and colds. And my wife and wife's sister were quite inclined to be—their lungs were very delicate and they used Piso generally in preference to anything else after that time.

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"You see, it's coming the way Relpin said. The insiders are hammering down the stock with those reports, hammering with one hand, and buying up small lots quietly with the other. But you'll notice the price of copper doesn't go down any. They keep it at 17 cents all right. Now, the moment they get control of the European supply they'll hold the stuff, force up the selling price to awful figures, and squeeze out dividends that will make you wear blue glasses to look at them."

"You certainly do know your business, son," said Uncle Peter, fervently. "You certainly got your pa's head on you. You remind me more and more of Dan'l J. Bines every day. I'd rather trust your judgment now than lots of older men down there. You know their tricks all right. Get in good and hard so long as you got a sure thing. I'd hate to have you come meachin' around after that stock has kited, and be kickin' because you hadn't bet what your hand was worth."

"Trust me for that, Uncle Peter. Garmer tried to steer me off this line of stocks the other night. He'd heard these rumors about a slump, and he's 50 years old at that. I thanked him for his tip and coppered it with another 1,000 shares all around next day. The way Garmer can tell when you're playing a busted flush makes you nervous; but I haven't looked over his license to know everything down in the street yet."

The moral gain to Percival from his new devotion to the stock market was commented upon approvingly both by Uncle Peter and by his mother. It was quite as tangible as his money profits promised to be. He ceased to frequent the temple of chance in Forty-fourth street, to the proprietor's genuine regret. The poker games at the hotel he abandoned as being trivial. And the cabmen along upper Broadway had seldom now the opportunity to compete for his early morning patronage. He began to keep early hours and to do less casual drinking during the day. After three weeks of this comparatively regular living his mother rejoiced to note signs that his breakfast appetite was returning.

"You see," he explained earnestly to Uncle Peter, "a man to make anything at this game mus- keep his head clear, and he must have good health to do that. I meet a lot of those fellows down there that queer themselves by drink. It doesn't do so much hurt when a man isn't needing his brains—but no more of it for me just now!"

"That's right, son. I knew I could make something more than a polite sosh out of you. I knew you'd pull up if you got into business like you been doin'."

"Come downtown with me this afternoon and see me make a play, Uncle Peter. I think I'll begin now to buy on a margin. The rise can't hold off much longer."

"I'd like to, son, but I'd laid out to take a walk up to the park this afternoon and look in at the monkeys awhile. I need the outdoors, and anyway you don't need me down there. You know your part all right. My! but I'd begin to feel nervous with all that money up, if it was anybody but you, now."

In pursuance of his pronounced plan, Uncle Peter walked up Fifth avenue that afternoon. But he stopped short of the park. At the [illegible] the clerk, handing him a blank card; "your name, please."

The old man wrote: "Mr. Peter Bines, of Montana City, would like a few minutes' talk with Mrs. Wybert."

The boy was gone so long that Uncle Peter, waiting, began to suspect he would not be received. He returned at length with the message: "The lady says will you please step upstairs."

Going up in the elevator, the old man was ushered by a maid into a violet-scented little nest whose pale green walls were touched discreetly with hangings of heliotrope. An artist, in Uncle Peter's place, might have fancied that the color scheme of the apartment cried out for a bit of warmth. A glowing, warm-haired woman was needed to set the walls afire; and the need was met when Mrs. Wybert entered.

She wore a long coat of seal trimmed with chinchilla, and had been, apparently, about to go out. Uncle Peter rose and bowed. Mrs. Wybert nodded rather uncertainly.

"You wished to see me, Mr. Bines?"

"I did want to have a little talk with you, Mrs. Wybert, but you're goin' out, and I won't keep you. I know how pressed you New York society ladies are with your engagements."

Mrs. Wybert had seemed to be puzzled. She was still puzzled, but unmistakably pleased. The old man was looking at her with frank and friendly apology for his intrusion. Plainly she had nothing to fear from him. She became gracious.

"It was only a little shopping tour, Mr. Bines, that and a call at the hospital, where they have one of my maids who slipped on the avenue yesterday and fractured one of her—er—limbs. Do sit down."

Mrs. Wybert said "limb" for leg with the rather conscious air of escaping from an awkward situation only by the sublest finesse.

She seated herself before a green and heliotrope background that instantly took warmth from her color. Uncle Peter still hesitated.

"You see, I wanted kind of a long chat with you, Mrs. Wybert—a friendly chat if you didn't mind, and I'd feel a mite nervous if you're bundled up that way."

"I shall be delighted, Mr. Bines, to have a long, friendly chat. I'll send my cloak back, and you take your own time. There now, do be right comfortable!"

The old man settled himself and bestowed upon his hostess a long look of approval.

"The reports never done you justice, Mrs. Wybert, and they was very glowin' reports, too."

"You're very kind, Mr. Bines, awfully good of you!"

"I'm goin' to be more, Mrs. Wybert. I'm goin' to be a little bit confidential—right out in the straight open with you."

"I am sure of that."

"And if you want to, you can be the same with me. I ain't ever held anything against you, and maybe now I can do you a favor."

"It's right good of you to say so."

"Now, look here, ma'am, let's you and me get right down to cases about this society game here in New York."

Mrs. Wybert laughed charmingly and relaxed in manner.

"I'm with you, Mr. Bines. What about it, now?"

"Now don't get suspicious, and tell me to mind my own business when I ask you questions."

"I couldn't be suspicious of you—really I feel as if I'd have to tell you everything you asked me, some way."

"Well, there's been some talk of your marrying that young Milbrey. Now tell me the inside of it."

She looked at the old man closely. Her intuition confirmed his own protestations of friendliness.

"I don't mind telling you in strict confidence, there was talk of marriage, and his people, all but the sister, encouraged it. Then after she was engaged to Shepler they talked him out of it. Now that's the whole God's truth, if it does you any good."

"If you had married him you'd 'a' had a position, like they say here, right away."

"Oh, dear, yes! awfully swagger people—dead swell, every one of them. There's no doubt about that."

"Exactly; and there ain't really any reason why you can't be somebody here."

"Well, between you and I, Mr. Bines, I can play the part as well as a whole lot of these women here. I don't want to talk, of course, but—well!"

"Exactly, you can give half of 'em cards and spades and both casinos, Mrs. Wybert."

"And I'll do it yet. I'm not through by any means. They're not the only perfectly elegant people in this town!"

"Of course you'll do it, and you could do it better if you had three or four times the stake you got."

"Dollars are worth more apiece in New York than any town I've ever been in."

"Mrs. Wybert, I can put you right square into a good thing, and I'm going to do it. Heard anything about Consolidated Copper?"

"I've heard something big was doing in it; but nobody seems to know for certain. My broker is afraid of it."

"Very well. Now you do as I tell you, and you can clean up a big lot inside of the next two months. If you do as I tell you, mind, no matter what you hear, and if you don't talk."

Mrs. Wybert meditated.

"Mr. Bines, I'm—it's natural that I'm a little uneasy. Why should you want to see me do well, after our little affair? Now, out with it! What are you trying to do with me? What do you expect me to do for you? Get down to cases yourself, Mr. Bines!"

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well," (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

MOVING TIME IS HERE.

Many people who have been dissatisfied with their apartments during the past winter would like to move to better themselves, but cannot afford to.

Why not come in and talk with us? If you owe a little back rent or grocery bill or the doctor or coal man, or you need money for rent in advance, it might possibly be an advantage to get a small loan, say $10, $25 or possibly $50, of us, and then pay it back in small amounts, either weekly or monthly, to suit your convenience. We loan from $10 up—any sum—any time. The possession of household goods, piano, or horse and wagon, are sufficient evidence of your ability to pay. A postal will bring us to your door.

JUST HEARS ABOUT 70-YEAR-OLD DEBT.

Mount Holly, May 31.—Burlington county for almost seventy years, but saddled with a debt which it has paid in interest nearly five times over, and the Board of Freeholders has appointed a committee to investigate. The committee is instructed also to report a plan to get rid of the encumbrance.

This incubus has been saddled on the county has just discovered that it is very few people, not even the county officials, know anything about it. Burlington has paid since it accepted the money $300,000 in interest, though the loan was only $72,000.

In June, 1836, Congress passed an act permitting the Secretary of the Treasury to lend $40,000,000 to the various States. New Jersey received $764,670.44. The State in turn lent the money to the counties, Burlington getting $82,388.36. This was cut down to $72,000 in March, 1839, when a slice of the county was taken to make up Mercer county. The interest on this loan has been and is now 6 per cent. For a time the county lent the money out to farmers, but later called these loans and used the money in building county buildings.

Since 1848, when the Legislature passed a special law for the purpose, the interest on this fund has been used for school purposes, but the Board of Freeholders now think that $4,363.92 a year is too much to pay for money when it can be had for 4 per cent.

The haze of time has so clouded the details about this financial obligation that the freeholders are in doubt how to proceed to get rid of it. One of the means suggested is to issue bonds and pay the debt to the State, and recommend that the State return the loan to the National Treasury. At any rate Burlington county wants no more of it.

DR. VAN DYKE ADDS TO NATIONAL HYMN.

In a stirring appeal to the Presbyterian General assembly, in session at Des Moines, Iowa, in behalf of the church's work in the California earthquake, Dr. Henry Van Dyke, of Princeton, declared that when he studied California he always felt that the lines in Samuel Francis Smith's national hymn:

I love thy rocks and rills,
Thy woods and templed hills, were intended for New England, and that for California must be added the following lines:

I love thy inland seas,
Thy capes and giant trees,
Thy rolling plains;
Thy canons wild and deep,
Thy prairies' boundless sweep,
Thy rock mountains steep,
Thy fertile mains.

Thy silvery strands,
Thy Golden Gate that stands
Afront the West;
Thy sweet and crystal air,
Thy sunlight everywhere,
O land beyond compare,
I love thee best.

AN ANGLER'S ELYSIUM.

According to advertisements all summer resorts are alike. They are the best ever—but if fishing is better anywhere else than it is in "Georgian Bay" we do not know where it is. There is a greater variety of fish in this water than anywhere else, and they are always hungry. No one ever counted the fish in the Georgian Bay, but those that have been caught there have been counted and eaten, and if you read the Government reports on fisheries, you know that Georgian Bay supplies more fish than any other equal body of water in the world. The only place you can afford to fish is where the fish are numerous, big and delicious in flavor, and that place is Georgian Bay—so the fishermen say. Suppose you send for booklet, issued by grand Trunk Railway System free, telling about the home of the bass, pickerel, pike and the noble trout family. Address F. P. Dwyer, 290 Broadway, New York.

Long Branch Paving Squabble.

Long Branch, May 31.—The city of Long Branch and the Barber Asphalt Company are about to clash over repairs to the four miles of aspnalt paved streets here. The City Council has voted to hold up the semi-annual payment of $2,500 due under the maintenance contract until the streets are put in good condition, and the asphalt company declares that the streets are in good condition and do not need more repairs. The Council is standing by its ultimatum, however, and litigation may result. A repair force went over the streets several weeks ago, but did not do the work properly, and it was not passed by Councilman Frank Nelson, chairman of the street committee.

Hotel Men Want President.

Atlantic City, May 31.—In an invitation just extended to President Roosevelt to come here as the guest of the Hotel Men's Association, Albert T. Bell has assured the President that he can have in this city as strenuous a day as he could possibly imagine. When the hotel men visited Mr. Roosevelt at the White House a few days ago he had not time to listen to a speech, but told his callers to put their invitation in writing. He is assured in the letter that neither "rates" nor "bills" will be permitted to annoy him here.

The modern trust company is organized, primarily, for the purpose of administering estates. It is empowered by law to act in all respects as might an individual, but possesses every quality of desirability that an individual lacks. The fees are never more than are allowed to an individual. Furthermore, owing to its excellent facilities for handling the business and for making prompt and proper investments of surplus funds, it can often reduce the expense of administration and thereby increase the value of the estate.
